NEW TOWNS IN THE WEST. There is an astonishing rage at the present day for the establishment of new towns. Does a man possess a tract of land convenient to river navigation, if he be a man of enterprise, he starts the plan of a townlays off his lands into lots, and expects to make his fortune by selling out. Happy is he, that owns a bend between two rivered What pains to puff off its situation! to dress it off with every advantage of health, navigat.on, and fertility, which the most plastic imagination can supply. We lay it down as a rule, that where this spirit for speculation rages, some persons are to be benefitted and others to be bit-it is time then, we think, to put the public upon their guard -The Philadelphia Union has collected a list of these rising towns as they have been advertised-from which the following general summary is extracted .- Rich Eng.

Anerica-between the Ohio and Mississippi; on the North West bank of the former-"equal to any spot on the habitable globe "-The legislature of Illinois has given it a charter, "authorising a canal from the Mississippi to the Ohio, and the privilege of banking with a capital of one million of dollars! Note. The bank is to make money, and then the money is to make a bank or levee to protect the town from inundation. Surely the uses of banking are infinite in this world!

Independence-on a bluff on Koskaskia river-"in the heart of a fertile country and a flourishing settlement"-recommended as the future capital of the Illinois

Cotton Port-on the west bank of Limestone river, one mile above its junction with the Tennessee-" high and dry, and promi ses to be as healthy as any other place in the Alabama Territory"-about 100 miles to the falls of the B ack Warrior, to which "as good a road can probably be had, as from any place on Tennessee river"-thus opening the vay direct to the Gulf of Mexico. Its n-me, however, speaks its best recommendationbeing the natural depot of one of the first cotton districts north of the Tennessee.

Mount Carmel -- In the Illinois Territory -about 25 miles below Vincennes, and 25 above Harmony, on the Wabash. opposite the mouth of the White River and Patoka, at the foot of the grand Rapids-"the principal travelling from Ohio and Kentucky hy Louisville, &c) to the Mississippi and Missouri, will cross at the ferry.

Pointopolis-on the Ohio river, at the month of Big Indian Creek, to be connected with Point Pleasant by an elegant_frame bridge now erecting-situation "is highly advantageous, surrounded by rich and flour ishing plantations," grist and saw mills, &c. &c. The proprie ors are men of great publie spirit, having laid off a large square for public buildings, besides two large market places, and an extensive promenade, and pledging themselves to give a considerable sum of money towards the erection of public works.

City of Sandusky-on the south shore of Sandusky bay, about 3 miles from its en- are held out, ask these two questions: Is When potatoes or boiled grain, are used, trance, "on a site of ground as beautiful, and surrounded by as fine a country of land as can be found in the U.S -second to none in Western America, except the city of N. Malaga-on the dividing ridge between Capitana and Sunfish Creeks, in Monroe county, State of Ohio-"the fertility of the soil, salubrity of the air, excellence of its waters, abundance of stone coal," (the four elements combined !) a part only of its recommendations.

Then follow on the towns in the Alabama -struggling for superiority:

Athens -in the centre of Limestone couny, on the main road from Huntsville to the western countries, to the Musele Shoals, and to N. Orleans-its local situation, and its superior salubrity, are strongly urged upon the consideration of purchasers-at the government sales, the lands in Limestone county brought from 30 to 70 dollars per acre. "Situated in the heart of a country of incalculable wealth, which is populating with unparalleled rapidity by affluent emigrants from a distance, it holds out the greatest inducement to enterprising and industrious mechanics.

Cahaba-on the western branch of the Alabama, at its confluence with the Cahaba -" will probably be the seat of government for the State of Alabama." Its pretensions are set forth with unexampled modesty.

Alabama-on the Alabama river, ten miles below Fort Jackson, and the junction of the Coosa and Talapoosa-" from the fertility of the soil of that section of country. and the commanding situation of the scite, it must vie with any inland town in the U. S." Harana-on the north side of the Tennessee river, immediately above Colbert's reserve, within 9 miles of the town of Florence, and about 8 from Colhert's ferry-it is "within that section of country which was recently sold at Huntsville, when 42 townships brought to the government the unpre-

ESSAY ON BREAD. Bread, or something resembling it, makes a part of the diet of all nations. Hence, it is emphatically denominated "the staff of life." It may, however, be used too frequently The late eminent Dr. Fothergill was of opinion, (and I perfectly agree with him) that most people eat more bread than is conducive to their health. I do not mean to insinuate that bread is unwholesome, but that the best things may prove hurtful when iaken to excess. A surfeit of bread is more dangerous than any other food. The French consume large quantities of bread, but its bad effects are prevented by their copious use of soups and fruits.

One important use of bread is to form a mass fit for filling up the alimentary canal, and carrying the nutricious juices along that passage in such a state as to render them fit to be acted upon by the lacteal absorbents, which take up the nourishment and convey it to the blocd. In this light, bread may be considered as a soil from whence the nourishment is drawn. I do not say that bread contains no nourishment, but that its use, as an article of diet. does not solely depend on the quantity of nutriment it contains, but in some measure on its fitness as a vehicle

A great part of the bread consumed is by children, and when the child calls for food, a piece of bread, being always ready, is put into his hand. Of many children this is the principal food, but is far from being the most proper. Children are often troubled with acidities of the stomach and bowels, great quantities of worms, &c. all of which a too free use of bread helps to produce.—In coun-tries where children live almost altogether on potatoes, and other vegetables, cooked in various ways, they are much more robust and healthy, and freer from diseases. Rice, barley, oats, peas, beans, buckwheat, Indian and oat meal mush, all make very nourishing and excellent diet.

Such a continual and free use of bread is by no means living upon a saving and economical plan. Many excellent and wholesome articles of diet are much cheaper than bread. One bushel of potatoes, which costs forty cents, or the same amount laid out in good rice, would go further, and produce much more nourishment than a dollar's worth of baker's bread. Above one half the expence of living might be saved by a judicious selection of the articles of diet. MEDICUS.

BRITISH SATURNALIA, OR GE-NERAL ELECTION

From the Quebec Mercury of Aug. 4. We have been politely favored with a London paper, the Globe of the 17th of June, a period of the British Saturnalia or General Election, when John Bull was enjoying the full fruition of that liberty of which he was so proud, and made so deservedly, his boast. During the Saturnalia of the ancients, slaves

To which place he proceeded with his good friends, the mobility, who gathered like a snow ball as they rolled; but at which place his hearers became much more respectable. Here he re-commenced his harangue, and said, that should he have the honor to be returned to Parliament, although he admitted that the royal family should be supported consistently with their dignity, he would never give his vote for the allowance of the immense sum of one million and a half for the civil list. After descanting on this topic and comparing it with the 6000l. per annum of the President of the United States, he said that upon a recent occasion, he had heard Sir Francis Burdett say that he did not much mind the allowance to the royal fam ly, as it all came among the public again. NEW ORLEANS, July 17. It will be recollected that the newspapers have already given currency to a report that the governor of Cuba had despatched a frigate of 8 guns, and 2 smaller vessels in pursuit of Com. Aury's squadron. By a vessel which has arrived in this port, we learn that 4 the two squadrons met near the coast of Terra Firma, that Aury not being able to escape from the frigate in consequence of her superior sailing, determined to carry her by boarding, which he effected, and in a few hours afterwards died on board the captured vessel of wounds received in the contest. The frigate is now cruising off Carthagena under the Independent flag. Friend of the Laws.

ROBBERY.

On Monday the 10th inst. a person, recently arrived in this city, and who pursuing his journey on foot to the westward, had arrived within four or five miles of Lancaster, t down on the road side to rest, and hun by the agent of the state, for being brought | his coat on the fence. In a few minutes, a within the limits of Georgia, contrary to | man, mounted on a gray mare, approached, and passed close to "the way-worne traveller," snatched and rode off with his coat. Thinking that only a jest was intended, the traveller called to him—"Don't take away the old man's coat ;" and he thereupon threw down the coat, spurred his horse, and soon disappeared. Our traveller picked up his coat, soon found that his pocket had been riexpressed it, " all that stood between him and want !" He observes, that the loss, when he" was young, would not have been regarded: but that at this time of life, it' is peculiarly afflictive and distressing.

The Pocket Book contained four bills of One Hundred Dollars each, and six of Fifty Dollars each, all of the United States' Bank, and eighteen half Eagles, making seven hundred and ninety dollars.

The robber appeared to be middle aged, and about five feet eight inches, and wore a out her right foot in a peculiar manner.

In the hope, that this advertisement may meet the eye of the robber, we would advise him, if he has a particle of what is called "honor among thieves," to compound with his conscience, and return the old man at least half the money. He may enclose it to WM. HAMILTON, Editor of the Lancaster Journal, or to the Editors of the Union, Philadelphia, for JOHN LAIDLAW.

If this application is not successful, half the amount lost will be given for the detection of the thief, and the recovery of the money.

LEXINGTON, (REN.) July 29. Storm .- A tremendous rain storm accompanied by vivid flashes of lightning and deep toned peals of thunder, which made the welkin ring and the earth tremble, burst suddenly upon us on Saturday last about 4 o'clock P. M. In the course of 20 or 30 minutes the streets were completely deluged with water; in some of them an unbroken sheet, rapidly descending to its level and home in the neighboring streams, was presented to the eye, for a considerable time after the storm had subsided. The lightning was stronger and more brilliant than we ever beheld it; the loud thunder which shook every buildof age, the sons of a Mr. Loney, were killed; -in another a lady was severely shocked-Versailles mail stage were wonderfully preserved-the horses, just as the stage entered the suburbs, were all killed. The storm with such uncommon violence extended but a short distance.

THE REPOSITORY. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26.

.The Catskill Recorder states that the gospel of St. Mark has been translated into the Mohawk language by the late celebrated Indian Chief Brandt ; and the gospel of St. John by captain Norton of Upper Canada; and the American Bible Society have ordered an edition of 1000 copies of each to be published and distributed among the Six Nations.

PUBLIC DISTURBANCE.

A Mobile paper of the 17th ult. contains the proceedings of the citizens at that place at a public meeting on the 15th, in reference to the conduct of Lieut, Robert Beall, commandant at Fort Charlotte, in marching a detachment of U. S. troops through the town with drams beating, and a field piece and small arms, and ordering his soldiers to fire on the unarmed citizens if they did not immediately retire. The paper does not give any particulars of the transaction, other than is contained in the resolutions at the meeting; which state that the "conduct of Lieut. Beal, in thus marching into Mobile, demolishing the jail and setting the prisoners at liberty, was a most wanton outrage on the feelings, the interests and the rights of the inhabitants-that in arraying the troops in opposition to the civil authority in a manner so peculiarly insulting, tending to excite the inhabitants to arms and deeds of bloodshed upon their most sacred rights, &c .- that in threatening to fire upon the peaceful and unarmed citizens, and actually ordering his sentry to fire, are acts which the meeting deprecated with feelings of horror and indignation-acts which disgrace the character of an American officer.

A committee was appointed to draft a memorial to the President of the United States. A note from Lt. Beal, requests the public to suspend their opinion of the above transaction, in which he was discharging an unpleasant duty, until a proper investigation can take place. In the mean time he states, that the ground on which the jail was temporarily erected, was the public hospital lot Mer. Adv. of the U. States.

GEN. JACKSON.

An officer, who has been for some considerable time under the command of General Jackson, and lately took leave of the army, in a letter to a friend, writes thus concerning that remarkable man. "I do consider Gen. Jackson to be the greatest and best general now living on the earth. He is a child of nature, self taught: Whatever object is preglazed hat.-The gray mare he rode, threw sented to him, small or great, he sees the whole, in all its bearings, as by intuition No sooner does he see what is before him, than his judgement is formed correctly, and all his plans of operation prepared with prudence and decision :- thorough and powerful execution then immediately follows, and victory always accompanies his standard-and the best use is made of his victories. While he is and will be obeyed, he is very careful of his men, and is exceedingly kind to them; indeed he does for them all that a tender father could do-in return, he has their sincere and cordial love and good will-Indeed, all who are under his command, place the most perfect and unbounded confidence in him. I cannot, however, dismiss my late and beloved General yet. He is an honest and upright man, and he is a friend to all who are honest and upright. He despises dishonesty and all mean donduct-His generosity and benevolence are almost without bounds-He is a sincere friend to his country and the general welfare of mankind. I admire the man."

Execution .- A man by the name of Geo. H. Harman was executed at the city of Na. chez, on the 16th ult. for stealing slaves. ITALY .-- In the ruins of Herculaneum. there have lately been found loaves, which were baked under the reign of Titus, and which still bear the baker's mark, indicating the quality of the flour, which was probably prescribed by regulation of the police. There have also been found utensils of bronze, which, instead of being tinned like ours, are well silvered. The ancients doubtless preferred this method, as more wholesome and more durable.

The researches at Pompeii and Pozzouli are very successful. At Pompeii several edifices, of supurb architecture, have been discovered, and at Pozzuoli a great number of tombs, in the Roman style.

HYDROPHOBIA.

The following paper is presented to us he physician of this city, with a request to us to state that the remedy recommended can be prepared by James Richardson, & Co. MAYORALITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

Mr. Chabert, a physician from the university of Montpelier, lately arrived in this city has just made known to me a remedy for the canine madness, which has been pointed out as a specific by the Italian physicians. The remedy was published in the Piedmontese Gazette in May last, from which it was literally copied, by Mr. Chabert himself, hefore his leaving France. The discovery is due to Professsor Bragnatelli; and it would be more advantageous to try by experiments. the confidence which it may be intitled to. that the use of the remedy can occasion no dangerous consequences. I therefore consider it my duty, to make it known to my fellow citizens, by publishing the following as it has been transmitted to me: "Thanks to the celebrated Professor Brag. natelli, an efficacious remedy has at last been discovered, against canine madness, perhaps the most horrid of all diseases. That remedy conssits in hydrochloric (muriatic ox. aquecix) acid, used as well inside of the body as on the exterior parts of it. The wound produced by the bite of mad animals must be washed with it. It appears that that substance destroys the hydrophobic poison, even when used several days aftera bite. A number of well authenticated cures, operated by that simple means, in the great hospital of Lombardy, do not permit to doubt the powers of that precious remedy."

MONEY

There is nothing in this world gives a man so much importance-nothing which hides so many faults and nothing which will pass current for so many virtues, as MONEY. Without money an honest man is despised, A few days since, a ship arrived at New and with it the greatest rascal or the mean-York, with passengers, from England; a- est scoundrel is respected. You shall see a mong the number was one of no ordinary being, without a single pretention to humanity; a more walking lump of grossness and depravity; one of the vilest of the vile, proto the Fly-market, to regale himself with vided he possesses the one thing needfulsome of the luxuries of the season, and pur- accompanied and almost worshipped by chased two green squashes !-- and the better balfa score of lickspitters, sycophants bowing to accommodate his eating, carried them on and grinning applause at every thing he utters: while a poor man of talents, of feeling ly devoured the one, and commenced upon and sensibility, and an independent soul, a world which cares not for his sorrows. To be poor is the lot of many from the commencement of their existence; but misfortune is apparently considered as a crime, and there is nothing more galling to a poor man of liberal mind, than that kind of hauteur arrogance which the rich and affluent assume towards him; more especially, if he has once been in better circumstances, he feels it keenly-it sinks deep.

But to be reduced from alluence to misery and want; not by any faults of our own, but by a concurrence of unfortunate events not in the power of man to foresee or to prevent, and in consequence of being poor to be treated with coolness and contempt, by those with whom, in days of prosperity we have been intimate, and called friends-embitters a man's feelings, makes him miserable and misanthropic, and causes him to despise human nature

There is nothing which produces so much hatred to a former friend as the belief that he avoids you, because you have not as much filthy lucre, or because you have been unfortunate in business, and yet if a man has failed, no matter what may have been the cause, friendship soon changes into pity, and sorrow for misfortunes quickly degenerates into contempt-and the poor bankrupt generally, not only loses his friends and credit, but also becomes at least for a time, "an object for scorn to point his slow unmoving finger at."

There are it is true, a certain class in society whose opinions, whose good or ill will, has no more effect on an honest man than the idle wind-I mean those fat, lazy and stupid beings whom you find in all places and meet at every corner of the streets, whose money is respected, but who have no personal character. Yet this class of things -these purseproud puppies-these substitutes for men, who have neither capacity to conceive, ambition to attempt, nor ability to execute, any thing either good or bad-tens

It therefore becomes necessary for 'every man, whether knavish or honest-whether stupid or eminent, to get money - to get it honestly if he can, but, by all means, to get it-For if he is as wise as Solomon; as strong iny in love; will best suit the eager and Zolikoffer's ditto; as Sampson, and as brave and eloquent as | f. enzied Cæsar, unless he possesses the wealth of Crœsus, he will be disregarded and despis-

FOREIGN ARTICLES.

The last accounts state that all England was in a state of electioneering busile; but in London and Westminster, the annals of mobocracy never exhibited greater excesses. In Westminster Sir Francis Burdett and Sir Samuel Romilly are elected. In Lon don, Messrs Wood, Wilson, Waithman, and Thorp, are chosen. Alderman, Curtis lost los election by about 100 votes.

Sir Samuel had 5339 and Sir Francis 5238 votes. Capt. Maxwell 4808, and Mr. Hunt

Mr. Canning carried his election, having, at the close of the poll, 1654 votes; Gen. Gascoyne had 1444; and Lold Sefton, the anti ministerial candidate, 1280. Mr. Brougham has lost his election for Westmoreland. The papers contain a long list of old members re elected.

The health of the British Queen continued precarious.

A letter from Drogheda, Ireland, says, "We had no less than three men shot here since yesterday. We are in the centre of massacre and war." The Duke of Kent and his German bride had arrived in England. Letters from Petersburg, dated June 5th, say, very large purchases of hemp are making for the American government. A Liverpool paper says the revenue continues to increase; the receipts of the pre- tive - His interrigence was superior, and the . Holy War, sent quarter over that of last year, is no less than fifteen hundred thousand pounds. A Stockholm paragraph of June 5, says, The admiralty have hired three vessels to large quantity of artillery, balls, powder, of his choice, but to be a bright ornament in Frey's Narrative, anchors, cables, &cc."

The death of the celebrated Russian general Barclay de Tolly has been followed by that of another distinguished commander, Baron Winzingerode, General of Cavalry, and Adjutant General in the service of the Emperor of Russia. He had been a month at Wieshaden, on a visit to his relations, in apparent health and with a cheerful flow of spirits On the 18th of June, towards morning, he was found sitting under a fruit tree, without any sign of life, in the attitude of a person in a gentle slumber.

A letter from St. Petersburgh asserts, that Great Britian has invited the Russian Government-1st. To require a formal declaration from the Ottoman Porte whether it considers the Barbary powers as its dependants; and in that case, whether the court of Constantinople will guarantee the States of Europe against any outrages of these bar barians on their subjects.

2d. Should the Porte disclaim the right of controlling in that respect the African regencies, or refuse to exercise that right for the protection of Europe, then the cabinet of St. Petersburg will be invited to conclude a treaty with the British government similar, to that which has been already signed by Great Britian with the Courts of Madrid for the defence of their several flags against the corsairs.

The last accounts from France indicate a state of perfect tranquility. The army of occupation is to be withdrawn the ensuing Octover. It is affirmed the French ministe rial party will acquire great additional sup port at the ensuing meeting of the Legislative Chambers.

country (England.) The branches so operated upon are hung with fruit, while the others that are not ringed, often have nothing, or very little upon them. This effect is easy to be explained from the theory of the motion of the sap .--For when the sap moves slowly in a tree, it produces fruit buds, which is the case in old trees; when it moves vigorously, the tree | shop and Poverty valley, or Poverty valley forms wood, or runs into shoots, as happens with young trees.

GALLANT EXPLOIT.

From the Boston Intelligencer.

Some documents have accidentally fallen into our hands, in relation to a bo'd achievewhich places his courage, seamanship, and conduct, in a striking light; the credit of which, from a misprint of his name, at that time, in the newspapers, never has been awarded to the right individual.

Capt. Hull was first lieutenant of the frigate Constitution, commanded by captain Talbot, during the short war which was waged between the United States and the French republic. The Constitution was cruising upon the coast of St. Domingo in the spring of 1800; and Capt. Talbot, hearing that a French armed ship was lying in Port Plate,* though she was protected by her own guns and a fort of three heavy cannon, determined upon cutting her out. He, at first, intended to have silenced the fort with the battery of his ship; but finding it somewhat dangerous to approach near enough to perform the service, with the Constitution, altered his plan, and entrusted the enterprise to Lieut. Hull. The sloop Sally, a ves-
