After much investigation it was found that these cases of lead poisoning resulted, from eating bread made from flour and meal manufactured at a mill at Phillipsburg, largely patronized by the surrounding farmers. The unifer did an extensive business, running four sets of stones or ght and day, and keeping one set exclusively for custom ("grist") work. This was an old set, needing frequent repairs, and the holes were filled, from time to time with lead, instead of cement. Some of these filled notes were as large as a hen's was almost imperceptibly intugled with the four. > THE TIDE OF EMIGRATION WEST .- The tide of emigration westward-already large promises to exceed that of any previous year. Thousands, says a Chicago letter, are coming into the Mississippi Valley.

Large numbers are crossing the plains, of whom the bulk are bound to Colorado, Montana and Idaho. The prospects of a comparative early completion of the Pacific railroad induces many to await that event before journe; ing to the Territories beyond, or to the Pacific States. Canada is contributing quite largely to this tide of emigration, while the Eastern States are doing their share. All the towns in the West are full and overflowing, and reports come to us from all quarters When I fully recovered, Grant and the overloyed negroes held me up and pointed out the bea, who was still writhing in his death agonies. I shuddered as I looked upon the effects of his tremendous dying strength.—

WRONG AGAIN!

When the polls closed in Charlestown Township, on the fourth Thursday of May, one of the Commissioners stated that the vote on the Constitutional Amendment stood 12 for ratification, 4 for rejection, and 4 not voting on the question. Finding that there were six men in our town who were ready to make outh that they had voted against the amendment, when the poll-books were taken before the township supervisor, to be certified, the vote for rejection was just six and no more. Eleven votes had been cast for ratification, six for rejection, and three dodged the issue. The books were then sent over to the county-scat, that the Board of Supervisors might pass judgment upon them, and on Saturday last the Shepherdstown Register published the official proceedings of this body which gives Charlestown Township 12 votes for ratification, and 5 for rejection! Something rotten, if not in Denmark, in Charlestown Township. Come to the record, gentlemen, and let us have an explanation of this discrepancy. An indignant public demands it.

Since the above was written, one of the conductors of the election in this township, Samuel Ridenour, stated on the street, in our hearing that he was "positively certain" that the vote in this township was 12 for, and 4 against the ratification, and 4 neutral. He also stated that there was no "cheating" by the conductors, but that there was "a lie out among the voters." As Mr. Ridenour is suf- ed to appear (the proceeds being for the beneficiently radical, and one of the 12, he will, fit of the Christian Association) strongly addoubtless, find a few men to believe his statement. There is one thing as certain as day -that either there was "cheating" by the conductors, or "lying by some of the voters, or a little of both; and the public will determine for themselves who cheated or who

On the fourth Thursday of May, 1866. Two Hundred and Six men in the county of Jefierson, voted for the ratification of an Amendment to the Constitution of the State of West Virginia, providing for the everlasting exclusion of the remaining freemen of the county from the exercise of any rights of citizenship, except those of paying onerous taxes for the support of a corrupt government. Who are the 206 worthies who thus arrogate to themselves the hypocritical cloak of an exclusive loyalty? Are they all men like Andrew McIntyre, who voted for Jefferson Davis for President of the Southern Confederaev : or George Anderson, who piloted rebel soldiers and blockade runners through the lines for a consideration; or John J. Sanborn and Nathaniel Myers, who are indebted for the meat upon their bones to the very men whom they vote to disfranchise; or Joe Chapline, who always liked to have the broad Potomac and five or six miles of mountainous country between himself and the advance of the Confederates? Noble patriots, what debt of gratitude is due you from your bleeding country and suffering countrymen .-What an excellent thing is loyalty, which thus enables the prejudices and resentments of political bushwhackers to control the ballot-box, and exclude from all privileges the men whom they never dared to meet in the

- battle-front. Good thing, is this spurious

It is quite amusing to see the immense amount of indignation which the miserable squad of radicals in this vicinity is showing off since the election. These fellows, eleven or twelve in number, are bellowing out lustily against what they call "non-intercourse." The withers of the galled jades are wincing; and well they may. The great majority of our people, embracing those in all branches of business, intend to proscribe these eleven or twelve men, who have voted to decitizenize them, and now that the fact is becoming certain-that it is being shown socially and commercially, they, the radicals, roll up their eyes, and round up their mouths, and cry aloud against the "monstrous outrage." The pocket nerve is the proper one to touch these fellows on, and the more and harder it is pressed the better for the State.

The people of this county-especially of this township, have the power in their hands to kill off this concern of Sanborn, Myers, Ridenour, and their eight or nine partners. by refusing to hold either business or social relations with them-confining each of them to the contracted sphere of their ten or eleven associates in the infamous doings of the fourth Thursday of May. This power should be brought to bear in every way; and it would be soon apparent, that though we are Johnson men and, therefore, "no citizens of the State of West Virginia," we have a power in our hands stronger than the bullet or the ballot. These eleven men cannot support a miller, a blacksmith, a merchant, nor any other man of any business whatsoever, and the sooner the "disfranchisers" are made to know the

THE TRIAL OF MR. DAVIS. From the proceedings of the United States District Court, which convened in Richmond last week, and which will be found elsewhere in our paper this morning, it will be seen that a day has been fixed for the trial of Mr. Jefferson Davis, who has been for more than one year confined as a prisoner at Fortress Monroe. Some hope has been expressed that the postponement of Mr. Davis' trial would result in his being paroled until the time settled upon by the government for his arraingment; From the following extract, connected with the proceedings of the Court, there seems to be little ground for the indulgence of this

Mr. Davis's counsel were taken out by Mr. J. H. Gilmer to be introduced to Judge Un-derwood. In their absence it was ascertained that a letter had been received from Mr. Davis's counsel, in which he said that he had, in company with Governor Pratt, had an interview with President Johnson in Washington on Monday. He also stated that the President was very cautious in his remarks, and gave the impression that there was but little hope of Mr. Davis being released upon bail or parole in the event that he was not tried by the United States Court.

THE LECTURE ON THURSDAY. The Lecture of the Hon. J. Morrison HARRIS of Maryland, before the Christian Association of Charlestown will, it is hoped, attract an overflowing audience to the Presbyterian Church on Thursday Evening next .-The reputation of the distinguished Lecturer as one of the most eloquent of the popular speakers of the country-which reputation was fully sustained by him during a protracted service in the House of Representatives of the United States anterior to the war-gives every assurance of a rare intellectual entertainment on the occasion. The cause too, in whose behalf Mr. HARRIS has kindly consentdresses itself to the sympathies and support of the whole community.

FENIANISM.

Since our last issue, a successful battle has been fought by the Fenian forces, in Canada after which the organization seems to have come suddenly to grief. Having defeated the Canadians at Ridgway, the forces under Col. O'Neill retired to Fort Erie, from whence they attempted to cross to the American shore, but were gobbled by the United States steamer Michigan. The proclamation of the President was then issued, which has resulted in the arrest of Roberts, Sweeny, and other leaders of the movement. This it is supposed will terminate the Fenian furore for the present at least.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

DEATH OF AN ESTIMABLE LADY .- On

Friday morning last, at Walnut Grove, in this county, departed the spirit of Mrs. JULIA YATES, relict of the late John Yates, who for this term of the Court :had completed an earthly pilgrimage of more than four score years, which long years were expended in fruitful acts of benevolence in full compliance with the commandment that the left hand shall not know what the right hand giveth. For the long period of sixty years had this venerable lady been a resident of the county of Jefferson, and had been a witness of all the many changes which had transpired around her, in the lapse of so many years. To her, life had its seasons of enjoyment and its seasons of sorrow-so mixed and commingled is the cup of human existence. Blessed with an amiable and confiding disposition; possessed of high moral and in tellectaul characteristics; to which were added those christian graces which adorn and beautify humanity, in its frailest representativethe deceased asserted and maintained a strong hold upon the admiration and affections of all who formed, in her protracted life-time, the circle of her acquaintance. With her there was no ostentatious display; no vair parading of benevolent deeds, but all her good works were done in the true spirit of christian humility, and with a childlike simplicity which attested the purity of heart which prompted their performance. Ripe with years, but riper in charity, has her mor tal existence terminated, whilst her indestructible spirit enjoys the freedom of an ever-continuing immortality.

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD .- We observe with pleasure that a movement has been inaugurated for paying honors to the noble dead who rest from their labors in this town and surrounding country. A meeting was held at the Christian Association rooms on Friday evening last, at which committees were appointed to carry into execution this laudable work, and we cannot but hope that our citizens generally, will render all the aid to these committees that may be in their power, The graves of these soldiers have been long negleeted, not because there was any want of sympathy for them, but because of the devastated condition of our community, requiring the necessary attention of the living .-We are requested to say that it is especiall desirable that those having knowledge of the graves of Confederate soldiers in the surroundtheir locality to the committee appointed by the meeting for the removal of the dead. Ladies Concert for the Benefit of the Christian Association,-Brilliant and successful, beyond any thing of the kind which has ever been held in our town, was the Concert for the benefit of the Charlestown Christian Association held at the "Carter House" on Tuesday evening last. From its inception to its finale, this laudable intertainment seems to have been in the hands of those well calculated to give it successful direction, and if any doubt were ever entertained of the existence of a high order of musical talent in our midst, the concert alluded to must have removed every scintilla of such doubt, and established beyond question the capacity of our native performers. To allude separately to each piece executed, in a programme so varied, would not only require much more space than could be expected for a notice of such an entertainment, but would be a task requring a more thorough knowledge of the mussical art and a higher appreciation of its beauties than we can lay claim to. With the concert as a whole we were pleased, and of it we write, not merely to commend and applaud the performances, but with the hope of encouraging the young people of our town to cultivate such musical gifts as Providence has bestowed upon them, and to use them-as in this case-in the promotion of an Association which has for its object the moral, social and religious elevation of the community. A spectacle more grand-rising as it did to the very peaks of sublimity-could not have been witnessed than that which presented itself at this musical fete. At that concert were young ladies of the highest culture and most delicate refinement, who would shrink from any public exhibition of their musical attainments, but for the high moral principle which actuated them on this occasion, and the unerring consciousness that they were contributing to the advancement of a great auxiliary of the christian church-a faithful adjunct of "whatsoever is lovely and of good report." May we not indulge the anticipation and express the earnest hope that we may again have the opportunity of witnessing such a scene as greeted the vision and saluted the cars of our people on Tuesday evening last in raising funds for other charitable and benevolent purposes, which are so constantly appealing to our senses. The enclosure of our desecrated burial places-the rebabilito be remembered in the approaching and perhaps not distant future. CIRCUIT COURT .- The June Term of this court, for Jefferson county, commenced its session at Shepherdstown -yesterday. We understand that a large number of persons interested and disinterested, were in attendance at the opening of the Court. The following parties constitute the petit jurors

Thomas J. Young, Samuel Emory, Charles N. Brown. Patrick Magraw, John R. Johnson, Wm. B. Chambers. Henry F. Needy, S. H. Williams, James Lloyd. George Glassford, Joseph Grantham, John Stevens, Charles H. Trainer, Samuel Ott. T. H. Percival.

George Crowl, Henry Keller. George S. Collis, John T. McKevitt Samuel Ridenour, James McCloy, Jas. N. Anderson. M. Rosenberg, Wm. G. Butler, James M. Wiley, J. W. Greenwood, S. F. Balch. William Haship.

SABBATH SCHOOL PICNIC .- On Saturday last the teachers and scholars connected with the Episcopal Sabbath School had a most delightful Picnic on the lawn surrounding the residence of Mr. F. W. Drew, a short distance south of town. There was quite a large turn out of young persons, and the ccasion was one of decided interest. We are under obligations for kind remembrances rom some of the managers of this Picnic, and wish them every success in the good work in which they are engaged.

REAL ESTATE AGENCY .- An agency for the Sale of Real Estate, has been established in our town; by Messrs Bowers & Luce. whose office may be found in the rear of the 'Sappington Hotel." These gentlemen have had considerable experience in the sale and transfer of real estate, and this experience, added to their natural business capacities, afford them many advantages for disposing of property upon satisfactory terms. Parties who have real estate for sale, are refered to their advertisement in another colum.

Ho! Brady, Reed. Brown and the junior counsel of Mr. Davis, were extremely sociable and chatted pleasantly with their Richmond brethren of the bar, until the Judge, pale and nervous, took his seat—his eye, as usual, seeming to shrink from encountering the fixed glances which were bent upon him.

THE CASE OF EX-PRESIDENT DAVIS. Major Hennessey, the Assistant U. S. Dis-rict Attorney, advanced to the clerk's table, and in a fidgety manner announced that he would read a reply which he had prepared in reference to the case of Mr. Davis, and then proceeded to read from a paper the fol-

May it please your Honor, yesterday Mr. W. B. Reed, one of the counsel for Jefferson Davis, propounded certain questions to the Court and to me, which in the absence of Mr. Chandler, I at that time declined to answer.

By that time I trust the eats of summer will have passed away; the weather will be cool and pleasant, and should we have the pleasure of sceing these gentlemen here again, they will be more fitted for the arduous labor which their profession constautly imposes on them. In the meantime the "chrystalizing" process referred to by the learned gentleman yesterday will be going on, and his client will be enjoying the cool breeze of the sea at Fortress Monroe instead of inhaling the heated and feetid atmosphere of a crowded court-room.

REMARKS OF MR. JAMES T. BRADY. Mr. James T. Brady of New York, one of the counsel for Mr. Davis, then said: If your Honor pleases, I did not expect to say one word this morning in reference to the case of Mr. Davis, but some of the sugges tions contained in what my learned friend has just read make it proper for me to state that, if Mr. Davis be not technically subject to your Honor's jurisdiction, it is only because no copy of this indictment, so far as I am advised, has ever been served upon him; nor any list of witnesses, por any other act done of those which are required to be done by the statute. It may be true that in this technical sense he is not now, nor ever has been, amenable to your authority; but my brother Reed stated that Mr. Davis was not claiming the benefit of any of these wants of forms, but that, on the contrary, he was heresto express, from his own lips, speaking through us, his ardent desire for an immediate trial, and although it may be hot in Richmond, it is infinitely worse where he is; and so far as the convenience of counsel is concerned, they care nothing for that convenience, impelled as they are, by a sense of duty. From inv own experience in the city of Richmond whose hospitality I have enjoyed, certainly I would be happy to remain here, either thro'the heats of summer or the frosts of winter. We can only say that we are entirely ready. We know that we cannot control the action of the District Attorney. We thank him for his polite response to our questions, and, of course, we leave this question for such action as the Government may hereafter thu proper to take.

When this Court adjourns, it will adjourn, not until the next term, which is in No ber, but until the first Tuesday in October it will be a long trial, in which great political and constitutional questions are to be disc than in the summer, because it is every way-more comfortable in Richmond at that time

I think the counsel is mistaken in supposing that Fortress Monroe is not as comfortable a place in summer as Richmond. When I have been there in the summer I have found the sea breezes very refreshing.

town, winding through the principal streets, and as it passed the house of Mr. Philip Williams, whose wife was the founder of the Stonewall Cemetery-crape was seen hanging on the door-for death had entered the house and just the day before a lovely daughter had been carried to the grave. The old soldiers lifted their hats in silent respect and sympathy for the great grief of their friend. On through town, delicate and tender girls tramping on wearily but cheerfully, went the long column until it reached the Stonewall Cemtery—the spot set apart for the collection of the Confederate dead who fell in the battles around Winchester. Here the scene was thrilling, yet sadly solemn. While the soldiers of the Stonewall Brigade were deployed all around the Cemetery, the ladies they thus enclosed and protected strewed flowers over their fallen companions, and the band played a requiem. On the center stood a venerable gentleman, Mr. Sherrard, with his lovely group of fourteen young girls, strewing their floral offerings upon the circle devoted to the unknown. If any one saw that scene, he can never forget it. What crowding recollections

The Marshall then introduced in order, Major Wright, of Van Dorn's staff—Major Hunter, of Gordon's with the short speeches of these gentlemen, the duties and pleasures of the day closed, and the mass dispersed.

The success was complete Nothing marred it. No one offered to disturb it. We have paid our tribute to the dead, and as I left them to their slumbers and their dreams, I thought of the lines of Tennyson—

Than any wreath that man can weave them.

But speak no more of their renown,
Lay your floral offerings down,
And in the vast enclosure leave them.

God accept them. Christ receive them.

The Attorney General last week issued the following circular to the district attorneys and marshals of the United States:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE. Washington, D. C., June 5, 1866, By direction of the President, you are nereby instructed to cause the arrest of all rominent, leading or conspicuous persons called "Fenians" who you may have probable cause to believe have been, or may be, guilty of violations of the neutrality laws of the United States. JAMES SPEED,

Attorney General. In compliance with this order, a number of the most prominent actors in this organization have been arrested, which will probably terminate in its overthrow for the pres-

Qy-Lord Redesdale, in a recent speech in the British House of Lords, made some extraordinary gratements in regard to the operations of some of the large houses which have recently failed in Lendon. Among the statements made on that occasion was the fact that the parties negotiating for the extension of a railway line issued two hundred dollars' worth of full-paid stock on the payment of one hundred and five dollars. In this manner about three millions was raised, at the sacrifice of a little over two millions and a half. From Lord Redesdale's remarks it appears that this transaction was heralled at the time as one of the most successful operations ever made by the firm which had it in charge. But this has been eclipsed by negotiations of a later date, in which a little over three millions. That the firm which raised funds at this ruinous rate should succumb at the first depression of the market is no more than might be expected—The wonder is how it was possible that a system so reckless could ever stand, even in the absence of rumors of war to disturb the finances.

The Execution of Antoine Probat.

A dispatch from Philadelphia, dated June Sth gives the following account of the execution of Antoine Probst, for the murder of the

At half-past nine o'clock this morning the Sheriff, a few of his special deputies, his jury, his legal advisers, and six representatives of the newspaper press, met by previous private arrangement at the Assembly Building, and arrangement at the Assembly Building, and taking a special car at 10.45 o'clock on the Tenth Street Railway, the entire party was soon within the walls of the prison.

After some necessary preliminaries, the prisoner was led from his cell, supported by the Rev. Drs. Grundner and Carbon. He had a crucifix in his hand, which he repeatedly kissed on his way to the gallows. On reaching the scaffold, Probst ascended with reaching the scaffold, Probst ascended with much firmness, kissing the crucifix frequent-ly, and evineing devotion and much courage. After engaging in prayer with the attending Priests the Sheriff hand cuffed him and the noose rope being adjusted the white capwas drawn over his head.

At precisely fifteen minutes before elevens o'clock Sheriff Hamill drew the fatal cordand Probst had paid the penalty of his crimes. The body fell about three feet and after a spasmodic jerking of the legs and hands which lasted two or three minutes death had evident-

Yesterday afternoon the murderer asked for writing materials, so that he might write afarewell letter to his family in Germany.— They were furnished to him, and he wrote in quite good German, a letter, of which the following is a translation. It was addressed on the envelope as fellows:

"Mr. Martin Probst, Uehlingen, Amt, Bondorf, Ducky of Baden, Germany." FAREWELL LETTER TO HIS PARENTS. PHILADELPHIA, June 7th, 1866.

Dear Purents, Brothers and Sisters: I do not know whether or not you received my last letter in which I sent you the sad intelligence of my fate, I desire to write to you once again to inform you how I have spent my time here in the prison. I have now spent eight weeks in this cell and have endeavored to prepare for my death as well as I possibly could. The clergyman has visited me every day and has instructed me well. day and has instructed me well. I have several times confessed and received holy communion, besides this many prayers are offered up for me throughout the entire city, and, therefore. I am now so cheerful and consoled therefore, I am now so cheerful and con that I can gladly offer my life as an atone-ment for my fearful crime. I trust that you also will be consoled and cheerful as I am.— The clergymen will send you all the particulars of my death. I only entreat you all to pray for me. Have the holy sacrifice of mass offered up frequently for the repose of my poor soul. Joseph Waechter has also visited me several times during my imprisonment. He hair. The 8th of June has been appointed as the day of my death, and on to-morrow will be the 8th of June on which I am ready to offer up my life with greatest joy for my sins. I trust to meet you all in eternity in a happier and a better place, and this hope makes me rejoice with my whole heart. I will now close my letter with many thousand greetings to all of you. I send a most heart elt farewell. May we meet again in a better world. ANTOINE PROEST,"

General News.

From New York we learn that a deplorable condition of affairs is manifested at the New York quarantine. The hospital ship Falcon is so crowded with patients that no more can be taken on board. The condition of the patients is said to be horrible. There are now five vessels at quarantine having cholera, yellow fever and small pox on board.

The details of the overflow of Alexandria, in Louisiana, is heartrending. The people were driven to rafts for protection, and an inmense amount of property was destroyed. No relief is possible did the flood subside. The floods in Texas have overflowed and devastated all the bottoms, and the injury to the crops is extensive.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia has affirmed the judgment of the Circuit Court awarding Mrs. Maria J. Hutton $3,900 damages for injuries received on the Washington and Georgetown Railroad. The case will be carried before the U. S. Supreme Court by the railway company.

-EXECUTIVE PARDONS.—It is a fact not generally known that the President a few days since gave positive orders to his pardon clerk to deliver no positive orders to his pardon clerk to deliver no more pardons except to the applicant themselves and to entertain no application presented by a third party. In case of the absence of the persons receiving pardons they are forwarded to the Governors of their respective States who in turn forwards them to the parties pardoned. This judicious decipation of the President will save him a world of an novance from prefessional pardon brukers who for novance from professional pardon brokers who for a year past have bored him with their importunities. A report from the Attorney General rendered to the President veste day, shows that since April 15, 1865, the day on which Mr. Johoson assumed the duties of Chief Executive, he has igsued 161 criminal and 12,381 political pardons.— Washington Rop.

Mayor Wallach, of Washington, in an address on Monday night, expressed the opinion that "little was to be expected from Congress, and declared that whatever was to be done towards making the metropolis of the Union worthy of this great nation must be mainly done by its residents and citizens. Little help, he acid, could now be counted on from Congress, the majority of which is alienated from the people of the District by reason of repugnance shown by the litter to negro suffrage Of the "effort to despoil the city of franchise," he said the outside parties mostly engaged in it are strangers, bent only on their own aggrandizement."

to B. H. Smith, E.q., United States District Attorney for West Virginia, has written out an opinion to which he contends that the proposed amendment to the Constitution of this State, is of no force even if adopted. He says the constitution defines the qualifications of voters; and the the Legislature, in qualifications of voters: and the the Legislature, in violation of the constitution, provided that only a certain class should vote upon the proposed change. To give the amendment force, and incorporate it into the constitution, it should have been voted upon by all the voters; and then if a majority had adopted it, the exclusion of southern men from the adopted it, the exclusion of southern men from the dopted it, the exclusion of southern men from the olis would atterwards have been proper. Mr. 8 makes out a strong case.

BAY'S REAPER AND MOWER. AG-THE cheapest and best REAPER and MOWER, ever offered to the citizens of the Valley of Virginia, is now on exhibition at Berryville, at the Old Tavern, by Ma, JAMES E. NORRIS of Baltimore, formerly a resident of Clarks county.— The Machine is a Southern invention, and is offered for sale by Southern gentlemen. The advantages of this Machine consist in its simplicity and durability-having no Cog Wheels, and therefore not as liable to get out of repair as the other Reaners and Mowers which have been formerly sold in this section of Virginia. This Machine has been tested by a large nun ber of Farmers, throughout Maryland and Pennsylvania, all of whom testify to its superiority over all others. IME. - Fresh Burned Lime, for sale by KEARSLEY & SHEET

The Arab's Proof.

Some years ago a Frenchman, who, like many of his countrymen, had won a high rank among men of science, yet who denied the God who is the author of all science, was crossing the Great Sahara in company with an Arab guide. He noticed with a sneer that at certain times his guide, whatever obstacles might arise, put them all aside, and kneeling on the burning sands, called on his God.

Day after day passed, and still the Arab never failed, till at last one evening the philosopher, when he arose from his knees, asked him with a contemptuous smile, "how do you know there is a God?" The guide fixed his burning eye on the scoffer for a moment in wonder, and then said, solemnly, "how do I know there is a God? How did I know that a man and a camel passed my hut last night in the darkness? Was it not by the print of his foot in the sand? 'Even so,' and he pointed to the sun, whose last rays were flashing over the lonely desert, "that footprint is not that of man !"

A CURIOSITY .- On Thursday morning the wife of Mr. John Barnhardt, who resides in Unioutown, over the Eastern Branch bridge, gave birth to a child which is a great curiosity, having two perfect heads, four arms, two spinal columns, and two breast bones, but only two legs. Physicians who have examined it express the opinion that. there are two hearts and a portion of the digestive organs double. One of the bodies was alive when born, but died in a few minutes afterwards .- Washington Republican.

- About thirty-five years ago, there resided in the town of Hebron a certain Dr. T. who became very much enamored of a beautif I young lady in the same town. In due course of time they were engaged to be married. The doctor was a strong and decided Presbyterian, and his lady love as strong and decided a Baptist. They were sitting together one evening talking of their approaching nuptials, when the doctor remarked: "I am thinking, my dear, of two events which I shall number among the happiest of my life." " And pray what may they be, doctor?" "One is the hour, when I shall call you my wife for the first time." "And the other, if you please?" "Is when we shall present our first born to baptism." " What, sprinkling?"

"Yes, my dear, sprinkling."

" Never shall a child of mine be sprinkled." "Every child of mine shall be sprinkled," "They shall be, hey?"

"Yes. my love." " Well sir, I can tell you then, that your babies won't be my babies. So good night,

The lady left the room, and the doctor left the house. The sequel to this true story was that the doctor never was married, and the lady is an old maid.

MASTER AND SCHOLAR .- "When I was a boy," said an old man, "we had a schoolmaster who had an odd way of catching idle boys. One day he called out to us: " Boys. I must have closer attention to your books. The first one of you that sees another boy idle, I wish you would inform me, and I will attend to the case." "Ah," thought I to myself, "there is Joe Simpson that I don't like. I'll watch him and see him look off his book, and immediately inform the master." "Indeed," said he, "how did you know he was idle?"

"I saw him," said I.

"You did-and were your eyes on your book when you saw him?" I was caught, and never watched for idle boys again. If we are sufficiently watchful over our own conduct we shall find no time to find fault with the conduct of others.

- A genius out West, conceiving that a little powder thrown upon same green wood would facilitate its burning, directed a small stream from a keg upon the smoking pile; not possessing a hand sufficiently quick to cut this off at a desirable moment, was blown into a million pieces. The Coronor reasoned out the verdict: "It can't be called suicide, because he didn't mean to kill himself; it wasn't a visitation of God, because he wasn't struck by lightning; he didn't die for the want of breath, for he hadn't anything left to breathe with. It's plain he didn't know what he was about; so I shall bring in "died for the want of common sense."

Over Nice .- Old marm G-was never regarded as a paragon of neatness; and if: " cleanliness is next to godliness," as St. Paul asserts, it is to be feared that the old lady never attained to the latter state. Not only was she anything but neat herself, but she showed a sovereign contempt for it in others. Speaking of neat people one day, she re-marked that her son Josiah was one of the most particular men in the world; "why," said she, "he threw away a whole cup of coffee the other morning because it had a bed bug in it."

- A little girl, about four years old, a few days ago, made some remark about getting married. "Why, Etta," said her older sister, " you should'nt be thinking about getting married; you're only four." Etta's face and voice at once assumed a serious gravity worthy of a Judge pronouncing a death sentence as she responded. "Why, Lizzie, I thought of it when I was two."

- An editor out West, who had served a jury, says that he is so full of law that it is hard for him to keep from cheating some-

- A Pittsburger, who has in his possession the cork leg captured from Santa Anna in the Mexican war, is said to have decided to return it to the old soldier. - A "sea serpent," twenty feet long and a foot in diameter, was killed about a week ago in a bayou near Memphis. He is supposed to have come from the Mississippil." - The famous "Cremwell" sword, believed to have been used by the great Protector, was taken from the Masonic Lodge at the time

Sherman occupied the city. Sea water has a curious action on cast iron, converting it into a grey, percus mass. that grows rapidly hot in contact with air.— Some cannons fished up near Scotland became so hot that they could not be touched. - A case is before a St. Louis court involving the question as to whether a man's wife is personal property.

Josh Billings thinks there used to be more fun in thirty cents, than there is now in seven dollars and a half.

- Some prophets are debating in the Maine papers whether the end of the world is to come in 1869 or 1873.

Interments in Liverpool on Sundays have been discontinued, on the ground that their moral influence is bad.

- Why are gentlemen's love letters liable to go astray? Because they are generally mis-directed.

Old Rye Whiskey. DEFECATED or Depurated for medical or social uses by the "PANGATHARTICON," invented and patented June 17, 1852, by JOHN R. WILSON, Baltimore, Md., in Barrels, Demijohns, Bottles, &c. For sale by the Agent, on the Northwest corner of Howard and Camden streets nearly opposite Camden Station of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. My-None genuine that has not the Patentee and Agent's signature on JOHN E. WILSON.

13- Its purity has heen fully tested as per the annexed certificates of analysis: CERTIFICATES.

From a careful Chemical Analysis of Superior Old Rye Whiskey, Pancatharticonized by JOHN E. WILSON, of Bultimore.

(3) This Whiskey is characterized by the obsence of heavy Fusit Ol, Sugar and Pois mous Metalic compounds, and by retaining its othereal oderous offuntainted. It has the chemical composition of a pure, carefully defected Rye Whiskey
Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

State Assayer, 16 Boylston street.

Boston Mass., 23d August 1562.

Having made a careful chemical analysis of the Pancadarticonized Old Ryc Whiskey of Mr John E. Wilson, Baltimore am pleased to state that it is entirely free from Fusil Oil, Metalic Salts, or other matters in any way data mental to health. In aroma, richness and delicacy of flavor, it cantot be supposed.

G. A. LEIBIG, Analytical Chemist, Baltimore, July 26, 1862.

Careful chemical analysis of four kinds of Whiskey Superior Old Ryo. Whiskey, Superior Old Bourbon Whiskey, Superior Old Wheat Whiskey, Superior Old Carn Whiskey—Pancatharticonized by teans of the patent apparatus invented by John E. Wilsen, of Baltimore, Md., have snown them to be entirely free from the heavy Fasil Oils and from the pisonous mulaire compounds often found in Whiskeys.

They retain the Ethereal Products, entirely free from any Tarr produced by injured grain, or careless fermentation, and being unmodified by the use of sugar, are remarkably pure products of delicate chemical operations.

Respectfully,

THE PLEDGE. BY THE BARD OF MARBLE HALL: In Baltimore, famed for ladies fair, Lived a beautiful girl with flaxen hair, And bonny blue eyes with liquid light,

And roseate lips, a glorious sight. The youngsters fell in love by dozens, Frierds and acquaintances, strangers and cous ins; But she a crotchet had got in her head, And said she determined never to wed,

Until she loved a handsome youth Who would grant all her requests in truth, And bind him fully never to break The pledge he had taken for her sake.

The young men stood aghast with fear; Some whacked their brots, some pulled their hair; Some said 'twas religion, some said 'twas mosey; But it took them aback and they felt quite funry.

Among them there was a fine young man;
Says he, "I love her as well as I can,
Now!'ll make her the promise, both open and free,
And agree to stand by it whatever it be." The fair one stepped up to his side,
And said. "Should I how be your bride,
You must promise here before us all,
To buy your clothes at MARBLE HALL.

No other can suit a husband of mine, The coats are so handsome, the pants divine." Says Johnny, a laughing, "You dear little elf. If you like them so well, get a pair for yourself."
