Secret Diseases:

Genorrhom, Giects, Strictures, Seminal Weakness, Pains in the Loins, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Loss of Organic Powers, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin; and all those Peculiar Disorders arising from a Certain Secret Habit of Youth, which if not cured, produces Constitutional Debility, renders Marriage impossible, and in the end destroys both body and mind.

Young Men.

Young Men especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

A Cure Warranted or no Charge, in from one to two days.

The many thousands cured at this Institution, and the very extensive practice of Dr. Johnston (exceding all others) is a sufficient guarantee that he is the only proper Physician to be consulted.

Dr. Johnston,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spentin the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with a ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and impudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too eften happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dinness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face, and extremities, progressing on with the head, face, and extremities, progressing on with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiscra-tion, till death puts a period to their dreadful suffer-ings by sending them to "that bourne from whence ings by sending them to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore, Dr. JOHN-STON pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend the most safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness or ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunatesufferer to an untimely grave, or makes the residue of his life miscrable. the residue of his life miserable Take Particular Notice.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfiting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects pro-Back and limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dispessa, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Con-Sumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; less of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedly cured, and full vigor restored.

Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved.—All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Trembling and Weakness or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind.

Weakness, or page arc speedily cured.

Young Men Weakness, or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from cyllcompanions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be enatched from all prospects and cajoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit.— Such persons before contemplating Such persons before contemplating Marriage,
should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote countilal happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilerimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the hapand filled with the inclamboly reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.—

Weakness of the Organs immediately cured, and full vigor restored.

To Strangers.

The many thousands of the most desperate and hopeless cases cured at this institution within the fast twelve years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the papers and many other persons notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

To who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston hay religiously confide in his honor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks copying Dr. Johnston's advertisement, and advertising themselves as physicians, trifling with and running the health of the already Afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his Office.

THE present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the pon lerous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British Publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Periodicals at the same low rates as here-

THE OLD DOOR STONE.

A song, a song for the old door stone,
To every household dear;
That hallowed spot where joys and griefs,
Were shared for many a year.

When sank the sun to his daily rest,
When the wild high's song was old. When the wild bird's song was o'er, When the toil and care of the passing day Annoyed the heart no more;
Then on that loved and timeworn spot
We gathered one by one;
And spent a social twilight hour
Upon the old door stone.

Poetry.

How sweet to me do memories come Of merry childhood's hours
When we sped blithely through the fields
In search of budding flowers, Or gathered berries from the bush, Or bending greenwood tree, Or chased the light-winged butterfly With pealing shouts of glee; The freshest hour in memory's book Was spent at set of sun, My weary head on mother's knee, Upon the old door stone. That mother's face that mother's form,

Are graven on my heart, And of life's holiest memories They form the dearest part; Her counsel and instructions given, Of friendship love and truth, Have been my guardians and my guides, Through all the ways of youth; And yet I seem to hear again ach love and treasured tone, When I in fancy set me down, Upon the old door stone. Long years have passed since mother died, Yet she is with me still,

Whether a toiler in the vale Or a wanderer on the hill; Still with me at my morning care, Or evenings quiet rest,
The guardian angel by my side,
The kindest and the best:
A mother now, I often strive
To catch her thought and tone,
For those who cluster round my knee, Upon my own door stone.

And oft beneath those clustering vines Have kindred spirits met, And holy words breathed softly there— Vows all unbroken yet—
And friendships formed and plans devised, And kindly pledges given, And sweet communions there begun, Far reaching into Heaven! Oh! those who met in love, "Lange syne," In life's wide paths are thrown, Yet many turn with longing hearts, Back to the old door stone.

Years have flown since those bright days, And all the world has changed, And some who loved most kindly then Some fond hearts, too, then full of joy, Are cold and still this day! Forsaken plans and withered hops Lie strewn all o'er the way, And strangers' feet tread those old halls Where pattered once our own, And spend the pleasant twilight hour Upon the old door stone.

The old door stone, the clustering vine Oh! may they long remain; And may the household band that's left Meet there but once-again; Meet, not to weep o'er pleasures past, Or canvass joys to come— Meet to revive the sacred loves Once centred in that home. A brother and a sister sleep. Our parents both are gone; Oh!it would be a saddened hour Upon that old door stone.

Miscellaneous.

THE LANGUAGE OF NATURE. How unnatural and foolish is the complaint of the want of amusement, when the almost untrodden world of nature stretches in magnificence and beauty before us! when, at every point, the pioneers of science have discovered wonders which astonish and delight the soul, filling it with reverential awe for the great Being who fashioned them! He has laid this volume open before us. Shall we refuse to read? It has lessons for all. The desponding arise from the dust when they read, in the book of nature, that God is everywhere, and always mindful of his offspring. Atheism sinks abashed, as it beholds, on its page, writ-ten in heaven's purest light: "Verily, there is a God." The man of piety, when wearied by the cares of business, will find refreshment and repose in contemplating the glorics of the natural world. The turbulence and uneasiness which at the close of the day too often seize upon the mind, will be hushed in peace. He will ascend to a region from whence he can behold the storm of passions raging far beneath him. The tranquility which broods over nature at the solemn twilight hour, will steal over his soul. How trifling, then, will appear the objects which excited angry contentions or disappointments during the day. He will learn how irrational it is for an heir of immortality, capable of the highest thoughts, to be fretted and alarmed by the shifting scenes of time. And if he comprehends aright the language of nature, he will be led to supplicate its Author for light to know His will. as revealed in his works and His word, and for strength to fulfil it in the acts of daily life .-So shall the engrossing and corrupting power of the world be overcome by a divine influence.—Business: As it is, and as it might BARNUM'S SHOW. The Lexington Star takes off this establishment as appointed, and soon filled with a crowd variously estimated from two to three thousand, and certainly as large as any that ever assembled in this place upon a similar occasion. In this was exhibited all that was enumerated in the bills, except such as was reported to be dead, lost, strayed or stolen, since the date of the advertisement. The wax-figures of all the Presidents, BONAPARTE and the man who licked him at Waterloo, Queen Vic., and her numerous progeny, the temperate family, &c., were all there, but badly collapsed and distorted, we suppose, from the melting of the wax. They, like the polar bear, did seem unsuited to the temperature of this climate. They bore not the slightest resemblance to any human beings we have ever seen, and we presume were not very striking likenesses of the members of the human family whom they were intended to represent. The museum of wonders was not a collection extensive enough to occupy much of the mammoth. It consisted of an Egyptian mummy and sarcopha-gus, a coat of mail for man and horse, and sundry other antedeluvian relics too numerous to mention, and as we suppose fresh from BARNUM's New York manufactory of such commodities, and made according to the most approved pattern. The stock of monkeys and baboons in cage was small and indifferent; those outside were more numerous." WESTWARD, HO! WESTWARD, HO!

We received a few days ago, the first number of a new paper called the "Nebraska Palladium," published at Bellview city, Nebraska Territory. It is neatly printed, and contains several very interesting articles, descriptive of that region. A newspaper in Nebraska! Who, a very little while ago, even dreamed of such a thing? Until lately, such a word as Nebraska was never heard of; now it is familiar to almost every man, woman and child in the country; and soon a State of that name will be one of the States of this great Union. So we go. —We are forming States and Territories so fast, that we have to be wide awake to keep the run of them. A Yankee a few days ago, being in a London coffee Yankee a few days ago, being in a London coffee-house, was asked by a Cockney how many States there were in the Union; and after thinking a minnte, he said he believed there were twenty-six when he left home, but as he had been away some months, he had no doubt there had been several new ones admitted since he left. Our people are rapidly spreading over the country southwardly, and westwardly, and in a few years every part of the continent worth settling apon, will be inhabited. Who doubts that before the present generation passes away, there will be sixty instead of thirty-one States?

"Westward the star of Empire takes its way." Burlington, Iowa, by a census just taken has 7,306 inhabitants—1,380 of them voters; 434

When a man has a great deal of fault to find the newspaper which he never fails to read, it is sure sign that he has not paid for it. People seldom find fault with their own property.

ENVY AND SLANDER. AN ALLEGORY.

AN ALLEGORY.

BY J. B. JOHNSON.

In the latter part of the floral month of May, I wandered forth with my spirits depressed by the vicissitudes of life's transient dream, amid Nature's most delectable display; and as I inspired the odor of the woodland's sweetest flowers, I felt unknown sensations pervade my breast, and thoughts serious and sad rushed unbidden upon my mind, and with my head bowed in melancholy reflections I walked on, and at each measured step the invidious din of life became less distinct, until at last it was lost and unheard in the distance.

Thus solitary and environed by so much of Thus solitary and environed by so much of Nature's grandeur, my soul seemed to dilate with renewed vigor, as I inhaled the redolent atmosphere uncontaminated by the malicious acts of mankind; and aroused by the spell which bound me, I sighed as I exclaimed, "Alas O man! how unlike is thine intercourse with thy fellow-man to Nature's harmonious choir." Lapsing again into thought, I meditated long in silence, and perceived much in the contrast to grieve me, for I saw there, blooming in modesty, the gentle Violet by the side of the gay Lily, without the former evincing envy, or the latter manifesting superiority; and heard the mocking-bird tuning merrily its melodious throat, to join in chorus with the monotonous corvus cristatus; and every thing which engaged my attention indicated the peared to unite in concord to beautify the earth, and glorify the Being who gave them Refreshed and delighted, I was allured still farther into the depths of rural enjoyment, and as I pursued the gorgeous path, variegated by Flora's rarest gifts, new objects successively presented themselves to my mind, and while absorbed in their contemplation, I looked far up the vale and descried a joyous crowd whose blithe salutations told plainly that the selfishness of frail and pitiful man had never marred for one moment the felicity which was evident in the manner of every one; and as the evening breeze bore to my gladdened ear their exultant laugh, I quickened my pace, and soon gained the lovely spot whence so much happiness issued, and enraptured by the joy around me, I stood and gazed for hours upon same degree of contentment, and all ap-

the jocund group, surrounded as they were by each lip seemed to move in blissful response, and as the music-like strains of their voices added measure to the wind, I thought indeed 'twas an elysum, for in accents like the passing notes of the zolian harp, they ant up to God an anthem for His Divine power and goodness; and becoming more engrossed I exclaimed, "Surely to these felicitous beings the sordidness of ungrateful man must be un

For hours the halcyon spirit continued to sway their souls in gladness, until a sudden cause incomprehensible to me, changed the current of their feelings, and hushed their lips in death-like silence. Amazed, I turned to one of the dejected assembly and inquired "wherefore the change?" and in a subdued tone accompanied by a ghastly smile, he replied, "see there, far down the ravine, those hideous creatures, whose very formation and depravity fill us with disgust! Locked in the embrace of infamy, they are forever traveling with their minds intent upon the immolation of happiness, and as they approach, I fancy you can see their filthy garments reeking with the blood of Piety, and hear the plaintive cries of injured Virtue, swelling its feeble voice in agony and reproof, for they have been the scourge of the earth since the creation of man. and their names are never mentioned save with an instinctive feeling of horror and contempt, and being incessant in their movements, they have in their baleful cycle entered the regal hall, and the peasants hovel, and although loathed, feared and caressed by all mankind, those fiends whose names are Envy and Slander, have alike with the same power blanched the roseate cheek of prosperity, and sunk the struggling heart of adversity; and remote as they are from their infernal dens, they are coming to enter this place of peace to pluck the bud of joy." Musing upon what I had heard, I watched the progress of the demons, and as I looked upon their advancing forms, I imagined 1 could see the myriad spectres of murdered Inno-cence flowing in their dismal track, and bending my eager ear to catch the distant sounds methought I heard the low chilling outcries of Truth in sadness and rebuke. Fixed to the spot I gazed on with all the intensity of astonshment, until my eyes grew dim from overwrought anxiety, and closing them for a mo-ment to shut out the horrible appearance which confused my vision, I nerved myself to view again the scene which clogg'd the ruddy flow of my heart's vital stream, and was astound ed to find the misery about me increased to such an extent that its vividness filled my soul with a dread I never can forget, for it sunk deep into my bosom and burned like an Ætna until it consumed the last thread of hope.-Feeling exhausted and alarmed, I leaned for support against a tree whose verdant leaves were falling wilted at my feet, and almost asphyxiated by breathing the air made humid and thick by the poisonous ema-nations from the bodies of the fiends, my brain whirled like a tornado as I thought of the transition from all that was so bright, glorious and beautiful, into confusion and dismay; and summoning my remaining strength I awaited in all the torture of mental pain until the accursed couple came up, and as they passed I felt every spark of ambition die within me, for every thing seemed moving in darkness and with thrill akin to madness crossing my mind, I started, reel'd, and fell prostrate upon the ground, and remained in unconsciousness until the distance which separated me from the archmonsters rendered the atmosphere more light and pure, and feeling my feeble spirits reviving I gradually gained my feet, and as I stood trembling amidst so much destruction, I heard the most piteous exclamations come echoing through the wood, and turning my eyes in the direction of the appalling sound I saw written in the faces of the affrighted assembly, the impress of ineffable despair; and becoming curi ous to know the extent of the atrocity of the Proteus-like demons, I followed them unobserved for sometime in their round of ravage; and after looking in triumph upon the havor they produced, the demons departed, with the execrations of chastity following in their magnant steps, and regardless of the vituperations of all that was high and holy. They went on in their sacriligious course, stopping only in their nefarious way, to blight by their foul rant the embryo of innocence and merit, and forced on by a morbid thirst for victims lone and rare. They paused in front of a quiet little cottage whose exterior bespoke in language mute and light, the habitation of bliss, and enticed by what they saw, the monsters in secret gained what they saw, the monsters in secret gained the peaceful chamber, and seeing with a feigned smile a young couple who had just commenced life's most pleasant task with a hope of fond delight to cheer their untutored steps in the recently attempted path of felicity, and to whose plighted faiths had been given an off-spring which added fresh lustre to their unsultied devotion, and overjoyed by the power of parental love, the young father drew the cradle of his sweet little boy to his side, and bending in affections bow, he kissed again and again the infant's ruby lips, and as he saw his own frank features in the vissage of his child, own frank features in the vissage of his child, his heart pulsated more joyously, and pressing fondly to his bosom the partner of his ecstacy, he exclaimed in love's impassioned words:—

"Oh! how delicious is my life!" But it was too much for Envy to brook, and turning with a familiar smile she urged. Slander forward, who proceeded to the side of the young husband, and in an air of disinterestedness recited a tale which converted his affection into contumely and dislike, for he became pale, and knitting his brow in anger he turned and looktumely and dislike, for he became pale, and knitting his brow in anger he turned and looked in frenzy upon that which was before the centre of his earthly ties, and sinking into his seat with coldness in his mind, he thought long in silent disappointment with rancor in his soul, until his once adored wife noticed the estrangement, and impelled by woman's artless sincerity she impressed the token of constancy upon his darken'd brow to lighen his gloomy mind. But ah'd it seemed to heighten his passion, and waiving her off he in harshness exclaimed: "Begone! false one and pollute me not by your subtile kiss, for your perfidiousness has frustrated my designs and dampened forever my prospects, and your illusory smile has ever my prospects, and your illusory smile has soured my cup of delight and made its contents more pungent than the thoughts of perdition, and the same deceptive smile which illured Adam from the path of eternal happiness and warmed into existence the serpent of dis content to poison the pacific stream of mental ease, has decended unto me and filled my soul with a pressage more poignant than the ago-nies of death !" Horror stricken and uninured to the ills of life the confiding and injured wife fell fainting at his feet, and raising slowly to her knees, with the tears of heartfelt grief suffusing her peerless eyes, implored Heaven to attest her fidelity. But it was in vain, for the demons had done their work and her asseverations of constancy fell upon his cold ear like the burning rays of a summer sun upon a seared leaf, and

that Slander spun.

With a laugh like that of fruition, the demons quitted the chamber once illuminated by the hearts' most happy glow, and wended their fulsome way along the dewy paths, until Arguseyed Envy espied an honorable youth who had felt the austere hand of penury, but having arisen from his lowly situation he girded his unguided efforts the mystic heights of science; and coming forth with well garnered knowledge he placed his untried foot upon the first round of Fame's ladder, with no other protection than an honest heart and a high-toned sentiment to shield him on his road from the rude tempest of life. Desirous of making himself useful, and esteemed by his generation, he hour after hour consumed the midnight moments, and ere the sunshine of fortune had ripened his youthful form into manhood, he attained a position both of honor and distinction. But alas! Envy was ever on the alert, and ere he had time to hear his name spoken in commendation. Slander aimed the peccant arrow and allowing the oft drawn string to rebound, the fatal dart sped like lightning through the air and cleaved his ambitious heart. Heartbroken, the noble youth gazed upon the bleeding wound, and sickening at the contemplation of his wrongs, fell unnerved and dead!

Chuckling in secret at their unfailing success, and emboldened by their reiterated conquests, the demons again took up their unhallowed march, and after leaving vestiges of ruin at every turn, they crossed the threshold of an aged pair who had lived uninterrupted in each other's confidence for two-score years, and being wearied by the turmoil of the world's varied taunts, and aware that their voyage was waxing fast and short, they had sequestered themselves with the cheering hope of dying as they had lived in mutual repose. But just as the old people began to enjoy the tranquility of their secluded home, Slander stalked in and robbed their senile days of their quiet joy, and left the aged pair to descend to the grave with bickerings and regret.

Still insatiate, the despoilers entered a church yard, and as they passed among the tombs they were attracted by a saddened throng who had gathered around a newly made grave to bid a last and long adieu to the inammate form of one, about whom had clung so many fond endearments; and as the bereaved friends lifted the coffin's-lid to look for the last time with tearful eyes upon the face which in life's healthful moments shone with beauty's most delicate touch, Envy, an unmoved spectator peered over the shoulders of the mourning relatives, and seering the palid countenance so beautiful in death, beckoned Slander to her side, and bade him take from the cold white brow the wreath of roses which decked the lifeless face

Disgusted and chagrined at the iniquity of the Fiends I quit the pursuit and returned to the baling air of my own pleasant study, and sinking wearily into my easy chair, I cogitated long disheartened and alone, until morpheus extended from his ebon throne his magic hand to soothe my troubled thoughts and to lull me into sleep.

SINGULAR APPEARANCE.

About 5 o'clock on Saturday morning last, the Western sky was covered with a cloud of greenish hue that colored the whole earth with the same tint, till it appeared much as it would do to one looking through a piece of green glass. The cloud in color was much such a one as is said sometimes to precede tornadoes; but it remained motionless, overspread-ing the sky until it broke up and rolled off in heavy masses before the sun. The plainest effect of the colored light was in the air itself, which appeared when looking at an object to ishing in effect as the sun rose, until it d peared. We have noticed the same thing before, but never so plainly. [Indianapolis Journal.

IN PRISON FOR DEBT .- The Woburn Mass.) Journal says that there is a poor debtor in the Cambridge jril who has been there since last April, from inability to pay a claim of $23, made against him by a lawyer of Boston. The debtor has a wife and four children in destitute circumstances. Had the unfortunate prisoner been a fugitive slave instead of a white man too poor to pay a trifling debt, the "philanthropists" of Boston and Cambridge would very probably, have incited a reckless mob to attack the jail and murder the officers while attempting to uphold the laws. The "lawyer of Boston" too, would, it is likely, have volunteered his services to defend the mobites. But the case of the poor debtor excites none of the sympathies of these modern philanthropists.

The following lines from Household Words are full of wholesome advice as well as beautiful imagery. They convey to the youthful dreamer a lesson which it would be well for him to ponder.

Arise! for the day is passing,

While you lie dreaming on;

Your brothers are cased in armor,

And forth to light are gone;

Your place in the ranks awaits you—

Each man has a part to play,

The past and the future is nothing

In the face of the stern to-day.

Arise from your dreams of the future—

Arise from your dreams of the future—
Of gaining a hard fought field,
Of storming the airy fortress,
Of bidding the giant yield;
Your future has deeds of glory,
Of honor, (God grant it may,)
But your arm will never be stronger,
Or needed as now—to-day. Arise! If the past detain you,
Her sunshine and storm forget!
No chains so unworthy to hold you

As those of a vain regret;
Sad or bright, she is lifeless ever—
Cast her phantom arms away!
Nor look back, save to learn the lesson. Of a nobler strife to-day.

Arise! for the hour is passing.
The sound that you dimly hear,
Is your enemy marching to battle,
Rise! rise! for the foe is near!

Stay not to brighten your weapons,
Or the hour will strike at last,
And from dreams of a coming battle,
You will waken and find it past.

POLITICAL REMINISCENCE. There was once a politician of much prominence in this country; able, true, and trusted by his party. Through ambition and ungoverned passions he fell; but like some classec temple, he long remained majestic in his ruins. He traveled, however, the downward road until he came to the bottom, and is now about to disappear from the public view. Of course we mean Thomas. H Benton. We wish his Sun had had a nobler setting. We copy below his letter to his friends in Missouri, a few days before the election in which he was defeated. It is characteristic of the man in his last days, and will interest the reader: TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF ST. LOUIS-

CITIZENS :- I accept the nomination, with thanks for its strength and unanimity, which you have given me in the primary election, as your candidate for Congress. It comes from the people, and vindicate their right to select, as well as to elect their own candidates. The harmony and success which had attended this this time last year. Then it was certain, from such heavenlike sweetness; and feasting my eyes with pleasure before me, I recognized attenuated waist and shock the dust of poverty its excellence, and I trust will be uniformly Europe, that the price would be high. In the first place, there are n or Democrat chooses to vote the other's ticket, let him do it individually and openly and, above board, and for reasons he is not ashamed of. Between a Whig and a nullifier, I should, myself, have no hesitation. The whigs are for the Union, and for the harmony and stability of the Union, and this is a point of community between them and the Democracy which enables them to act together on the questions which are either too high or too low for party.

Central Pacific Railroad route down to the St. Louis Costom House; and that not fairly and enemies to the Union,-to its peace and harmony,-and I am an enemy to them, and would vote for one under no circumstances, and want no votes from them. They are enemies to the Democracy, and ready at any time to trade with the Whigs to defeat them. The last Baltimore convention adopted, as an article in the Democratic creed, the Virginia resolutions of '98-'99. I was struck at for the first time, in the Democratic creed. I had my suspicions, and determined to watch, and find out by events what was meant by begin to proclaim that the crop is the mo this anomalous proceeding—what was its hidden sense. I have watched, and I have found out. It is, in the South Carolina sense-that sense which President Jackson, with the applause of the entire Democrat and Whig parties, proclaimed to be high treason, if carried to the overt act. It is to that treasonable doctrine that we are now indebted for the condition of things in Congress and the Union-confidence and affection destroyed, political parties disorganized, Congress nearly paralyzed, and all whole-some and fair legislation become almost im-possible. The series of measures, attempted but you do not know that it is work of a caucus of eight nullifiers, who had the bill changed after it had been brought in, and did it to substitute geopraphical for practical par-ties, and to govern the next Presidential elec-tion, and to "kill off Benton." They did Benton the honor to believe that he would oppose their bill after they changed it from he support to the destruction of the Missouri Compromise; and in that they made no mistake. Whether they mistook the people of

The nullification of this day is as much worse than that of Mr. Calhoun, as its champions are below him in talent, in purity of private life, and in decorum of behavior. He only nullified the laws of Congress; they nul-ify a treaty—that with Mexico about the Mesilla Valley," as that desolate mountain is called—to get up a pretext for getting a broad-side from Mexico, to bring on another slave juestion. He was for peace with all countries; ev are for war. He was for economy : they for extravagance, and would have carried the rule to sell when the price is satisfactory.

There are two circumstances which may affect the price during autumn. England since all their plans had succeeded; they will probably get it to seventy millions as it is. Mr. Calhoun was for reduction of duties, and commenced nullification upon that point; they are for keeping up duties, and have caused all idea of reducing the surplus (so earnestly put forward by the President and Secretary of the Treasury,) to be silently and sneakingly abandoned. He was against the high tariff party; the present nullifiers are with them, and they vote together for enormous appropriations to keep up duties. The Misspuri nullifiers are worse than the rest, in this, that others are friendly to their own section of the Union, worse than the rest, in this, that others are friendly to their own section of the Union, those of Missouri are traitors to their State—opposing all her interests, and every man that is doing anything for her; witness their opposition to the central route (to name no more) and their venguance against Fremont, who never did them any harm, because he proved it to be good.

Into be ascertained; and individuals are no match for a Government in speculation. The present practice of England, while it lends to keep down the price in autumn, serves to explain a fact, which has been observed for several years, that wheat, since the abolition of the Corn Laws, has been generally higher in February and March than at any other times in the year.—Richmond Whig.

BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, CARDS,

In speaking of nullifiers, I mean the part which calls itself unti-Benton. I have no ob jection to their wearing that name. It im malice against an individual,—a very und tian thing, and which it would be unjust to the devil to call diabolical. The malice of the devil is general, not special. He hates the whole human race, and no one man in particular. Though the father of lies, and the founular. Though the father of lies, and the fountain of malice, he is impartial in his dispensations of both. He picks on no man, "solitary and alone," to pursue him night and day with lies and vengeance. It is therefore unjust to him to qualify the malice of the anti-Bentons by an epithet which would implicate the character of his diabolical majesty. These anties object to my offering for two offices at one time; they have objected just as much here-tofore when I offered for only one. But they ought to be pleased,—if any thing that I could do would please them; for, if elected to both, I shall decline one, and so give them another chance; and if elected to neither, they will have two more chances. But like the soldier under the lash of the drummer boy's cat-o-nine under the lash of the drummer boy's cat-o-nine tails, who could not be "pleased," let the boy hit him where he would,—back or belly, side or end; so these anties cannot be pleased, do what I may. And for all that, this deponent cares nought.

CITIZENS:—By gones are by gones. I claim nothing for past services. Forward is the word. If I can do anything for you in future, it is for you to say so, and to have it so. If you think not, I have something of my own to attend to, more suitable to my age than the turmoil of public life. I want an interval of repose before I die, but I am not of a temper to give way before a pullification faction as into give way before a nullification faction as insignificant in numbers as it is wicked in spirit, who cannot elect a man to Congress, nor a who cannot elect a man to Congress, nor a corporal's guard to the General Assembly, except by a coalition with Whigs, or a fraud upon the Demouracy,—and who have nothing against me except that I stood by Jackson against nullification,—and that they can neighbor the stood of the control of t ther seduce me, trade me, or scare me into the support of their treasonable doctrines.

THOMAS H. BENTON. WASHINGTON, July 7th, 1854.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT. This is at present the great question with the mass of the people of Virginia. Will the price rise or fall? Will it go to $3, or decline to $1? The question cannot be answered with the same confidence now that it could be which may neutralize that fall, and render it possible, if not probable, that wheat will bear a higher price by next March than it did at any time during the last season. We will Democracy, one for the Whigs, and one for state some of these circumstances for the con-

This hope it will be so throughout the State, three | will render it necessary to begin early upon tickets in every Congressional District, and in every county, for every office; and no coalitions between any two parties. If any Whig corn field in October before gathering time comes, to supply the deficiences of the old crop, he will be very apt to be hard run the remainder of the year.

They are enemies to the Union,—to its peace and harindulged, that no serious injury had been inflicted. But unless the nature of wheat in France be very different from what it is here, great damage must have been the result. We know that heavy rains in May, when our wheat is in bloom, are invariably followed by a crop deficient in quality and quantity. We infer from this circumstance that France, if the time with that exhumation, from a fifty year's grave, of those resolutions to put them, for the first time, in the Democratic creed. I begin to proclaim that the crop is the mos abundant ever known!

In Great Britain, a greater breadth of land was sown in wheat than usual,-and though the accounts are not very favorable, we may conclude that she will make an average crop. That, however, will not be sufficient for her consumption, and the probability is that our excess will not be more than enough to supply her deficiency.

With respect to the crops in Eastern Europe and in Turkey, we have no information. It is reasonable to suppose, that in the Danubian provinces, overrun by the Russian forces, and possible. The series of measures, attempted or meditated, of which the Nebraska bill was only the entering wedge, have worked this only the entering wedge, have worked this mischief. You have all heard of the measure; the population. This district, and the Russign dominions, from Poland to the Black Sea, are generally the most productive wheat countries in the world-and Wastern Europe, particularly England, has heretofore drawn large supplies from them. This, however, cannot be the case now, if the war continues. As already stated, it is probable the Danubian country will scracely produce enough for its own consumption; and Russia will not permit the export of any wheat from her territories to feed her enemies. If this conjec-Missouri, in counting upon them to do the "killing," will be seen on the first Monday in August next. They make war upon me in every county of the State; and that is the reaprice of wheat. If Western Europe has to feed Asia, instead of being fed by it, we shall get our own price for wheat. That will depend on the continuance of the war. That it will continue, we have no doubt, unless the latent principle of the Russian constitution—assassin-ations—be brought into play.

In view of all contingencies, we would not venture to give advice. Some, we know, in-pro-fect the price during autumn, England since Mr. Free Trade was introduced has abandoned the practice of laying up stocks, and live from hand to mouth as it were. Until her own crops exhausted, she will not give a high price for foreign wheat. The other circumstance relates to France. If the crop is short in that country, and the Government goes and market, as it did last year—first representing its own supplies as super-abundant—the price may be depressed temporally. For the French press being gagged, the fact of the case cannot be ascertained; and individuals are no not be ascertained; and individuals are no fact of the case Covernment in speculation. country, and the Government goes into the BERKELEY ELECTION The third trial for the election of Sheriff of Berkeley County, Va., will take place on Thursday next It is one among the most unprecedented contests that have ever occurred in the Commonwealth, and has excited the deepest interest not only in Berkeley, but the counties adjacent. The Candidates are Mesers. Cushwa and Newconen, both most honorable and estimable gentlemen, but the one appearing as the regular nominee of his party, and the other as an independent Democrat, expecting to receive the support of the disaffected on the one hand, and the united Whig vote, with the Know-Nothings thrown in, on the other. In a contest of this character, what Democrat, who has no enmities to gratify, no selfish purposes to subserve, can hesitate as to his choice? Both parties are sanguine of success, and the result will be awaited with much anxiety.

THE SPANISH REVOLUTION. The Baltic's news confirms the complete triumpl of the insurgent party in Spain. The revolution, remarks the New York Express, is as remarkable for the prompt manner in which it has been brought about as for its bloodless character. The Queen Mother submits to the mortification of leaving the kingdom, and the Queen to the complete overthrow of her ministry, her court favorites and the corrupt clique by whom she has been surrounded. Two worse women from all accounts, could hardly be found anywhere in power, and there are not many, probably, so bad out of power and place. How permanent the result of this last Revolution, is to be, time alone can determine, for Revolutions are about as frequent in Spain as the seasons of the year.

AN EXTENSIVE SALE. The Executors of James Castleman, dec'd., will offer on to-day at Castleman's Ferry, all the valuable Personalty of which he died in possession. The stock, farming implements, &c., are among the largest and most valuable that have ever been offered in this section of Virginia, and will no doubt attract a great number of persons from the various sections of the State.

THE FARMERS AND THE CROPS. The newspapers from all parts of the country teen with mournful accounts of the general destruction of the crops. Scarcely within the memory of man have our farmers been visited with so protracted, so general, and so destructive a drought. The wheat crop | the cordial approbation of the Secretary of War and in many places injured by worm, suffered yet more from the rust. The corn that first promised so well has withered under the influence of the drought,rain to make the crops. In other places there have offer themselves for the Army as can be received, een floods, that proved ruinous to the corn; whilst in some parts of the country hail storms of unusual | tion. violence have devastated the fields. But few localities, however, have been exempted from the drought. The prayer of the farmers has almost universally been for rain. It is perhaps too late in the season now to anticipate much benefit from it. The parched stunted. and withered crops can be hardly recruited by the most general and copious showers.

POTATO CROP OF KENTUCKY.

The drought is seriously affecting the potato crop of Kentucky, and many farmers have abandoned whole fields. The Louisville Courier, of Tuesday, Potatoes form an important item of commerce a this point, there being annually invested upwards of $100,000 in their purchase for the Southern market. The shipments in 1842 were fully 60,000 barrels, but thus far this season, owing chiefly to the unusually low water, the shipments have not exceeded 4,000 barrels. We heard of a sale yesterday of the proceeds of a crop from 200 acres, supposed to amount to 2,000 barrels at $2 per barrel. Potatoes in market command a dollar per bashel.

A SUMMER RETREAT.-There is a talk, says the Alexandria Gazette, of putting up, on the Blue Ridge mountain, on the line of the Manassas Gap Railroad, an extensive edifice, for the summer resort of persons from this city and elsewhere-where familes can be accommodated in a quiet and comfortable manner, with the enjoyment of fine air and pure water, and at moderate expense. The writer then proceeds to give a copy of a letter from the Secretary of War, in reply to Mr. Dickinson's resolution, which it is nanecessary to publish, and proceeds:

The Hon. Chas. Jas. Faulkner was at the head of the Military Committee in the House, which devised and matured these army changes, and it will doubt-less establish him in his own district as the Jupiter Tonans of military reformers, for which there are many aspirants always in and about the halls of Congress. He is notoriously inimical to the officers of the army, and for this reason, if none other, was unfit for the position he held. Facts are stubborn things, and it is susceptible of the clearest proof that these superintendencies when filled by civilians were invested with more expense to the government, and of far less utility than when under army officers. The very feature most objected to under the old re-gime—that of military subordination—was what saved the country thousands of dollars annually in the manufacture of arms, to say nothing of the superiority which the education and skill of the West Point graduate infused into the mechanical departments. And yet it is said that mechanics cannot bear the military insolence and despotic rule. Now, I happen to know something personally of these military superintendents, and I pronounce many of them unsurpassed in the attributes of the scholar and gentleman; and I am further able to say that the best workmen under them are most opposed to the change contemplated or established by Faulkner's bill. I profess to be the friend of the mechanic and working man, but I am no man's friend at the expense of justice and truth. In concluding this matter, pro tem., I hazard the assertion that Congress will ere long see the necessity of restoring the military super-

FIRE IN THE WOOD The excessive and widely prevailing drought has carched the country, and brought an alarming accompaniment in the vast fires that are prevailing in ods in various sections. In New York State, in the vicinity of Albany, the Pine Plains were on fire, and the smoke rose from it in such volumes as to partially obscure the sun. On the Green Mountains, in the same section, a fire had been burning for more than a week. The spectacle presented from the valley was grand. An account says:Looking from the base of the hills, it seemed as if the very heavens were on fire; and as the flames leaped from tree to tree, flashing onwards and upwards, as they found new material to feed upon, nothing could appear more terrifyingly magnificent. The eye could at a single glance take in more than two miles of lurid flame! The destruction of prop-

In the vicinity of Swanton, near Lake Champlain and the Canada line, the woods were also on fire-The flames had ran along either side of the Vermont Central railroad track, a distance of more than two miles. Hundreds of trees had burned down, falling across the track, not only obstructing the movement of the cars, but burying the cross ties and entirely destroying the track. Passengers have to be carried in wagons eight or ten miles around the

In the Catskill Mountains two extensive fires have been raging for several days, and fears were enter tained that the hotel and observatory near the Falls would be destroyed.

In New Hampshire a fire has been burning on the lains to the east of Concord for two weeks, destroying immense quantities of wood and timber.—
It is estimated that twenty-five hundred acres of land have been burned over. Nothing but a heavy rain would be sufficent to check the conflagration.

A despatch from Bangor, Maine, states that fires are raging to a terrible extent in every section of that county, and the damage to the woodlands and crops will be enormous. Buildings have been burnt down in Covinth, Charleston, Garland and other towns. In many places the entire population are engaged in fighting the fire. In the town of Garland, it is said that a whole family, who live some distance from any other house are entirely surround

THE DROUGHT IN NEW YORK .- Doleful accounts continue to be given respecting the drought which prevails throughout New York, in common with a large proportion of the whole country. The Legislature will stand on joint balot, Whigs 62, Anti-Benton 60, Benton 40.

LARGE SALE OF SLAVES .- On the 17th instant the slaves, 17 in number, of the late Hiram K. Duncan, of Worcester county, Md., were sold at auction, at Snow Hill, and nine of them were purchased by T. W. Hargis, Esq., a wealthy farmer of that county for the sum of $6,771. One, aged 20 years, broug $1,000; another, aged 27, $985; and the rest of the nine prices ranging from $895 down to $430 for one only six years of age. The balance of 17 were all sold to citizens of the county at high prices, except an old woman, 80 years of age, who brought only 30 cents.

THE DROUGHT .- We learn that the drought in some parts of the Western country exceeds greatly that of any season previously known. A gentleman residing not far from Pittsburgh, went recently to that city for a supply of potatoes and corn, his fields being entirely burned up. Unable to procure the articles wanted, he went to Wheeling where he met with no better success, and had to go on to Cincin natti before he could get his supplies. We have also a letter from a gentleman at Cleveland, Ohio who states that every thing in the shape of vegeta-tion is burnt up in that region of country—that the contrast between Baltimore county and the West, is most marked, the former being green and thriving in comparison .- Baltimore American,

VALUE OF AMERICAN PRODUCE, CATTLE, &c .- The Louisville Journal says it was stated by Professor Mapes at a recent meeting of the Farmer's Club at Louisville that "the value of live stock of the United States at this time is not less than $600,000,000, and this will be increased by an increase of the grass and grain crops. More than 120,000,000 bushels of wheat are annually grown, 14,000,000 bushels of rye, 150,-000,000 bushels of oats, 5,000,000 bushels of barley, 9, 000,000 bushels of buckwheat, 320,000,000 pounds of butter are made, 105,000,000 pounds of cheese and 14,000,000 tons of hay." The London News of the 1st inst., opens a long article on the affairs in the United States with the following paragraph. Ten years ago no English paper would have ventured to announce such liberal sentiments in connection with our country:

"It is the custom of most of the conservatives of Great Britain (and of some others than conservatives) to sneer and joke about the notion the Americans have of there own importance in the world.—
There is no use in proving to such satirists that, in the deepest and largest sense, the Americans cannot exaggerate the importance of their country and here is no use in provide the Americans cannot be deepest and largest sense, the Americans cannot exaggerate the importance of their country and nation among the Powers of the nineteenth century. The thing has been proved a multitude of times, and all to no purpose, in regard to that order of minds; and to a higher order of minds than those which despise the United States, no proof is needed. To say that there is a federal democratic republic at work in the world is to proclaim, in other words, the lofty style and title of the United States. But, for those who cannot see, and feel this, there is other evidence, who cannot see, and feel this, there is other evidence, new and curlous, which is at once adapted to their capacity, and worthy of the deepest consideration from a more sagacious order of man."

FIFTY-SIX SLAVES OFFERED THEIR FREEDOM.—The heirs of Augustine and George Law, of Loudonn co., Va., have offered to set free 50 slaves, valued at $30,-000, provided the American Colonization Societ will send them to Liberia, and make the usual proion for them after their arrival out. THE ABNORY SUPERINTENDENCE .- Mr. E. S. Aller the Master Armorer, who has been placed in charge of the National Armory at Springfield, announces a to all persons employed therein that the existing regulations and the same general system of management which has been pursued for several years past with results so uniform and beneficial, are still in force, and will be adhered to." This does not look as if the change from a military to a civil superintendence will be productive of much alteration in the manner of conducting the Armory. The advancement of the military superintendency, we however think has been entirely proper, on the general principle that in this country the aid of the military should be restricted entirely and exclusive ly to those duties that cannot properly be discharged or civil funtionaries. A jealousy of the extension of litary rule must always be a natural product o publican institutions, and as such we are disposed respect it even where it may be pushed to extremes .- Baltimore American.

FECUNDITY.-The Dayton (Ohio) Gazette gives an account of a German woman living in that county, who had six children at one birth. The children are now six months old all alive, and were in Dayton with their mother on Tuesday. They were in a wagon with her, snugly propped up in a wine basket.—They are all boys and small of their age.

RELIEF OF THE POOR.—The citizens of Winchester Va., are to hold a public meeting on the 4th of Sep temder, to devise some measure for the alleviation of the suffering that may fall upon a portion of the people the coming winter, in consequence of the failure of a large portion of the crops usually relied upon as their means of support, and which with the prevailing high prices, will render distress inevitable.

THE OHIO RIVER -Some new spapers in Ohio have been poking tun at the Ohio river this summer .-They say is very low, and strictly confined to its bed. The Wheeling papers retort by reminding those papers of the propriety of treating the river with respect, in its fullen state, for, "when it rises from its bed, it may take off the fences, stacks of hay, grain. &c., of its revilers," EXTRAORDINARY PISTOL.-The London correspon lent of the Boston Traveller, writes thus: "I have ust been shown a rifle pistol, invented by an Engish gentleman, residing at Ratisbon, and which is destined to make as great a revolution in that arm as the minie-rifle in muskery. It can kill at 500 yards. Last week it was tested before experienced officers at Woolwich, and completely stood the trial. Since then it has been exhibited to Prince Albert, and from my own observations, I can vouch for the efficiency of this extraordinary weapon. It is easily charged, and has sights regulated at 200, 300, 400 and 500 yards. It is, besides, light and beautiful. Only fancy a revolver of this description, with six or eight barrels, a good marksman, and an adversary a quarter of a mile off. The whole depends on the rifle

OVERACTING.-The State Temperance Convention at Lynchlurg are determined to press the enactment of a prohibitory liquor law. At their late meeting a resolution was adopted instructing the Executive Committee to employ counsel to appear in the Appellate Court and sustain the decision of Judge Summers, wherein he declared it was in the discretion of he County Court to issue or refuse licenses for the sale of alcoholic liquors, which decision has been appealed from. It is creditable to the Old, Dominion that the vice of intemperance has been greatly diminished within the last ten years, but any body who knows any thing of the character of the Virginia people must be convinced that they will never be temperate on compulsion.—Nat. Sr. Louis, Aug. 16 .- The drought in this State is past belief. Drovers say they can get neither grass nor water on the road and the dust is killing. Corn has risen one-third, and Illinois farmers are here buying corn for their own use—and those, too, who usually make thousands of bushels to sell. The editor of the Louisville Journal, who has lafely trave.led through a portion of the west, expresses the opinion, "that from latitude 35 degrees to 42 north, the corn crop, in consequence of the excessive drought, will not exceed, and probably fall short of half the usual yield." It will be observed that this belt of country embraces the chief corn producing States of the West to wit:—Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. The Courier says

In Marion county, hundreds of acres have not a shoot of corn on them, and people are cutting the stalk to feed their cattle. Stock is worthless and mule colts cannot be cashed at $20. Tobacco is not yet above the clods, and the small timber is dying. Another exchange says:

Those who have hogs, mules, or cattle dread the dea of feeding them upon corn at double the ordinary prices, whilst those who have none will purchase only at diminished figures or not at all. We gather from the Boston papers that the crops are suffering all through the State.

RAIN! "It raineth every day!" If it be true that a given quantity of rain falls each year, it follows that a wet Spring and Summer produce a dry Fall and Winter. If this be so, then we are surely destined to be exempt from rain and snows during the coming Fall and Winter months, because we include: and Winter months, because we incline to the belief that more rain has fallen during the past Spring and Summer than has fallen in this section of the country, in the same period within a century. Rain commenced falling here last night, and has continued to fall without intermission up to the hour of putting our paper to press. Oh for one week of clear, bright, pleasant weather!

THE RIGHT SPIRIT. The new Editors of the Mobile Register have put forth a vigorous prospectus, in which they define their objects in the following sound and patriotic "While we shall scorn to fall down and worship existing powers, on the principle of the royal dogma, that "The king can do no wrong," we expec to give the present Federal Administration a cordial, manly and independent support; rendering it alle-giance just so far as allegiance is commanded by a community of political sentiments, and current patriotic devotion to the weal of our country. rive the unqualified assent 'of our best judgment to the truth of the proposition, that in the triumphs of an honest democratic administration, are to be found, if anywhere, the surest guaranties of the in-tegrity of the Union and the rights of the States.— We are unable to resist the conviction-forced upon our minds by a calm and disinterested survey and from a point of view, for sometime back, beyond and outside of the circling currents of political events -that the democratic party of the country is the only party which has been left by the throes of the political battle and the shocks of a sectional fanaticism, with the least semblance of nationality of feeling. It is the only party whose horizen is as wide as he confines of the republic, and whose members. n whatever latitude found, when true to their principles, are bound together by a magic cord of fraternity of feeling and community of creed. All other parties appear to us to be denationalized, sectionalized, abolitionized, or localized."

ACQUINTION OF CUBA. The New York Evening Mirror, Whig, thus expresses its opinion about the Island of Cuba: "In this emergency I think the time has come to negotiate for Cuba. ...On Friday morning, a lady appeared at the Mayor's office, Baltimore, and asked for aid to bury the remains of a cousin's busband, who had just died after sickness of ten years' duration. She said that both herself and cousin were neices of the late John both herself and cousin were neices of the late John McDonogh of New Orleans; that her cousin resided in Hollins-alley, near the Hollins market, and had for a long time been dependent upon the labor of her own hands for the support of her family, consisting of an afflicted husband and seven children. During the present year, in consequence of the advanced prices of the necessaries of life, she found it impossible to provide a sufficiency, when a kind friend, whose means were limited, gave her all that was to spare from her own family. For some time past the malady of her husband growing worse her attention was demanded at his bedside, and she could no longer labor for food for her children. Last week the remaining and only bed left in the possession of this destitute family, and on which the husband and father reposed, was taken and sold to procure a small amount of food to sustain life. CALIFORNIA INTELLIGENCE. The Whig State Convention met at Sacramento on the 25th, and continued in session for two days. G. W. Bowie, of Colasi, formerly of Maryland, was chosen as the candidate for Congress from Northern California, and Calhoun Benham from Southern California. There being two sets of democratic can didates in the field, there is no doubt of their elec tion. Resolutions were adopted declaring in favor of the territories forming their own laws without interference from the general government, and calling for action on the Pacific Railroad, &c. The proceedings were very harmonious.

The Democratic Convention met at Sacramento on the 18th ult. There was great confusion from the commencement, two chairmen, and a double set of committees &c., having been appointed. A NEW PARTY IN MASSACHUSETTS. Wendell Phillips proposes to form a new party in Massachusetts, "the best of which," he said in his speech at Abington, "should be avowed nullification, of every constitutional clause and every slave law; a party that should say to Mr. A. B., their candidate for Governor, 'Sir, we propose to elect you to the office of Governor, and we propose, when you-swear to support the United States Constitution, you shall swear with the proviso that you don't mean to support the fugitive slave clause, or any other slave clause there. They would choose representatives in the same way, and, if the Supreme Court construed it illegal, they would vote the Supreme Court down and choose another. He thought the time had come for this movement. It had been stated that, at the Convention at Worcester, the people ached for a 'fanatic'. They were ahead of the platform. That would never do. In politics, as in everything else, if the leaders drop one single degree below the enthusiasm of the people, the people will drop three degrees behind the leaders. It is necessary to go to the extreme limit of the demands of the popular feeling. He believed that, if the leaders of the Free Soil party would propose to the Bay State to form a party that should nullify slave laws, and if the Supreme Court would not countenance it, make the Supreme Court elective, and choose a better one, the thing would be done. If we could not find such men here, we could send out and import a Wisconsin Judge, and get an honest man. The race may have run out here, but the new blood of This is unblushing perjury and treason—but we doubt whether it be not better thus to "avow" these high crimes than to pursue the course of the " national? March 1, 1854.

MR. E. P. COOPER—Dear Sir: Agreeable to your request, and my own desire to benefit the afflicted, I hereby certify the great relief I have received from the use of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture.

I was taken with a violent pulpitation, or rather fluttering and trembling of the heart, which continued several days; it seemed as though my heart had almost forgotten its office: The family became alarmed and procured a bottle of this valuable Medicine, and before I had taken near one bottle of this Tineture of Hampton's I was entirely relieved.

This is the third instance of relief in my family from the use of this valuable Medicine. Two or three years ago I was laid up with uiceration of my ankle, from effect of what is usually called milk leg. I had lost all taste and appetite, and the sore, which was some four inches up and down, and half way around my ankle, rejected every effort to heal it, until I procured Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, one bottle of which restored my health, healed my ankle, and I am freer from sweeling than for the last thirty years:

Again, one of my daughters was very low from severe dysentery, and when she began to sit up her feet commenced swelling, which increased every daty, and began to be very painful—she used a bottle of Hamp-JEFFERSON MACHINE SHOP & IRON Charlestown, August 29, 1854. AND BRASS FOUNDRY:

This Machine, for threshing, separating, cleaning twice, screening and bagging, (by one simple operation,) all kinds of Grainthe greatest labor-saving machine extant, for simplicity, durability, cheapness and capacity, it has no rival in the world. It is capable of turning out, ready for the full or for seed, from 300 to 500 bushels of Wheat per day, with 6 or 6 horses, and 8 hands—or from 500 to 800 bushels with 12 horses and as many hands, doing the work cleaner, and breaking less grain, than any machine now in use. This machine received the first premiums at the Matyland State Fair, Balt., in 1852, and 1853; the Washington Co., Md. 1. W. Beller. PENNSYLVANIA TO ADVERTISE VIRGINIA LANDS IN, IS THE VALLEY SPIRIT, published at Chambersburg, Pu., by P. S. Dechert & Co. Its circulation is three times as large as the average circulation of County papers in Peninsylvania, and care has been exercised to have it extensively circulated among the agricultural community, they being generally the most substantial patrons. It is generally believed that an advertisement of Real Estate in this paper, will be read by more Farmers, and therefore by more persons disposed to purchase that kind of of properly than if inserted in any other journal in this part of the country. The Valley Spirit's circulation lies mainly in the rich and populous counties of FRANKLIN and CUMBERLAND, but yet it is not confined to those counties. It circulates also in Adams, York, Lancaster and Lebanon on the East, Fulton, Bedford and Somerset on the West and Huntifigden, Juniata, Perry and Centre on the North. From these parts of our State many Agriculturists have removed to Virginia, and others, it is not to be doubted, will year after year follow. Would it not be good policy for Virginians to bring their property to the notice of those who are contenting lating a fernoval to their State by advertising if in our paper?

From the above analysis the waters of Shannon-dale may very properly be classed among the Saline Chalybeates—a combination of the most valuable description in the whole range of Mineral waters. It may therefore be positively asserted, without exaggerallon or fear of contradiction, that no mineral water within the limits of the United Sales, possesses the same constituent parts, or is a more salutary and efficient alterative than the waters of the Shannon-dale Springs. This water acts as gently as the mildest aperient, without giving rise to those unpleasant sensations of pain and deblity so often occasioned by ordinary cathartics; prepared by the most skillful physicians.

MR. E. P. COOPER—Dear Sir: Agreeable to your request, and my own desire to benefit the afflicted, I hereby certify the great relief I have received from the use of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture.

I was taken with a violent pulpitation, or rather fluttering and trembling of the heart, which continued several days; it seemed as though my heart had almost forgotten its office: The family became alarmed and procured a bottle of this valuable Medicine, and before I had taken near one bottle of this Tincture of Hampton's I was entirely relieved: ersonal security.

In the Circuit Court of Jefferson county
William Rightstine and Edward C. Williams,
Plaintiffs, VIRGINIA, to wit: and cheapen his operations, including our celebrated Patent Premium Thresher, Cleaner and Bugger,

Which received the First Premium at the Crystal Palace, N. York, this making 10 Premiums in two seasons, in competition with the most celebrated Separators of the day; proving conclusively, that simplicity in construction, cheapness in price, and durability in machine, is being fully appreciated, and the old complicated coatly separators must yield their place to a superior machine. This Machine, for threshing, separating, cheapings with construction, and bagging, (by one simple operation,) all kinds of Grainthe greatest labor-saving machine extant, for simplicity, durability, cheapness and capacity, it has no rival in the world. It is capable of turning out, ready for the full or for seed, from 300 to 500 bushels of Wheat per day, with 6 or 5 horses, and 8 hands—or from 500 to 500 bushels with 12 horses and as many hands, doing the work cleaner, and breaking less grain, than any machine now in use. This machine received the first premiums at the Maryland State Fair, Balt., in 1852, and 1853; the Washington Co., Md. Fair; Valley Agricultural Fair, of Va., in 1852 and 1853; the Rappahannock Agricultural Society, at Port Royal, Va.; the first premium at the Illimois State Fair, 1853, at Springfield, and a Silver Medal at the Indiana State Fair, at Indianapolis; 1853.

This machine is so simple in construction, that the one fait, and slive completely cleans and bags the grain, dispensing with all the complicated machinery (and consequent liability of derangement) in all other separators, thus making it more desirable to the fariner.

McGixius, Auctionese, 03-Winchester Virginian, Loudoun D. modrat and Richmond Examiner will copy and send bills to the subscribers, whose names are on our books, without any date, we shall enclose a circular, indicating the same, and the amount of account may be stated just as they may think honest and just. In return for this, we shall cor fidently expect the money first, and if not received, their notes for the amount, indicating the time for which they consider their subscriptions paid, and if neither comes to hand within the course of the ensuing month, their papers will be discontinued, without respect to persons. Some will doubtless regard this as harsh treatment, but if they would only reason for a mannet, they would feel the justice of our position. With several thousands of dollars on our books, for labor rendered, we are frequently unable to command ten dollars, except by resorting to the practice which has become by far too common from the necessities of our business men, and the derelictions their customers, of borrowing "from Peter to pay Paul." We design to make the effort at least to pay our cebts, and our only reliance is upon those upon whose faith we have made them. We hope we shall not be disappointed, and appeal to the justice of our patrons, for whom we have ever labored with untiring devotion, for a realization of our hopes.

The amount due for Job Work and transient Advertisements for the last year, will be expected to be paid promptly, as work of this description is always expected to be cash.

Serant Office, August 22, 1854. and before I had taken near one bottle of this Tineture of Hampton's I was entirely relieved.

This is the third instance of relief in my family from the use of this valuable Medicine. Two or three years ago I was laid up with ulceration of my ankle, from eftect of what is usually catled milk leg I had lost all taste and appetite, and the sore, which was some four inches up and down, and half way around my ankle, rejected every effort to heal it, until I procured Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, one bettle of which restored my health, healed my ankle, and I am freer from sweeling than for the last thirty years.

Again, one of my daughters was very low from severe dysentery, and when she began to sit up her feet commenced swelling, which increased every day, and began to be very painful—she used a bottle of Hampton's Tincture; the pains were assuaged, the swelling subsided and her health returned—we k pt her legs

TI-4681 ISTINGUAL

With pretty Mary Jane;
And I did hope that by and by
She'd love me back again,
Alas! my hopes, a dawning bright,
Were all at once made dim;
She saw a chap I dont know where,
And fell in love with him!

Next time we met (now how it was I dont pretend to say,)
But when my chair moved up to her's Why her's would move away,
Before I always got a kiss,
(I own with some small fuss,)
But now forsooth, for love nor fun

Twas non-come-at-a-buss! Well there we set-and when we spoke Our conversation dwelt
On everything beneath the sun;
Except what most we felt.
Enjoying this delightful mood,
Who there should just step in,
But he, of all the world whom I

Would rather see than him! And he would set down by her side,

And he would set down by her side,
And she would—all the while
He pressed her hand within his own—
Upon him sweetly smile;
And she could pluck a rose for him,
So fresh and bright, and red,
And gave me one which hours ago,
Was shrunk, and pale, and dead. And she could freely, gladly sing,

The song he did request;
The ones I asked were just the ones
She always did detest.
I rose to leave—and "She'd be glad To have me longer stay!"
No doubt of it! No doubt they wept To see me go away!

I sat me down. I thought profound; This maxim wise I drew; It's easier far to like a girl Than make a girl like you. But after all I don't believe My heart will break with woe! If she's a mind to love "that chap,"

Why, bless her, let her go !

A GOOD HIT FOR A YOUTH. An old chap in Connecticut, who was one of the most niggardly men known in that part of the country, carried on the blacksmithing business very extensively, and, as is generally the case in that State boarded all his own hands, and to show how he envied the men what they ate, he would have abowl of bean soup dished up for himself to cool, while that of the hands was set before them boiling hot. One of the boys was rather unlucky among the hot-irons frequently burning his fingers. The old man scolded him severely one day, for being so careless. "How can I tell," said the boy, "if they are hot unless they are red?" "Never touch anything again until you spit on it, and if it does not hiss it won't burn."

In a day or two the old man sent the boy to see if his soup was cool. The boy went in -spit in the bowl; of course the soup did not hiss. He went back and told the boss all "Dinner?" cried he. All hands ran; down sat the man at the head of the table, and in went a large spoon ful of the boiling hot soup to his mouth. "Good heavens!" cried the old man in a rage. "What did you tell me that lie for you young rascal ?" "I did not lie sir," said the boy. "You told me I should spit on anything to try if it was hot; I spit in your bowl, and the soup did not hiss, so I supposed it was NEWSPAPERS. A man eats up a pound of sugar, and the pleasure he enjoyed is ended; but the information he gets from a newspaper is treasured up in the mind to be used whenever occasion or inclination calls for it. A newspaper is not the wisdom of one man or two men; it is the wisdom of the age, of past ages toe. A family without a newspaper is always half an age behind the times in general information; besides they never think much or find much to think about. And there are the little ones growing up in ignorance without a taste for reading.

Besides all these evils there's the wife, who, when the work is done, has to sit down with her hands in her lap, and nothing to amuse her mind from the toils and cares of her domestic circle. Who then would be without a newspaper.—Benjamin Franklin.

MANUFACTURE OF NEGROES .- Dr. Vanuse, of Mississippi, says the Eutaw Whig, writes to the West Alabamian that a Doctor Liohurgs has discovered a tincture or ointment, which, if applied by certain rules, will in a few days change the fairest skin on earth to the rural African hue, and the children of those thus blackened will be black or helf black, as was the case with their parents, and that all the soap and water in the world cannot wash it off.-The doctor also composed another wash which makes the hair as kinky as that of the real African. The end of it all is-he can make a negro.

ANOTHER AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—There is to be great gathering of the farmers of Western Virginia, and many from the East, too, at Greenbrier, on the 29th and 30th of the present month. Wm. H. Macfarland, Esq., of Richmond, (himself a Greenbrier farmer,) is to deliver the address on the occasion.

NEW GOLD DOLLARS.—The Secretary of the Treasary has sanctioned a new gold dollar coin, about to be issued from the mint at Philadelphia. It is about the diameter of a five-cent piece, and bears on one side an Indian head with a crown of eagle's feathers. and on the other a wreath, surrounding the words

.... The new edifice of Harper & Brothers in Cliff street, New York, is now nearly complete. The building is composed of brick and iron, fire-proof throughout, and is a model structure. No wood of any consequence has been used in the entire work, and should the contents burn a score of times, the fire would scarcely have any material effect on the main building. It will be completed and ready for occupation about the first of January.

A CAUTION TO SCOLDS .- The following act of assembly was passed in Virginia in 1792: " An Act for the punishment of scandalous persons-Wheras many babbling women slander and scandalize their neighbors, for which their poor husbands are often involved in chargeable and vexatious suits and costs in

"Be it therefore enacted by the authority aforesaid, that in actions of slander, occasioned by the wife, after judgment passed for damages, the women should be punished by ducking; and if the slander should be so enormous as to be adjudged at greater damages than five hundred pounds of tobacco, then the women to suffer a ducking for each five hundred pounds of tobacco abjudged against the husband, if he refuses to pay the tobacco."

A VERY MOMENTOUS QUESTION .- A correspondent of the New Orleans Crescent asks. a question which comes home to the buzzum of every one who loves "sassingers."-Here it is:

"Mr. Ettutur: That what I wish to ax you is weather strichnine wot the poleece gives to dogs, wont pizen the heuman beins after sassingers has been fride. Please to put in e paper how this is, fur if fride strichnine is pizen, I go agin sassingers.

Winchester, May 27, 1853.

We, the undersigned, being solicited to give our opinion as to the character and standing of the Insurance Company of the Valley of Virginia, have no hesitation in saying that we have the utmost confidence in the ability and integrity of the President and Directors of that Company.

The fact that we have insured our own property in the Company, is perhaps the strongest evidence we can give as to our opinion of its merits.

Physicians:

From Dr. Wm. H. Farrow, Snowhill, Md.

Gentlemen—I have frequently in my practice prescribed your "Stabler's Anodyne Cherry Expectorant" and "Diarrhea Cordial," with great satisfaction to myself, and to the entire relief of such diseases as they profess to cure. I consider them happy combinations of some of our most valuable and safe therapeutical agents, and must be of infinite worth to the afflicted and mankind at large. In furnishing the medical profession with these active and concentrate preparations, so convenient for administration, and of a standard quality, you have rendered them an eminent service, and I can do no less than earnestly recommend these preparations to practitioners, and especial Iy in the country, where the impurity of commercia mend these preparations to practitioners, and especially in the country, where the impurity of commercial Drugs is one of the greatest obstacles to the success

Dr. W. S. Love, writes to us that he has administered the Expectorant to his wife, who has had the Bronchitis for fourteen years, and that she is fast recovering from her long standing malady. It has in a few weeks done her more good than all the remedies she has heretofore used under able medical counsel.

From Dr. H. P. Worthington, Lauret, Md.

"After several months use of your Expectorant, both in my own family, and in general practice, I am confirmed in the opinion expressed of it, when first made acquainted with the recipe. For one I thank you for so convenient and elegant a preparation of the Wild Cherry."

From Geo. Gerry, M. D., Someret Co., Md.

"Gentlemen—I have used many of the different Cherry Expectorants, and I do assure you that yours far exceeds any I have ever tried."

From Dr. J. R. Andre, of Kinsington, Talbot Co., Md.

"Having examined the component parts of Stabler's Anodyne Cherry Expectorant; also of Stabler's Diarrhea Cordial, and having used them in practice, I feel no hesitancy in recommending them."

From J. E. Marsh, M. D., Kent Co., Md.

"1 have made free use of your Diarrhea Cordial,

"I have made free use of your Diarrhea Cordial, in my family. It gives me much pleasure to add my testimony to that of others, in favor of its efficiency." From Samuel Martindale, M. D., Chesapeake City, Md. "I have much pleasure in adding my testimony in favor of your valuable Cherry Expectorant. I have, after an extensive use, found it to answer all my expectations.

From Dr. Danl. W. Jones, Somerset Co., Md. "I have given your Expectorant and Diarrhea Cor-dial a fair trial, and am delighted with their effects, never having had them to fail in a single instance. I shall take pleasure in recommending them.

We have been favored with a written certificate, We have been lavored with a written certificate, cheerfully given by numerous Medical gentlemen, in Maryland, Virginia and Ohio, which alone should convince the most doubting, that these are really "Good Medicines;" after stating that they are acquainted with the composition of both the Expectorant and Cordial, and that they have administered them to their patients, they testify "that they are remedies of great value, safe, efficient and well worthy of the patronage of the Profession and the Public that value, safe, efficient and well worthy of the patronage of the Profession and the Public, that they are more reliable than any other proprietary medicines with which we are acquainted," &c.

The above notices of recommendation from members of the Medical Faculty, Pharmaceutists of high standing, and Merchants of the first respectability, should be sufficient to satisfy all, that these medicines are worthy of trial by the afflicted, and that they are of a different stamp and class from the "Quackery" and "Curc-All" so much imposed upon the public.

EAR AND EYF!
DEAFNESS, PARTIAL OR TOTAL, Entirely Removed.

DR. ALSOPHERT begs to call the attention of those suffering from a total or partial loss of the hearing, to the following fasts. He treats diseases of middle or inner Ear with MEDICATED DOUCHES, Such as is practised in the Infirmaries of Berlin, Leipsie, Brussels, Hamburg, and St. Petersburg, and lately by the most distinguished London Aurists, with the most wonderful success; indeed, it is the only method that has been uniformly successful. The best proof of the efficacy of the treatment will be a reter-

ence to nearly
NINE HUNDRED NAMES, Residents of the United States, Canada, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia, who have been restored to Acute Hearing, and not a single, solitary case to our knowledge, did we fail to effect either a partial or to tal restoration of the Hearing, when our advice and instructions were faithfully and punctually adhered to. Many who could not hear the report of a pistol at arm's length, can now hear a watch beat at the distance of four feet.

In cases of nuccous accumilation in the Eastachian Tube and Tympuram, Inflammation of the Mucus Membrane, Nervous Affections, Discusses of the Membrane Tympani, commonly called the "Drum," or when the disease can be traced to the effects of Fevers, Colds, the use of Quinine, Mercurial Medicines, Gathering in the Ears in childhood, &c., Dr. Alsochert's treatment stands are among the Table. phert's treatment stands pre-eminent. Where the Auditory Canal is day and scaly with little or no searction, when the deafness is accompanied with noises in the Ear, like falling water, chirping of insects, ringing of bells, rustling of leaves, continual pulsations, discharge of matter, or when, in stoeping, a seasation is felt as if a rush of blood to the head took place. When the head in its least across in dull chandle. place, when the hearing is less acute in dull, cloudy weather, or when a cold has been taken, this method of treating the disease is infallible.

IN DEAF AND DUMB CASES my experience warrants me in saying, that if the my experience warrants me in saying, that if the hearing was at any time good, very much can be accomplished. In the Deaf and Dumb School at Leipsic, out of a class of 14, I succeeded in restoring Four to accute hearing. Dr. A. begs respectfully to state, that in those cases he underatakes he guarantees a successful result, complete restoration, or such a marked improvement as will be perfectly satisfactory, if his remedies are faithfully applied and directions adhered to.

Having found out, myself, what it is, I recommend it to others in such cases, as I have described, and I have done it upon the "no cure no pay system," and I have yet to have the first bottle returned, or the first objection about the pay. It is a great pity it cannot be more extensively circula.ed among the people. *

I warrant it in the following cases:—Gout, Riteumatism, Inflammations which proceeds from the stomach, Sores, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, long standing cases of Ague and Fever; first stop the chill, and then give the Tincture—the difficulty in this case is not in stopping the chill, but the return of it, this the Tincture will certainly do. In general debilitations, I warrant it, and as I said before, I have procured a trial of it in this way, which otherwise I could not; the people have been humbugged by patent medicines so long, that they are afraid of all. This is clearly a stomach medicine, it works all its wonders there, and in all such cases it is a specific, if anything in the world is.

Having given the Tincture a fair trial with myself, in my family and neighborhood, I think I am warranted in what I say about it, and which I do without any other interest than the wish to see it in general circulation, and in every man's family, where it ought to be.

If what keny be doubted by any of the afflicted, and they will write to me at Sandy Bottom Post office, Middlesex county, Va., stating the nature of the disease, and I recommend it for such a case I will warrant it, and if it don't do good I will pay for the medicine. Respectfully, THOS. R. BULL.

TO FEMALES.

Henry's Invigorating Cordial, is one of the most invaluable Medicines in the many Complaints to which Females are subject. It assists nature to brace the whole system, check excesses, and create reneweil health and happiness. Less suffering, disease and unhappiness among ladies would exist, were they generally to adopt the use of this Cordial. Eadies who are debilitated by those obstructions which females are liable to, are restored by the use of a bottle or two, to bloom and to vigor.

That solitary practice, so fatal to the existence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become its victims, from an ignorance of the danger to which man, and it is the young who are most apt to occupit its victims, from an ignorance of the danger to which they subject themselves, causes
