"PUSH ALONG-KEEP MOVING." Such is the cry of Progress every where .--

The following beautiful lines were written, a few years since, by an ex-member of Congress from Vir-gmia. They were not intended for publication, but the original and only copy was kindly sent to us at the time by our friend, the author, because the sub-ject of them was well known to us. It is no fancy sketch, but was drawn from real life. We give it to our readers, as one of those gems which are too often withheld from public contribution by a false modesty of their authors :

Poetry.

OLD ABRAM KRIM.

FROM THE WASHINGTON SENTINEL.]

VOL. X.

[The above is somewhat incorrect, in one particular. This poetical description of one among the most singular individuals that ever wandered through our own or almost any other county of the State, first appeared in the " Free Press" some several years since. It is almost unnecessary to say, i is no fancy sketch, as our readers in this county can very well attest, for young and old have oft and again-

-" Met old Abram Krim,

And now and long will remember him." The "member of Congress" to whom these lines are attributed, is our good friend HENRY BEDINGER. Esq., and when he may read them in our columns. it will call to recollection many incidents of the past and we have no doubt this simple tribute, to a wild wanderer, will awaken associations of the home of his birth and the land of his love, that he would not exchange for all the " pomp and circumstances" of Foreign Courts, or the etiquette of imperial splendor .- Ed, Spirit.]

Have ye ever met old Abram Krim? If ye have, ye'll long remember him ; He is a strange old man, I trow, And lives, I cannot tell you how ! He is distract, the neighbors say, And roams the land by night and day. From west to east from east to west, He journeys, without food or rest, Save when kind neighbors pity him, And charity helps old Abram Krim. His hoary locks all white and thin, As is the beard upon his chin; His form is bent, his cheek burnt brown, His eye upon the earth cast down; His head is bare, his feet are sore, Yet still he roams the country o'er The biting frost, the angry storm, Fall on his weary withered form ; The heavy rain, the dashing snow, Descend upon his furrowed brow ; But wind nor rain, nor snow-storm dim, Can check thy wand'ing Abram Krim. Through summer, autumn, winter, spring, This poor old man is wandering; You'll meet him here, you'll meet him there, You'll meet him almost everywhere; At morn, at noon, at closing day

It is the watchword of the nineteenth century ; written on ever banner, carved on every blade, lifted in the cause of Human Advancement. "Push along-keep moving!" There's a whole volume of good counsel in these words. To the young; just setting out in life, they are of infinite value; they have an omnicient influence, girding the soul with everlasting vigor. If the arm grows weary and the heart faint, they tinge the future with the hues of triumph, and lead on the feet with hopeful strength; obstacles rise in the way. "Push along-keep moving," from the lips of hope, is better then a Damascus blade in hewing out the path to victory. "Push along !" What if clouds thick and heavy, are stretched out before you !-- " push along !" What if your eyes see no signs of victory, no gleams of hope !-- " push along !" -- the wreath will yet descend. What if death strides into your household ring, and breaks all the shrines of your idolatry? Mourn not hopelessly, look not always back-let the dead past bury its dead-" push along-keep mov-

"Keep moving." Nature cries it with her ten thousand tongues-the universe, as it rolls your hand findeth to do, do it with all your might-pause not, rest not. "Push along !" It goes round the world like a trumpet call, rousing up the slumbering, strengthening the weak, inspiring the fearful, urging the strong to continual conquest. It is everywhere the same-the spring and foundation of all true Young man ! if you would conquer in the battle of life, write this watchword upon your banner-" Push along-keep moving." "YOUNG AMERICA."

We find the following in the Richmond Enquirer which credits it to the Presbyterian Quarterly Review : "The increase of lunacy in this country is another frightful indication of the mad extravagance of the people. of the Sabbath would hopelessly enslave the working classes, with whom we are identified. Think of labor thus going on in one monotonous and continuous and eternal cycle-limbs forever on the rack, the fingers forever playing, the eyeballs forever straining, the brow for ev-er sweating, the feet forever plodding, the brain forever drooping, the loins forever aching, and the restless mind forever scheming.

"Think of the beauty it would extinguish ; of the giant strength that it would tame; of the resources of nature that it would exhaust; of the aspirations it would crush; of the sick-ness it would breed; of the projects it would wreck; of the groans it would extort; of thelives it would immolate ; and of the cheerless graves that it would prematurely dig! See them toiling and moiling, sweating and fretting, grinding and hewing, weaving and spinning, sowing and gathering, mowing and reaping, raising and building, reaping and planting, unloading and storing, striving and struggling-in the garden and in the field, in the granary and in the barn, in the factory and in the mill, in the warehouse and in the shop, on the mountain and in the ditch, and on the roadside and in the wood, in the city and in the country, on the sea and on the shore, on the earth, in days of brightness and of gloom. What a sad picture would the earth present if we had no Sabbath."

MYSTERIES OF SADNESS. Who that reads the following beautiful passage from an accomplished writer, will not bear witness to the correctness of the description ? Who hath not had experience as thus truthfully portrayed ?

"There is a mysterious feeling that frequently passes like a cloud over the spirits. It comes upon the soul in the busy bustle of life, to the social circle in the calm and silent retreats of solitude. Its powers are alike supreme over the weak and iron-hearted. At one time, it is caused by the flirting of a single thought across the mind. A sound will come booming over the ocean of memory, gloomy and solemn as the death-knell, overwhelming all the bright hopes and sunny feelings of the heart. Who can describe it?' Still, it is a died many years ago, and until a few weeks | coat, buff vest and drab pants-a suit which delicious sort of sorrow; and, like a cloud since the world has forgotten the once famous comes fully up to my idea of neatness and dimming the sunshine on the river, although ree of moderation. THE LAST OF THE BLANNERHASSETTS. [From the Richmond Despatch.]

The eloquence of William Wirt, and the nemorable conspiracy of Aaron Burr made the name of Herman Blannerhassett as familiar as a household word to the people of this country some forty years ago. His fame, mis-fortunes and history, embalmed in the gorgeous eloquence of Wirt, are still familiar to many. But whilst every declamatory school boy recites with a voice alternating from a shrill treble to hoarse growling bass, the glowing extract from her gifted orator's famous speech upon the occasion for Burr's Trial, none perhaps ever enquired the fate of the noble Irishman after the failure of Burr's great conspiracy. When the treachery, heartless and villiany of Burr had destroyed poor Blannerhassett's almost Edenlike palatial home on the Ohio, and involved the unsuspecting owner in degradation and ruin, few enquired his fate and subsequent history.

Herman Blannerhassett, all of our readers will perhaps recollect, was the son of an Irishman nobleman who emigrated to this country in 1797. Possessed of ample means, he purchased a beautiful Island on the Ohio river, and expended nearly a hundred thousand dollors in the erection of an edifice remarkable for its almost Aladdin beauty of decorations and proportions. The ornamental grounds in their beauty and floral and horticultural ornaments rendered Blannerhassett's residence an earthly paradise. Surrounded by all the appliances of the most refined luxury, with a magnificent library, costly furniture, supurb paintings, blessed by the society of a refined wife and intelligent children, his wealth and prosperity excited the admiration and envy of all who glided by his residence upon the waters of the Ohio. Seduced by the eloquence of Burr, Blannerhassett, at an unfortunate moment, became the confidant of Burr; and was, as that person's accomplice, arrested conveyed to Richmond cast into prison, but discharged, after the acquittal of the principal conspirator. The pecuniary embarrassment of Blannerhassett pressing heavily upon him, he was forced to sell his magnificent palace and estate, and misfortune dogged his footsteps, until he died in Ireland in 1827, broken hearted and almost a pauper. His wife and only surviving son returned to New York in the year 1831 in very reduced circumstances. The mother and riding, and driving, I wear a blue sack choose. In a letter recently published, she thus argues the question and lays down the laws of good taste in regard to the cut and color of jackets and trowsers for the fair sex : "It is, as I am informed, a 'misdemeanor for woman to assume the garb of a man with intent to disguise her sex-the law presuming that such disguise is intended to cover some evil design ; but if no intention to disguise the sex is apparent, then no offence is committed, Under this interpretation of the law, it will be seen that we are not, after all, entirely restrained from wearing the male style of dress. I hold that women should wear this costume whenever and wherever they choose to do so, either in town or country, in doors or out doors, occasionally or constantly. If the male part of creation should find any trouble in determining our sex, let them quit shaving their faces, and then the difficulty will be obviated. 'What kind of a male suit may we wear?' is a question that often suggests itself to timid reformers. In answer to this I would say, wear any dress that you like ; you have the whole range of men's fashions to choose from. , Wear black, blue or brown coats, in the sack, frock or close bodied form, as you may prefer; blouses of gray linen, or linen check; pantaloons of black, drab or blue cassimere, or of white or gray linen; buff, white or black waistcoats; and fur or straw hats, or cloth caps. All these, and more too, are open to your choice. In deference to good taste, avoid striped, cross-bar-. red and snake and toad-colored pants; let yours be plain, and cut snugly to the form, without being too scanty for the free motion of the limbs. Eschew all kinds of tawdry waistcoats, such as are sported by 'fancy young men.'-A buff cassimere vest, with plain, flat, gilt buttons, is eminently genteel, and is always becoming ; a plain black vest will be found desirable to alternate with the buff one. If you wear a blue dress coat, have it trimmed, by all means, with plain, flat, gilt buttons; but no other coat whatever should have metallic buttons of any kind. Generally, the sack coat is preferable to any other form of this garment; and for working, the blouse is better than all. I do most of my sweeping, and other house-work, in a check linen blouse. THE VALLEY OF THE AMAZON.

We are indebted (says the Valley Star-and so are we) the Hon. James M. Mason for a copy of Lieut Heredon's Report of his exploration of the magnificen a stream and valley of the Amazon. Lient. Herndon was instructed in 1851-in conjunction with Lieut. Gibbonby the Navy Department to enterupon this arduous and dangerous service and $5,000 were placed at his disposal to movide his outfit and pay his necessary expenses on the route. In May, 1851, having hired a cook, servant and interpreter, and procured four stout young mules for saddle use, he set out from Lima, and in due time reached Tayma a town of seven thousand inhabitants on the eastern side of the Cordillera range of nountains. At this place he deemed it advisable to separate from Lieut. Gibbon, who was instructed to proceed by a more southern route, and explore the waters of the Madeira, while he would follow the course of the Hirallaga, to where we united with the Amazon, and thence down that stream to the Atlantic Ocean. Lieut. Horndon has performed his part of the exploration with energy, solence and success, and having sailed on the bosom of that wonderful stream of 3,600 miles, in an open dugout cance, has at last reached this country, and laid his report before the Government. He spoke with enthusiasm of the capacities and future prospects of this aplendid region, if once its commerce could be opened to the world, and its natural resources and productions encouraged by an infusion of Anglo Saxon energy. The peo ple of the country, he represents, as ignorant, degraded and enervated, without one single good quality except a eligious feeling. Surrounded by all the profusion of the tropics they were so poor and meagrely provided with ecessaries, that they could not supply the wants of him and his few companions. The Valley of the Amazon is more than two millions of square miles in extent and the river may be navigated by large ships for two thousand miles, and by a slight expenditure the river might be opened for steamboats for 3,600 or 4,000. If once the navigation is opened for steamboats, saw-mills and cotton gins will be erected along its banks, and plank of the finest wood, and cotton become staple articles of export while the peculiar products of the country, coffee, vanilla, spices, drugs and cocoa will increase rapidly in quantity, and the mines of gold, silver, iron, coal, copper, quicksilver, zine and tin, will open sources of wealth to the miner, and attract people from all parts of the globe. The commerce of the river is estimated at two millions of dollars in value, which, of course would vastly increase under the influence of steam navigation and Saxon enterprise. The U.S. are more epocially interested in opening the navigation of this vast river. Ships bound from there to Europe must pass by their very doors, and New York is the half way house between Para and Europe. Lieut. Herndon thinks our planters might go there with their negroes, whose complexions and contitutions, can better endure the effects of that elimate than can the white man. If they should go there, there is no telling where the "manifest destiny" of American institutions may end. Lieut. Gibbon has not yet returned, or if he has, his report has not been submitted to Congress ; when he does make his report, it will probably be connected with Lieut. H's. The two will contain a great deal of valuable information in reference to that interesting part of the world.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be smatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of mature, and indulging in a certain secret habit.— Such persons before contemplating: Marriage,

Marriago, should reflect that a cound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the hap-piness of another becomes blighted with our own.-

Weakness of the Organs immediately cured, and full vigor restored. To Strangers.

The many thousands of the most desperate and hopeless cases cured at this institution within the last twelve years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the papers and many other persons notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. The who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston may religiously confide in his honor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician. There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks copying Dr. Johnston's advertisement, and advertising themselves as physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of the already Afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his Office. And snowy brow, and heart as light As any fawn's, and eves as bright: And pretty foot, and pretty hand, Just ht to wield a fairy's wand. And with a person light and slim: Such was the love of Abram Krim, But like the most of woman kind, She had a fickle wayward mind ! And Abram found, to his dispair. The pretty thing was false as fair For on the day they were to wed. That very day she chose, and fied Across the salt sea's foaming billow With some fine-looking, worthless fellow ! And from that luckless hour, they say, Poor Abram's reason fled away! And he has aye been wandering To find this foolish fickle thing Forever on her form he ponders. And hopes to meet her as he wanders He seeks her in the shadowy grove Where first he breathed his early love. He hopes to meet her by the fountain.

Her voice will breathe its melody: No more her bounding step will come To meet thee by her cottage home; No more her little hands will twine Young roses round those locks of thine ] Those locks are white with many years; Thy cheek is wet with many tears; heart is crushed ; thine eye is dim God bless fhee, poor old Abram Krim.

Blannerhassett, and his family comfort combined. The following history of the son of Blannerhassett taken from a recent perfectly reliable source, illustrates with melancholy force the strange and remarkable revolution of the wheel of fortune in elevating the lower, and also in crushing the children of the rich in the mire of the Slough of Despond.

A few charitable ladies a short time since, visited the Five Points in New York,-that most horrible of modern of Alsatias,-upon a an errand of mercy. Here among the lowest, the vilest, most wretched of God's creatures. in a damp, low, unfinished comfortless room they found a delicate, refined looking man destitute, of every comfort of life without sufficient bread or clothing, forced to associate with the most reffianly and unprincipled of the population of New York. He was the only child of the wealthy and distinguished Blannerhassett. The son of the man who had set up merchants, patronized literature and the fine arts, and been courted and honored by thousands, who had united with Burr to conquer an empire, was found almost starving in a cellar in the portion of New York. One alone had proved faithful to the last of the Blannerhassetts,- one alone clung to the lastspar of a shipwrecked, broken, forgotten family. An old negro woman a slave of Herman Blannerhassett, in the days of his prosperity. who had held young Blannerhassett in her arms, when his father was the afluent gentleman and associate of Burr-was found by the Samaritains who visited her master, devoting all of her remaining strength to her feeble and helpless master. Forgotten by the world this faithful slave afforded to the son of the celebrated Blannerhassett-what the world has denied him-bread, and an humble roof to protect him from the inclemency of a Northern winter. What moral dees this paint of the instability and uncertainty of worldly wealth and position-the only surviving son of Blannerhassett, perishing almost for want of the necessaries life, in Five Point's, and supported by the exertions of a faithful negro-l

VIRGINIA HOUSE OF DELEGATES IN '99.

A correspondent of the National Intellirencer, of recent date, who was a member of the Legislature of this State in 1799, informs that paper that Mr. Madison did not report the Virginia Resolution of '98, for he was not a member of the Legislature at that time. This correspondent thus speaks of the Virginia House of Delegales of '99:

" The House of Delegates was at that time considered by strangers and others to be the most dignified and orderly legislative body in the world. There were no desks in the hall having on them a supply of pens and ink, and writing paper, and newspapers and books, to-interrupt the proceedings of the House and cause disorder, consequently the sessions seldom lasted over two months. There was no particular seats allotted to the members .-Each sat on whatever beach he thought proper. Mr. Madison occupied a seat on the front bench, opposite the Speaker's chair, and next to him on his right, sat his friend the late James M. Garnet, a well known of izen of the State. They were the only two members, I believe, who occupied the same seat during the entire session. Mr. Madison took his seat each morning, with his hair powdered, and wearing a blue cloath cloak, which he never nrew off when he addressed the Chair. Ile spoke but seldone, and when he did it was with apparent diffidence, a low voice, and with a little or no action; holding his hat in his

SEED CORN.

A correspondent of the Albany Cultivator gives the result of an experiment made in the selection of seed, and the result the present season in raising corn therefrom. He says:-"At the time of gathering my crop of corn last fall, I procured a number of stalks, each having two ears upon it, which I reserved for seed last spring. On the 17th of May last, I planted two rows of corn, 20 rods long, the seed for which I took from the ears which grew nearest the root of the stalks preserved as above; I then planted two rows adjoining. the seed for which I took from the ears which grew the highest upon the stalks preserved last fall. These four rows had equal care and attention during the season. The two planted from the corn which grew nearest the root grew more rapidly and eared better than the other. The four rows were cut up Sept. 19. I husked out ten hills from each two rows Oct. 8th, and for my own satisfaction weighed the corn, in the ear. The weight of the ears taken from the ten hills planted from corn growing nearest the root, was 171 pounds, while the weight of the ears which grew on the other ten hills was 91 pounds. I am fully satisfied from the result of this experiment, that farmers should preserve, not only the largest ears which grow on the stalk for seed, but those growing nearest the root of the stalk." The above is but a single argument in favor of the proper selection of the most vigorous seed for re-production, and all farmers, who would avail themselves of every advantage in their business, will give careful attention to securing the best seed for planting, and avail themselves of every means possible for the purpose of perfecting their judgment in this matter.-N. E. Cultivator.

JUDGE DOUGLAS AT HOME .- The Senate of Illinois has passed resolutions in favor of the Nebraska and Kansas bill of Judge Douglas, and endorsing his course upon the question of slavery in the territories. There is no doubt but that the flouse of Representatives will follow the example of the Senate, and thus fully sustain the action of their fearless and popular Senator. Judge Douglas was never stronger in the confidence and affections of the pe ple he represents; and all the attacks which the Whigs and Abolitionists make upon him only induce his friends to cling with more devotedness to his support. Those who prophesied his downfall from the inception of the Nebraska and Kansas bill, will be most grievourly disappointed.

MECHANICS' STRIKE, The Philadelphia papers report the strike in that city of the joureymen boot and shoemakers. They have prepared a bill of vages which provides for an increase of ten per cent. on old prices, but in several braziches of the work the advance will be much heavier than the rate per cent, specified. The great majority of the employers nave declined to accede to the demand, while some few have agreed to come into the measure provided it becomes general. As a con-sequence of this determination on the part of the journeymen, and the spirit with which it has been met by the employers, the former are now idle, and a general strike is in operation. The journeymen shipjoiners have requested of their employers an advance of 25 cts. per day on their wages after the 4th instant.

SUPPRESSION OF SMALL NOTES IN VIRGINIA.

Both branches of the Virginia Legislature have passed the bill for the suppression of small notes in the State and it is there now a law. The first section, (which is not to take effect antil June 1st; 1858,) makes it the duty of every person, on applying for any kind of license, to take an oath not to pay out notes issued by any bank, corporation, or individual, of a less denomination than five dollars. The other sections of the law are to go into operation on the first of June next. The second im poses a fine of $10 for offering or issuing any note below $5-the name signed on the face of any such note to be deemed an issuer. By the third section, one half of the fine is to go to informer, who is made a competent witness. The remaining sections we give entire :

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, that any person may recover by motion before a single Justice or Alder man, or before any court, from any person whose name is on the face of a note of a denomination less than five dollars, which may be issued after the passage of this dollars, which may be insert of such note, and such recove-ry shall be, in addition to the fine herein before imposed. Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, that the penalties imposed by this act shall be in addition to the penalties heretofore imposed, and this act shall be construed remedially. . Sec. 6. And be it further exacted, that this act shall apply as well to interest bearing scrip for sums less than five dollars as to notes of other descriptions.

THE EXPLOSION AT HARTFORD. HEART-RENDERING SCENE

We yesterday (says the American of 3rd inst...) gave a telegraphic account of the explosion of the steam boiler in the car factory of Messrs. Fales & Gray, at Hartford, Conn., accompanied by the instant death of 13 of the workmen, and the serious injury of some 40 or 50 others. "The Hartford papers received last night bring full details of the appalling catastrophe, and from the Daily Times of that city we extract the following additional par ticnlars.

At about 2 o'clock this afternoon, (March 2,) the new steam boiler, just placed in the car factory of this city, burst with a terrible explosion, shattering the entire building, and laying all that part occupied by the blacksmiths, engine, &c., in complete ruins. The shock came in an instant when there was no apparent cause for it. . The boiler was built with great care, of the best materials, with steam gauge, &c. It was consider-ed to be a perfect thing. It was five feet in diameter, twenty-four long, and full of flues. Its power was fifty horse.

About 300 persons were employed in this factory and about 100 were at work in the section of the building which has been shattered from the lowe floor to the roof-the heavy timbers being wrenched and broken, as if they had been but mere reeds.-All the windows of the main building are broken out, and the side warls are cracked and leaning. At 3 o'clock carriages were carrying away the mangled bodies in some of whom there was a faint respiration, whilst others were still in death.

We saw nine horribly mangled bodies lying in the shop, stiff and dead, and another (Edward Laughlin,) but faintly breathing. Some of these were-so bruised and disfigured that their own shopmates could not recognize them. An arm was found, for which no body is yet discovered. One of the killed had his head torn from the shoulders. Others were so flattened in their faces and mangled, that they did not look like human

It was prinful to hear the means and shricks of the poor women-the wives and sisters of the dead. The most heart-rending cries came from them as they went among the dead, and discovered by some article of clothing their near relatives.

What a sad affair ! and who can estimate or appreciate the keen sufferings of the poor stricken families, without fathers and protectors to-night! We fear that there are other dead bodies among the ruins. P. S.-We learn that the engineer was filling his boiler with water, when the accident occurred. It is on such occasions that most accidents of a similar kind occur.

EXTENT AND CAPACITY OF THE MARYLAND COAL RE-GEON .- We learn from the annual report of Dr. Higgins, State Agricultural Chemist, that there are fifteen veins in the great coal region of Allegany county Md., some of which, however, have no economical value; that is it would cost more to work them than the product would justify. The chief veins are; 1st, the two feet vein; 2d, the three feet vein ; 3d, the forby

6th, the big or fifteen feet vein. The most important are the big vein, the 6 feet vein and the 40 inch vein

The big vein is considered the most valuable; it con tains an average thickness of eleven feet of workable coal. It is estimated that there are in this field 20,000 arres of workable big vein coal, 80,000 arres of the six feet vein, and 80,000 arres of the forty inch vein. It will thus be seen that the smaller veins embrace veins however and those now worked for expo

VIRGINIA STATISTICS. The number of adults in the State of Virrinia, who cannot read and write, according to the census of 1850, is 77,005-30,244 males and 46,761 females. The county most largely represented by this unfortunate class is Rockingham; she has 2,590—the next is Russel, with 1,728-then Norfolk, with 1,699 -then Wythe, with 1,673-then Tazewell, with 1,506-and so on.

The whole number in attendance upon the schools, during the year, in the whole State is put down at 109,711, of 119,757, between the ages of ten and twenty years; which would leave 10,048, supposing all in attendance upon school to be over ten years ; which is not the case; for there are at least 5,000 under that age at school.

There are 87 newspapers and periodicals of ever description printed in Virginia, with an aggregate circulation of 89,134-of which 62 are political papers, with an aggregate circula-tion of 51,988. THE COAL MINERS' STRIKE .- The strike among the miners of the Cumberland coal re-

The big vein, Byailable coal in the main coal field. The big vein, comprising 20,000 acres of workable coal, 11 feet thick, contains in every acre 17,747 tons of coal, or in the whole vein 354,933,333 tons. Defact one-fourth for wastege of every kind, and we have 266-200,000 tons of merchantable coal of unsarpassed ex-cellence. The six feet vein contains in each acre 9,680 tons of coal; this multiplied by its number of acers, 86,000, will give 744,400,000 tons of coal. De-ducting as before, we find it is capable of furnishing 580,800,000 tons of coal. The four feet vein contains also 80,000 acres; each acre 6,050 tons of coal; the SINGULAR STOCK .-- Robert Scott, Esq., of Woodford county, in this State, who owns one of the splendid farms of that region, has a large pond of water upon his domain, by which he has half domesticated a flock of wild geese.-He first procured eleven, and cropped their wings, which reclaimed them for a season .---They migrate northward in the Spring, and return in the Fall with their full-fledged young. also 80,000 acres; each acre 6,050 tons of coal; the whole vein therefore contains 484,000,000 tons of coal Deducting one-fourth for wastage and we have 363, The second s The flock now numbers two hundred and eight 000,000 tons as the quantity it can furnish. #### TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1854.

THE NATIONAL ARMORY QUESTION. This question, which touches the sensibilities of every mechanic in the nation, is rapidly assuming a character of grave importance in the New England States, where the mechanical interest is so extensive. During the last fall most of the Democratic State and County Conventions declared their hostility to the appointment of military officers to superintend and control the National Armories, and we observe amongst the proceedings of the recent Connecticut State Convention the following resolution which was unanimously adopted :

Resolved. That, in the opinion of this Convention, the civil superintendence of the U. S. Armories, is far preferable to the military, inasmuch as it is entirely unnecessary to subject mechanics to military ipline, while occupied in their ordinary duties. The Springfield Post well calls it-" a right thing said at the right time."

THE CENSUS REPORT

To the kindness of the Hon. C. J. FAULENER, do we feel ourselves specially indebted, for a copy of the Census Report. Though it has been much abridged, and Congress has expended more money in discussion than would have printed all its details. it is yet a volume of over one thousand pages, handsomely bound and beautifully printed. It contains a vast amount of information, which will be useful for all time to come.

To Senators Hunter, Douglas, Dixon and Badger, as also the Hon. John Letcher of the House, are we under obligations for interesting documents received during the last week. -

ABOLITION PHILANTHROPY.

In the course of the speech of Senator Butler of South Carolina, a few days ago, in support of the bill for the organization of the Territories of Nebraska and Kansas, he referred to the sickly sentimental-ity engendered by the abolition agitators, and to the consistent absence of all practical reforms during the progress of the anti-slavery crusade. " I will not say that the honorable senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Sumner] has adopted the Asiatic in preference to the Atic style, because I would not do him injustice upon any occasion; but I will say what is the truth, that this pseudo philanthropy which is now, to some extent pervading the public mind of the North, was unknown to the bardy morality of our forefathers. They are practical statesmen that could deal with all the elements of a different society with justice, and not rhetorical dialecticians who would make such elements themes for their mere eloquence and professions of philanthropy --such as would free the slave, and afterwards subject him to starvation—a philanthropy that is heated into flame more to hate the white race than to pre-serve the bleck—a philanthropy of adoption more than affection-one can possess much and does nothing, with a long advertisement and short perform-

COMPARATIVE WEALTH OF PEOPLE.

DOINGS AND GOSSIP OF WASHINGTON Correspondence of the Spirit of Jefferson WASHINGTON, March 11, 1854.

J. W. BELLER, Esq .- Dear Sir : I have only time ebough at my disposal to-day to say a few words to you. The proceedings of Congress during the past week have possessed very little of general interestthe House being most of the time engaged upon local bills, and the Senate resting itself after the long and arduous struggle over the Nebraska Bill.

I desired to discourse with you upon the "Nebra ka Bill" in the shape it finally passed the Senate, but to do so satisfactorily this week would require more time than I have at my command, and more space than you could give meat this late hour. I should not be true to the earnestness with which I have advocated the doctrine of pon-intermention in my letters to you, were I now to surrender it, and declare my unqualified approbation of the Nebraska and Kansas Bill as it passed from the Senate with the Boa Constrictor of Badger's amendment, coiled around its neck. We sought to crush out the Missouri Compromise, because it was unconstitutional, because it interfered with a perfect equality in the States of this Union, and because it was an upwarrantable legislation upon slavery by Congress. These evils we thought to cure (and we should have succeeded had we held on) by the only means that could have been of any permanent and efficient benefit, the re-establishment of the constitutional barrier to all interference-the direct intervention of the organic law-I contended in my last letter to you, that it was the principle, we were contending for, that that was the important issue at bar and we had gained it-but Mr. Badger stepped in at a very inopportune moment, with his proviso, and legislated upon slavery again, and thus once more trampled the vital principle of non-intervention under foot. But I must ask to defer my views upon this point 'till another week. when I shall justify them. The proviso has rendered the bill distasteful to many of its original friends and especially its Southern friends, and it will encounter severe attack and opposition in the House. I hope it may there be stricken from the bill. I hold to the doctrine of non-intervention, in toto.

I do not believe that Congress has the power in any shape or form to legislate upon slavery. It has no right to legislate it out of a territory or into a territory, or to say any thing about it one way or the other. As they find an existing state of things, let them hands off 'till the people themselves in the exercise of their sovereign rights act upon and take in hands the erection of themselves into a State Government. The organic law covers the state of things sufficiently, aye, and fully, during the interval, and that is all that is required. But Mr. Badger is not content to let things alone, he must destroy all of his argument upon non-intervention, by intervening with his proviso. Here it is: " Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to revive or put in force any law or regulation which may have existed prior to the act of March, 6, 1820, (the Missouri Compromise,) either protecting, establishing, prohibiting or abolishing slavery." The old French colonial law allowed slavery in all of the territory (of which Nebraska is a part) known to us as the Louisiana purchase. The Missouri Compromise excluded it and abolished it in all that part of it lying North of 36° 30' the Senate declared that "the Missouri Compromise" was unconstitutional and therefore a nudum pactum, and of course by its repeal, the original state of things, whatever it was, was restored, and there it ought to have been left, so far as a few remarks. Rev. Jacob L. Bromwell was allowed to retire for the remainder of the session. About 11 o'clock the case of Rev. Stephen Hilde-brandt was called, and occupied the remainder of the morning. (The father of the girl, alleged to have been injured, was on the stand as a witness, on Wed nesday and Thursday, for nearly 12 hours.) Yesterday, also, was mostly devoted to the hearing of do cumentary testimony consisting of a voluminous con respondence between the parties at court.

It was no less than the meeting of the three oldest ministers attached to the conference, viz Rev. Joshua Wells, aged 90 years, and sixty-five years in the gospel ministry ; Rev. Henry Smith, aged eighty-five years, and for sixty-one years in the min stry, and Rev. James Watts aged seventy-two years, and or fifty years in the ministry. The first of these, Rev. Rev. Henry Smith in appearance shows that the frosts of many winters, and the consequent exposure to which he was subjected on the out-posts of the Conference where he was stationed in earlier years, have born heavily upon him. His attenuated frame, the want of elasticity of limb, and decrepid movements, portend that his race is well nigh spent, and soon he will be gathered to his final reward. ready his voice is tremulous, though the mind is lear, and he manifests a deep interest in the pro-Rev. service of fifty years in the itinerant work he has retired, and stands upon the list of worn out preachers. But he is far from infirmity. Though of delicate proportions, he still possesses an unusual activi-ty for one of his advancel years, and especially so when the fact is taken into consideration that he. too, for many years, was one who stood upon the outer walls and labored in the vineyard of his Divine Master.

ABOLITION SLANDERS & SOUTHERN SAVAGES.

In excited times, weak men become fools, and evi disposed men villians. The first become the victims of the last. Fanaticism seizes upon both, and what in one case becomes folly, in the other case become crime. Both are rendered furious and frantic-Whenever any question arises in this country that involves the subject of slavery, the abolitionists and agitators seize hold of it with blind passion, and run entirely mad with fanaticism. They claim that their great object is philanthrophy, and to promote that object they think that they are released from all the obligations of honor and of common truthfulness. Like all fanatics, they believe, or affect to believe that "the end justifies the means;" that they may do wrong in order that good may come of it. One of their favorite modes of exciting the members of their vile and pestilent crew is to strike off and circulate pictures of slaves in chains, on the gallows, under the lash, or in consuming flames. Another is to coin, rake up, print and circulate heartrending accounts of the barbarous craelty of masters to slaves Children at the north are thus taught to abbor the south, women are impressed with the same prejudice and ignorent men who read nothing but what is brought to, and forced on them, catch the same feel-

In the whole north, there is no more dangerou unscraphlous and virulent enemy to the peace o this country, to the institutions of this country, t the Constitution of this country, than that talented. but disorganizing and crazy journal, the New York Tribune. It is thoroughly unsound and diseased. It is unsound in religion, in morals, in manners and in politics. In its love of liberty it runs into licentiousness, in its hatred of law, it runs into law-lessness. It forgets that to all human things the law of limit applies, and it loses sight of the old saying that extremes meet. But to the point. The Tribune of the 7th of February, with the view we presume of getting up among the porthern people an excitement against their brethren of the th, and thus injuring the success of the Nebraska bill pablished the following: "A SLAVE BURNED TO DEATH — A mob was collected together and a lynch court was held to determine what was best to be done with a negro who had the impudence to raise his hand against a white man. The lynch court decided that he should be burned at the stake. A Natchez paper, the Free Trader, giving an account or it, says the negro was taken and chained to a tree immediately on the banks of the Mississippi, on what is called Union Point. Faggets were then collected and piled around him, to which he appeared quite indifferent When the work was completed, he was asked what he had to say. He then warned all to take example by him, and asked the prayers of all around .-He then called for a drink of water, which was handed him; he drank it and said ; 'Now set fire. I am ready to go in peace.' The torches were lighted and placed in the pile, which was soon ignited He watched unmoved the curling flame, that grew until it began to entwine itself around and fix upon his body, and then he sent forth cries of agony painful to the ear, begging some one to blow brains out, at the same time struggling with almost superhuman strength, until the staple with which the chain was fastened to the tree (not being well secured) drew out and he leaped from the burning pile. At that moment the sharp ringing of several rifles were heard, and the body of the negro fell a corpse on the ground. He was picked up by some two or three, and again thrown into the fire and consumed, not a vistige remaining to show that such a being ever existed. Nearly four thousand slaves were collected from the plantations in the neighborhood to witness this scene. Numerous peeches were made by the magistrates and mini ters of religion, to the large concourse of slaves. warning them, and telling them that the same fate awaited them if they should prove rebellious to their

TO THE PROPLE OF CLARKE COUNTY.

[FOR THE SPIRIT OF JEFFERSON.] Observing, in the Spirit of Jefferson, the proceed-ngs of a meeting held at your Court-House, to get ap a Convention for the nomination of a Sheriff, I eel inclined to call your attention and to solicit your reflection to this caucus system by whatever party it may be used. Both use it, and there are strenuous advocates for it in both parties-and let me add, with a few exceptions, among those who, not content with their own votes, wish also to dictate and govern the votes of others. And why? They will tell you for the good of the party. But, ook, I beseech you, a little closely to the chief movers and instigators of these meetings-scan their aspirations and motives-and, I venture to say you will find, nine times in ten, they aim at conciliation. and union, and harmony, and concentration for some selfish, and, for no public purpose whatever.-This, you will see, is admitted in a paragraph of the preamble of these very proceedings, and I quote it as authority for the opinion just expressed. It says, after referring to the difficulties among candidates who cannot, I suppose, "in honor prefer one another :" "A convention is proposed, but that time-honored system of our party has been so abused that it has almost fallen into disrepute—the manner in which they (Conventions) have been usually gotten up and conducted has justly excited opposition—they seldom express or represent popular feeling or sentiment; many good and true Democrats stand aloof from. their action is not considered binding, and in many cases open warfare is waged against them,

It is here then admitted, and in strong terms too, that Conventions have been usually improperly conducted, and of course by improper persons and for improper objects.

Now, my design is to show to you that the cancus system is itself improper and corrupt-that it is an unclean thing :" and, we have the warrant of Scripture that no one can bring a " clean thing out of an unclean thing; no not one !" The movers in this meeting, the chief movers, may try it as often as they please, and they will find an eternal tendency in it to become the "unclean thing" they describe it to be. It will become so in their own hands. They are but men, and, in the hands of men, according to their own account of it, it "has been so abused that it has almost fallen into disrepute-the manner in which they (caucusses) have been usually gotten up and conducted has justly excited opposition-they seldom express or represent popular feeling or sentiment." All this is true to the letter, and I concur in the opinion and history of its operation. But, I say it results from the intrinsic nature of the system itself. For it was " conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity." Of this there can be no doubt, as Martin Van Buren begot and sired it.

I see nothing new in the proposition of the committee to split and multiply the system into precinct caucusses. All this has been done before-indeed has been and is the usual practice-and still the results have followed as portraved in the preamble .-And necessarily too, because it is the same caucus system, and, at different precincts will be wielded by a few men, who are connected and confederated with a few men at each precinct, to effect some selfish purpose, and, to use their whole party, under patriotic pretexts, for their own ends and the division of spoils. This I say is its nature, and in the hands of either party, Whig or Democratic. Indeed, its vile purposes can be carried out more removed from the public eye at precincts than in a crowded Court-

pose to get up a cancus in the "manner in which they have been usually gotten up," and so condemn-ed by the committee? Is it not the old trick of the cat, who hung herself and pretended to be dead, when the rats would not come out of their holes Are you to be come over in this fashion? Why, even the old rat, who perped out and saw the stratarem, told pussy as she hour there, that he would not ome out or trust her if she was stuffed with straw.

This is, then, an old-fashioned caucus, and nothing else, to which you are invited. I do not mean to reflect on the committee personally. I am attacking the caucus. But, I tell them they are getting up a caucus. "in the manner in which they are usually gotten up," and, however honest their intentions may be, they will not be able to prevent its being " con ducted in the manner in which they have been usually conducted." In its enumeration of objects, by the committee, there is one expressed-" to obtain our just and equitable share of the county offices," to wit-which, both in Whig and Democratic conventions, is, and will ever be found to be, the main spring of the caucus system. But for this, I appeal to all candid men whether, they would see such a deep interest taken by particular persons in organizing conventions, either among Whigs or Democrats. The system is kept up in all parties by the "cohesive principle of public plunder," to use Mr. Calhoun's words. And whenever this is the case, and in whatever system, corruption will "boil and bubble," in spite of all human vigilance. Away, then, with the caucus, for all parties. Surely, if neither use it, they will be on terms of equality. Suppose there should be a number. "of candidates for the same office, each possessing strong and peculiar claims, no one disposed to yield his claim to another, and friends cannot reconcile the difficulties between them"-the case put by the committeewhy, so much the better. The people will have the larger range for selection, and, as they have certainly some lattle interest in the office itself, they will be the proper umpire between the contestants, and not a caucus. There never was a better time to exterminate this usurpation of the power of the people by a few men, than the present. There is little or no party spirit in the country. Witness the vote in the Senate on the Nebraska bill ! Indeed, the past hitterness of party spirit has been engendered and kept burning by this very caucus system, and it is designed for that purpose, in order to divide the spoils among a few coalitionists. They raise the cry of fire, nay, they would fire the temple of freedom itself, to carry out their villainous plundering in the confusion they create. Abolitionism even, may be ascribed and traced to this system. It embodies a standing army of office-seekers, and, when such mennot the free choice of the people, but the spawn and foul brood of the caucus system-are in power or struggling for it, there is no question, however dangerous to the peace and safety of the country, they will not agitate to get or hold on to the spoils. It has passed into a proverb-it is an historical axiom -that a standing army is dangerous to the liberty of all people. Who ever saw a free people with a standing army bearing a proportion to its population? Martin once recommended such a standing army and failed. He has succeeded, however, in his standing army of office-seekers, banded together and kept in organization by the cancus system. I think the people have seen and felt the evils of it and decreed its fall. So may it be!

There is a great deal said at times about the superior wealth of the Northern States in comparison with the States of the South. The following statements which we take from a memorial on the subject of popular education, shows the falseness of all such ons. Virginia has a white population of 894,534, with real and personal property to the amount of $430,000,000. This gives an average property to each individual of $480. In the New England States the average of individual wealth is $410, in New York it is $360 and in Ohio $255 .-From this it does appear that our people have 17 per cent, more wealth than the New Englanders, 33 more than the New Yorkers, and 88 more than the citizens of Ohio.

1G-In the evening Globe, of March 6th, we notice the following amendment and remarks by Mr. FAULENER, in Committee of the Whole, upon the Homestead bill, after the general debate was closed, and speeches were limited to five minutes:

Mr. FAULKNER. I ask to present the following proviso, to be added at the end of the fourth section to the bill.

The Clerk read the proviso, as follows : Provided however, That no entry, authorized by virture of this act, shall be construed to extend to the lands ceded to the United States by Virginia, and other States, prior to the adoption of the Constitu-

Mr. FAULKNER. Mr. Chairman, if the gratuity intended by this bill was restricted to those lands which have been acquired by purchase under the present Government, it would remove one difficulty which I have in yielding it my support. But surrendering as it does for gratuitous settlement the lands which were acquired by cession from Virginia and other States, prior to the adoption of the Constitution, I do not see how we can dispose of them in the manner here contemplated without a palpable violation of the trust upon which those cessions wcre made and excepted. We have been told, by thegentleman from Pennsylvania, [Mr Dawson,] that the Constitution in giving to Congress the power to dispose of the territory belonging to the United States has invested it with a plenary and unlimited discretion. in the disposition of the public lands. This might be so if the Confederation had not excepted the cession from Virginia, subject to certain conditions annexed to the grant. Is there anything in the Constitution which abrogates these conditions, General Jackson, in his message in 1833, commu nicating to Congress the reasons of his veto of Mr.

Clay's land bill, with great truth says :-"The Constitution of the United States did not not delegate to Congress the power to abrogate these compacts. On the contrary, by declaring that noth-ing in it 'shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State it virtually provides that these compacts, and rights they secure shall remain untouched by the legislative power, which shall only make all 'needful rules and ions' for carrying them into 'effect.' All beyond this would seem to be an assumption of delegated power.

Now sir, I ask the gentleman from Pennsylvannia, who reported this bill, and who so warmly advocates it, to examine the condition. which Virginia has annexed to her cession of that immense northwestern territory, and then let him vindicate, if he can, his bill from the charge which I now make against it, of a palpable violation of the trust created by that grant. cession was not made to the United States as a nation ; it was made before the present Constitution was adopted or even thought of. It was made to the States as States in there State capacity, Virginia inclusive. Here is the condition :

"That all the lands within the Territory so coded &c., shall be considered 'a common fund for the use and benefit of such of the United States as have become, or shall become, members of the Confederation or Federal alliance of the said States, Virginia incluclusive, according to their usual respective proportions in the general charge and expenditure, and shall be faithfully and bona fide disposed of for that purpose, and for no other use or purpose whatever."

It is scarcely necessary to say that under the terms of this cession a great public and national trust was created and assumed by this Government. Such has been the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Jackson vs. Clark, (1 Peters, 635.)

Mr. Clay's celebrated land bill, which propos istribution of the proceeds of the publ ic lands amongst the States according to their Federal repntation; was vetoed by General Jackson, and bunced by the whole Democratic party, because as it was said, regardless of this binding compact it assumed that the United States was the unconditional owner of these lands. If this was a correct position as to Mr. Clay's bill, with how much greater ree does it apply to a bill that is confessedly and Congress was concerned, because it had no right to legislate upon it. If this be not true, then the doctrine of non-intervention is a humbug and not worth contending for. But more anon.

The result of the post mortem examination in the Gardiner case, establishes the fact that he committed suicide, by poisoning himself, by taking a mixture of strychnine and broncine. He was guilty, but there are others as deep in the mud as he was in the mire, and I hope they will all yet be ferretted out. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANKLIN. THE HOMESTEAD BILL.

The House of Representatives on Monday last by a vote of 107 to 72 passed what is called the Homestead bill, giving to actual settlers at the head of a family 160 acres of the public domain, or in other words resolved itself into a board of overseers for the poor, in violation of the Constitution and solemn and sacred compacts. It is one of the fruits of dem agogueism, wrapped up in the specious guise of phi-lanthrophy, while its foundation rests upon assumption and mischievous principles. The greedy eye of gain is continually on the public lands, and every neasure intended for the benefit of Western States must be carried out by robbery and injustice to the old States, and by clothing the general government with powers not delegated by the States. The Constitution carries out the deeds of cession by the old States, which was, that the public lands should aid in essening the burdens of taxation, and be a ' common fund' for the benefit of all. Now, however, thousands and thousands of acres, are every session given to the Western States for railroads and other purposes without constitutional right, and in violation f the principles of justice. The Homestead bill in. application assumes the right on the part of government to dispense charity, and thus pave the way to corrupt the masses in order that they may look upon the government as the source of all power-that Congress can do anything that its own will may not check. The government earns nothing, and the funds raised to defray the expenses of government are taken from the hard earnings of the toiling millions. Every acre of land given away only adds more to the taxes of the people. Then, who can as-sume that the government has the power to give to the people anything. When it becomes a board of charity, it robs Peter to pay Paul, as it can possess nothing which does not come from the people. Is it the office of the government to see that every man has a farm? If so, why not go into every other branch of industry and see that every man has tools and other implements? If it can do one thing it can do another, and assumption after assumption will continue until the foundations that sustain our political superstructure will give way, and our institutions will be subverted.

As the House has passed this agrarian measure fraught with mischief, and perpetrates wrong and injustice, we look to the Senate to consign it to the "tomb of the Capulets."—Valley Democrat.

A HARD CASE

The last Romney Argus contains an advertisemont, offering a reward of $50 for the apprehension of John A. Kline, who absconded from Hampshir County about the 23d of February, taking with him the wife of Mr. John Wolfe. Mrs. Wolfe is the mother of three chi.dren; the youngest of which is an infant seven weeks old, which she left at home in the cradle! Kline is about five feet seven inches in height, about 28 years old, has light hair, white eve-brows, high forchead and grey eyes. Has also a short neck, and a slight stammer in his speech; and had on when he left a blue frock coat, black pants, and a black satin vest. Mrs. Wolfe is about five feet four inches in height, and about 27 years of age. They took one of Mr. Wolfe's horses to go off on. Mr. Wolfe offers the $50 reward for the apprehension of Kline; he offers nothing for catching Mrs. Wolfe, as he deems himself fortunate in getting rid of her. And so he is. This pair of worthies deserve to be

drummed out of civilized society. NECESSITY OF POLITICAL PARTIES.

Governor Crosby, who, by-the-by, is the Whig Governor of Maine, holds forth as follows:

Political parties are incident to every form of government in which freedom of thought and utterance are tolerated. Their existence is not to be deprecated, for in the weakness of human nature, it is to the watchful eye which each keeps upon the movement of the other, that we can look with confidence for integrity in the administration of government, and the preservation of civil and religious liberty. It is only when plunder, rather than principle, becomes the cohesive power of party, that party be-comes unmitigated evil. Political parties should be, as with us they have long been, and as I trust they ever may be, the exponents of principles. To aban-don the one, is to renounce the other. The right of every man so to do is unquestionable; convinced of every man so to do is unquestionable; convinced of error, that right becomes a duty; a duty which should be discharged boldly, fearlessly and manfully. No paltry subterfuge should be permitted to serve as an apology—no anticipations of personal profit or aggrandizement admitted as a justification for the abandonment of party and principle. The integrity of the individual members of political parties them-selves, and of the Union, are synonymous; each in-volves the destiny of the other.

iness, for the attainment of which their lives and talents have been expended. They have fought the fight, their course is nearly finished, and the day is not far distant when they will say as did Simeon of old, "Lord, lettest thou thy servant depart in There could be nothing more calculated to peace." spire zeal in the hearts of the younger members of the Conference for the work in which they are engaged, that their closing career may be as spotless and as influential to those who come after them,as is the example of these aged veterans of the Cross.

It is not yet known when the Conference will adionrn, as there are two cases of expelled local preachers to be considered. Certainly the body will remain in session until Tuesday or Wednesday. ATTEMPTED SEDUCTION AND SUMMARY PUN-ISHMENT. On the 2nd inst. much excitement was created at the St. Charles Hotel, in St. Louis, in consequence of the severe and summary punishment of a man named Hoffman, charged with the attempt to seduce the wife of Wilson C. Baker, keeper of a grocery store in that city. It appears that Hoffman is a man of superior education, fine accomplishments, and very popular among his acquaintances, and some time since became acquainted with Mrs Baker, the result of which is thus stated by the St. Louis Intelligencer of the 2d inst. He was untiring in his attentions, carrying them so far as to accompany her to theatres and places of amusement, and more than once insisted upon making her presents. At length having mistaken her politeness for partiality for him, he made some indelicate advances, which she repulsed and informed her husband. Hoffman still persisting in visit ing her at the St. Charles House, the husband wrote a note, warning him of his displeasure. He then gave his wife a loaded pistol, directing her to shoot Hoffman; should he presume to renew his addresses Unfortunately, on yesterday morning, Hoffman again made his appearance at the hotel, and sought Mrs. Baker's room. He had hardly entered when she fired twice, but being frightened at the momen missed him. He turned, and ran down stairs int the street. Baker's friends; Messrs. Smith, Bu roughs and Hawle, who boarded, with their families in the house, pursued and overtook him; and, lead ing him up stairs, confined him in a room, and sent for Baker at his grocery store, near Buckmaster's ferry. Arriving at the house, with the assistance of the others, he stripped Hoffman and tied him down to the bed with a strong rope. He then procured a couple of cowhides, whipped him until one of them was worn out, and then fell upon him with the other. The victim received hundreds of stripes; his back was flayed by the unceasing application of the lash, and Baker ceased only when he was prostrate and half-dying, to consummate his revenge by inflicting a shocking wound with his knife upon the scro-

tum. The wound will not, in the opinion of th physician who was called in; endanger life. Hoffman was removed to the Sister's Hospital, and al though his injuries will long confine him, it is hought he will recover. Baker and the other three were arrested and held to bail.

DREADFUE ACCIDENT.

At New Orleans on the 27th, a dreadful acciden occurred in the Orleans Theatre. The building was crowded to overflowing. Two of the galleries n filled with ladies fell with an awful crash. persons have already been taken out dead and eight langerously wounded. About fifty others slightly and some badly injured. The scene was appr and the confusion terrible. The names of the killed are not mentioned.

FREEDOM OF WORSHIP Mr. Cass presented to the Senate; on Thursday, petition, asking the interposition of this governnent with foreign powers, where such interposit is required, in order to secure to American citize abroad the enjoyment of religious worship while living, and a place of sepulture and the right of Christian burial when dead. Mr. Cases said he would take occasion, hereafter, to reply to some strictures of Archbishop Hughes on this subject.

NEBRASKA.

The public generally are more familiar with the erm Nebraska than they are with the locality to which it is applied. As we understand the lin and extent of the Nebraska territory, including that of Kansas, it extends from the Texas line, on the south, to the British Possessions, on the north, and from the Missouri Territory. After the introduction of the Nebraska Bill into Congress, the territory was divided into two territories, not including that portion of the original Indian territory lying between the 36th, 30 37 parallels of latitude. The norther is called Nebraska, and the southern portion Kansa The provisions of the Nebraska Bill are the same an plied to both territories. The territories con an area of 480,000 square miles-fifty times as large as the State of Massachusetts-ten times as large as the State of New York, and something larger than the thirteen original States. It is, however, one of those base frauds that unscrupulous men will get up in times of excitement has some foundation, but in all its particulars is essentially false. The abolitionists have missed the mark in this instance. The barbarity of which they give such terrific pictures, is all on the side of thos whom they represent as gentle, patient, christian victims

The Natchez Free Trader, whose attention has been called to the above extract, thus speaks of it, and we beg to call to its remarks the attention of our readers. It says :

"In our issue of the 18th instant, we pronounced the story 'an entire fabrication,' and so it is essentially. It professes to relate a recent occurrence pretending to quote the language of the Free Trader, and altogether presents a picture of horror such as has never before been witnessed. The circumstances on which the fiction is doubtless founded, occured, from the best information we can get, in the summer or fall of 1841.

Miss Herrington was a maniac, but the mind of Mrs. Todd was clear and with the pretension that it comes to the people with the prestige of a "time-honored usage!" It is a unclouded. She told her story with remarkable time-rotten usage. Time has proved it to be worthclearness and consistency. sloof from them," &c. can be given at this lapse of time without reference to old files of newspapers, which we have not been able to obtain. It is drawn from the narrative of several old citizens of that neighborhood, and in part from a gentleman who witnessed the execution, and in part from Mrs. Todd's tragic and heart-rendering story. "Both negroes made full confession of field horri-ble crimes. They confessed further, that they had lurked around the plantation of another planter of the neighborhood, for the purpose of murdering him also, and of obtaining possession of his wife. We have seen and conversed with a highly respectable and intelligent planter of the neighborhood, who witnessed the execution of the second negro, and was opposed to it, thinking it best that the law should take its course. He conversed with the negro from whom he heard a full confusion. The same genlement also informs us that the negroes assembled were far more anxious for the execution than the were fat more anxious for the execution than the whites, and that it was with difficulty, after they head of the crimes be had committed, that they could be restrained from tearing him to pieces; that he himself addressed them to prevent them from taking vengeauce themselves on the unhuman fiend." The monisters described in the foregoing extract from the Free Trader; are the persecuted saints over whose sad fate file Tribune and its righteous allies shed their fears. That they deserved the punishment they received, no right-minded man can deny. It is not because they were negroes we say this. Far from it. Had they been white men, they would have merited greater torments. nerited greater torments. merited greater torments. We are not accustomed to deal with such subjects in our columns. They are disagreeable subjects; but the present condition of affairs renders it proper that such gross frauds and falsehoods as those to which the Tribune and its kindred journals have given currency should be exposed. He made a fair start but came short of the stake 85 feet. His second roll, however, retrieved his laurels, (though it did not win,) as he came within 10 inches.

Next came David Shrodes, who having been all his life groping through darkness, it was thought that distances and courses had become familiar to him. and that his chance for the prize would be more than an average; but the old adage was fully verified in his case, " that when the blind undertakes to lead the blind both must inevitably fall into the ditch." Drs: Breed and Steiner, who made the chemical analysis of the stomach, testified to finding strychnine and broncine in quantity more than su to destroy life. Pieces of paper were also found in the stomach used as the enclosure of the poison, and prevented its immediate action. The powder found in his pocket was also declared to be stryclinine and in his pocket was also declared to be strychine and broncine. The paper containing it was much worn from having been long carried in his pocket. The jury rendered the following verdict:— "From the evidence before us, we are of opinion that Dn. Gardiner came to his death from strych-

$5,000 REWARD WILL be paid by Dr. Beauchampe of Paris to any one who will produce a preparation equalling his for the hair. The Grisettes of Paris who have such beautiful heads of curly flowing hair use this.— The young men who are cultivating beards, use this as it will increase the growth one half. Mr. Harris a gentleman of wealth from Pittsburg, now in Paris, paid Dr. B. $100 for the receipt. He was quite bald, but now has a beautiful head of much darker hair than before. It will at once stop the hair from fall-ing out, cleanses the scalp from Dandruff, will cure Nervous Headache. It is far in advance of any thing put up in this country, and less expensive. $50,000 worth sold in Paris last year and demand increasing. Full authority and ability to manufacture for family use, will be sent any one who will forward $1 post-paid, to Dr. J.S. BEAUCHAMPE, Springfield, Mes-sachusetts. [March 14, 1954-3t chusetts. never having had them to fail in a single instance. I shall take pleasure in recommending them. We have been favored with a written certificate, cheerfully given by numerous Medical gentlemen, in Maryland, Virginia and Ohio, which alone should con-vince the most doubting, that these are really "Good Medicines;" after stating that they are acquainted with the composition of both the Expectorant and Cor-dial, and that they have administered them to their patients, they testify " that they are remedies of great value, safe, efficient and well worthy of the patronage of the Profession and the Public, that they are more reliable than any other proprietary medicines with which we are acquainted," &c. vances of the age, and is the invention of a downeast Yankee. The design is to deceive poultry into the speedy and liberal laying of eggs, which is accomplished by the peculiar construction of the machine. At the bottom of the nest there is a trap door, which works on a hinge, being supported by a spring. The moment an egg is placed on this, the trap opens and lets it fall through into a cushioned apartment prepared for its reception. The conse-quence is, that the bird, just as she is preparing to cackle, glances at the nest, and seeing nothing, actually reasons herself into the belief that she has not faid at all, and resumes her position on the nest, in hopes of making a more successful effort. On the first trial of this curious contrivance before the Commissioner of Patents, to test its virtues, a singular result was effected. A large imported Russian hen was located on the nest and left to her meditations. On account of pressing business, the hen was forgotten the next day, when to the utter astonishment of the Commissioner, and even to the inventor himself, on examining the nest, they found nothing but a pair of claws, bill, and a bunch of feathers; the mystery was explained, however, upon examining the cham-ber beneath in which they found half a bushel of eggs.

DEATH OF AN EMINENT AGRICULTURALIST. -The Delaware Journal announces the death of Major Phillip Revbold, at his residence near Delaware City on Tuesday last. He was a thriving and energetic agriculturist, always ready to advance the farming interest of the country. The Journal says that his farms are monuments to his worth, his indomitable energy and perseverence, and of his usefulness to the community in which he resided.

CHOKED CATTLE .- A farmer in Massachusetts adopts the following process of relieving a cow or ox when choaked. He says :--"Give a pint of strong soap suds. This may be done by putting it in a junk bottle. In this way, I saved a valuable cow, a few days since. She was badly choaked with a turnip." COMPASSION .- Tears of compassion are like dew drops falling from roses upon the bosom of the earth.

.....Forget not that life is a flower, which is no sooner fully blown than it begins to wither.-Bigland.

..... Some ill-natured critic says that " it has recently been discovered that it is necessary for ladies, who wear wafer-soled shoes, to have from ten to fifty dollars worth of furs around the neck and wrists, in order to maintain a uniform heat of the system."

.... Down in New Orleans it requires three persons to start a business firm; one to die with the yellow fever, one to get killed in a duel, and the third to wind up the partnership business.

Frish patient, " be composed ; we must all die once.

"An it's that what vexes me," replied Pat, "if I could die a half a dozen times, I'd not care a ha' penny about this time." ..... Moving for a new trial-Courting a second wife.
