I Have Loved Four. The first one I loved ! Oh in what way can his voice, or the happiness I experienced in tenor of a life. In matrimonial matters it looking at him, or the tender care I took to would be better that it should be oftener said produce a smile on his lips ? And yet I must | than it is, for many of that sex sometimes say confess he was ugly-very decidedly ugly.- no when they mean yes, and should use the But he was my first love, the first being who shorter word when they do not. had made my heart palpitate the whole day: who clothed my dreams with ever-smiling images; who opened to me an entirely new life; and from that time I comprehended no happi-ness which was not through him; no sentiments which were not for him; no duties I would not have sacrificed to him. Each of his words made every fibre of my frame vibrate; each look, whether gay or quiet, reflected itself in delicious joy in the depths of my heart; and when his mouth multituded kisses on mine, when his arm formed a caressing collar around my neck, when his hands played with the braids of my hair, happiness elevated my emotions toward heaven, for I then understood the enjoyment of the angels. 'Near him all other sentiments faded. What to me now were the bonds imposed by law or habit ; what the pleas-ure of society, the triumphs of self-love? How many times to remain near him have I laid aside my festival ornaments, prefering his simple words to all the intoxicating praises of the world ? How I loved to see my golden girdle bruised between his fingers, or the garland with which I had coquettishly decked my brow, trampled beneath his feet. Oh ! what for him should I not have demanded of heaven, and what affection could ever rival him in my soul? Notwithstanding I must tell it. A year of intoxication had hardly passed when another sentiment invaded my heart. No power could oppose itself to the interests with which another being inspired me, an entire stranger, but whose candid expression awoke in me a thousand hopes. He had glorious eyes, from which I learned to draw the tenderness; and when he leaned his head on my bosom, when he murmured my name like the first note of a new love song, I said to myself, "Here, also, is the happiness of loving." I welcomed this thought, it doubled my delight, and I loved them both ! How in some time from this was found near me, oh I such a handsome fellow, with pale the Rev. Mr. Thompson performed a marriage ceremony at the Tabernacle-both parties said yes at the proper time, and the reverend gentleman said amen.

"I want your to perform the same thing for me," said a well dressed, youngish man to Mr. Thompson. "When ?"

"Now-right off-to-night." "Can't you put it off a little ? It will make it rather late."

"No-the lady says now or never, and I am very anxious. Will you go." "Yes; where is it ?"

"Close by-only a few steps west of the park. We are all ready, and will not detain you but a few minutes on your way home."

Mr. T. went to the place which was a respectable boarding house, and everything evinced decorum. The lady-young and pretty, neatly dressed, and altogether a desirable partner for the gentleman-was presented and a short prayer, as usual upon such oc-casions, offered, and then hands joined.

"You with a full sense of the obligations you assume, do promise, here in the presence of God and these witnesses, that you will take this woman, whose right hand you clasp in yours, to be your lawful wedded wife, and as such you will love and cherish her forever." "I do."

"And you Miss, on your part, will take this man to be your lawful wedded husband ?" " NO !"

We have heard in times past, when showers were fashionable, some pretty heavy claps of thunder; but none that ever rattled about the tympanum of that bridegroom was quite so loud as that stunning little monosyllable. "No, I never will !" said she most emphatically, and walked away proudly to her seat, leaving her almost-husband looking and probcomplexion and blue eyes, I dare hardly tell ably feeling just the least trifle in the world foolish.

Death of Charlotte Corday. [From the National Intelligencer.]

Extract from Michelet's last work, "Les Femmes de la Revolution," a translation of which is now in press by H. C. BAIRD, Philadelphia. When the wife and commissioner entered, CHARLOTTE was found standing motionless near the window. The man, barring the doors so that she could not escape, struck at her head with a chair. But she remained immovable. The people from the neighborhood and persons passing by, hearing the cries, flocked in. A surgeon was called, but one only was found dead. In the meantime the guard had with difficulty restrained the people from tearing Charlotte in pieces; grasping her firmly, for she did not think of protecting herself. Un-moved, she looked around with a clouded cold eye. A hair-dresser of the neighborhood, who had taken possession of the knife, was brandishing it with horrible yells, but she paid no attention to him. The only thing that seemed to astonish her, and which (she said herself) made her suffer, were the cries of Catherine Marat. They gave her for the first time the painful idea "that after all Marat was a man." It seemed as if she was saying to herself, "What! was he beloved !" The commissioner of the police soon arrived. At a quarter of eight came the heads of the police, Louvet and Marino, and finally the deputies, Maure, Chabot, Drouet, and Legendre, who had been sent by the convention to see the monster. They were astonished to find, surrounded by soldiers who were holding her hands, a beautiful young girl, perfectly calm, answering every question with firmness and simplicity, and without the least timidity or pre-tension. She even confessed that she would not have escaped if she could have done so. Such are the contradictions of nature that in an address to the French people, written some time before, and which she then had about her, she says she wanted to perish in order that her head, being carried through Paris, should serve as a signal for the friends of the law to rally. Another contradiction : she both said and wrote that she hoped to die unknown. Notwithstanding this, her certificate of baptism and passport which she had about her would alone have caused her to be recognised. The other things found upon her

The many thousands of the most desperate and hop-less cases cured at this institution within the last twelve years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnesse by the reporters of the papers and many other persons notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. German Brides. Mr. James Brooks, of the New York Express, who is now in Europe, in a recent letter says : loved him. The Germans, by the way, have a queer way of making "Brides," and of doing one other things in the courting and marrying way, Happy with the same happiness, partaking of which may interest you perhaps. When a maiden is betrothed, she is called "Bride," and so continues, till she becomes " wife." All the while she is engaged she is a "Bride." The lovers immediately upon the betrothal, exchange plain gold rings, which are worn ever afterwards, till death parts them. The woman wears hers on the third finger of the left hand, and the man his on his ----- hand -----how I could love them all, how they could all When the "Bride" becomes "wife" her ring love me, and how we could all live together, is transferred to the third finger of the right raise the curtain which shadows this picture, hand, and there it remains. The husband and you will see A MOTHER AND HER FOUR SONS. always wears his ring just as the wife wears hers, so that if you look upon a man's hand, you can tell whether he is mortgaged or not. Spinello, who had painted the Fall of the There is no cheating for him ever after-no Angels, thought that he was haunted by the coquetting with the girls, as if he were an unmarried man; for lo! the whole story is told by his finger ring. A Viennese married lady was much amused when I told her that in our country we only "ring" the woman, but let the husbands run at large unmarked ! "Oh, that is dreadful," said she, more than half shocked. "Think, there is Frederick, my husband-only 24so young, so handsome-and all the girls would be taking him for an unmarried man, and be making love to him !" "Oh, it is dreadful ?" "Is it not ?" "They would never had shown towards her, invited him to follow know he was married." "How can you do her to heaven. To achieve this the artist so in your country ?" " I would not live there with Frederick for the world." Thinking over the reasoning of my fair Viennese, I could not but come to the conclusion with her, that in her country there was more security for the wife ; and that, therefore, her custom was better than ours. But would not there be a rebellion among the men of America, if the wives there thus put a public stamp of "property" upon their, husbands every step they took ? The Germans have other agreeable customs in their silver weddings (silberne hochzeit) (the twenty-five years of wedded life)and their golden weddings (goldene hochzeit,) (50 years;) but of these so much has been written that I can probably write you nothing new. If ever I with Susan Tomkins," said a father to his only get time, I will consecrate a whole chapter to son : "I hope you will behave yourself like a

"These gentlemen have just told me that my property has been confiscated; I owe something at the prison, and I leave it to you to discharge my debt."

On descending from the hall by the dark staircase and turning into the cells which are below, she smiled to her fellow-prisoners who were looking at her as she passed, and excused herself from the promise she had made to the porter Richard and his wife to breakfast with them. She instantly turned to him, and after the sentence gave to him the last moments which remained before the execution. The painter, M. Hauer, was second in command of a battalion of the Cordeliers. He owed perhaps to his rank placed his hand on her, and would without the favor of being left with her, but one gendarme being present. She talked with him very tranquilly on indifferent subjects, on the events of the day, and on the moral peace which she felt within herself. She desired M. Hauer to make a smaller copy of the portrait and to send it to her family.

At the end of an hour and a half a low knocking was heard at a little door behind her. It was opened, and the executioner entered. Charlotte, turning round, saw the scissors and the red chemise which he carried, and could not avoid evincing a slight emotion, exclaiming, involuntarily, "What! already?" She immediately recovered herself, and addressing M. Hauer : "I do not know sir, how to thank you sufficiently for the trouble you have taken; I have nothing but this to offer you, keep it in memory of me." At the same time, taking the scissors, she cut a beautiful ringlet of pale yellow hair, which had escaped from her cap, and handed it to M. Hauer. The gendarine and the executioner were much touched.

At the moment when, on mounting the cart, the crowd, animated by two contrary feelings, of anger and admiration, saw coming out of the lower arcade of the prison the beautiful and splendid victim in her red mantle. Nature seemed to connect itself with human passion and a violent storm burst over Paris. It did not last long, seeming to fly before her, when she appeared at the Pont-Neuf; and as she advanced slowly along the Rue St. Honore the sun appeared high and strong in the heavens, for it was not yet seven o'clock in the evening, (19th July.) The reflection on her red dress heightened in a strange and fantastic manner, the brilliant effect of her complexion and eyes.

Democratic Meeting in Berkeley County. At a meeting of the Democracy of Berkeley county, held pursuant to notice, at Blimite's Hotel, in Martinsburg, on Tuesday the 26th Sept., on motion, Capt. R. D. Seaman was called to the Chair, and A. C. Hammond, appointed Secretary.

The Hon. Chas. Jas. Faulkner being present, was called upon by the chairman to explain the object of the meeting. This he did, and then proceeded at some length to present his views of the condition and prospects of the Democratic party of the Union. The topics alluded to by him can only be briefly ad-verted to, and which occupied him nearly three quarters of an hour in their delivery. In the South the Democratic party was firm and united, and advancing in the confidence and respect of the people. All that the South asked was to see the government administered strictly in accordance with the principles of the constitution. In this respect we had so ples of the constitution. In this respect we find ad-far no cause of complaint against the present ad-ministration. In the North faction and fanaticism ministration, in the North faction and force of nation, at the ballot box, as soon as those aliens can nation, at the ballot box, as soon as those aliens can had weakened and impaired the unity and force of the Democratic party, and Whiggery, casting off the flimsy and transparent seil with which it had heretofore sought to conceal its purposes, was now open-ly identified with abelitionism, freesoilism, and every other factious and treasonable element of opposition to the Constitution. We look in vain for any soundness in the North, beyond those who are now adhering with fidelity to the Democratic organization .-The Whig platform, as announced in all their conventions, especially since May, 1854, promulgated a creed destructive of the Constitution, and fatal to the Union and the rights and interests of the South. He took it for granted that there was now an impassable gulf between the Northern and Southern wings of the Whig party. The Southern Whigs must now unite with the Democrats, or have a separate and isolated organization of their own. He was free to declare that every hour and moment of his life satisfied him that the only hope for the perpetual union, happiness and prosperity of this country, was in the ndancy of the great National Democratic party of the United States. It was the only party which ever professed to be National in its objects, and to base its organization upon the Constitution, and up-on the great and fundamental principles of social, civil and political liberty. He e-neluded by referring to the elections recently held in this county ; expressed his hearty congratnlations at the result, and paid some just and proper compliments to the fidelity, energy and unconquerable firmness of the Democratic party of this county.

His remarks was received with marked applause by the audience. On motion of John E. J. M. Clayton and the Know Nothings. Hon. J. M. CLAYTON it seems has identified himself with the Know Nothing party, as the following letter from the Philadelphia North American, written by him to D. R. King, Esq., of that city testifies :

Squatter Sovereignty -- A New Plank in the Platform.

The indiscreet zeal with which the Washington Union is laboring to incorporate the Cass dogma of Squatter sovercignty into the creed of the Democratic party, excites universal regret among the Democracy of the South. For ourselves we enter an engender. Thus is retained that individualizing carnest protest against any such mischievous inno-

In 1848, when General Cass promulgated this doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty in timid and ambiguous phraseology, the Democratic party in the South rejected the principle with unanimous and indignant protest. They even went so far as to dispute its paternity and to maintain with much show of reason, that General Cass did not entertain any such beresy. Lis words were susceptible of a double meaning, and unwilling to impugn either his sense or his roundness, we gave him the benefit of a charitable The fair at Richmond, last November, was indeed well worthy of admiration. We were present on that occasion, and met with highly inteiligent planintepretation. In truth, we could not believe that a statesman in whom we reposed implicit trust, was really the victim of so absurd a delusion. The Democracy of the South will never forget with what a rude shock they were, awakened from their stupid confidence. The election over General Cass favored the country with a commentary on the ob- felt. scure text of his Nicholson letter, and with an emphasis and frankness of explanation which we shudder to recollect, actually disputed the sanity of any man who could not see Squatter Sovereignty in his oracularepistle. For all our nice distinction and laborious exposition, we got the reward of contempt for our stupidity.

If General Cass had honestly avowed his meaning before the election, we doubt if he would have received the vote of a single State in the South-so universal was the repudiation of his Squatter Sovereignty dogma by the State Rights Democracy .--Time and reflection have but confirmed their conviction of its mischievous tendency; and yet the Washington Union proposes to interpolate it into the platform of the party. Names do not alter the nature of things, and the heresy is still the same and not the less monstrous, although we give it the advantage of an attractive label. The principle that the Territories have the right "to determine the character of their own institutions. is not the less repulsive to the State Rights Democracy for the captivating phrase, popular soverthe Union professes to find authority for the doctrine of Squatter Sovereignty in the terms of the Nebraska bill, and we must confess there is too much reason in the allegation. To say the least, the Nebraska bill, like the Nicholson letter, is susceptible of a construction favorable to the principle of Squatter Sovereignty, and it was for this very reason that we entreated the representatives of the State Rights Democracy to procure some amend-ment of its phraseology. They did not heed our suggestion, and now the attempt is made to quote their own language in justification of a principle quite as odious as the Missouri restriction.

The Union, avails itself of an unfair advantage, and if it has any regard for the feelings of the Southern Democracy, it will desist from its effort to incorporate Squatter Sovereignty into the platform of to Mr. Humphreys. In the meantime, the conductor the party. Agricultural Fairs. We are gratified to see the stimulus which has of late been given to agriculture in Virginia. In the ceaseless din of politics it is cheering to see a determined purpose to advance this important element in the wealth of the State. Nor can this object be more surely effected than by the frequent interchange of sentiment among those who have made the subject of agriculture a favorite study. We are too apt, in directing our attention to the theories and practice of government, to forget these more quiet, but more important elements of our prosperity .-Virginia is, and has ever been, essentially an agricultural State, and perhaps it is owing to this very cause that she has so long maintained a conservative position even amid the agitations of political reform. There is something wholesome and elevating in the effect of agriculture upon the mind and heart. This good old State has not yet experienced the evils of a dense population, nor the bitterness and rancor which the intercourse of crowded cities is sure to system of government, where each planter is the lord of his little barony, dispensing justice to those around him, and giving and receiving blessings .-

[From the Richmond Enquirer, September 29.] For TEXAS .- A sight, novel and interesting, was witnessed by many of our citizens on Wednesday last. A train of wagons, numbering 25 in all, accompanied by about 75 persons, male and female. old and young, passed through our city, on their way to Texas. The train was one-fourth of a mile in length, and with the large company, numerou guns, dogs, and other paraphernalia for a long journey, formed a sight of no little interest. Upon inquiry we learn that the party consisted of ten or more familes, from the neighborhood of Sparta, in Caroline county, who had united for the purpose of forming a settlement in Texas, and trying their fortunes in a fertile region of that new portion of our confederacy. The company, we learn, embraced the familes of Andrew S. Broadns, (with thirteen interesting-children,) John W. Sale, Widow of Thomas Sale, N. B. Farmer, Claiborne Houston, Lunsford Houston, Mrs. Harriet Sale, John Longhwell, Samuel J. Murray, Mrs. Smoot, and perhaps, others. They intend making the entire journey by land and have ample preparation for a comfortable and cconomical trip. They have started with a liberal amount of the "creature comforts," have fine camp equipage for their accommodation at night and mea hours, and a social material which insures the long journey to be one of pleasure more than fatigue .---While it is a matter of regret to see so many of our

9, Jury C. My Patent Premium Threshing, Separating, Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machine, is for sale, which received the first premium at the Crystal Pal-nee, New York, over all Threshing, Separating, Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machines on exhibi-tior—thus proving conclusively that simplicity in construction, cheapness in pice, and durability in construction, cheapness in pice, and durability in my machine, is being fully appreciated, and the old and new costly, inferior, complicated separating Ma-chines must yield their phases to a superior Eabor Sa-ving Machine. The celebrated Machine for Thresh-ing, Separating, Cleaning twice, Screening and Bag-

ing, Separating, Cleaning twice, Screening and Bag-ging Grain by one simple operation. The greatest labor saving Machine in the world for separating all pure and impurities. This machine throws the straw to its If, the chaff to itself, the wheat in the bag, the screenings to itself, and the smit and cheat to itself. Everything has a place, and everything is in its place to suit the conveniences of the farmer. For sim-plicity, durability, cheapness and capacity, it has no equal in the world. As for what has been stated in the different papers concerning Mr. Zimmerman's Ma-chine receiving the first premium at the Crystal Pal-ace, New York, is false, and not true. It is also stated that Mir. Zimmerman received a number of premiums at ..... and other fairs. That I know nothing about -perhaps he did; but it is very easy to win the race, as the boy said when he ran by himself. But my honorable friends, this was not the case at the World's Fair, New York. Mr. Zimmerman had a number of other boys to run with, besides himself, which made the race more difficult for him—so much so, that he, the race more difficult for him—so much so, that he, Mr. Zimmerman, was neither the first nor second—so you may judge where he was. These are facts that cannot be denied. The under-signed would inform the public that his Farmers' La-bor Saving Machine for Theshing, Separating, Clean-ing, Screening and Bagging all kinds of Grain, is for sale. Farmers wishing to buy the best machine in use, will address JOSEPH GLAZE, Frederick City, Md., who is manufacturing them in the best and most substantial manner and can furnish any orders at a few days notice. Those wishing to purchase the Pa-tent to manufacture the Machines, will address me at Charlestown, Jefferson county, Va. June 27, 1855-1y* ELISHAS. SNYDER.

Ingenious Contrivance. To protect the treasure in the vaults of the Assay Office. N. The white lady who sat beside him in the private car, he said, was the wife of Mr. Kelly, and he wanted Mr. K., sent for to furnish him with some money. This was at the landing in Baltimore, and when the conductor went to search for Mr. Kel-ly, he was among the missing, as also was Mr. Rob-critson. Altogether, the case led to the suspicion that they were all slave abductors. The firmness and decision of Captain Humphreys, and the perse-verence of officer Busher, wounded as he was, pre-vented serions results, there being several in the car who wanted to shoot the fellow on the spot. The Rights of the States, for the Sake of the Union. TUESDAY MORNING, CCIOEER 10, 1954.

The Gubernatorial Convention. The Democratic press of the State seems generally to have adopted the time and place suggested by the Richmond Enquirer, namely, the 30th of November, and Staunton as the place for the meeting of the State Convention, to nominate a candidate for Governor. We have been loath to enter into the controversy of the press upon this subject, believing that the majority would eventually fix upon a suitable time and place. And while we see no absolute necessity for so argently pressing the matter, and to Liverpool, the first news of her will be received would like the people to have had ample time for | by the Union, which left Havre on the 27th ult. or discussing the respective merits of the worthy gen- by the Cunard steamer of the 30th, which will be tlemen whose names have been brought before the due at Halifax in two or three days. We would suggest, therefore, to our Democratic brethren of the county the propriety of holding precinct meetings at once, and appointing delegates to the said convention. And we propose Wednesday, the 18th of this month, at the Circuit Court as a snitable time for holding a meeting in this place.

upon the Democracy of the State generally, the necessity of united and harmonious action in the contest which is approaching. There are a number of gentlemen whose claims will be presented to the Convention, which will therefore be composed of many conflicting elements. The friends of the respective candidates, will be warm in the cause of their favorites. Let all then endeavor to discharge faithfally their duty, and with a willingness to sacrifice. when necessary, their own private predilections, for the common good. Let there be no bickering and discontent; but let the nomination be made fairly and above-board, without trickery or collusion to create heart-burnings, and by souring the friends of those who are unsuccessful, divide us amongst ourselves ; for the coming contest will be an exciting one, and the Democracy needs all its united strength. By a division of its cords the strongest cable may be broken, but in union there is strength. Then, let all do their duty aud unite upon him as our standard-bearer who is most able to stem successfully the tide of Whiggery and lead us on to a glorious and triumphant victory !

The Election of Mayor in Baltimore. The election for Mayor in the city of Baltimore comes off on Wednesday, (to-morrow) 11th inst .--The Democrats have nominated WM. G. THOMAS, some years ago a Whig but now a staunch member of the Democratic party and a violent opponent of the Know Nothings. It is supposed that there will be a warm contest in the Monumental City, in this election. What will be the result we are not able. to divine. The Natives, or Know Nothings, have nominated DANIEL HINKS, Esq., who has hitherto been a luke-warm Democrat, but is now a Whig Know Nothing.

The Steamship Arctic. We are yet without intelligence from the Arctic, now in her nineteenth day out. There is, however, no real cause for alarm in this prolonged detension. The Atlantic was once twenty-eight days without being heard from, owing to the breaking of her machinery, and only a year ago, in August, 1853, the Pacific, after being out some days beyond her time, came in with only a single engine, having broken one of her shafts. The New York papers remark that those most interested in the safety of the Arctic are the least alarmed, having full confidence in her ability to sustain any storm with which she may meet, whilst her safeguards against fire, the only other danger to which she would be exposed at this season of the year, are perfect. If she has put back week may elapse before she will be heard of. Of The Washington Sentinel states that in the early part of the last week a trial for a breach of marriage promise took place in the State of New Jersey: the parties being Miss Annie Howard, of Washington city, complainant, and Wm. Judge Pollock, the whig candidate for Governor, it is thought will receive the Know Nothing and Free-Soil vote. Bigler's majority in the State, at the last election was 8,465.

Come out from Among Them. We take pleasure in referring our readers to the following letter of Dr. John C. Orrick, of the city of Baltimore, who was lately spoken of by the Know Nothings as their candidate for Mayor of the city .--This letter appeared in the Baltamore Clipper of the 21st ult, and, if our neighbor, the Intelligencer, has | by asking. no peculiar sympathy with the modern Jacobins, why has he not published it for the perusal of his readers? But here is the letter of Dr. Orrick, than whom, it is said, no person in Baltimore sustains a more exalted character for honesty and veracity : "To THE PUBLIC .- My separation from the American organization, and withdrawing my name from the contest as a candidate for the Mayorality, is justi-fied upon grounds involving principles that I will maintain at all hazards through life. Reared in the school of "American Democracy" (and to none other have I ever belonged,) I cannot have any affinity with any proposition, form, mode or act, that virtually declares a power delegated by a minority, to be superior to the whole people. My numerous friends particularly the "American Mechanics and Workngmen," will accept my grateful acknowledgments for kind expressions, confidence and intentions, and be assured that I shall continue to stand up against (as I always have done) every attempt to abrogate the rights and privileges of American Freemen. JOHN C. ORRICK.

More could not be said. His oath binds him to remain silent in reference to the principles of this 'secret political organization," but enough is said to convince any rational mind that their principles per bushel. Oats firm-About 100 bushels offered ;

BY YESTERDAY'S MAIL. [Correspondence of the Spirit of Jefferson.] BALTIMORE, OCT. 7, 1854. This has been a gala week with its joyous crowd of pleasure seekers, all intent to see what was going on, and as far as I could judge, they accomplished all they set out to do, and amid all the hubbub. I am yet to hear of the first accident of any kind; all was larity and life; our visitors have spent the week in rational enjoyment, and I have reason to believe, have left Baltimore with the most pleasant remembrance of its people, its institutions, and its attractions. Why were you not here? I longed for you, that you might with me, see the sights; we would have taken our seats in one of the Omnibusses and had ourselves conveyed to the centre of attraction: The "Cattle Show." Now you would have been amazed to witness the "turn out" on the road, from the splendid equipage of the Merchant Prince to the wagon of the industrious farmer; the former dashing along at the rate 2.40 to prove the mettle of their noble steeds; but that was the least of all the sights, as also the grounds of the Cattle Show, splendid as the display was; but that which took my fancy were the funcy Men, the "thimble rigger," and the still lower operator-the " Drop game' party, who were all on the qui vive for some simpleton to fleece. They were everywhere; at the show, the places of Amusements and on the street, in fact there was no getting clear of them. The greater portion of our visitors have gone to their homes; the show is disbanded; the Circus has gone its way, so that we are now left pretty much as we were this time last week. Our Merchants have done an immense business, some having to stay up all night packing what they sold during. the day: indeed all branches of trade have been benefited by this great influx of visitors. But the Hotels are the ones which have coined money. The "Maltby House" of which I spoke in my last was tested to its utmost capacity, having as high as 400 guests at one time under its roof. And well did Mr. SMITH the gentlemanly proprietor sustain his well carned reputation. For everything went on as smoothly as though it had been the oldest instead of the newest house in town. Tell our friends from the Valley that they will be sure to find the " Spirit of Jefferson" always on file, and whatever else they may desire to make it home-like can always be had

THE MARKETS.

FLOUR-In the Flour market to-day we note a marked improvement. Sales of Howard Street Flour were made at an advance of 25 cts. from yesterday's figures. We note a sale of City Mills at yesterday's price, and also a small sale at an advance on yesterday's quotation. The receipts of this description are increasing and although the millers are generally asking advanced rates, it was hardly as firm to-day as Howard Street Flour. The sales to day comprise 600 bls. Howard Street at $7,50, 200 bbls. City Mills at $7, and 100 bbls. do, at $7,183. City Mills Flour, deliverable in all next week, could have been bought at $7,125c. on late 'Change, but for immediate delivery most of the dealers were asking $7,25. Howard Street Flour, was very firm at $7,50, and some of the holders declined to sell at that figure. The receipts for some days past have been quite limited, and the stock here is said to be very light. A CAUSE OF CHOLEBA .- A London letter, alludi o the mortality of cholera in that metropolis, s that it has been especially great in a particular cality, where the sufferers from the plague 200 year ago were buried in a pit, the site of which has la ly been disturbed in making sewers. That such result should occur is not inconsistent with exp rience, for there are analogous medical cases on re cord, and among others one in which the small po was communicated from opening the grave of a per son who had died of it ten years previously.

Health of our Town.

We believe (says the Martinsburg Gazette) we may now safely say that the health of our town is as good as any town of its size in Virginia. That there may and will be occasional cases of what has been termed cholera, caused by imprudence and neglect, we do not dould, but we have every reason to believe they will be few, if any.

Democratic Meeting in Berkeley. We publish in to-day's paper the proceedings of a Democratic meeting in Berkeley county appointing delegates to the State Convention. The Hon. CHAS. J. FAULENER being present was called upon to ex- ter at Leetown, Jefferson county, in place of Charles press the object of the meeting ; which he did and | C. Cameron, resigned. then proceeded to present his views upon the condition and prospects of the Democratic party of the Union. He concluded by expressing his hearty congratulations at the recent victory of the Democratic party in that county in the election of Sheriff. His remarks were received with marked applause by the audience. The meeting expressed no preference for Governor and adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That whilst the Delegates above appointed are requested to attend the Convention, should it assemble at Staunton on the 12th of October, it is the opinion of this meeting that a later day for the session of the Convention would be more expedient and desirable.

SCOTTSVILLE, Albemarle co., Va., ? March 27th, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer and Mowbray-Gentlemen :have been afflicted for the past eight years with Dys. pepsia, Rheumatism and Liver complaint, suffering all the while with pains in the shoulders, hips, back and sides—shifting from one side to the other--palpi-tation of the heart, loss of appetite, cold sweats at night, excessive costiveness, and great debility and weakness. I tried many rem dies, which done me no good, but rather grew worse. Last fall I was ad-vised to try "HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINC-TURE," and I am happy to say it cured me. I an now free from all pain, and in the enjoyment of per fect health, and take great pleasure in recommendin the Tincture to all afflicted as I have been. Yours, JAS. M. NOLE. ### Vulgar Truisms.

It is a wonder, when Eve went out walking, what she did without a parasol. Women are true to one another in all things but babies, and there it must be confessed they do flatter each other a little bit. The strongest minded woman shrinks from being caught in her night-cap. The one thing in a household that all persons, servants included, take a common inter-

- him " not to stand it." The man who hesitates between mutton and venison is lost to all sense of the beautiful. Ask all the lodging-house keepers-there never was such a thing known in a lodging-house as a ffea. The man who neglects himself is sure in time to be neglected by others. Honorable Courtship.

We heard a very pretty little incident the other day, which we cannot help relating .-A young lady from the South, it seems, was wooed and won by a youthful physician living in California. When the engagement was made the doctor was rich, having been very successful at San Francisco. It had not existed six months, however, when, by an unfortunate investment, he lost his entire "heap." This event came upon him, it should be added, just as he was about to claim his bride. What does he do? Why, like an honorable and chivalrous young fellow as he is, he sits down and writes the bady event portion of the site of the si lady every particular of the unhappy turn which has taken place in his fortunes, assuring her that if the fact produced any change in her feelings towards him, she is released from every promise she has made him. And what does the dear, good girl ? Why, she takes a lump of pure gold, which her lover had sent her in his prosperity as a keepsake, and hav-ing it manufactured into a ring, forwards it to him, with the following Bible inscription engraved in distinct characters on the outside : -"Entreat me not to leave thee, or to retarn from following after thee; for whither thou goest will I go, and whither thou lodgest will I lodge; thy people will be my people, and thy God my God; where thou diest will I die; and there will I be buried ; the Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part me and thee." The lover idolized his sweetheart more than ever when he received this precious evidence of her devotion to him in both storm and sunshine. We may add, that fortune soon again smiled upon the young physician, and that he subsequently returned to the north to wed the sweet girl he loved, and who loved him with such undying affec-tion. Reader, this is all true. Young ladies who read the Bible as closely as the heroine of this Henry's Invigorating Cordial, is one of the most invaluable Medicines in the many Complaints to which Females are subject. It assists nature to brace the whole system, check excesses, and create renew-ed health and happiness. Less suffering, disease and unhappiness among ladies would exist, were they gen-erally to adopt the use of this Cordial. Ladies who are debilitated by those obstructions which females are liable to, are restored by the use of a bottle or RAWLINS' HOTPLL, Corner of Queen and Burk streets, MARTINSBURG, VA. When the hearing is restored it is expect ed that those in easy eircumstances will pay liberal service to you. It possesses rare virtue, is a general remover of disease, and strengthener of the system AS A TONIC MEDICINE, All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by the All diseases of the Eye successfully fredeed by the application of medicated vapors, §c.—An infallible and painless treatment for disease of the Eye, Acute or Chronic—Cataract, Specks, inflammation, Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands, §c., §c. To the astonishing and gratifying results of the treatment the child, the youth, those of middle age, as well as those far advanced in life, all bear testi-mony to its wonderfully removing, healing and southing effects.

AS A TONIC MEDICINE, it is unsurpassed. We do not place this Cordial on a footing with quack medicines, and, as is customary, append a long list of Recommendations, Certificates, &c., beginning with "Hear what the Preacher says," and such like; it is not necessary, for "Hen-ry's Invigorating Cordial," only needs a trial to prove that it will accomplish all we say. THE GENUINE "HENRY'S INVIGORATING CORDIAL," is put up in Soz Pannel Bottles and is easily recomvarieties which the season and market will afford; his Bar with the choicest liquors, and his Stable with the best hay, grain, and ostler. As he intends tomake this his permanent residence, he will spare no pains in endeavoring to render those who give him their custom, both comfortable and hap-py. He flatters himself, from his long acquaintance with business, and the manners of the world, that he can please the most fastidious. Hischarges will be as moderate, as the expenses of any good public house in this section of country will justify. He, therefore, in-vites all to extend to him a share of their custom.
