TO THE PUBLIC.

The late descent of the enemy on our frontier, and the horrid outrages committed on our defence-less inhabitants by the British allies, being laid to my misconduct as commanding officer of the American forces on this frontier, and although my conduct has been approved by the secretary at war, the commander in chief of this state, and by major gen. Harrison before his departure, still I deem it a duty which I owe to my own reputation, in order to put a stop to the evil reports which are propagated against me, without knowing my orders, or the means which I had in my power to execute them, to give a brief statement of my most prominent acts since I have had the lionor of so important a command. On my arrival at Fort George, and previous to the departure of general Wilkinson with his army from that post, I suggested to the general the necessity of marching out against the enemy at Cross Roads and Four Mile Creek; that his army with addi tion of my militia, were sufficient to take or destroy all the British forces in that neighborhood, which would leave nothing more for the militia to do than to protect and keep in order the inhabi tants of that part of the province, as otherwise our frontier would be liable to be invaded. This position, however, was not agreed to, as the reneral's instructions were of a different nature. The general left with me, col. Scott and 800 re gulars, who were to remain until I considered my force sufficient to hold the fort without them, when they were to march to Sackett's

About the 12th of October the British army commenced their retreat towards the head of the lake. I issued orders for my militia to pursue, which was promptly obeyed. We advanced as far as the Twelve Mile Creek, and within a short distance of the enemy's rear guard, when col Scott sent an express requesting meto return, and said that he would abandon the fort the next day, and march with his troops to Sackett's Harbor, and at the same time he detained my provision and ammunition waggons, which compelled me to abandon the further pursuit of the enemy, and induced them to make a stand on the heights of Burlington. I was then left with about 1000 effective militia in Fort George, and 250 Indians, a force not more than sufficient to garrison that post. On the arrival of general Harrison's army, I was elated with the prospect of uniting our forces, of driving the enemy from Burlington, ommodore Chauncey, with the orders for that excellent officer, gen. Harrison, to repair immediately with his army to Sackett's Harbor. I remonstrated against his going off, as will be seen in a correst ondence between the General and myself; but in vain. By which movement al my expectations were blasted, and I foresaw the consequences, unless a reinforcement was immediately sent to supply the place of the drafted mi licia whose term of service would shortly expire, I considered my force which had become ungovernable, as then insufficient to go against the enemy. The object of the last expedition to the Twenty Mile Creek is fully explained in the general order which I issued on my return.

For six weeks before the militia were discharged I wrote, and continued writing, to the secretary at war the necessity of sending on a detach ment of militia or regular troops; that I found it impossible to retain the militia in service one day beyond their term ; I also stated, from the best information, the enemy's forces. I offered a bounty of two dollars per month, for one or two months, but without effect. Some few of colo nel Bloom's regiment took the bounty and immediately disappeared, and I was compelled to grant a discharge to the militia and volunteers. which left me with about sixty effective regulars of the 24th U. S. infantry under captain Rodgers. to garrison Fort George. I summoned a council of the officers, and put the question-" Is this fort tenable with the present number of men?" They unanimously gave it is their opinion that it would be madness in the extreme to pretend to hold it, and recommended its evacuation immediately, as the enemy's advance was then within eight miles. I according have orders for all the arms, ammunition and public stores of every description to be sent across the river, which was principally effected, though the enemy advanced so rapidly that ten of my men were made prisoners, and ordered the town of Newark to be burnt. This act, however distressing to the inhabitants and to my feelings, was by an order of the secre-tary at war, and I believe at the same time proper. The inhabitants had twelve hours notice to remove their effects, and such as chose to come across the river were provided with all the neces-

I stationed col. Grives' artillerists, consisting of about 80 men, with two pieces of artillery, at Lewistown under the command of major Bennet, and made them a present of four hundred dollars for volun-teering their services three weeks; but before that place was attacked they nearly all deserted, except the officers, who bravely defended themselves and cut their way thro' the savages. Head quarters, Buffalo,

SIR-I regret to be under the necessity of announcing to you the mortifying intelligence of the loss of Fort Niagara .-On the morning of the 19th inst. about 4 o'clock, the enemy crossed the river at the Five mile Meadows in great force, consisting of regulars and Indians, who made their way undiscovered to the gar- tions will sign returns. rison, which from the most correct information I can collect, was completely surprised. Our men were nearly all asleep in their tents; the enemy rushed in and commenced a most horrid slaughter .-Such as escaped the fury of the first onset, retired to the old mess-house, where they kept up a destructive fire on the enemy, until a want of ammunition compelled them to surrender. Although our force was very inferior and comparatively small indeed, I am induced to think that the disaster is not ettributable to any want of troops; but to gross neglect in the commanding officer of the fort, Capt. Leonard, in not preparing, being ready, and looking out for the expected attack. I have not been able to ascertain correctly the number of killed and wounded. About twenty regulars have escaped out of the fort-some badly wounded. Lt. bear should the enemy attempt to board,

You will perceive, sir, by the enclosed General Orders, that I apprehended an attack, and made the necessary arrangements to meet it, but have reason to believe, from information received by those who have made their escape, that the commandant did not in any respect comply with those orders.

On the same morning a detachment of militia, under Major Bennet, stationed at Lewistown Heights, was attacked by a party of savages; but the Major and his little corps, by making a desperate charge, effected their retreat after being surrounded by several hundred; with the loss of six or eight, who doubtless were killed; among whom were two sons of Capt, Jones, Indian interpreter. SIR-Lieutenant Le Breton, an office? in your service, arrived at Detroit on the 15th ult. bearing a flag and a letter to me from General Proctor, requesting humane treatment for the prisoners in my possession, and the restoration of private property and papers. This letter was directed to me at the Moravian Towns ; and as the subject was not of the importance to authorise the lieutenant's pursuing me to Detroit, I was somewhat surprised at his doing so. I have selected, sir, the above from a long list of similar instances of barbarity, which the history of the last 15 months could furnish; because they were perpetrated if not in the view of the British commander, by parties who came immediately from his camp and returned to i -who even received their daily support from the king's stores, who in fact, (as the documents in my possession wil show) form part of his army.

THE INDIANS.

Our scruples are at an end. The man, who charges us with thirsting for the blood of man, knows us not-we have he voluntary use of it by our enemy has left a stain upon his honor which years will not wipe out. But it is forced upon us .- It was in vain that we declined the aid of the Indians in the first instance.

It is in vain that after the action on the Themes, we told them that we wanted them not-It was in vain that Harrison sclemnly declared to Gen. Vincent, "if the Indians that remain under the influence of the British government are suffered to commit any depredations" upon our citizens, he would remove the restrictions upon those who have tendered him their services, and "direct them to carry on the war in their own way."

Now, turn to General M'Clure's letter. We are told that no age or sex could save the inoffensive inhabitants from being inhumanly butchered by savages headed by British officers painted.

Private accounts add, that some of the inhabitants were scalped, their limbs cut to pieces, the entrails of one cut out and his heart missing. What then! If the British will have it so, be it so.
