LITTLE JIM.

BY EDWARD PARMER. The cottage will a thatched one, the outside old and Tet everything within that cut was wond rous neat The pight was dath and stormly, the wind was how ling wild.

A patient mother watched beside the death-bed her child, A little worn-out creature, his once bright eyes grown dim It was a collier's wife and child: they called him And, oh! to see the briny tears fast hurrying down her cheek, As she offered up a prayer in thought, she was afraid to speak. Lest she might waken one she loved far better than her life: For she had all a mother's heart, had that poor collier's wife.

With hands uplifted, see, she kneels beside the sufferer's bed,
And prays that He will spare her boy; and take herself instead! She gets her answer from the child-soft hill these words from him: "Mother, the angels do so smile, and becken Little have no pain, dear mother, now-but oh! I am so dry;

Just moisten poor Jim's lips again—and, mother, don't you thy."

With gentle traibling haste, she held a tra-cup to his lips;
He smiled to thank her, as he took three little tiny

Tell father, whell he comes from work, I said And, mother, now ril go to sleep in alus, poor little She saw that He was dying-that the child she loved so dear Had utter'd the last words that she might ever Hope to hear. The cottage door is opened, the collier's step

The father and the mother meet, but neither speak a word-He felt that all was over; he knew his child was He took the candle in his hand and walked towards His quivering lip gives token of the grief he'd fair

And, see! his wife has joined him; the stricken with hearts bowed down with sadness, they hum bly ask of Him, In Heaven once more to like again their own, poor "Little Jim."

Miscellanedus.

The Rains of Rome: The ruins of Rome! The dvefthrow of decay of mighty huttian power its of all thoughts that can enter the midd; the most affetting. The whole illiagiliation is at once stirred by the prostration of that, round which so many high associations have been collect et for 30 thany ages. Beauty seeths born but to perish; and its fragility is seen and felt to be inflefent in it ha a law of its being .-But power gives stability, as it were, to human thought, and we forget our own perish able nature in the spectacle of some abiding and enduring greatness. Our own little spain of years-our own confined region of shate are lost in the endufalice and far-spread dominion of some mighty state-and we feel as if we partook of its deep set and most triumphant strength. When, therefore, a great and ancient em pire falls into pieces, or when fragments of its power are heard, in the sad conviction of our souls rent asunder, like column after column departing from some noble edifice, we feel as if all the cities of men were built on foundations beneath which the earthquake slept .-The same doom seems to be iminent over all the other kingdoms that still stand; and in the midst of such changes and decays, and overthrows-or as we read of them of oldwe look, under each emotion, on all power as foundationless, and in our wide imagination embrace empires covered only with the ruins of their desolation: Yet such is the pritte of human spirit; that it often tificonsciously, under the inflitthee of such imagination, strives to lide from itself the utter nothingness of its mightlest works: And when all its gleries are visibly truttibling into dust, it creates some imaginary flower to overthrow the fabrits of buman greatness-and thus attempts to defive a kind of modriful trititiply even in its tufy fall. Thus, when untions have faded away in their sins and vices, totten at the heart, and palsied in all their littibs, we strive not to think of that sad internal decay, but; imagine some might power smiting empires and cutting short the records of mortal magnificence. Thus, Fate and destiny are said in our imagination to lay our glories low. Thus even the calm and silent air of oblivion, has been thought of as an unsparing power. Time, too, though in moral sadness, widely called a shadow, has been clothed with terrific attributes, and the sweep of his soythe has, in imagination, shorn the towery diadem of cities. Thus the fflere eigh in which we expire, has been changed into active power-and all the nations have with offe voice ealled out " Death!" And while mankind have sunk, and falleft, and disappeared in the helplessness of their own mortal being, we have still spoken of bowers arrayed against them—powers that are in good trith only another hathe for their own weakness. Thus, ifnagitation is forever fighting against trith—and even when hittibled, her visions are subline —conscious, even among saddest rulin, of her own illimortality.—Prof. Wilson; Home Influence: It is starcely possible to live in a family where religion is sweetly excitiplified, even by one filefillbut only, without deep convictions. Truly has it been said that 'our duties are like the circles of a whirlpool, and the inermost includes home.' A modern writer has designated home 'heaven's fallen sister;' and a melancholy truth lies shrouded in those few words. Our home influence is not a pass:

ence? What sorrow or what happiness lies in the power of each.
'A lighted lamp,' writes M. Cheyne, 'is a tery small thing, and it burns calmly without noise, yet it giveth light to all who are within the house. And so there is a quiet ithlience which like the flattle of a scented latin, fills that y a home with light and fragrance. Such un influence has been treathifully compared to fort, and deidens thativ a creaking sound .-It is the citrath which from many a beloved form wards off at once the summers glow and the winters wind. It is the pillow on which sickness lays its head and forgets half its misery. This influence falls as the rethe influence falls as the re-freshing dew, the invigorating sunbeam, the fertilizing shower, shining on all with the mild-lustre of moonlight, and harmotizing in one soft tint many of the discordant back of a family factors.

A Blind Girl Feeling for a Sunbeam. The sun has just burst out through the clouds, and a heavy golden beam comes in at our window. How bright and cheerful! It comes in so silently, yet it speaks to the heart. Thank a kind God for sunshine. Ages on ages it has illuminated and gladdened a world. yet we hardly think of the great fountain of light and beauty.

Writing of sunshine, brings to mind a touching incident which came under our observa-tion as we were travelling in the cars. Oppo-site us was seated a family of four, consisting of a man and his wife and two children—boy and girl—twins, and totally blind. Two love-lier children we never saw. The family were from the South: A southern sun had given each cheek a rich olive complexion, relieved by a beautiful bloom upon the children's countell-ances. The boy was lightly built, had finely chiselled features, and hair of a dark brown, clustering in rich curls around his neck. The girl was yet more slender, and fragile as a leaf, and of the most spiritualized beauty. Her habit was dark. Her hair was as black as night, its heavy, glossy tresses con-fined by a golden band which glittered bright-ly upon the dark background. They both seemed happy, conversing with an intelligence beyond their years. The train stopped for a moment upon the route. The windows were all raised; and the children leaning out as if to see. The little girl heaved a long sigh, and then leaned back in the seat, exclaiming: "Oh mother! I cannot see anything." A tear trembled in her eye, and her voice was so sad and low, that it went to the heart of every bassenger who heard the beautiful but unfortillate creature: "Neither can I see Bell; but I know every thing is beautiful," said her brother; as the light winds lifted the thin locks. You're beautiful; are you not, Bell !" Just then a flood of sunshine gushed from the white clouds in the west like a flash; and fell full and warm upon the cheek of the sad girl, and upon the tears in her eves. Quick as thought she put up her hand, and attempted to grasp the golden pencils that were playing through her thick braids upon neck and cheek. Eagerly she slitt her haid upon vacancy, and a shadow fell upon her countenance as she failed to touch the sunshine. "Mother, I cannot feel it; has it fled out of the window?" "What Bell?" "The sunshine, Marlon. It touched my cheek, but I cannot touch that." The mother's eyes swam in tears, as did those of nearly all in the tar. A blind girl feeling for a stinbeath tipbi lier cheek! That beam was radialit with beauty, yet she could not behold it. It gleamed upon a world, but was right to her. Its silver bursting in the east, br its golden fading in the west, followed as day; but it burst not up-on her vision nor faded at decline of day. It glowed to the sky, upon forest and field, and lake and river; but not in the blue orbs of the sightless girl. By a singular coincidence, the boy tried to feel of the breeze that came cool upon the cheek as the cars sped swiftly on.-The breeze swept over the vellow fields and meldows, and still waters, and cogutted with the locks of the blind boy; but its footsteps were unseed by Illin. We involuntarily thanked God that we could look upon the beautiful world He has made, and drapped a tear for the hapless children who must grope their way to the grave through a long night. But the light of bliss will burst upon them. Long shall we remember the two blind children. The Snow of Age. We have just stumbled upon the following pretty piece of mosaic, lying amid a multitude of those less attractive:

"No snow falls lighter than the snow of age but none heavier, for it never melts." The figure is by no means novel, but the closing part of the sentence is new as well as emphatic. The Scriptures represent age by the almond tree, which bears blossoms of the purest white. "The almond tree shall flourshid=the head shall be lidary. Dickens says of die of his characters, whose hair was turning grey; that it looked as if Time had lightly splashed his snow upon it in passifig. "It hever melts"-no hevel. Age is inexorable; its wheels must move onward, they the het any retrograde movement. The old midn may sit and sing-"I would I were a boy again," but he grows older as he sings,— He may read of the elixir of youth; but he cannot find it; he may sigh for the secrets of that alchemy which is able to make him young again, but sighing brings it not. He may gaze backward with an eye of longing upon the rosy schemes of early years, but as one who gazes on his home from the deck of a departing ship, every moment carrying him further and further away. Poor old man! he has little more to do than die. "It never melts." The show of winter comes and sheds its white blessings upon valley and mountain, bilt sout the sweet spring ful lows and smiles it all away. Not so with that tipon the brow of the tottering veterah. There is no spring whose warnith can penetrate its eternal frosts It came to stay; its single flakes fell untiblicell, atid now it is drilled there. We shall see it intrease libtil we lay the old than in his grave ; there it shall be absorbed by the eternal darkness, for there is no age in

Yet why speak of age in a mournful strain? It is beautiful, honorable, and eloquent .-Should we sigh at the proximity of death, when life and the world are so full of emptiness. Let the old exult because they are old; if any must weep, let it be young, and the long suc-cession of cares that is lefore them. Welcomie the snow, for it is the emblem of peace and of rest. It is but a temporal crown, which shall fall at the gates of paratilise, to be replaced by a brighter and a better:

The Steepy Worshipper. Suliday is to the rest of the week in spirit-tials what suillifief is to the rest of the year in tentificals. It is the chief time for gather-ing knowledge to last you through the following, but an abiding one; and all powerful for good or evil, for peace or strife, for happiness or misery. Each separate Christian home has been likened to a central sun, around which revolves a happy and tinited band of warm and loving hearts; acting, thinking, rejoicing, and sorrowing together. Which member of the family group can say, I have no influence? What sorrow or what happiness lies God! Or do you sleep? Surely this ques-tion may well be asked in Church. For many do sleep away their Sunday, some at church, and some at home: and many who keep the eyes of their thind to close, and are no wiser and no better for all they hear with their ears and repeat with their lips in this place, than if they had not set their foot in it. Verily I must warn you, brethren, such sleepers do in-deed cause shame. They are a shame to their minister, whose teaching they refuse to profit by. They are a sharre to the Church, which eceiveth them when infants into her bosom. They are a disgrace to the Lord and Master whose stame they bear, but whose word they pay no heed to, and whose day they waste in stoth and carelessness.

TRUST IN GOD AND PERSEVERE."

BY OLIVER OAKWOOD. Brother, is life's morning clouded, Brother, is file's morning clouded,
Has the sun-light crassed to shine;
Is the earth in darkness shrouded,
Would'st thou at thy lot repine?
Cheer up, brother, let thy vision
Leok above, see! light is near,
Soon will come the next transition,
"Trust in God and Persevere!"

Brother, has life's hope receded, Brother, has life's hope receded, Has't thou sought its joys in vain;
Friends proved false when mostly needed,
Foes rejoiced at thy pain?
Cheer up, brother, there's a blessing
Waiting for thee—never fear;
Foes forgiving, sins confessing,
"Trust in God and Persevere!"

Brother, all things round are calling; With united voice, "Be strong!"

Though the wrongs of earth be galling,
They must lose their strength ere long;
Yea, my brother, tho' life's troubles Drive thee near to dark despair, Soon 'twill vanish like a bubble, "Trust in God and Persevere!"

He, from his high Throne in Heaven,

Watches every step you take, He will see each fetter riven, Which your fold in anger make:
Cheer up, brother, He has power
To dry up the bitter tear,
And 'tho darkest tempests lower,
"Trust in God and Persevere!" Brother, there's a quiet slumber

Waiting for thee in the grave;
Brother, there's a glorious number
Christ in mercy deigns to save:
Wait, then, till life's quiet even Closes round the calm and clear,
And till called from earth to Heaven, "Trust in God and Persevere!" [From Putnam's Magazine for January, 1855. WILLY AND I.

The Tea-Table. Now stir the fire and close the shutters fast, Let fall the curtains, wheel the sofa round; And while the bubbling and loud hissing urn Throws up a stealing column, and the cups That cheer, but not inebriate, wait ou each;

So let us welcome peaceful evening in."

The tea-table is in most families a delightful relaxation; it is prepared with no trouble and little expense, and the only time, perhaps, a father can spare to have his family once a day collected about him, where he may see the different dispositions of his children, and draw a knowledge of the general management of his family. It is a great pity that the tea-table, as a magnet for social reunions. is now, in our cities, so nearly obsolete. In Paris it has been partially introduced within the last few years :- but the pleasantest society there, is in the evening, where they giv nothing at all, where the ladies all work, and the gentlemen, if they do not play, walk about and converse with them. An evening spent thus, in agreeable conversation, with well-informed and pleasant people, is a delightful relaxation to men engaged in engrossing pursuits through the day. If American ladies would add to this French fashion of evening reunions, the comfort of a cup of tea and a few cakes-without the fuss and formality attending fashionable evening parties -the pleasures of social intercourse with our friends would be immeasureably enhanced, and the extravagant expenses; now incurred, entirely be avoided. Hints for the Household: Far the greater proportion of households throughout the whole country, are managed without the aid of much hired help, by the females of each family: The maximi, "If you would be well served, you must serve yourself," has considerable truth in it; at least those faililies who serve themselves, escape hiany vexations of spirit, because, if the work be no very well done, when we do it with our own hands, we are more apt to be satisfied. There are some sorts of domestic work, that of dairy work is one, which no hired help would be competent to discharge. This must be done by a wife or daughter, who feels a deep personal interest in the prosperity of her husband or father: Many of our farmer's wives are among the best hodsekeepers in the land possessing that good sense; vigor of thind, native delicacy of taste or trick; and first consciousness, which invests theff with power to attempt everything that ditty demands.— These are the "noble matronage" which our republic should honor. It is the sons of such mothers who have ever stood foremost to defend or serve their country-"With word, or pen, or pointed steel"

One of the greatest defects in the present system of female education, is the almost total neglect of showing the young lady how to apply her learning so as to improve her domestic economy. It is true that necessity generally teaches, or rather obliges her to learn this science after she is married; but it would have saved her from many anxious hours, and our possession forever. tears; and troubles, if she had learned how to make bread and coffee, and cook a dintier, before she left her father's house; and it would have been better still, if she had been distructed at school to regard this knowledge as an indispensable accomplishment in the education of a young lady.

[Mrs. Hule's Book on Cookery. The Idler:

The idle man is an annoyance—a nuisance. He is of no benefit to any body. He is an intruder in the busy thoroughfare of every-day life. He statids in our path, and we push him contemptionally aside! He is of no advantage to anybody. He annoys busy iden. He makes them unhappy: He is a unit in society. He may have an income to support him in idleness, or he may "sponge" on his good-natured friends. But in either case he is despised. Young man, do something in this busy, bustling, wide-awake world! Move about for the beliefit of mankind, if not for ourself. Do not be idle. God's law is, that by the sweat of our brow we shall earn our bread. That law is a good one, and the bread we earn is sweet. Do not be tille. Mind es poor and ignorant-man it is most blessed, to live in a land where, once at least every week, he may hear and be reminded of his duty to God. You may now and then pick up something from a neighbor, who happens to have been better taught; but how few will be at the pains of doing this? No one who is so careless about heavenly things as not to do has best to learn in Church, is likely to take much pleasure in religious talk out of Church. Indeed, for those who cannot read, Church is almost the only opportunity, of learning the almost the only opportunity of learning the will of God, all that Christ has done for men. For those who can read too even for those who well know and understand all the main truths contained in the Bible, the Church services, is of great use, in stirring up their reacoilection of them. For this world is like the enchanged ground, which we read of in the Pilgrin's Progress, the air of which was apt to produce drowsiness in such as had occasion to pass over it. In like manner, do the cares and business and pleasures of life take up and bull-our minds, until we fall asleep on the road to Heaven. So that the very best of us has need of a friendly shake to waken and rouse him from time to time: Nor dil any man ever keep away from Church, unless, on account of keep away from Church, unless, on account of illness, for six months together, without being sensibly the worse for it: though he may not be aware of this himself; because he will not examine himself regularly, nor take a full and true account of his thoughts and actions. It he did, he would find that his piety had slack-

OFFICE OF SPIRIT OF JEFFERSE

Learning in Church,

It is a blessed thing for every man for Church is the best school, and often the only one they can go to—to the poor who, on work days, have little leisure for reading, and who sometimes know not how to read—our Church service is invaluable.—Hare. Accomplishments; Accomplishments are to the more solid parts of education what a handsome frame is to a good picture; they add to the beauty and perfection of the character—where is possesses something yet more beautiful in solid acquirements of mind, and graces of heart. But where they are the best parts of a girl's education, they loose half, even of their beauty, and almost all their value.— Not fil a moment would I undervalue any accomplishment: every art, every language, every acquirement of whatever sort, is valuable to a woman; not only because it gives her occupation and home enjoyment, but also because it is another security against misfortun. But then, every accomplishment we beg must be carried out to some definite purpose. Drawing, to be useful, must be taught and learnt in a very different way. A knowledge of the rules of proportion, of light and shadow, of the principles of coloring, geometry; these should, be the subjects of lessons in drawing. As it is, nothing is really known; and were a party of young people fecefully from school; asked by what rule they would effect the arrangement of a group of haymakers in a field, so that they should all appear at different distances, hardly one out of the number could reply. Yet a knowledge of drawing is essential in every educated being; and, doubtless, as art progresses and people begin to understand what education

ened, that his love to God had grown colder; happy if he did not also find that he had eaught some badhab it, and fallen into the practice of some known sin. But to the poor, to whom the means, it will become a part of the lessons in every village school. May we speedily wit ness the advent of day. Bell Control. It seems that all times are alike adapted for happiness, and that if we grow old, as one should grow old, the last days of life must be the happiest of all. Every stage of life is but the preparation of the next one. It is the treasure house in which are collected all the leasures that are to make all the future time appy. The child has indeed but few trouble. but they are as great to him as larger ones prove to his parents. I asked a friend once, speak ing of the happy cloudless days of his child hood, if he would always like to be a child .--He stopped for a motherit, and then said. No I think he was right. There is a progress if everything-in our means of happiness, and in our capacity for enjoyment. Then let us not look back upon the time-wilhhled face of the past only with feelings of regret. Gil. me the present flowing and full of life and the future glorious with bright visions. I would rather look forward than look back; rather spend the golden hours in working out present happiness, than in vain regrets for the pust-It is but the helm to steer our onward course. The future lies before. It is the steep and rugged mountain up which lies our way. It is not genius nor fortune that paves the way to emittence, but earliestness, self control, and wisdom: These are in our hands; let us use them, alld when at the sunset of life we man to look back on our path, and see it stretching far down before us peacefully, happily we may lay ourselves down to rest.

It cannot be that earth is man's abiding lace. It cannot be that our life is cast up by the ocean of eternity to float upon its waves and sink into nothingness. Else why is it that the glorious aspirations which leaps like angels from the temple of our hearts are forever wandering about theatisfied! Why is it that the rainbow and the clouds come over with a beauty that is not of earth, and pass off to leave its to muse on their faded lovliness ! Why is it that the stars, who held festival around the midnight throne, are set above the grasp of our limited faculties, forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory? And finally, why is it that the bright forms of human beauty are presented to our view and then taken from us, leaving the thousand streams of our affections to flow back in Alpine torrents ! We are born for a higher destiny than that of earth. There is a realm where rainbows never fade, where the stars will be out before us like islets that slumber on the ocean, and where the beings that pass before us like shadows, will stay in

No story, true in all its parts, need be prefaced with they say.' Let those who know it, report it boldly, or keep it an entire secret. We could bring some illustrations of this subject did we deem it at all necessary. No doubt every man will readily apply it to himself.

The latest dates from Sebastopol are to the 31st of January. The weather was then becoming milder.

Despatches from Lord Ragian to the 27th repor the weather as fine, with severe frosts at night. The huts are being got up with much difficulty, The first detachment of British troops from India had arrived at Suay.

A telegraphic dispatch from Vienna says that the Czar had issued a manifesto under date of St. Petersburg, February 12th, in which he calls the entire male population of the Empire under arms. An additional force of 300,000 men was to be dispatched to the Crimea. A dispatch dated Varna, February 4th, says that 30,000 Ottomen troops had landed in Eupstoria, and others were on the march for Varna, and would embark as soon as they arrived.

The French Government had received advices from Varna to the 6th, which state that Omar Pacha had left for Boinges to inspect his cavalry and magnzines. On his return he would embark definitely for Enpatoria. The Russians were encamped partly in the villages of Alma and Belbec, and partly at Simpheropol and the environs. Gen, Ulrich with his guards, Egyptian reinforcements, had arrived. Still Later from Europe -- Arrival of the Canada -- Three Days Later Intelliliaurax, March 1 .- The steamer Canada arrived here this morning with Liverpool dates to Saturday the 17th ult., being three days later than those by the St. Louis. From the seat of war there was little or no news. Affairs remained as last reported. The Peace Conference was to be opened at Vienna on the 26th of Feb. Lord John Russell had left London for the Aus trian capital to assume the office of Plenipotentiary of the British government in the Conference. The Western alliance had been further strengthened by the accession of Naples. England.

High Easterly winds still prevailed off the Eng lish coast, and Government steamers had been sent to the relief of inward bound vessels. Severe winter weather prevailed throughout Europe, and there was much distress at Liverpool among the laboring classes, owing to a lack of employment. It was also reported that Portugal will join the allies with 14,000 men. But this is rather doubtful. The Western Powers are evidently, however, seeking to unite all the secondary States in a general European league against Russia. A young man by the name of Buckner, some time since; married a widow who had a daughter nearly grown. Not long after they were mirried, Buckner seduced the young lady, or, as some may say, ravished her. Since which time, Buckner, the old lady and the girl have been quarreling and fighting. On Wednesday night last, Buckner returned home, after an absence of some two months. when his wife caught him and held bim, while her daughter killed him with an axel To hide all traces of their work, they then set fire to the house, consuming the body of Buckner in the flames. What led to a discovery of the murder was the circumstance of Buckner being absent so long, and some of the neighbors seeing him come home on Wednes-day evening. They saw no more of him, so they went to raking and searching among the coals and ashes of the burnt house, and found some bones which excited fearful suspicions. An inquest was held yesterday, and they were declared to be human bones. All the parties concerned have been arrested except the young woman. Mrs. Buckner has made a full

Serious Accident at West Point. While the first platoon of the first class cavalry. were engaged, on Tuesday morning, in their usual exercises in the hall, an accident occurred which came near having a fatal termination. The class was engaged in cutting off the canvass heads, and rening at the rings while their horses leaped the bar. The hall is very much too small, and some of the horses were very restive, and were with difficulty compelled to take the leap in such a confined place One of them, ridden by Cadet E. Gay, of Vermont, while going at full speed towards the bar, suddenly twerved and turning completely round, ran back towards the other end of the hall, encountering on she way another horse also at full speed. Cadet Gav's leg struck the shoulder of the horse, and was badly broken in two places, one below and one above the knee. Cadet Childs, who was mounted on the other horse, was brought to the ground senseless by the shock, but recovered in a few minutes without having sustained any apparent injury. The officer of the day, Cadet Capt. Merrill, and Cadets Bennett and Webb, promptly carried the wounded man to the hospital, where, at last dates, he was in a very precarious condition. Thirteen Deaths from Exposure and Cold. We published an account, lately of the suffer-ing condition of several German families, who arrived in Alleghany city, Pal, about four weeks ago from Germany. The Pittsburg Chronicle of Friday announces the death of ten, in addition to the three previously mentioned. When they left their native land, they numbered twenty-two altogether; two of the women died on board ship, one of the children was left in New York in a suffering condition, and has since died. Two males, one female and ten children, have died in Alleghany. So that out of the whole number but six are alive at present. Their wants were promptly relieved by several ladies of Alleghaus, but they have suffered too severely to recover before arriving there. Curing a bad Temper.

195a2 05 Information being given to the Association that the Hon. WILLIAM LUCAS was in town; on motion, wait on the honorable gentleman, and escort him to the Hall.

The motion being unanimously adopted, the Chair appointed the following gentlemen: John bi Farland, Eso., Capt. John T. Gibson, and Jao. G. Wilson, Esq. During the interval, the German Band, which had kindly offered to assist in the cere. monies, played several very fine pieces of music. As the Hon, gentleman entered the Hall, he was received with warm and earnest marks of feeling by his many friends. His appearance brought vividly to mind the days of the past, and awakened a flood of reminiscences, crowded with the glories which clustered around triumphs of the party when he, as the exponent of its principles, led them to the onset and to vistory.

Mr. Lucas commenced by a reference to his attachment to the principles, and his solicitous feelings for the success of his party in the present contest. He then went into a close and conclusive analvsis of the causes which produced our present form of government, and the different influences which operated in its formation. He defined the rights of the General Government and of the States and draw a distant and marked line between them He referred to the continued aggression of the North on the institutions of the South, and the ut. ter hopelessness of any redress by the present course of the South. The South must unite; she take her position and stand by the Constitution, and the Constitution alone. The South had been yielding too long, too much to appease Northern fanaticism. The compromises have been nothing but deep and lasting innovations upon Southern rights and institutions. He spoke of the positions which the Democratic and Whig parties have occupied. He proved that in every instance where there has been aggressions made on the rights of the States. almost the entire Democratic party of the North have ever been found battling side by side with States Right's Democracy of the South. And how has the Whig party acted towards those Democrats? In every instance where they have had an opportunity, they have turned their backs upon those who battled with the favorite sons of the South, and have given their aid and influence to elevate those who have ever been the most deadly enemies of the South. What is the condition of the Whig party to-day? Where is their mationality? How are they acting, and with whom? Are they co-operating with a party which is national in all its bearings, or are they acting with a party which has already given evidence of its sectional character? Does not every act of this new party-which sprung into existence in a moment, and like the frogs of Egypt overrun the country in a night-prove that they are thoroughly and completely Abolitionized. Who have they sent to the Councils of the Nation to represent them? A Seward, a Wilson, and a Durkee: rabid.ultra-Abolitionists; inveterate, deadly enemies to the South. Will Southern Whigs co-operate with such a party? Will they join a party and elevate it-gire it strength and power-so that it may lay waste their beautiful and sunny South; addition, that both the Alexandria Loudeim and rob you of your rights, desecrate your temples, Hampsbire road and the Manass, Gap road were strike down your altars, and make you cringing slaves. Will you place the torch in the hands of the fanatic, when you are aware that he will apply it to your homes? How will you act.

What will the Whig party do? Will they unite with the Northern wing of that party, now that it has become still more than ever Abolitionized ? No: they cannot do it. Their own salvation is at stake. Then, suppose they do succeed in defeating the Democratic party in the South by a union with the Know-Nothings. By placing the Know-Nothings in power, will they not themselves not be as impotent for good or evil as the Democracy, whom they have defeated? In either alternative, they can accomplish nothing for the South.

Then is there no escape from this impending storm that threatens the entire subversion of this Union? Is there no hope left? Yes, there is one, and only one hope left for the South. That hope rests in the success of the Democratic party; that party which has ever been true to, the interests of the South, and stood up always for the Constitution and the sacred rights of the States. Purified in the North by the desertion of Abolitionists and renegades, the good and true have been made martyrs in the cause. The bone, and sinew, and muscle, of that party still remains, and there are some soble men among them. They are looking anxiously to the contest here, conscious that all depends on the success of the Southern Democracy. The whole South must unite, * * * and stand upon the principles of non-intervention embodied in the platform of the Democratic Convention at Baltimore; that alone will save us. He concluded by an appeal to the Democracy of Jefferson, to do their duty each and every men; said he for one would do his part. Then he alluded to Hon, B. A. Wiss: their first acquaintance on the floor of Congress, Said that he was a noble, whole-souled gentleman, and whatever might have been his faults and foibles, he was honest and sincere-and whether Whig or Democrat, he always had the honesty to avow his sentiments. He always had been true to the South; and if there was one man who would stand by the South and the sacred rights of the States, that man was H. A. Wise. The MI blue off On motion, the meeting then adjourned. E. M. ASQUITH, President. S. K. DONATIN, Secretary.

Conditions to be incorporated in the contracts to the tent the department may deem proper. 1. Seven minutes are allowed to each intern

1. Seven minutes are allowed to each intermediate office, when not otherwise specified, for assorting the mails; but on railroad and steamboat routes there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail bags.

2. On routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it, the special agents of the department, also post office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys, are to be conveyed without extra charge.

3. On railroad and steamboat lines, British and Canada mails, when offered, are to be conveyed without additional pay; also, the rose agents of the department, for whose exclusive use, while travelling with the mails, a commodious car, or apartment in the centre of a cas, properly lighted, warmed, and furnished, and acapted to the convenient assortment and due security of the mails is to be provided by the contractor, under the disection of the department.

4. No pay will be made for trips not performed; and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connexion with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Deduction will also be ordered for a grade of performance inferior to that specified in the contract. For repeated delinquencies of the kind herein specified, enlarged penalties, proportioned to the mature thereof and the importance of the mail, may be made.

5. For leaving behind, or throwing off the mails, or any portion of them, for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying commercial intelligence ahead of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted.

6. Fincs will be imposed, unless the delinquency be proportly and satisfactorily explained by certification.

5040 From Luray to Valleysburg, 6 miles and back, 6. Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters, or the affidavits of other creditable persons, for failing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mail from, or deliver it into, a post office; for suffering it (owing either to the unsullableness of the plactor manner of carrying it) to be injured, destroyed, rebbed, or lost; and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor sure, or is con-

mail as frequently as the contractor roms, or is con-cerned in running, a coach, car, or steamboat, on a 7 The Phetmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failure to run agreeably to con-tract; for disobeying the Post Office laws, or the instructions of the department; for refusing to dis-charge a carrier when required by the department to do so; for assigning the contract without the assent of the Postmaster General; for running an express as aforesaid; or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the of service on a route by allowing therefor a pro rate of service on a route by allowing therefor a provals increase on the contract pay. He may change the schedule of arrivals and departures, without increase of pay, provided he does not curtail the amount of runing time. He may also order an increase of speed, he allowing, within the restrictions of the law, a provala increase of pay for the additional stock or carriers, if any. The contractors may, however, in the case of increase of speed, religiously the contract by giving remains to the law. linquish the contract by giving prompt notice to the department that he prefers doing so to carry the order into effect. The Postmaster General may also curtail or discontinue the service, at pro rata de-crease of pay, allowing one month's extra compen-sation on the amount dispensed with, whenever, in his opinion, the public interests do not require the same, or in c se he desires to supersede it by a dif-ferent grade of transportation.

9. Payments will be made for the service by collections from, or drafts on, costmasters, or otherwise, after the expiration of each quarter—say in February, May, August, and November.

10. The distances are given according to the best information: but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised, if the points to be supplied be correctly stated. Bid ders must inform themselves on his point.

11. The Po-tonaster General is prohibited by law from knowingly making a contract for the transportation of the mails with any person who shall have entered into, or proposed to enter into, any combination to prevent the making of any bid for a mail contract by any other person or persons, or who shall have made any agreement, or shall have given or performed, or promise to give or perform, any consideration whatever, or the or retter to do, anything whatever, in order to induce any other persons or persons not to bid for a mail contract. Particular attention is called to the 23th section of the act of 1836, prohibiting cambinations to prevent bidding. bidding.
12. A bid received ser time-viz: 3p. m. of the 10th of April, 1555—or without the guarantee required by law, or that combines several routes in one sum of compensation, cannot be considered in competition with a regular proposal reasonable in amount.

13. Bidders should, in all cases, first propose for service strictly according to the devertisement, and then, if they desire; seperately for different service; and if the regular bid be the lowest offered for the advertised service, the other bids may be considered if the alterations proposed see recommended by the postmasters and citizens interested, or if they shall appear manifestly right and proper.

14. There should be but one route bid for in a pro-15. The route, the service, the yearly pay, the name and residence of the bidder, and those of each member of a firm, where a company offers; should be distinctly stated; also, the mode of conveyance, if a higher mode than horseback be intended. The words " with due celerity, certainty, and security," inserted to indicate the mode of conveyance, will constitute a " star bid."

16. Bidders are requested to use, as far as practi-cable, the printed form of proposal furnished by the department, to write out in full the sum of their bids. and to retain copies of them.

No altered bids can be considered, and no bids once submitted can be withdrawn.

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons. Guarantees eannot be admitted.

17. The bid should be scaled: superscribed "mail proposals, State of _____," addressed "Second As si tant Peatmaster General," Contract Office, and Arrive at Black Creek Valley same day by sent by nail, not by, or to, anagent, and postmasters will not enclose pronosals (prietters of any kind) in their quarterly returns.

18. The contracts are to be executed and returned to the department by or before the list of July, 1855, but the service must be commenced on the nail day next after, that date, whether the contracts be executed or not. No proposition for transfers will be cuted or not. No proposition for transfers will be-considered until the contracts are executed in due form and received at the deportment; and then not transfers will be allowed unless good and sufficient reasons therefor are given, to be determined by the 19. Postmasters at offices on or near railroads; but more than eighty rods from a station, will, immediately after the 10th of April next, report their exact distance from the nearest station, and how they are otherwise supplied with the mail, to enable the Postotherwise supplied with the mail, to enable the Post-master General to direct a mail messenger supply from the 1st of July next.

20. Section 18 of an act of Congress approved March 3, 1845, provides that contracts for the transportation of the mail shall be let, "in every case, to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guarantees for faithful performance, without other reference to the mode of transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity, certainty, and security of such transportations." Under this law a new description of bids has been received. It does not appeal to a week of conveyance, but engages to take description of bids has been received. It does not specify a mode of conveyance, but engages to take the entire mail each trip with celerity, certainty, and security, using the terms of the law. These bids are styled, from the manner in which they are designated on the books of the department, " star bids," and they will be construed as providing for the entire mail, however large, and matter man be the mode of conveyance necessary to insure its "celerity, certainty, and security."

In all cases where the lowest grade of service is believed to be sufficient, the lowest bid will be accepted, if duly guarantied, in preference to a "star" or spacific bid.

When the lowest bid is not a star bid, and specisor spacific bid.

When the lowest bid is not a star bid, and specifies either no mode or an inadequate mode of conveyance, it will not be accepted, but set aside for a specific bid proposing the necessary service.

When the bid does not specify a mode of conveyance, also when it proposes to carry "according to the advertisement," but without such specification, it will be considered as a proposal for horesback service.

it will be considered as a proposal for horesback service.

21. A modification of a bid, in any of its essential terms, is tantamount to a new bid, and cannot be received, so as to interfere with regular competition, after the last hour set for receiving bids.

22. Postmasters are to be careful not to certify the sufficiency of guarantors as sufficient responsibility; and all bidders, guarantors, and surities are distinctly notified that, on a failure to enter into or perform the contracts for the service proposed for in the accepted bids, their legal liabilities will be enforced against them.

23. The contracts will be substancially in that forms heretofore used in this department, except in the respects particularly mentioned in these instructions; and on all railroad and steamboat routes the contractors will be required to deliver the mails into the post offices at the ends of the routes and into all the intermediate post offices not more than eighty rods from the railroad or landing.

24. Present contractors, and persons known at the department, must, equally with others, precure guarantors and certificates of their sufficiency substantially in the forms above prescribed. The certificates of sufficiency must be signed by a postmaster at one of the places before named, or a judge of a court of record.

Postmasters at the ends of routes on which the think the present mode of conveyance inadect at will weigh the mail each trip for six successives weeks on weekly routes, and three-weeks on other routes, and report the result by the little of apis 1355.

OF KANAWHA. FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL, W. P. BOCOCK, OF APPOMATOX.

The Mystery of Know-Nothingism. The Richmond Enquirer of February 26th, conains a complete exposition of the secrets of the Know-Nothings. The Enquirer states, that it will establish the genuineness of this exposition to the satisfaction of any respectable person in the State who questions its authenticity; and that if any Know-Nothing charges that it is a fabrication, he will convict him of falsehood before the country. We do not doubt the truth of this exposition: and till it is shown to be false, the country on the authority of the Enwhirer-will believe it to be true. It appears that the Haine of the order is the "Supreme Order of the Star Spangled Banner." The candidate for initiation is sworn to answer truly these, among other questions, before he is admitted: " Were you born in the United States? Were you reared under Pretestant influences? And are you, or were either of your parents, or is your wife, a Roman Catholic in religious belief? And are you willing to use your influence, and vote only for native-born American citizens, to the exclusion of all foreigners and aliens, and of Roman Catholics in particular, and without regard to party predilections?"

These questions shew, that the opposition of the Order extend not only to foreigners, but also to Catholics. And what, we ask, becomes of the pretension of the Know-Nothings: that they favor religious freedom. If, among them, a man's religious opinions do not effect his political rights and standing, why do they ask of every one who proposes to become a member of the Order, whether he has been raised under Protestant influences. What more edious measure can be imagined, than to make a religious test as to who are to be allowed to be members of the Order. If the Constitution of our State allowed it, would they not exclude from office, as they do from their Order, all persons not reared under Protestant influences. And despite the Constitution of their State, the Know-Nothings of Massachusetts are now endeavoring by law to exclude all Catholics from office. Again: what can be more monstrous than to require a man to swear that he will vote without regard to party predilections. A Democrat-in accordance with the platform of his party, as set forth by the last National Convention-believes that the Fugitive Slave Law should not be repealed; that a Protective Tariff and a National Bank should not be passed. And yet, when he joins the Know-Nothings, he is required to swear that in casting his vote, his predilections for these Democratic measures shall have no influence on him; that he will just as soon vote for a Protectire Tariff and Bank man, or one opposed to the Fugitive Slave Law, for a Whig or an Abelitionist, as for a Democrat. What true Southern man would take such an oath. Let us now proceed with the required to take a solemu oath among other things, that he will not make known the objects of the Order; that so long as he is connected with the Order he will in all things political and social, comply With the will of the majority, so long as it does not conflict with their Constitutions-with those of the United States or of Virgitals; and that they will not vote for any man for office, unless he be an American born citizen, in favor of American's born fuling America, nor if he be a Roman Catholic. To all these things, the cardidate linds himself by an oath, under the penalty of being expelled from the Order, and having his name circulated throughout the different Councils of the United States as a perinter and traiter to Ged and his country, and as being unfit to be employed, entrusted, countenanced, or supported in any business transaction; as a person totally unworthy the confidence of all good men, and as one at whom the finger of scorn should ever be pointed. Prolestant, born of Profestant parents, and reared

Under the provisions of the Constitution of the Grand Council of the United States, it has power to decide on all matters of National Politics. It may for instance, if it chooses, declare against the Fugitive Slave Law, or nominate a renk Abolitionist for President-and every member of the Order being sworn to submit to the will of the majority, must aid in carrying out their behests. But more: if disgusted by the action of the Grand Conneil, any member choose to withdraw from the Order, he is sworn to keep silence forever, and not disclose the objects of the Order. Though he knows of morements calculated to destroy our government, he is bound by an oath to keep them secret. And thus he is forced to become an accessory before the fact, to a great and traitorous conspiracy against our government. But the monstrous oath taken by the members, goes even further-it requires every member to comply with the will of the majority in all things social, as well as political. Was there ever such a perfect tyratny; and if any member refuses thus to yield up his libertles, he is denounced throughout the United States as a perjurer, and as being unfit to be employed in any business. In other words, if any member is adjudged by the Order to be refractory, he is: to be starved, by a refusal to employ him in his business or profession. Is it possible that the people of Virginia will ever submit to such an odlous and disgraceful tyranny. We feel confident, that this disclosure of the secrets of the Know-Nothings will render them universally odious-and that every true American, who has been unwittingly inveigled into the Order will, so soon as he fully comprehends the character of the organization, hasten to withdraw from it. In a fuabominable regulations of the Order. The American Organ. The Richmond Enquirer savs: "We suspect it is not generally known to the people of Virginia, that the organ of know Nothingism in Washington city, is in part the property of the publishers of the Nations al Era-the leading abolition paper in the United States. This fact has been repeatedly and never disputed, and may be accepted without mistrust.

The sagacious policy of the proprietors of the Nafional Era is worthy of applause. Devoted to the interests of the anti-slavery party, they are not content with building up its tortunes in the Free States Northern mind, but they have secured the services of an efficient ally in the South by contributing their money to the support of the 'American Organ.' The organ denies that this assertion, whereupon the Washington Sentinel propounds the following " Have not Abolitionists and Freesoilers hitherto owned a share or shares in it? DID not one of the publishers, contractors, or printers (not the editor or proprietor) of the Era-the Metropolitan Abolition paper own an interest in the Organ." These interrogatories have yet to be satisfactorially answered. We are anxious to hear the reply of the Organ.

Final Adjournment of Congress, The second session of the thirty-third Congress closed its deliberation about noon on Sunday, after sitting throughout the whole of thethe previous night. The closing scenes (says the Baltimore Sun, ) were characterized by much excitement and confusion but it is pleasant to be able to aid, that ther afforded nothing of that disreputable character which we have been heretofore called upon to chronicle. While a large number of bills have been as usual, left without final action, (many of which have been referred to the new Court of Claim,s) we are justified in stating that the late session was signalized by passing many acts of the highest importance, which cannot fail to tell upon the future interest of the coun-

THOS HITE COMT.

Some persons have misconstrued an article which appeared in the Spirit of last week, under the above head. We copied it from the Enquirer, which paper had copied it from the Trenton True American The editor of the last named paper extracted the article from a pamphlet, written by an adherent to the Know-Nothings. We gave the article as evidence of what we have often asserted, that a party which was intolerant enough to proscribe one religious sect, would also persecute any other sect whenever the advancement of their peculiar designs demanded it. But, some persons have seen proper to consider it as an open attack, by this paper, upon the Methodist Episcopal Church. We can only say, that persons who can come to such conclusions after reading that article, have dotard minds and imbecile understandings. They are either unable to comprehend language, or else they are willing to knowingly misrepresent us.

The writer of this article was reared under the parental instruction of members of the Methodist Episconal Church! his early training, and more mature education, have been of a character to attach him to that Church, and to-day his entire sympathies. his feelings, and his heart, are with that Church: and the imputation that he would openly strike a blow at the prosperity, or covertly design any scheme which would result injuriously to it, is as false-as the mind is base which would conceive, or the tongue serpentine which would promul-

Methodists, we would ask you to remember and to keep it ever vividly before your eyes, that if you loin the Know-Nothings, that you become persecutors of a religious sect. That you, the children of persecution, the professors of the doctrines which the Saviour of Mankind was the author of-and which your immortal, persecuted Wesley was the disseminator of-are now assisting in a warfare, (not spiritual but political,) against a Church. Let me ask, is it necessary to commence a political crusade to extend the limits of genuine Christian piety? Have the great truths upon which the Protestant religion is based, lost their force and their virtue Nav. more, has the atonement lost its efficacy? We think not. We think the past proves that the truths are the same, unaltered and unalterable; that the atonement is the same, efficacions, unlimited and tree. We believe that the peaceful, spiritual practices of those virtues and mighty truths-which turned the dismal darkness of Luther's dungeon into glowing, radiant light, the damp atmosphere into ambrosial airs, and the clammy walls of the cell into palatial beauty-will eventually turn the unclean hearts of the human race into temples fit for the Ruler of the Universe to dwell in.

The entire Protestant Church, every branch of which has at different times felt the hand of persecution, has bowed belieath the rod of iron, has bared its back to receive the stripes of its oppressors. They should know what persecution is and ther should know what its effects have ever been what they ever will be. They should know it furnishes nutriment-that it invigorates-it gives strength, spirit, vitality, to the persecuted, And I tell ron, that if you continue this retrectition, that it will alienate hundreds and thousands, and tens of thousands, from you; it will destroy the results of early education, it will dry up sympathy, it will turn feeling into passion, and turn that passion against you; it will steel hearts which were once sha ceptible of vour influence; it wil' change love and respect into hatred and contempt; it will retard disgrace upon the Protestant Church.

Religious persecution is a knife which is all blade and no handle-and those who wield it, inflict more Injury noon themselves than upon those whom they would strike down. Its use eventually renders the users powerless to strike; and they in turn must submit to rathless terante. And, as one whose every sympathy is with the Protestant Church-nay whose very hopes are there-we warn you of a danger, which if you bring it upon yourselves, nothing which you may bereafter do will avert the terrible consequences which will certainly follow.-It will be seen by the following article from the Enquirer, that the same article was misconstrued in

Know-Nothingism vs. Methodisti.

Unving been informed that a misapprehension exists in regard to the meaning of an editorial in the Richmond Enquirer of last week-headed "Church and State-Know-Nothingism and Methodistism, we take great pleasure in setting ourselves and the Democratic party right. We have a very high respect for the Methodist Church, and Its arduous and efficient services in the cause of Christianity and Truth. It was, therefore, the farthest from our intention to hint, in the smallest degree, any approbation of the assaults of its chemies upon Methodism On the contrary, our sole object in copying and commenting upon the attack of the Know-Nothing pamphlet on the Methodist Church, which we extracted from the Trenton True American, was to e ter our protest against such an intolerant and calumnions warfare, and to show that the assault of Know-Nothingism upon the Catholic Church, was a stepping-stone for its persecution of other religious nominations, as evidenced by the present Know-Nothing foray against the Methodist Church. We repeat what we said in that article-and the language is so clear, that we are surprised that it left the smallest ground for misapprehension. We said : "Know-Nothingism will not be content with the prostration of the Catholic Church. This partial contest will but whet its appetite, and stimulate it to further violence. Indeed, the next victim is already selected for the sacrifice. A pamphlet has been written, in the interest of the Know-Nothing Order, in which the doom of Methodism is de nounced in the spirit of the extract below. not all true Christians, and all sincere friends of freedom of co-science, unite in opposition to a movement which, blending the zeal of fanaticism with the craft and policy of selfish ambition, threatens destruction to all churches, and hopeless corruption to religion ?" the extract from the Trenton True American, and in our mode of treating it, we quote the following passages from an editorial of the Staunton Vindicator. just received .

"Not satisfied with a 'war to the hilt on Romanism, the new party which has so suddenly sprung into existence, and aspires to reform both Church and State governments, has presumed to lay its inquisitorial hands upon the Methodist Church; and declare its organization 'dangerous to the liberties of the people, —pronounce it a 'hierarchy,' monarchy,' and the like. The following extract from a pauphlet written by a member of the 'American party,' is furnished by the 'Trenton True American,' whose editor seves that he has the pamphlet and will loan it to any one of the Methodist breth-ren who may desire to read it. Let the lovers of freedom of conscience and opinion, read and ponder. The spirit exhibited below, is but carrying out the policy of the Know-Methings. It is germain to their avowal. Let them once get power, and no religious sect will be secure in the enjoyment of its particular belief. The political will control the religious government, and we will have a combination of State and Church.

ture article, we will make a few comments on other "The article below is the most vindictive in its spirit, and lalse in its premise, we have ever read. The form of government adopted by the Methodist Church, in its practical operation, is one of the most liberal and equalizing of which we know-and whenever it is necessary, we are willing to under-take to establish the assumption by arguments and facts. But that is not our purpose now. Our object is to bring to the knowledge of Methodists everywhere, the ultimate design of this inquisitorial organization. Its object is, war on everything contrary to the opinions of its leaders. No Church will be left in the enjoyment of its chosen form of government, and mode of worshipping, unless such form conform to the law laid down by the new lights. Surely, this is a bold stroke at religious freedom, as secured to us by our Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States. Let every man read?—Richmond Enquirer.

"Suppressed Resolution." The editor of the Free Press is making himself very uneasy about a certain "suppressed resolution," in which he says, "a test was to be applied, and 'martial law' proclaimed." We have only to inform him, that no such resolution was ever offered before the Association. That all its meetings have been public, and attended by Whigs as well as Know-Nothings, who were invited, and came through the courtesy of their "Democratic friends." And that the Democracy have nothing to suppress or conceal. And moreover, that he knows all this, and has been present himself at most, if not all of the meetings of the Democratic Association. The resolution to which we presume be refers, as there was but one passed by that body, and not published proclaimed no martial law, and had no test in it It was a resolution offered by curselves, inquiring of certain gentlemen who were likely to become candidates for nomination at the Congressional Convention, whether they were Know-Nothings ? Whether they sympathised with them? and whether they would support the nominees of the Staunton Convention? Interrogatories similar to those propounded by several of the Democratic meetings in the District. The objection, and only objection, made to this resolution, was that it zointed out certain gentlemen as prominent, and in our opinion, as likely to become candidates for Congress, thus making invidious comparisons between those whom we mentioned, and others who were not mentioned, by calling public attention to the former and not to the latter. This objection, however, was not made the time, and it passed unanimously. But after resolution lie over till the next meeting for further consideration, stating the above objection to it, which did not occur to us at the time, and which seemed reasonable. We then consulted with some twenty or more members of the Association, amongst whom was the President-and all concurring in this view it was not published. We do not make this statement for the gratification of the editor of the Free Press, who, notwithstanding he "does not desire to misrepresent his Democratic friends," could have, at any time, got the resolution of us-or its substance, from his Whig friends who were present, by simply putting himself to the trouble of asking for it.

We will see now whether he will correct his statement, that it applied a "test," and proclaimed "martial law" and thus prove his candor in " not desiring to misrepresent his Democratic friends!" and that it is not a miserable political quibble resorted to by the Know Nothings, as some pa liletion for the hisrible test ouths which they are accustomed to admin ister neath the dark drapery of their midulghi tonclaves, and that he is not also, like the rest of his party, an active emmissary of those midnight disor-is a beautiful bey, with a star in his circlead, black legs, main and tall, sixteen frunds high under the standard, of five spirit and action. Is remarkable for beauty, strength of symmetry, and every desirable quality for a superior Hors.

PEDIGREE. WALDEN MESSENGER was raised by Jas M. Redd, of Utange county, New York. He was sir d by Young Wild Air, who was sired by Wild Air, he by Decatur, Decatur by Highlander, and Highlander by Old Messenger, his dam the thorough bred Bay Betty, whose sire was the celebrated M. m. He was awarded the first premium as the best Horse of an age at the Agricultural Fair at Goslien, against twenty competitors, and received the diploma at th. Fair of the American Institute, in New York, in Octaber, 1 i47. He also took the silver medal at the Exhibition of the Frederick County Agricultural Society, Maryland, wherethere was a fine display of stock, in October, 1853. Numbers of his colts have taken premiums at different times in New York. All are last and command high prices. His colts have taken the premium at each of the Agricultural Fairs in Baltimore since 1943, and also in Frederick County, l, last all, g thout regard to cost, as the best stock horse in the State of New York. He has beyond all doubt preved himself a sure foal getter. Farmers, preeders, and all lovers of unquestionable fine stock are respectfully invited to pateonize him. For the character of the horse as a sure feel getter and for anythformation respecting him, the public are referred to those gentlemen who patro ized him in the neighborhood of Frederick City and Petersville, Md. There is a great deal of truth and polished wit in the following, by Mr. ROBERT BELL: THE TALL GENTLEMAN'S APOLOGY.

Upbraid me not, I never swore Eternal love to thee, For thou art only five feet high, And I am six feet three.

I wonder, dear, how you supposed
That I could look so low:

There's many a one can tie a knot Who cannot fix a beau. B sides, you must confess, my love,

The bargain's scarcely fair, For never could we make a match, Though we might make a pair ; Marriage, I know, make's one of two, But here's the horrid bore, My friend's declare if you are one,

That I at least am four.

That love has got no eyes: But why should all my sighs be heaved For one who has no size? And on our wedding day, I'm sure, I'd leave you in the lurch, For you never saw a steeple, dear,

'Tis true the moralists have said,

In the inside of a church. 'Tis usual for a wife to take Her hasband by the arm, But pray excuse me should I hint A sort of fond alarm,

That when I offered you my arm. That happiness to beg, Your highest efforts, dear, would be To take me by the leg. A Certain Disease.

Because my sight's not good; But were I always quizzing you, It might be deemed rude: And though I use a concave lens. By all the gods, I hope, Me wife will ne'er look up to me Through a Herschel telescope. Then, fare thee well, my gentle one, l ask no parting kiss-I must not break my back to gain So exquisite a bliss: Nor will I weep lest I should hurt So delicate a flower— The tears that fall from such a height Would be a thunder shower. Farewell! and pray don't throw yourself

In a basin or a tub,
For that would be a sore disgrace To all the six feet club: But if you ever love again, Love on a smaller plan-For why extend to six feet three, The life that's but a span? the residue of his life miscrable.

Take Particular Notice.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit, which ruin both body and mind, unfiting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dispessia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. Miscellaneous. The Wife's Commandments. A Sunday paper, published in Cincinnati gives the following as a correct version, for the use of all doubting husbands. Listen: 1. Thou shalt have no other wife but me.

2. Thou shalt not take into thy house any beautiful brazen image of servant girl to bow down to her; for I am a jealous wife visiting, are some of the evils produced. 3. Thou shalt not take the name of thy wife in vain.

5. Honor thy wife's father and mother. 6. Thou shalt not fret. 7. Thou shalt not find fault with thy din-

8. Thou shalt not chew tobacco. 9. Thou shalt not be behind thy neighbor. 10. Thou shalt not visit the rum tavern; thou shalt not covet the tayern keeper's rum. nor his brandy, nor his gin, nor his whiskey, nor his wine, nor anything that is behind the bar of the rum seiler.

Qualifications. Somebody has very truly remarked that, A good wife exhibits her love for her husband by trying to promote his welfare, and by administering to his comfort. A poor wife 'dears' and 'my loves' her hasband, and would'nt sew a button to his coat to keep him from freezing. A sensible wife looks for her enjoyment at home-a silly one abroad. A wise girl would win a lover by pratising those virtues which secure admiration when personal charms have failed. A simple girl endeavors to recommend herself by the exhibition of frivolous accomplishments and a mawkish sentiment, which are as shallow as her mind. A good girl always respects herself, and therefore always possesses the respect of

A Cure Warranted or no Charge, in from one to two days.

The many thousands cured at his Institution, and the very extensive practice of Dr. Johnston (excading all others) is a sufficient guarantee that he had be only proper Physician to be consulted.

Dr. Johnston,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, I ondon Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spentin the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with a ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and impudent votary of plasure finds he has inhibbed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as alcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face, and extremities, progressing on with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth of the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to their dreadful sufferings by sending them to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." To such therefore, Dr. JOHN-STON pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend the most safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness or ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit.—

Such persons before contemplating

should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. andeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

JULES HAUEL, Esc., the well known perfumer, of Chestnut street, Philadelphia, whose chalter products are found at almost every toilet, says:

"I am happy to say of your Carmanyic Pitks, that I have found them a better family medicine for continuity use, than any other within my knowledge. Many of hily friends have realized marked benefits from them and coincide with me in believing that they possess extraordinaty virtues for driving out diseases and curing the sick. They are to tonly effectual but safe and pleasant to be taken, qualities which must make them valued by the public, when they are known."

The venerable Chancellor WARDLAW, writes from Baltimore, 15th April, 1854:

"Dr. J. C. Ayra—Sir: I have taken your Pills will: great benefit, for the listlessiness, languor, loss of appetite and Bilious headache, which has of late years overtaken me in the spring. A 78W doses of your Pills cured me I have used your Cherry Pectoral many years in my family for coughs and colds with unfattling success. You make medicines which care, and Tree it a pleasure to commend you for the good you have then and are doing."

"Sir: I take pleasure in adding my testimony to the efficacy of your medicines, having therived very material benefit from the use of both your Pectoral and Cathartic Pills. I am never without them in my family, flor shall I ever consent to be, while my means will procure them."

The widely renowned S. S. STEVENS, M. D.; of Wentworth, N. H., Writer:

"Having used your Cathartic Prils in my practice, I certify from experience, that they are an invaluable purgative. In cases of disordered functions of the liver, eausing headache, indigestion, costiveness, and the great variety of diseases that follow; they are a surer femely its required, I confidently recommend these Pills to the public, as superior to any other I have ever found. They are sure in their operation, and perfectly sale, qualities which make them an invaluable article for public use. I have for many years known your Cherry Pectoral as the best Cough medicine in the world, and these Pills are inno wise inferior to that adhirable preparation for the treatment of diseases."

NEAR ALDIE, VA.

In this Institution thorough instruction is given in all the branches of Mathematics of Science useful to the farmer and the man of business. The students are not taught the theory only, but they are instructed in the Paactical Application of their studies to the every day affairs of life. They are made acquainted with the phenomena of nature, taught the properties of soils, the requirements of plants, the composition of minerals, the utility of different kinds of rocks, laws of mechanical forces, calculations of the strength of materials used for building and other purposes, surveying farms, levelling water converses. the strength of materials used for building and other purposes, surveying farms, levelling water courses, laying out roads, making maps, mechanical drawing, calculations required in the construction of machinery, &c. Agricultural Chemistry is thoroughly taught, and illustrated by thousands of interesting experiments in the lecture room, in the laboratory and on the farm. The advanced students are taught how to prepare pure chemicals, analyze soils, minerals, marks, &c.

A workship is furnished with a Turning Lathe and a great variety of tools for working in wood and metal. Hence the students have an opportunity of witnessing all the branches of mechanism from the felling of the timber to the polishing and finishing of handsome and costly apparatus, every part of which is familiarly explained.

Their attention is not confined to the class book, but they are taken into the laboratory, the workshop, the garden and the field; and they are made acquainted with hundreds of operations which every body sees, but few can explain.

The design of the Institution is to prepare young men for business. To accomplish this desirable end neither pains nor expense is spared in obtaining every thing necessary for full and complete instruction. The buildings are new and commodious. The laboratory is conveniently arranged for all the manipulations in qualitative and quantitative analysis, and the location has all the advantages of purity of water, salubrity of atmosphere, and beauty of scenery.

The course of instruction is varied to suit the farmer, the merchant, the engineer, &c.

The regular sessions commence on the first day of October and end on the first day of the following August. Young men wishing to enter as students should if possible make application before the closing of the previous session.

My Patent Premium Threshing, Separating, Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machine, is for sale, which received the irist premium at the Crystal Palace, New York, over all Threshing, Separating, Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machines on exhibition—thus proving conclusively that simplicity in construction, cheapness in price, and durability in my machine, is being fully appreciated, and the old and new costly, inferior, complicated separating Ma chines must yelld their places to a superior Labor Sa-ving Machine. The celebrated Machine for Threshving hachine. The celebrated Machine for Fireshing, Separating, Cleaning twice, Screening and Bagging Grain by one simple operation. The greatest labor saving Machine in the World for separating all pure and impurities. This machine throws the straw to itself, the chaff to itself, the wheat in the bag, the Everything has a place, and everything is in place to suit the collvenic lices of the farmer. For sin place to suit the colivenic lices of the farmer. For simplicity, durability, cheapness and capacity, it has no equal in the world. As for what has been stated in the different papers colicerning Mr. Zimmer man's Machine receiving the first pretnium at the Crystal Palace, New York, is false, and not true. It is also stated that Mr. Zimmer man received a number of premiums at . . . . and other fairs. That I know nothing about — perhaps he did; but it is very easy to win the race, as the boy said when he ran by himself. But my honorable friends, this was not the case at the World's honorable friends, this was not the case at the World's Fair, New York. Mr. Zimmerman had a number of other boys to run with, besides himself, which made the race more difficult for him—so much so, that he, Mr. Zimmerman, was neither the first not second—se

Mr. Zimmerman, was neither the first not second—se you may judge where he was.

These are facts that cannot be denied. The undersigned would inform the public that his Farmers' Labor Saving Machine for Theshing, Separating, Cleaning, Screening and Bagging all kinds of Grain, is for sale. Farmers wishing to buy the best machine in use, will address JOSEPH GLAZE, Frederick City, Md., who is manufacturing them in the best and most substantial manner and can furnish any orders at a few days putter. HAMPION'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE.

EASTON, Oct. 4, 1864.

Masses. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gonts:—I feel it my duty to you and the public to certify to the effects of HAMPION'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. I was for more than five years laboring under a disease of Chronic Rheumatism, and the great part of that time I was so h ipless that I had to be helped from my bed and dressed in my clothes, I became reduced to a mere skeleton. All the medicines blook done me no good; and I continued to grow worse. I heave of Hampiton's Tincture and thought I would give it a wisl. At this time I did not expect to live one day a ter another. I did not take it (the Tincture) for the Rheumatism, but in a short time I was well of that disease. From the effects of your Tincture and the help of God I am now getting in good health.

I wish all the afflicted to try Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as I have done, with the same effect that it has on Your Obd't. Seev't.

ISAAC BENJAMIN.

We are acquainted with Isaac Benjamin; sold him some off Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and believe the above statoment correct.

Messes, Mortimer & Mowbray:

Gents:—In 1844 I had what my doctors called a violant and combined attack of Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, from which I was confined to my bed for three months. I had the very best physicians, who tried other various remedies, none of which gave me any permanent relief. Not having ease from pain day or night, I became much emaciated; my whole system a mass of disease, literally sptaking, from the brown of my head to the sole of my feet. I had to hobble about—most of the tame confined to the house; at times so helpless that I had to be assisted to my bad. I was also afflicted with a dreadful cough, great shortness of breath, sore throat, palpitation of the heart, and pain in my side so bad that I could not lay on it. My appetite entirely failed me I gave up all hopes of being restored to health again. I continued thus to suffer on from 1844 to 1850, a period of six years. At this time my daughter saw at her grandfather's a pamphlet, with numerous cartificates of cures made by Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture.

I knew some of those who certified to sures performgrandiather's a pamphlet, with numerous cartificates of cures made by Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture.

I knew some of those who certified to cures performed on themselves and friends: I was resolved to give it it trial. I informed my docked of it. He objected; but my sufferings were so great that I didditted one bottle, and, before I had taken the whole of it, I felt much relief, which encouraged me to persevere.—After taking the second bottle I was better than for the past six years; my appetite returned—cough, pain in the side, shortiless of breath &c., nearly all gone. I continued using this wonderful medicine until I had taken seven buttles, according to the directions; and I am happy to say Hampton's Tricture; and that alone restored me to perfect health) which has continued up to this time—a period of three years. I am in the 65th year of my age. I weighed yesterday, 233 lbs., and I never felt better in my life. One of my neighbors was also affected, like myself, with Rheumatism, &c. He has also been restored by the Tincture. I heard of other cases; but I am satisfied this Tincture, if tried, will speak for itself. My only object in describing to youmy sufferings and the way object in describing to younny sufferings and the way I obtained relief, is to induce the afflicted to try this Trucruzs, which has, under the blessings of God done so much for me.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9, 1852.

Micsars. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: It is with real pleasure that I am able to attest to the general healing and curative powers of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. Some time during last November, I was taken with a very bad and serious cough. I was advised to take Cod Liver Oil, and did so, but getting no better, I was induced to try your Tincture—I got one hottle, and before I had taken it all, mycough left inc. Permit me also to state that for the last his got one notice and before rand tagen it all, mycongal left inc. Permit me also to state, that for the last hit-teen years I have suffered very much from acute Rheu-matism and Vertigo, confining meat times to my best. I am fully convinced that I owe my present good health to the use of the Tincture, and a kind Provi-

health to the use of the Tincture, and a kind Providence.

You are, my friend, at liberty to use this as you may think proper, and believe me,

MEDICATED INHALATION! MEDICATED INHALATION!
CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. AS TREATED BY
With His Celebrated Hygen and Origenate Vapor!

DR. TRIST, graduate of the Royal College of Burness from the LUNG INSTITUTION of Edinburght and HOTEL DES INVALIDES of Paris, having settled permanently in New York for the practice of his profession, begs leave to suggest to the citizens of the United States that several years of study and successful experiments in England and Scotland, as well as other parts of Europe, with CONSUMPTION IN ALLITS FORMS, enable him to warrant, not only ALL ITS FORMS, enable him to warrant, not only relief, but a complete cure to all those suffering with this great national disease.

DR. TRIST deems it unprofessional to advertise; but others having represented themselves as the originators of the Inhalation Treatment, he would say to the afflicted that he alone is entitled to its first introduction; and would caution all against using the useless and dangerous compounds advertised by inscompetcht persons.

useless and dangerous compounds advertised by instance of the persons.

"Take up thy bed and walk."

DR. TRIST would say to those interested, that he has had manufactured, for the use of his patrons, his "PATENT INHALATING TUBES" through which the vapor is conveyed to the parts affected, and which he carnestly commends for the cheering results which have attended their use; and the fact, that they may be used by the most feeble invalid without any unpleasant symptoms.

To those residing out of the city, Dr. Trist will forward one of the Juhaling Tubes, together with a package of the Vapor, sufficient to last three months accompanied with simple directions for use, on receipt of a letter containing ($10) Ton Dollars, and describing symptoms.

A cure is warranted in all stages of Consumption, Badnehtts, Asthma, and all other affections of the Throat, Large, and Ar Passages. In case of failure, Throat, Lanes, and Air Passages. In case of failure, the money will be returned.
