There's a Beautiful Land by the Spoiler untrod, Unpollated by sorrow or care; It is lighted alone by the presence of God, Whose throne and whose temple are there: Its crystalline streams, with a murmurous flow, Meander through valleys of green, And its mountains of jasper, are bright in the glow Of a splendor no mortal bath scen.

And throngs of glad singers, with jubilant breath, Make the air with their melodies rife; And one known on earth as the Angel of Death, Shines here as the Angel of Jife! And infinite tenderness beams from his eyes, On his brow is an infinite calm, And His voice as it thrills through the depths of the skies, Is as sweet as the Scraphim's psalms.

Through the amaranth groves of a Beautiful Land Walk the Souls who were faithful in this; And their forcheads, star-crowned by the zephyrs are fanned

That evermore murmur of bliss; They taste the rich fruitage, that hangs from the trees, And breathe the sweet odor of flowers, More fragrant than ever were kissed by the breeze In Araby's loveliest bowers.

Old Prophets, whose words were a spirit of flame, Blazing out o'er the darkness of time; And Martyrs, whose courage no torture could tame Nor turn from their purpose sublime; And Saints and Confessors, a numberless throng, Who were loyal to Truth and to Right, And left as they walked through the darkness of Their foot-prints encircled with light.

And the dear little children, who went to their rest Ere their lives had been sullied by sin, While the Argel of Mourning still tarried a great Their spirits' pure temple within— All are there, all are there—in the Beautiful Land, The Land by the Spoiler untrod, And their foreheads, star-crowned, by the breezes are fanned That blow from the Gardens of God.

My soul has looked in thro' the gateway of dreams

On the City all paven with gold, And heard the sweet flow of its mur'rousstreams, As through the green valleys they rolled; And though it still waits on this desolate strand A pilgrim and stranger on earth, Yet it knew, in that glimpse of the Beautiful Land, Tbat it gazed on the home of its birth.

Prophecy of the Meteors--End of the World Announced.

NEW YORK, November 13. To the Editor of the World :

ightful as keepsakes. Nor do they ever, to how small, how tiny a memorial saves a beloved one from oblivion, worn on the finger creatures that once laughed, and sang, and wept to us, close to our side, or in our very arms, is as if her smile, her voice, her tears, her kisses had never been. She and them all swallowed up in the dark nothinguess of the dust.

Of all the keepsakes, memorials, relics, most dearly, most devotedly do we love a little lock of hair. And, oh, when the head it beautified has long mouldered in the dust, how spiritual seems the undying glossiness of the sole remaining ringlet! All else gone to nothing, save and except that soft, smooth, burnished and glorious fragment of the apparaling that once hung in clouds and sunshine over an angel's brow. Ay, a lock of hair is far better than any picture; it is a part of the beloved object herself; it belonged to the tresses that often, long, long ago, may have all been sud-denly disheveled, like a shower of sunbeams, over your beating breast. But how solemn thoughts sadden the beauty once so bright, so refulgent. The longer you gaze on it the more pensive grows the expression of the holy relie; it seems to say, almost upbraidingly, "Weepest thou no more for me ?" and then, indeed, a tear, true to the imperishable which it yearned is no more forgoften; now that she has been dead for so many long weary days, months, years ; that she was forgotten during one hour of absence, that came like passing clouds between us and the sunshine nany prophecies concerning the end of the ing. Dr. Guthrie.

s not far distant, but I will call your attention o one prophecy that is to be heeded. In the ear 866, a great Roman savant named Lauicus, in the most minute manner described n a treatise called De Mundi Callapsu, the arious meteoric displays that were to take lace in years tuture from his time. For ach display described he gave a calculated ate, and, up to the year 1833, these propheies of Lauticus have all come to pass. The last display that was to be had, according to him, was in a year during which great wars ; would have been waged over almost the entire face of the earth ; and when one great empire would rise in its might and swallow up many surrounding nations ; when from one end of the globe men could converse of the disaster that befell them to those who dwell in the other. Can that great empire not be Prussia, and the means of distant intelligence the cable? At that time; says the writer, there will be commotions in the heavens, for "that will be 1,000 years from the present period, when men who scorn to believe will be made to suffer for unbelief in heavenly admonitions. The commotions may last for sev-eral days, not exceeding five unseen by mortal eyes, and these all will be chaos." I need say no more, sir. Who knows that you or I, or any man living, may not be involved in the general crash at the end of "several days, not exceeding five." If all Lauticus' prophecies have been fulfilled, what hinders the last one to be equally as well fulfilled? We may not pray that Heaven may avert a fixed event, but we may supplicate for mercy and be ready for the dread hour when it cometh.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT .-- When the sum mer day of youth is slowly wasting away into the nightfall of age, and the shadows of the past years grow deeper and deeper, as life wears to a close, it is pleasant to look back through the vista of time, upon the sorrows and felicities of our earlier years. If we have a home to shelter and hearts to rejoice with us, and friends have been gathering together around our firesides, then the rough places of our wayfaring will be worn and smoothed away, in the twilight of life, while the sunny spots we have passed through will grow bright-er and thore beautiful. Happy indeed are they whose intercourse with the world has or broken those musical chords of the heart, whose vibrations are so melodious, so tender

Hints for Progressive Farmers.

Subsoil plowing furnishes a strong evi-dence of the value of deep plowing. Should corn be planted in a subsoiled field the corn will be darker in color and increased in height, and as a sequence the yield be greater. A Romance in Life.

The Birmingham Post mentions the following curious case of mistaken identity : Seven years ago there lived at Handford, near Trentham, a working man named Chas. Carnall, who, from some unexplained reason, descrited his wife. Thinking that the parish officers would be better able to find him than officers would be better able to find him than herself, the wife appealed to the authorities, and eventually became an inmate of Stone Union. While there, a man unknown, died at a lodging house in the last named town, and his body was taken to the workhouse. As the room in which it was placed required cleaning, the woman Carnall was sent to clean it, and, naturally enough looked at the corpse. She had no sooner glanced at it than she ex-claimed, "Bless us; this is my husband." Two of her brothers-in-law were at once sent for, and they were of the same opinion.

Two of her brothers-in-law were at once sent for, and they were of the same opinion, as was a wonar named Phillips. Carnall, it appears, had lost one eye, and had a swelling at the back of his neck, caused by the kick of a horse some years previously. The corpse was said to be thus deformed. Mirs. Carnall has since lived in Stone as a widow, where one of the brothers also resides. As the latter was sitting in his Nouse on Thursday night, to his horror the supposed dead man knocked at his door, and immediately presented him-

ADVICE TO OUR TAX-PAYERS.

The time for the collection of taxes has again rolled round-if indeed there ever is any time when taxes are not being collected. The Sheriff of this county has notified the people that the taxes for the current year are or $1,800, and yet within the limits of the pow due, and must be paid. The State of West Virginia, or rather its corrupt officials are ever in need of money, and are indisposed to show any mercy to our already heavily bur- kept up without either rich or poor deriving thened people.

A year ago we earnes'ly urged the people strong conviction that the county dices not belong to that State and, therefore, its citizens made for the purposes of the State. In that opinion we were sustained by every lawyer, of applied.

any sort of standing, who had taken the trouble to investigate the status of Jefferson and Berkeley. Judge Curtis, an ex Justice of the Federal Supreme Court, after a careful review of all the points involved in the matter, has expressed the same opinion, and is confident that it will be fully endorsed by that high court. We, therefore, again urge upon our tax-payers the propriety of refusing for the purpose of contesting the action of as possible of those whose taxes are the heaviest, band together, and make a test case for the courts to act upon. Judge Hall will not have the case before him; it will go to the United States court for this district, over which Judge Jackson officiates, and we know him to be as much above party handling as any man in the land. He is "not only pure, but beyond suspicion," and will decide the case upon the law, and not upon outside influences. Let our people. then, take a determined stand against this West Virginia oppression, and unite for the purpose of securing judicial interposition against any further continuance of it. We are abundantly satisfied that the law and facts are so strongly to stay his hand. the ages of six and twenty one, within the The Washington correspondents of the Northern papers are just now given to much speculation as to the course of President Johnson in regard to the Southern States .--One-half of them are absolutely sure that the President intends to back down from his former position, and is ready to enter into any compromise with Cougress; and the other half are just as certain that the President intends to do nothing of the sort. These speculations amount to nothing at all; and the people should pay no regard to them. The President has heretofore stood upon the constitution, and we believe him to have been actuated by principle, and not by party policy. He has thus far been true to his position, uninfluenced by the bitter disunionists of Congress, and unterrified by the fierce assaults of the most malignant set of men who ever cursed this country; and we cannot believe that he intends to abandon the constitution and the Union to the fate to which the radicals seek to consign them. He has nothing to gain by such sacrifice of principle, even was he the sort of man to abandon a position founded upon truth and right for the sake of. gaining popular favor. The patriotic and statesmanlike stand which he has taken in the dark hours of the republic has won for him the respect and esteem of right minded men on both sides of the Atlantic-has made him the very foremost civilian of the age; and, if we do not entirely mistake his character, he will never agree to do anything to forfeit the strong hold he has upon the sober, sensible minds of the country ; he would . "rather be right than President." He, also, fully understands the opinions of the Southern people, and, therefore, knows that the constitutional amendment, nor negro suffrage, will ever be voluntarily accepted by the former slaveholdciative public servants. ing States; his own views, and his official oath, will not allow him to stand idly by and see these States changed from their positions as such in the Union, to mere territorial appendages.

FREE SCHOOLS IN WEST VIRGINIA. It may not be generally known to the pcople of this county, which is claimed as a part of the rich heritage of the Wheeling usurpers, that a system of Free Schools has been devised by the Legislature of the bastard State. Such is the fact, however, and although no benefit is derived, the tax-paver has to "toe the mark." for the support of this system. Jefferson county pays a school tax to West Virginia, is erroneous. I am satisfied of nearly nine thousand dollars. Of this amount we are warranted in stating that Charlestown Township pays at least one fifth, township there has never been a free school put in operation under the West Virginia system ; and this fleecing of the tax-payer is

In the first place then, there has been thieving in Wheeling, by which the county last year was robbed of nearly six thousand dullars of its school fund. The whole amount collected from our people-about $5,000was paid into the general school fund at the State capital, and when the apportionment was made, we had returned to us twenty-three hundred dollars, whilst the remainder was to pay any more taxes to West Virginia; and expended to pay "Yankee School Marnes," for spanking the a. b. c's into the unruly brats the Sheriff, we would suggest that as many of the coon-hunters and oil-borers beyond the Alleghanies. This is one of the blessed privileges of belonging to West Virginia, and for which Gov. Boreman, by official proclamation, in true puritanical style, calls upon us to return thanks on the 29th of this month .---This stolen fund, if we had it, would furnish an abundant supply of turkey and pumpkinpie for thanksgiving day, and then, in the language of Mr. Wendell Phillips, 'we should be moulded in the likeness of New England." But nearer home, there is somebody at fault, and our object in writing this article is to let the people know who have been false to their trusts. [Correspondence of the Spirit of Jefferson.] Berkeley County.

MR. EDITOR :- In some recent perigrinations through Berkeley County, the writer has enjoyed the opportunity of seeing and conversing with many of its good citizens upon political and social matters. The inference, udging from the tone of both the county papers, that the people of Berkeley have been and now are in favor of remaining attached from the general expression of the sentiments of the more prominent and influential of its citizens, that a large majority are anxious to return to the fold of the "Old Dominion."-Indeed, if ever any people had cause to regret their present status, it is the people of that county. Governed and controlled by an unscrupulous minority, their legislative, judicial and municipal offices mostly in the hands of "squatters," during and since the war, whose only claim to any fitness for the respon-ridiculous cant of "loyalty to the Union" and love for the old flag," although their acts never demonstrated a willingness to face danger in its defense. Now, however, that danget is passed and the "gray jackets" have turned their sabers into pruning hooks, these pseudo loyalists have become excessively courageous and blatant, and seek constantly to stir up strife and ill feeling, I am happy tostate however, that the good citizens, embracing all parties in Berkeley, are seeking by every honorable means to free themselves from the rule of these radical intruders .-The narrow and proscriptive policy of West Virginia has proved ruinous to all the material interst of the county. Capital is driven away and population is turned aside. It is not an inviting condition of affairs, even to Northern emigrants, to settle in a community whose oldest and best citizens are denied the muniments of law, and the common rights of citizenship. Nor are strangers likeley to purchase property or embark cap tal in any department of industry, when the political government of the people is usurped by strangers having nothing at stake either in labor or capital, and who do not bear any of the burdens of an excessive taxation, but on the contrary flourish most when others are most oppressed. But these drawbacks upon the material prosperity of the people must of necessity shortly terminate. The fungus growth of radicalism will lop off through its own corruption. The clap trap cries if loyalty and huzza's for the flag are played out. Something more tangible is desired, Declarations do not build cities nor barns, and radicalism howsoever adapted to the development of moral and social progress (?) does not set machinery in motion, nor give food for muscle. On the contrary, like a night-mare, it palsies all the nerves of trade and enterprise. It hovers like a ghoul over every department of industry, and is in verity a Pandora's box of all evils, b th social and political. It seeks to prevent citizens of the same community from fraternizing, now that all occasion for ill feeling has passed .-seeks to widen and deepen en

Capture of the Railroad Bobbers.

Last Monday-morning we published an acount of the doings of a gang of desperadoes on the Nashville Railroad, who threw a train off the track and then robbed the passengers The Louisville Journal of the 15th prints an account of the capture of part of the gaugand their arrival at Louisville. One of the party, | wind, there is not, so far as we are advised, Stephen Conwell; a young man of about 20 made a full confession. He says that two men, residing near Franklin, named King and Finn, conceived the idea. These mensought allies, and got ten men beside a negro. who proved a leading spirit in the whole affair. The party met at a mill about four miles from Franklin, where they matured their plans. They then rode down towards the railroad, when one of them proposed to stop, at Conwell's house until he could borrow his. pistols. Conwell refused to loap his pistols, and was anxious to know what was going on. Finally they urged him to go along, telling him the whole plan. He accompanied them to the place on the road where it was agreed that the track should be torn up. Here the negro showed them how to pry up the track, and they forced the rail on one side out, but had not time to remove the other, when they heard the train approaching. So they piled some loose rails on the track, and moved back about three hundred yards to await the train.

Conwell says that the train thundered along in the darkness at full speed, and when it | Church, of this town, noticed in the last numstruck the rails on the track it seemed to hinr as though it jumped fifty feet. Then he wished that he was safe home. As soon as the locomotive rolled down the bank, the gang rushed up beside the cars and fired. each man a shot up in the air. They had agreed to do this to frighten the passengers, and if any one returned the fire they were to shoot into the train. No one fired, and the men entered the cars, leaving two men and the negro outside as a guard while they robbed the passengers. As soon as they had finished this they started for the express car, but found that the car had tallen on its side. and that the only open door was on the under side. Before they could force the other door open the whole car was on fire. LOCAL MISCELLANY.

A NECESSITY .- We think our corporation authorities should at once devise some means looking to the protection of the town from the risks of fire. Should a fire break out in the town, during the prevalence of a high fire bucket or a foot of hose, to be used in staying its progress. Is it not important that this matter should be immediately looked into? There are many old dilapidated buildings, now occupied as habitations of freedmen and their families, where are grouped together those who are noted for their carelossness and disregard for the security of property. A fire originating in one of these hovels might terminate in a conflagration which would wrap the best portions of the town in flames. Property holders and business men especially, should give their influence to the organization of an efficient fire c mpany, and provide it with suitable apparatus for combating the destroyer should an emergency arise. We appeal to our authorities and our citizens to consider this matter.

On Thursday afternoon last, when "dark clouds seemed to be lowering o'er our house," as we reflected upon heard sounded several days previous, our spirits were greatly revived by the entrance of our friend, J. ED. DUKE, whose beaming countenance is cheering at any time, but which on this occasion was inexpressibly spiling. His manner and his appearance indicated the intensest benevolence-didn't cost him anything-as he presented us a sack of twenty-five pounds of flour from the mill of Mr. ISAAC S. RENNER. The next morning we ate wheat bread for breakfast, and such wheat bread too, as any head of a family might take pride in. We immediately received orders from "our second in command," to go and buy a barrel of that flour, and she alleged that it was the very best she had worked since the war. She knows, We havn't bought yet, for there are a number of millers in the county who may afford us an opportunity of testing their brands before we invest our surplus funds in a barrel. As a manufacturer of flour, Mr. Renner has had much experience, having learned under the celebrated Welsh, with whom he was employed for seven or eight years. This flour is for sale at the store of Ranson & Duke, opposite our office. Sympathizing wi h our poverty, and auxious for our comfort, our young country friend, CHAS. J. The heavy decline in the price of beef, mutton, and pork, which has taken place during the past four weeks, has had no parallel since the year 1837. We have had sudden ecarcity and high prices, when, if you want fluctuations of the market here, when for a week, owing to a limited supply and a pressing demand for immediate consumption, the price of live stock has advanced one or two cents per pound for a single week, has fallen back to the old figures. But the decline was our flour barrel, the bottom of which we had not general, and did not reach a point so low as to involve heavy losses upon original purchasers. Now Western men are losing in the neighborhood of $300 on each car-load of cattle, and as much as $800 per car load was lost on hogs sold ou Monday and Tuesday last. Beeves that one month ago sold readily at $130 per head, could not be sold to-day for more than $100; and hogs that cost 90 per pound in Chicago, were sold at 74c per pound here. And lots of sheep that sold to average $6 per head thirty days ago are thought to be well sold now if they average $5. The following comparison of prices on the 15th of October, and on the 15th of the present month, will show more clearly the heavy decline in cattle, sheep, and hogs :

> Oet. 15. Nev. 15. Prime beeves. 17(a)171c. 14@141. l'rime hogs, 11(a)11#c. 8@8‡c. 51@6c. Prime sheep, 51 (a)6c. This falling off is attributed solely to the arge supply of stock in the country and while there may be a slight reaction in the latter part of December, the g neral opinion is that for the next six months the average of prices cannot be higher than we quote to-day. arge operators with plenty of means to hold cattle, have no faith in prophecies of better prices; and one firm, at a loss of near $20,-000 per week, continue to send cattle forward in even larger numbers than when prices were better.-N. Now, it so happens, that n Charlestown Township there has never been a census taken, the township board failing to discharge its duties in the appointment of a census-taker, thereby depriving the township of its moiety of the fund returned from Wheeling.

The question then comes home, who constitute the board of education in Charlestown Township? The answer is, Sam'l Ridenour, Wm. Simpson and Sam'l K. But whilst unhappily this sad condition of political affairs exists, and frail humanity seems bent on bringing down misery on itself, the great Benefactor of all-to the just as well as the unjust, seems in a remarkable and especial manner to be favouring his creatures with an abundance of the fruits of the earth. The past year has been a bountiful one to the farmers of Berkeley, and the cereals now sown never in the memory of man presented so promising an appearance. "All we want" said in old farmer "to complete our happiness is the bringing back of the good old days of triendship, and the equality of white mens rights.'

Passing through Bunker Hill, Gerardstown and Darksville, I noticed but few improvements. Here and there a dilapidated dwelling presented the appearance of renovation, following chapter of accidents : of "Twenty years ago.

There too, sat friend P., the coffinmaker-a liftle bald now at the busin-ss. and just to the right sat the village merchant who for forty years has supplied the neighborhood with its wants, and who gives fair promises from his looks to do the same for as many years to come. There too, was the village blacksmith, fat and brawney, as ever, and last though not least, there too, as in years agone, peering out from beneath a pair of long silken lashes, was a pair of witchings eyes, that once played sad havoe with our youthful affections. But with these exceptions all else in that village assembly was strange ! Verily, COUNTY ITEMS .- From the Register of Saturday last we copy the following items relating to affairs in that end of the county :--Geo. Licklider, Sr., of this-county, killed a white swann, last Wednesday, on the Potomae four miles below this place, which measured from the tip of one wing to the other, six feet, nine and a halt inches, and weighed fourteen pour ds.

-Mr. John Cook, of this county, left at our office a few days ago, four ears of corn, taken promiscuously from his crop, each measuring fourteen inches in length, and containing in the aggregate 4,178 grains. Who can beat them ?

-The appearances of the wheat through out the country is fine-never looked better. Everywhere the fields present a beautiful nving green, and the prospect is now flattering for good crops in the coming year. -Very little pork has been sold as yet in his vicinity. A small lot was sold in town the past week at $10, and some as low as $8 ner hundred.

-The hog cholera, we understand, still rages in different parts of the county, many of our farmers are suffering severely on its account.

TIMBER LAND .- Our farmers who were despoiled of their timber during the war, should give attention to the advertisement of Mr. N. W. Manning which will be found under the "real estate" head. The fat sexton of the colored church in Bleecker street was subsequently notified to call every sen and daughter of Africa into the edifice; and in response he rushed up stairs and vigorously pulled the bell; and forthwith the whole neighborhood was filled with the sounds of an alarm sufficiently vigorous to denote a millennium. The peals cama. "Quick, thick, and heavy, like a thunder shower," and in less than an hour the temple was filled with old and young, single and married Leople-all of the Ethiopian race, or one of its unmistakable divisions. The pulpit was filled by the sable divines of every denomination, for the end of the world, which seemed at hand, cuabled them to forget all minor differences, such as immersion. church government, bishops, &c.

The presiding clergyman made a brief speech, which only served to create intense excitement and agitation among all present : My brethren fall on your knees. (Shouts of 'Giory," and "O save us.") The great red dragon with seventeen heads and twentyseven horns is to rush across the sky-(Cries of mercy)-and death on the pale horse is a ridin' like fury after the beast. Hercules and Mars and all the gods of the Heaven are gathered quite difficult to induce him to accelerate his and all the gods of the Heaven are gathered in the atmosphere to destroy us; but glory be to our great Maker. He can fight all of them. Mind the fiery serpents above your head. (Keep them things off; Amen.)-They're worse than the Copperheads, for the Copperheads can't kill the soul. (Glory.). When the clergyman sat down the effect of his remarks on the audience was of a marked character. They were in a state of offending Yankee. uproarious alarm; they shrieked, sung reli-gious ditties, prayed loudly, exhorted and ex-hausted all the boisterous usuages of colored Methodism in a few minutes. At length, when order was partially restor-cd, a black woman, who weighed about 350 pounds, exclaimed :

"I-don't care no how if de heavens fall on me, for I'm ready for glory. Let dem. stars and dem installations come down ; dey can't kill my soul."

The noble professor of faith created the wildest enthusiasm. Shouts of "Amen," "Hallelujah," &c., resounded through the temple, amid which the pious speaker sat down, thoroughly fatigued with the effort. The presiding clergyman then commenced the hymn : Sinner ! come right into de ark,

"The devil's groping for yon in de dark, And the dragon's cross ng de sky! Don't let him catch you if yon are wise, For de shooting stars will blud your eyes, That you can't climb up to de sby! The exercises were closed with a hymn :

We're all gwine home to glory, And we'll ride on fiery cars, And the horse that will carry us Will be the flying stars!

Josh Billings replies to some parents "I can't tell you the best way to bring up a boy; but if I had one that didn't lie well enough to suit me, I think I would set him tending a dry-goods store. I'robably the best way to bring up-a boy in the way he should to, is to travel that way ourselves, once in a while. Still, there is much uncertainty. 1 have seen them brought up as carefal as a lapdog, and then go to the devil as soon as they could strike the right track. And then
