Fact and Figures!

A Talk With Laboring Men on Taxation and Suffrage.

The people of the United States have paid into the Federal Treasury during the year 1866, five hundred and twenty-three millions nine hundred and seventy-seven thousand three hundred and eighty dollars! (Just read those figures over once more.) The expenses of the last year of President James Buchanan's administration (1856,) denounced for its extravagance, and corruption, amount-most ten times in excess of the latter! From whom were these five hundred and twenty millions derived? Every dollar from the toiling masses of the country-the productive industry of the republic-dug from the earth or manufactured by the hands of workingmen, and laid a sacrifice upon the altars of Radical greed, lust and bigotry.

And this is not all! To this enormous amount must be added the vast sums paid for State, municipal, school and road taxes! Ponder this fact, turn it over in your minds, workingmen, and you have the key to the solution of the problem why times are hard. Three hundred million dollars of these $521,000,000 were rised by international taxation; the Democratic city of New York, the object of the hatred and every platter-brained "loyalist," paying $35,000,000 in 1866, and nearly $100,000,000 for the past four years.

Workingmen are constantly organizing strikes for higher wages, demanding of Legislatures eight hour enactments, striving to the utmost of their ability to better their conditions-"beating about the bush" when they should strike straight to the mark. They are the dupes and slaves of a bond holding aristocracy and the victims of a New Eugland the victims of a New Eugland knowing by experience that the came would tariff policy which places taxes on sixteen thousand articles, a system of revenue devised for the benefit of a horde of tax gatherers and monopolists, and the impoverishment and annoyance of the people.

Again. The last Rump passed a law for the reconstruction of ten States of the Union -its objects, in plain English and few words, to disfranchise white men, enfranchising niggers, and place the people of that vast territory under military despotism. To put this law in working order cost $5,000,000, or about half as much as it cost to run the whole government in the year 1856!

A single military department created by the provisions of the reconstruction act, has 300 boards of registration. These have already held sessions for weeks and will do so for weeks to come. Each member is paid eight dollars per day. At a low estimate the daily cost of these boards in the five Rump kingdoms is $120,000 per day, or $840,000 per week! And the workingmen foot the bills! Remember that! The object of this registration is to place the rower of those conquered States, (four of which were of the old thirteen colonies which created the Union.) in the hands of the plantation chattels of a few years since, the "unlettered, ignorant African," as Train calls him, and bring the white descendants of the rebels of '76 under the voke of subjection to the semi-barbarians of the South-by Abolition enactments made your equals, white workingmen of the Republic!

"In violent times the most violent man carries everything before hin. It was so with Brownlow," So says the Richmond Whig of the 8th, in deducing a "lesson" from the Tennessee election. Yes, this was so in the French Revolution, when Robespierre erected the block from which rolled the head of Louis XIV.— Yet that same block drank the blood of Robespierre himself, after his fiendish career had drenched France with the crimson life blood of four hundred thousand victims. The sharp kuives of the guillotine, invented to satiate the fiendish thirst of the spirit of maddened fanaticism, cleaved the neck of Guillotine himself. And so in all history-moral, religious and political-persons departing from great principles of justice and right, and spreading terror and disaster in her track of unbridled passion, have been crushed by the rebound, and ground benca h the resistless tread of the unloosed Fur es. So it will be with the Radical party. Its devotees may fume and fret, and the inflamed passions and the tempestuous impulses of the hour flood over the great landmarks of the Constitution. wreck the imperial bulwarks of regulated Liberty, obscure in blood and crime the very sanctuary of Justice, and darkle and dim the shimmering rays of the star of America's destiny, yet the great reaction must come, else the teaching of history and the laws of God's moral and physical economy will prove a

It is this party that has chosen the beast Brownlow as its exemplar in Tennessee with which the Whig is desirous to "co operate." It is this party whose paramount aim is to enslave the intelligent, educated and honorable Caucasian and elevate the illiterate and sensual negro as his ruler and law-giver, that the people of Virginia are called upon to support, and by thus doing brand their own race with ineffable disgrace. The War on the Plains --- The Indian Side of the Question.

The National Intelligencer of a recent

The annexed interesting letter, received at the Indian Bureau, is from one of the most intelligent and reliable Indian agents in the service of the Government and contains the only reasonable and unprejudiced account of the origin of our frontier troubles we have seen. Doubtless "the poor Indian" is not exclusively to blame:

OFFICE OF SUP'T. OF INDIAN AFFAIRS,) GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, July 30, '67. Hon. N. G. Taylor, Commissioner Indian

Sir-I observed among the telegrams published in our papers here an exceeding meagre synopsis of your report, made during the recent session of Congress, relative to the causes of the present Indian war.

Washakee and 'the other principal chiefs of the Eastern Shoshones visited me a few days since, and I had a conversation with them relative to the same subject.

I write you regarding this, thinking the views of Washakee, who is undoubtedly the most sagacious, honorable and intelligent Indian among the uncivilized tribes, might be of interest to you, especially as they would seem to corroborate your own in every particular. Washakee said that the country east from the Wind River Mountains to the settled portion of the Eastern Nebraska and Kansas had always been claimed by our principal Indian tribes-the Sioux, Arrapahoes, Cheyennes and Crows. That it was a country abounding in game, thus furnishing to the Indians an abundance of food, as well as large quantities of surplus robes, skins and furs, by the sale of which they were made comparatively wealthy. That all the tribes inhabiting that region were contented, and entertained towards the whites the most friendly feelings, until the opening of what is known as the Powder River route to Montana, a road leaving the old express route, near Fort Laramie, and passing by a circuitous course to Virginia City. That all the Indians objectknowing, by experience, that the game would in consequence soon disappear, but did not commence hostilities at once, since they were informed by the whites that there was no other way for them to go to the gold mines of Montana. That they soon found that this was not true; that but few people passed over the road, but that forts were built, soldiers sent out to protect the road, and trains were often passing, but only to carry supplies to the troops. That the soldiers, too, gave the Indians whiskey, seduced from them numbers of their squaws, and otherwise maltreated them; and that after mature deliberation, the Indians were satisfied that the road was only made to afford employment to the soldiers, and to destroy their game; that they must starve after a few years with the disappearance of their game, and that it was as well to die by fighting as by starvation. They had accordingly all taken up arms, resolved to drive out the whites from the country, or perish in the endeavor. I asked Washakee if the white traders had, by their conduct, in any way aided in the present state of affairs. He replied that they had not; that the regular traders, licensed by the Government, were nearly always good men, since they were under the control of the great father, but that there were great numbers of white men, thieves and murderers, who were outlaws because of their crimes, taking up their residence among the Indians, and were always inciting them to outrages, often leading in their stealing raids.

The views of Washakee, although somewhat crude as to the reason for keeping open the road, are, in most respects, entirely correct, and are the views of all disinterested men familiar with the subject. What is known as the Powder River road is one of the most complete and expensive humbugs of the day. Many of the Indians within this superintendency, in their hunting expeditions, meet and converse with the hostile Indians. From | bite of the rat. - Wheeling Register. their statements I feel entirely certain that if the troops were now withdrawn from the Indian country, and a treaty made with the hostile Indians guaranteeing them the occupation of their territory, cut by the Powder River road, for a certain term of years, peace could be at once restored and kept.

It has been the correct theory of our Government, that since the Indians do not make the highest use of the soil, we may take it from them after reasonable compensation, as fast as the same is needed for settlement .by the Powder River road, and now occupied by troops, a single settler or white person other than the hangers on of the army. No person save the pure minded and patriotic army contractors would be injured by such abandonment. The army expenses for a single week would be sufficient to perpetually tranquilize the hostile tribes. At the expiration of ten or fifteen years, were it deemed "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal," a cun-ningly devised fable, glittering the deceptive arrangements could be made with the Indians accordingly, either by setting apart certain portions as reservations, or by removing them to some suitable portion of our territory, between Montana and Alaska. Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

The people are weighed down with a burden of debt and taxation that has no parallel in the history of the world. What measure of relief do the Radicals propose? What does their conventions declare for?— What does their press advocate? Nothing but "negro suffrage!" They seem to think that this will pay the poor man's taxes and remedy all pecuniary sufferings and afflictions.

When we ask the Radicals if they think the property of the rich boudholder should be exempt from taxation, while that of the soldier who shed his blood is taxed, they say 'negrosuffrage!" When we ask them if there ought to be two currencies, one for the people and one for the boldholder, they answer, "negro suffrage!" Their only panacea for the troubles of white men is the bringing of the negroes to the ballot-box and to the social circle. That is the cure-all with them of everything. What if the poor man is made a slave to debt and taxes, if Africa votes?-

Looking at it in this light, the Radical papers talk of nothing but his rights! The matured debt not presented for payment has increased $5,623,895,55. The debt bearing no interest has decreased

The amount in the Treasury in coin since June 1st has increased $4,146,746 39, and the amount in currency less than that exhibited in the last statement is $191,868 70. Amount of the public debt at present, less

It is not, I think, generally known that Mr. Dickens was referring to an actual case, which is tolerably notorious in America, and is told with great glee by the person most deeply interested. That person is no other than the notorious James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, and it is thus he tells his story to his friends. The Herald had for some time violently attacked a certain actress. One day the lady's husband, himself an actor, came to the Herald office, walked up into Mr. Bennett's room and said, "Are you Mr. Bennett?" "I am," was the reply; "take a seat." "No, sir, I will not take a seat; you have insulted my wife."-"Who is your wife?" Name mentioned. "Never heard of her." "But your dramatic critic has insulted her." "That is his affair." "But I hold you responsible;" and thereupon the angry husband took the proprietor of the Herald from his chair, flung him on the floor, kicked him in the rear, rolled him over, kicked him again, clutched hold of his throat, and left the office. What did the victim do? He called upon one of his employees, wrote out an account of the affair, caused sensation cards to be struck off-"Fourth Edition-Atrocious Assault upon the Editor." "Fifth Edition-Further Particulars of the Cowardly Assault upon the Editor;" and soon all New York was buying the Herald. "But," said Bennett, "I added a little garnish which was not strictly true." I said: "We would have pardoned this unmannerally, cowardly assault upon an unarmed man, but for one circumstance. This despicable wretch, not content with ferocious violence, had the unspeakable meanness to take up a quarter dollar piece which was lying upon the table, and to pocket it." The next day when the actor appeared upon the stage, he was greeted with cries of "Who stole Bennett's quarter?" and whenever he appeared the same cry greeted him, until he and his wife were driven off the stage and ruined. "That," adds Bennett, "was my re-

An old soldier, who had been a participator in one of the events described, accompanying some friends on an excursion down the Potomac, pointed out several places of historic interest on the river below Mount Vernon. The first is what is called the White House Bluff. Near this point, on the Virginia side, the channel of the river runs, and ships of war are compelled to move within easy rifle shot of the shore. On this bluff, Commodore Porter, on short notice, had planted three small cannon, for purpose of firing on the two vessels which had captured Alexandria. The reason is not difficult of discovery .-It exists in a law of nature, embracing animal as well as vegetable organisms. These all have execretory as well as secretory function. All throw off effece matter, and this effete is hateful to the secretory vessels on which vegetables depend for their development. If many crops in succession, of the same vegetable, are grown, the effete matter increases in proportion to the nutritive, and finally over-comes all efforts at successful cultivation.— The food decreases, with every crop. If manure, general or special, is added to the soil, it increases the food, but does not nehowever, no time to throw up breastworks, and a heavy gun was disabled on the way to One hundred years ago potatoes were but little cultivated, and most grounds were left fresh for their production. Then and long afterwards, 400 bushels was not an extraordinary yield. Now the increased taste for its use, and ability to purchase, have made it neces-sary that great breadths of land should be used for its growth. In consequence, not only has much of the land tired of growing it, but the plant itself has become weakened to a degree that invites destructive enemies to feed on its substance—to take advantage of its careened over so as to bring her guns to bear | weakened organization. New Uses for Vegetables.

In the Paris Exhibition, it is said, there will be shown for the first time various articles made of a sort of artificial meerschaum and imitation horn formed of various vegetables. To form the artificial meerschaum, sound potatoes are taken and peeled and then macerated in water aciduated with eight, per cent, of sulphuric acid. The maceration is continued for twenty-four or thirty-six hours. The acid is then washed out by soaking the potato repeatedly in fresh water. They should be left in fresh water for six hours, and this must be renewed until a potato cut asunder will not redden litimus paper in the centre. It will now be seen that a considerable disorganization has taken place; the potatoes are whiter and soft. They must now be wrapped in blotting paper and carefully dried under warm sand, or upon chalk or plaster of Paris plates.

from the Albany Express :-There are no persons, in all human probability, who are compelled to work as hard as printers do. It is a matter of very little consequence whether the thermometer is at zero, or a hundred above in the shade. A paper must be issued for the perusal of its patrons, who mayhap are leisurely reclining from the excessive heat, and whose natural debility is a very ample apology for such recreation. The compositor must toil and perspire at his daily avocation, and for every word he composes, a drop of steaming perspiration oozes from his body. In the morning he manages to keep cool, at noon he is wasting in the hot and blistering atmosphere, and at evening he is still at his case. This may seem all very easy for the reader, but the labor is of no ordinary nature. nor the fatigue by any means light. The day's work over, he retires, perhaps to sleep, but more likely to pass a restless night, and when the sun again peeps forth, he must up and away to his work. Day in and day out his is his usual routine. No change, no diversion from his established course. They who peruse their morning news over a cup of coffee, think but little of this. They ofter grumble if so be of news, but they forget that with the thermometer varying between 90 and 100, it is a matter of some labor to furnish a variety of news for the quiet and peaceful citizen who looks for so much from the printer. Think of this, kind patrons, and exhibit more forbearance.

SMITH AND BROWN.

At a place called Peterboro,' in the enlightened State of New York, which history tells us was settled by the Dutch, there lives a lunatic humanitarian and wool-worshipping philosopher, who indulges in the romantic name of Smith, but who is better known to the country as Gerrit Smith, the illustrious Tycoon of the original abolition party of North America. The world-since Noah and his sons occupied the ark, and associated with animals of every description-has not produced another such contradictory specimen of humanity, uniting in one person so much of the opposite elements of good and of evil, of virtue and of vice. Mrs. Smith, when Gerrit was born, seems to have been inspired with an effort to dispute theology and philosophy, and to contradict the Romish doctrine of immaculate conception by the pro duction of a combination of the pure and the impure-the honest and the dishonest. Her son has grown to be a man, whose reputation is co-extensive with the vast country in which he dwells, and whose evil deeds are often counterbalanced by acts of benevolence which commend him to the kindest consideration of the humane everywhere. Possessed of redeeming traits and damning qualties, he has exerted the former for the amelioration of his own and the negro race, and the latter for the everthrow of social order and domestic government, until his efforts and those of his aiders and abetters have brought destruction and ruin upon the country and the race whose condition he sought to improve. This combination of conglomerated contradictions has recently written a letter setting forth an array of facts with a view to exculpate himself from alleged participation in the invasion of John Brown, which led to the happy "taking off" of that old gallow's bird. We have not room for the entire letter, and therefore content ourselves with making the following ex-

It is quite probable that John Brown will be the most admired person in American history. Washington worked well-but it was for his own race-only for his equals. William Lloyd Garrison has lived for a despised and outraged race. John Brown both lived and died for it; and few names, even in the world's history, will stand as high as his. Men begin to ask why a monument to the memory of John Brown has not yet been built. The day for building John Brown's monument has not yet come. It will be built where stood his gallows; and it would not yet be welcome there. Its base will be broad, and its shaft will pierce the skies. But the appreciation of his sublime character is not yet sufficiently just and wide-spread to-call for the rearing of such a structure. In executing this work of love and admiration, Southern hands will join with Northern hands.

We have no doubt that John Brown will be extravagantly admired, but we have reason to hope that this admiration will not extend beyond that class of lunatics of which Smith is a faithful representative. The comparison of John Brown to George Washington, is about as appropriate as would be the comparison of Judas Iscariot to the Apostle Paul. Wm. Lloyd Garrison and John Brown may justly be connected in the same paragraph but it is sacrilegious to place Washington in the same connection.

We have not heard the inquiries why a monument to the memory of John Brown has not yet been built, which Mr. Smith says men begin to ask We rather think the question has not been propounded in this vicinity, and we doubt whether Mr. Smith's imagination has not been deceiving him upon this point; and yet such a tribute would be less inappropriate than the court that has been paid to other murderers and thieves who were too cowardly to support Brown when he inaugurated his plundering expedition against the peaceable inhabitants of this county. John Brown, the forerunner, was a better man than hundreds who followed a few years after, and who erected their own monuments in the devastated homes and lone chimneys which greet the eye from Harper's Ferry to Staunton. These house-burners, horse-thieves, and war-lieensed assassins have received the homage of the Northern people, and it is quite as appropriate that they should embalm the memory of John Brown, their first martyr. If the Kansas investigation proved Brown to be a brute, a fiend in human shape, who mocked at the calamity of his helpless victims, the war demonstrated his successors to be devils incarnate-emissaries of hell manifest in the flesh. A people who can deify a beast such as Butler - reward the cotton stealing of a thief such as Banks-and applaud the usurpations of a tyrant such as Sheridan ought not to scruple at the proposition to build a monument whose "base will be broad and its shaft will pierce the skies," to commemorate the self-sacrifice of the man who led the vanguard of the abolition crusade, and gave hell-born distinction to their present repositories of corruption and iniquity. As to the locality selected for the rearing of this monument. We agree with Mr. Smith that it would not yet be welcome on the spot where his gallows stood, nor are the Let them try it if they dare. Let them send people greatly inclined to prepare themselves for the erection in their midst of such a tribate to the old murderer who was here overtaken by justice after a long life of infamy and dishonor. We rather calculate that Mr. Smith had better fix upon some other locality to lay his base, upon which to erect his sky-aspiring shaft.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune states that it is now a settled fact that General Howard is to be relieved from his position as Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau. We are alse told that the work of changing the Southern Generals is to be continued. Sheridan and Terry are to be sent to fight the Indians on the Plains; Sickles will probably be sent to New tofore by the Orange company. Cavalry SHERIDAN, who snatched victory from defeat at Cedar Creek, and burned two thousand barns in the Shenandoah Valley and who has more recently played the tyrant over the States of Louisiana and Texas, has received marching orders, and will now have an opportunity of diversifying his amusements by destroying Indian wigwams and torturing helpless squaws and innocent papooses, on the vast plains of uncle Sam's possessions. Fo this sort of work he is much better suited by education and instinct, than he is for governing a civilized community and the administration of justice. Whilst we congratulate the people of District No. 5, we can but pity the poor Indian. Bon voyage, cavalry Sheri-

"THE WICKED FLEETH."

We have recently heard from Sam Lindey, one of our old negro-worshipping friends who for the past few months had passed from view. We had begun to conclude that the devil had come for his own, and taken Samuel home, but we are glad to know that he still has an existence on terra firma, and that he still retains his horror for rebels. But for this weakness we should have been unable to apprise our readers of his whereabouts in this week's issue, but Sam is one of those characters who will turn up to adorn radicalism, even if he does it in a style that is by no means creditable. He now lives in the neighborhood of Walper's Cross Roads, and is farming some land lying along the turnpike running from Middleway to Shepherdstown. One day last week a negro boy from about Kearneysville visited the county-seat, and indulging the negro's perverted fancy for fire-arms, bought himself a pistol. On his road home he became possessed of a desire to hear it crack, and having supplied himself with powder, he loaded his fusee for general salute. Sam happened to be ploughing in a field near by when the negro commenced firing, and as chamber after chamber of the revolver was discharged in rapid succession, sounds of the past flitted before his vision, and his legs became unmanageble and carried his body home at a rate of speed which is said to have excelled Dexter's fast time of 2.17-and that over the roughest kind of a track. On his arrival, after being well rubbed down, and his breath recovered by the application of camphor and other restoratives, he informed a neighbor who was present, that he had been attacked by about twenty rebels, each of whom had fired at him half dozen times. The neighbor, astonished at this outbreak of a second rebellion, at once hastened to the scene of action, where he found the negro lazily sauntering along the pike firing at woodpeckers and groundsquirrels, with no other charge in his piece than a little powder, whilst Sam's horses better able to stand fire than their owner, were quietly grazing in the adjacent fence-corners. Sam's guilty conscience is trying to make him believe that he ought to be shot, but for his consolation we would suggest that a bullet will never take effect on him until there is a total failure of the hemp crop.

WHY NEGRO SUFFRAGE IS TO BE PASS-ED .- Mack, the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writes:

"Sumner says he has positive assurance of voters enough to pass his universal suffrage bill next winter. He says it must be passed before the Presidential election, to secure the negro vote of Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut, otherwise these States will go Democratic."

So the reason why negro suffrage is to be forced upon the country, is to prevent these States from going Democratic and to retain the radical party in power. This is a frank fession, and shows the motive of the radical leaders. It is not the negro, but themselves, they are trying to take care of. Well that is just what we have been thinking of for some time. It is to keep power that they may rob and tax the labor of the country.

PLAIN TALK .- During the discussion of the suffrage question in the Connecticut Legislature, Mr Hamersly, of Hartford, said:

"Sir, the gentleman from New London has suggested that Congress may force negro suffrage upon us! and he seems to think we may as well have it now as to wait for Congress to force it on us. I would not go for the change on their armed cohorts and their generals to say to Connecticut, 'You shall have negro suffrage.' If we don't resist to the death, then, sir, our free institutions will be lost forever.' [Great applause, which drowned the Speaker's

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

OUR STREETS .- Within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, our streets have not been in as deplorable a condition as they present at this time, and it is somewhat surprising that our citizens so quietly submit to matter which might be so easily remedied .-With the heavy rains of the past few weeks, the main street of this town has, at times, been almost impassable-in a worse condition than some of our country roads. This street constitutes a portion of the Harper's Ferry, Charlestown and Middleway Turnpike, and upon that company devolves the duty of keeptending its already large circulation. The ing it in a good condition—a duty which has been sadly neglected. Why this is so, it is not for us to conjecture, unless the company wishes to transfer a portion of its own responsibility to the shoulders of others. Who is the Superintendent of this road? We should like for him to take a horse-back ride from the cemetery to the top of Potato Hill, while the water in Main street is at high tide, and if he is not drowned in the attempt, then see whether he would have the conscience to exact toll from parties travelling over this road. This thing must be attended to before the rough wintry weather sets in, or some other mode of navigation along Main street will have to be devised. We understand our town council is powerless to accomplish anything, being a body without corporate authority, but the turnpike company can act, and if it fails to do so, let it be reported for neglect of duty, and perhaps a grand jury report will open its eyes to a sense of justice. IMPROVEMENTS .- There is a steady im> rovement in our midst and with patience and perseverance, our good town may soon rival its most favored sisters, in all material progress. The contemplated residence of Dr. L. C. Cordell, on Main and Church Sts. has been commenced, and will be pushed rapidly to completion. The building is to be of brick, and will be erected by Mr. J. R. Higgs, of Shenandoah county, who has not only the reputation of a most competent workman but a most energetic and efficient contractor. The carpenter work will be executed by Mr. J. C. Holmes. Mr. H. has also just completed a building on the market house ot, for Mr. H. D. Middlekauff, to be used as a saddler shop, which improves greatly the unsightly appearance of that locality. Until some more substantial improvement is made, we should be glad to see a dozen simi lar structures on this vacant space, and as business places the advantages to the community would be immeasurable, and the investment in a high degree profitable. The mprovement to the front of Mr. Shugart's shop, is too apparent to go unnoticed, and the good taste of Mr. Tomlinson has made attractive what was heretofore a most unsightly appearance. Our neighbor opposite Mr. Behrend, in no way behind his neigh bors, has through the aid of Lt. Cockrill rnamented his front with handsome bowwindows, in which to exhibit his attractive articles of merchandize to the best advantage and ready access. In the west end of the town, quite a comfortable structure is in pro gress of erection by Mr. Henry Rust, for the occupancy of Mrs. Gorney and family, in lieu of the large log building that so long occupied its site, but which the fate of war and the ravages of time finally demolished. So as to many other improvements now under way in the community, and which even at the hazard of being regarded as prolix, we shall from time to time set forth, for these are the days of "small things," and in the way of any material improvement, we are thankful for even a little. Perhaps a better day is

THE MASONIC CEREMONIES On Saturday next, preparatory to laying the corner-stone of the African Church in this town, promis to be of a highly interesting character and largely participated in by members of the order. The inimitable Blondell, with his Band from Martinsburg, will be present, and we learn that the colored folks of the county generally, are preparing for a gala day.-The Rev. A. C. Hopkins will deliver the address on the occasion, and we venture the remark it will be eminently worthy of his subject. We have been requested to state that the Band, under the direction of Professor Blondell, will give a concert at the Masonic Hall on Saturday evening.

AN ELEGANT IMPLEMENT.-We saw at the hardware store of Messrs. D. Humphreys & Co., on Saturday last, an elegant circular saw from the celebrated manufactory of DIS-TON, which has been furnished for the steam saw mill of Mr. Lewis Castle, now in operation on the farm of Thos. H. Willis. This saw is 54 inches in diameter, and is complete in its finish. Upon inquiry we ascertained that this saw is furnished to Mr. Castle here at a lower price than the same quality of saw could be furnished in Baltimore, to say nothing of the freight. This ought to satisfy our people of the propriety of dealing at ROBBERY .- The gun-smith establishment of N. B Medler at Culpeper Court House, was entered on Saturday night last, and the iron safe robbed of $1,173 in greenbacks, and $105 in gold. The thief was arrested soon after the robbery, and the money recovered.

[The numerous friends of "Bony" in this Sulphur Springs, in Greenbier, West Virginia, "an Arab," one of the acrobuts connected town will be glad to hear that he had so large an amount to be robbed of, and still more will they be delighted to learn of the arrest of the thief, and the recovery of the money. With this amount of surplus funds we have no doubt he will feel inclined to subscribe to the Spirit as soon as he reads this notice.]

Ranson & Duke in our paper to-day, is the most economical and best improvement of the kind ever heretofore of paigns of the Revolution. fered the fruit grower. The conversion of our apples into cider and vinegar, has become as essential to wise husbandry, as the making of our wheat into flour, and surely there are few who will disregard so profitable an investment of labor.

As to the reports of the removals of others of the military satraps, telegraphed from this city, we have no definite information. With the consent of Europe—we might say of the civilized world—the Monroe loctrine has become settled policy of this country in respect to domains on this conti-nent outside of the jurisdiction of the United States; and it could hardly be supposed that in this Republic men "dressed in a little brief authority" will long be allowed to exercise a lespotism for which they can find no warrant even in the unconstitutional acts of Congress, and which far exceeds in atrocity any tyranny furnishes the following piece of news:-General Grant has had a private consulta tion with the President in which he urged the dismissal of every member of the Cabinet, in order to create harmony between Mr. Johnson and his advisers. The General is known to be praticularly hostile to Mr. Seward, whom he regards as too adroit and dangerous to be trusted. He also fears that if the Secretary of State is retained he will form political combinations in Congress, through the agency of Wade, to defeat any programme which may be adopted to restore fraternal relations between the North and South. It is deemed probable that, should the General hold office, he will endeavor to have Sherman appointed to a place death, and before doing so, caught the snake glory of mankind.

I appeal to you I appeal to you then, to rally to the rescue before it is too late. Let not the fairest inheritance of liberty and prosperity that man ever enjoyed be wrested from you. Let not — Mr. James Farmer, residing near Yellow Branch, in Campbell county, died on Saturday despair enter your souls, and make you believe that because much has been lost, nothing can Essex county, in this State, in the mouth of be saved. All is not lost. There is yet hope for the future, if the people will shake off their lethargy, and rising in their might, re-March: 1760, and served in the two last cam--The N. plied with a good quality of apples for culinary use. Among those now sold in that city the best is the Virginia apple. Vessels arrive almost every day with about fifteen hundred barrels each, on freight. The price from four to five dollars a barrel. The Warrenton Index says: "We learn that those perions who have already regis-tered without challenge and are now disfran-chised under the last orders, will be permit-ted to withdraw their registration caths."

More Changes in Prospect.

That we are on the eve of important events politically, is daily becoming apparent. The suspension of Stanton and the transfer of Sheridan to another field of operations, is to be followed by other changes not less important. What is to be the end of these things. and the final issue, must be left for the future to disclose: We may hope, however, that a worse condition of things than at present exists, will not be precipitated, and that the present clouds which lower over us, instead of thickening, will be dispersed. The National Intelligencer, reputed to be an organ of the administration; has the following with reference to another change in the cabinet :-

There is one gentleman of distinguished

bility and eminent public services whose name has been unfortunately more or less identified

with the obnoxious Secretary of War. To his influence with Mr. Lincoln, whether unjustly or not, the public largely attributed Mr. Stanton's retention in office. In most of the struggles which took place in that Cabinet they heartily co-operated. Public rumor has attributed to them a greater closeness of relationship in the present Administrationwhether justly or unjustly does not affect the real merits of the question. Unfortunately, too, several circumstances have strongly corroborated that suspicion, for several of the strongest friends of the distinguished Secretary of State have been the sturdy champio of the Secretary of War. The fidus Achates of the former, who controlled the political fortunes of the Empire State for years, and has displayed a political sagacity, a varied ability, and a consummate tact that has not, perhaps, been surpassed in the history of that State, has on all occasions defended the defunct Cabinet minister. His echo-who follows afar off his great exemplar the trim-ming editor of the Times, has also energetically come to his rescue. To the exertions of the three gentlemen, more than to any and all other causes, is the fact due that Mr. Johnson so long delayed meting out justice to his refractory subordinate. The association has damaged Mr. Seward's usefulness. We are certainly not among those who deny his exalted ability, his unflinching patriotism, or his great services to his country. We think that he will live in the future pages of its history long after the petty crowds of his detractors shall have sunk out of sight and be utterly forgotten. But there are times when the only question a patriotic man should ask is, how can I best advance the interests of my country by harmonizing all the friends of constitutional government. The associations of which we have spoken will prevent that unity of supporting among the friends of the Administration, which, in our judgement, are The campaign in Ohio was formally open- indispensable to its success. Under such cired on the 5th inst., on which the Hon. Allen | cumstances it is believed that no true friend of the Secretary could object to his retirement from the office he has filled with so much ability and with such honor to himself and the country.

The following pen-photograph of election day in Tennessee, under the beneficent Brownow reign, is copied from the Nashville Banner. This too in a State beneath whose sod rest the remains of Jackson and Polk. Shades of the departed, rebuke the sacrilege? Says

"It seemed as if each of our colored follow citizens had made up his mind for a great, though silent display, and that all considered themselves bound for a grand politico, religico, moralo camp-meeting, with Brownlow in the rear and the 'Happy Land of Canaan' before them, 'forty acres of confiscated land' and a free ticket at the close over the 'waters

"Cuffey seemed to have risen from the bowels of the earth. He not only came in from all parts of the county, but from the neighboring counties and adjacent States .-He was here from the 'old Kentucky home, with a ballot in one hand a hoe handle in the other. He was here from Alabama, not per-

'With a banjo on his knee ' but assuredly with a 'duster,' a pack and a certificate of registration. He came in all sorts of costumes and in every way of conveyance. Here was the respectable body servant of the steady citizen with the old, black, switch tail coat of his master 'borrowed' for the occasion; here the jolly-go-devil 'shirt tail Bill,' without a coat, wearing a red vest and a checkered pair of breeches, a la sport. The style of hat worn for the most part, was unique-a cross between a dress silk and a havstack. We saw one young man 'from the low country,' he said he was, who had on a bandana handkerchief, a black velvet jucket, and white domestic under-breeches trimmed with blue. He flourished a Brownlow ticket and an empty bottle of whiskey. 'Now. Squire,' says he, 'jist fill it, will you? de shops is shot up, an' I'm's dry as a biskit. If you'll fill it I'll vote jist as you say.' Auother old countryman had his wife with him. 'She can't vote,' said he, 'but, bress God, I fotch her along to see dat I kin, aye golly. We met three coming in abreast on the Murfreesboro' pike, about two o'clock. They were sweating profusely, and had evidently walked far and fast. 'Where are you boys bound for ?' we asked. One of them, a halfgrown lad, stopped a moment, and replied.-To Nashville to vote. We's done voted at Lavergne, and wants to get to de city so dat we kin gib'm another pop for Brownlow. Is't four o'clock vet sir?"

- Our readers will remember a recent notice of a little girl, Mary Mayo, who was lost in the Blue Ridge Mountains, in Nelson County. She was found on Friday last, the ninth day from the day she was lost. She was found about three miles from her father's house near a locality called the "Big Level." She was perfectly well, when found, and stated that she had lived on berries.

Rye $1.40 to $1.75.

We notice from to day's market a further decline in Wheat of from 10 to 15 cents per bushel. White Corn sold at 106a $108, yellow do. 112a $113.—Oats very dull, selling from 45 to 59. Most of the receipts for the past week, both in Oats and Wheat, have been out of order. Rye was in large receipts to-day, and with less demand, declined about 5cts.

Barnum & Van Amburgh's Museum and Menagerie Collection, and Dan Castello's Great Show.

This rare combination of instruction and amuse meet, which is making a tour through the Valley of Virginia, and which has visited nearly every town of importance in the South, winning golden pinions everywhere, will visit Charlestown on Puesday, September 36. This fact is already generally known from the gorgeous display of multicolored posters, paragraph bills and pictorial sheets which cover every dead wall in town, and its excellent reputation having preceded it, every one is on the tip-toe of expectation and waiting to see the great "Southern Show," as it is carled, having been organized and fitted out in the South last spring.— The horses are all of Kentucky stock; the wagons and harness were all made in the South, the rations are by Southern artists, and so it is really a over the country speak in terms of the lighest praise, and to which they have extended the most beral patronage ever given to any similar exhibi-on. It is very large and complete, numbering hree hundred men and horses, and among the company are many of the best performers in the counry including Dan Castello himself, whose name is a tower of strength, and whose popularity in the South—as well from his merits as a clown and per-former, as from his liberality to the widows and orhans of the gallant dead-is second to no man .-Dan has given over twenty full benefits to the widows and orphans of the South, and it is only lately that he gave the entire receipts of three exhibitions to the "Southern Relief Fund." Such generosity will not be lost upon our people, who are not slow n manifestations of rec the performances, we are assured, is unexceptional. the programme novel and varied, and the audie their refinement and respectability as for their im-

The menagerie department is very full, compris-ing rare and beautiful beasts and reptiles, together with a cage of Van Amburgh's lions, with which Prof. Hall performs some highly sensational and exciting feats, including the thrilling one of feedng the brutes with raw meat from his naked hands. A notable feature of this establishment is its grand street pageant, which is said to be the most dazzline ad brilliant exhibition of the kind ever seen here. It includes a cortege of knights, in burnished steeB armor, accompanied by their "ladyes faire;" a troop of dashing hussars; all the ladies and gentlemen of the company mounted; the baby ele-phant, "Jenny Lind," the two humped Bactrian camel; a long line of animal cages, dens, &c.; a gorgeous band chariot, and a number of elegant platform and tableau carriages, upon one of which a large living lion will be carried uncaged, unchained and icose in the public streets, forming a very novel and thrilling sight which none should fail to see. The procession will take place through the principal streets at 10 A. M. on Tuesday.

GUM-SPRING DRILL, Willoughby's Patent, with and without GUANO ATTACHMENT. All persons who wish to be supplied with this unequalled Drill, should leave their orders with us early, as numbers were left out last year on account of being too late. Persons need not be afraid to risk these Drills because of the false statements which have been made of the Gums swelling, and other statements by the friends of other Drills. Those who have tried this Drill, are ready to testify to its superiority; and we ourseives have used the Drill for years to our entire satisfaction, and will warrant them to do perfect work in the roughest and most uneven land.

GRASS SEED SOWER. THIS celebrated Drill and Seed Sower has become so well established and is so favorably known throughout the States of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kansas, that it is universally conceded to be the leading Drillin the country; and the fact that the demand for the "Buckeye" is greater than for all the other Drills put together in the West, is conclusive evidence of its superiority.

IT HAS A ROTARY FEEDER, which carries the grain IT HAS A ROTARY FEEDER, which carries the grain down and forces it through the apertures in the bottom of the hopper. Will sow all kinds of grain and grass seeds in any desired quantity without any change of bottom or gearings. It Never Bunches the Grain, but distributes it in a constant stream, which is not done by most of the other Drills. Never Breaks the Grain, which is important, for if broken it will not grow and is certainly lost. Plaster and Guano Sowers are attached when desired, and are second to none in the world. The Buckeye is prosecond to none in the world. The Buckeye is pro-vided with a Land Measure or Surveyor which measures and registers the number of acres as the seeding progresses.

A Rich Scene --- A Circus in a Tempest.

Margaret, Margaret.

A circus exhibited at Bubuque, Iowa, one evening last week, to about seven hundred people. All went well till eight o'clock, when one of the richest performances ever witnessed commenced. The local paper describes it as follows :-"At this hour one of the fiercest rain storms that ever wet the earth since the deluge began. In two minutes the canvass was saturated, and the rain poured as freely upon those inside the tent, as it did upon the stones in the street. The water rushed down the Third street gutters in torrents and poured upon the low ground occupied by the circus like a flood. In five minutes there were six inches of water covering the earth there .-People thought such a shower would spend itself, and waited for it to stop.

"In fifteen minutes there was at least two feet of water on the premises. Then the ladies present thought it best to start for home. And such a start! Talk about the Black Crook! And tumbling! This is the way they did it. A gentleman would take a lady in his arms, and start for the door. This couple would collide with other couples; down would a fair one and a stern one go in the water, amidst screams of the drowning ones, and yells of laughter from spectators. The luckless fallen ones would arise, as black as mud and water stirred in black muck could make them. And as to skirts, nobody seemed to care whether skirts were gathered as high as their waists, or thrown over their heads. and stocking, 'gathering their garments high,' started for land. They waded and stumbled towards the door, and the way the cheers went up from the crowd was stunning; they drowned the loud thunder. At one time there was such a mixture of tumble-downs in the water that it was hard to tell who were women and who were men, save by an occasional bearded face that appeared above the floating calico. Nobody seemed mad-everybody laughed until his or her sides ached.

The circus performers added interest to the scene. Just after the rain commenced they appeared and began ground and lofty tumbling. The first one landed in a mud puddle and fell. With loud cheers the others followed suit. In less time than we are talking to tell this, the water filled the ring. But the actors heeded it not. They turned handsprings, somersaults, made cart-wheels, and walked on their hands, or attempted to, in were all of one color-a dirty black. At each exercise the crowd cheered and the per-

Amid such sights as these the crowd made their way through mud and water to the sidewalks west of Iowa street, better satisfied with their money's worth than any circus crowd ever was before."

Where Did the Boots Come From?

A young man of Detroit who did not, up to a day or two since, have much faith in the supernatural, has become fully satisfied that there are ghosts in existence. He is married, and himself and wife occupy rooms in the second story of a boarding house. The young occasionally, and amusing himself about town, leaving Mrs .- to her own company. He came the other night quite late, and entering his bed room, said nothing; paid no attention to the bed, and after raising the window fronting down in the dark room placidly smoking, suppose, on his happiness as a married man, well to do, and located on a pleasant street. about going to bed, when a white object, beand lit on the side walk with an audible thud. in the dim light, and the wife was awakened explain, of course, but the inquisitive young man struck a light and hunted his room over and over withoul finding anything to lead to the discovery of his unceremonious visitor .that he lived in a haunted house. Suddenly he espied on a chair, in a dark corner, a suit of men's clothes that he knew never belonged him a present, and don't think burglars are inclined to have valuable dry goods, and sail him what it was?

occurred in the surveys of the Iron Mountain road in the cypress swamps of Southeast Missouri. The engineers, having orders to locate their surveys in connection with the United States land surveys, had occasion to search for the marks or records made years ago in the swamps. The land surveyors had marked the results of their work by cutting into "We, de undersigned, being a korono" the body of a tree, levelling off a smooth surface of the trunk, and engrossing their records on the tablets thus prepared. The engineers found the trees of the old survey, and recognized the scars of former cuttings, but to reach the records were compelled to cut into the trees again. New wood had grown up over the old record, completely hiding and protecting it. But after cutting into the body of de niggar Sambo, now ded an' gone afore us, hab been settin' on de said niggur aforesaid, and he did on de night of de fusteenth of July come to def by fallin' off a boat, what was lyin' in de inlet, into de said inlet whar we find he was subsequently drowned, and afterwards washed on de rocks whar we 'spose he was froze to def."

Fattening Cattle on Grass ..

Too many of our farmers seem to be of the opinion that if they buy their cattle and turn them out to grass, nothing need be done until they are fat; and that the great point is to have as many as they can possibly keep.

This branch of farming like all others, needs experience, and will pay for more attention than it generally receives. In most cases as soon as the cattle are turned out in the spring they are allowed to have the whole range of all the pasture fields at their will .-This is a mistake; they should not be allowed to roam about in this manner, but should be controlled. They should be changed from field to field every two or three days. Cattle, like all other animals, like a change of food; nor is this the only advantage; by confining them to one field or portion of ground, they will cut down the grass before it comes too rank, and that in the other fields may be growing, and when they are ready to go into another field the grass of the one they leave may go on growing, and thus the grass will always be young and tender.

They should have a change of pasture every three or four days, and be changed not only from field to field, but from upland to meadow and from meadow to upland. It is a great mistake to have too many cattle. Remember that ten well fattened cattle are as good and will bring as much as fifteen or twenty only half fat.

Shade and fine salt are of great importance; the latter should be supplied at least once a week. The best way which I can find is to mix it with brand, say one quart of salt to a half peck of bran and place it on the ground in small piles.

If the cattle are not fat when the first heavy frost comes, they should have something more than grass, for that as soon as frosted loses a great portion of its powers of fattening; pumpkins raised among the corn, nubbins of small potatoes, (in small quantities,) will answer the purpose.

every summer, and always make it a rule to keep ten bushels of corn and five of oats. to feed (ground and placed on the ground in the fall) after the first heavy frost. In conclusion, there is more depends upon the care taken of fattening steer than many suppose. They should be kept quiet and free from excitement of all kinds .- A Grazier, in Drying Fruit.

Germantown Telegraph.

Drying fruits has several advantages overcanning or bottling. It is cheaper; it may be adopted on an extensive scale; the fruit may be kept with less care and being several times lighter than when fresh, may be sent long distances, or to foreign countries, at a moderate cost. When fruit growers shall learn that dried fruit from the highest flavored sorts, is as much better than that from the poor unsaleable varieties so often used for this "Two ladies deliberately took off their shoes | purpose, as the best fresh fruit of the sort exceeds the other, purchasers will also be willing to pay a much higher price for the best article. When, superadded to this, the fruit is dried rapidly so as to retain a clear, light color, and a perfect flavor, instead of the dark, half fermented fruit resulting from slow drying in bad weather, there will be no difficulty in finding a ready sale for all that may be offered in market. When abundant seasons occur, the surplus should be saved by drying, and may be kept another year.

In some parts of the Western States, houses are erected for drying fruit, and are warmed by fire heat, by means of a furnace with a flue extending around the building, similar to that formerly for green-houses. This flue is covered with sheet iron. An ample ventilator is placed at the top for the free escape of the large volume of watery vapor which rises from the drying fruit. Trays or hurdles, about two feet wide, six feet long, and three the little lake, till their spangled tunics, their flesh colored tights and their hands and faces ing the bottom, are placed in three tiers, one above the other, with a foot or more of space between them. Long strips of scantling, laid horizontally, extending the whole length of the house, and six or eight feet outside, from a sort of railway track on which a frame with rollers runs in and out through a wide door, for running in the fresh fruit and bringing out the dried. A house ten by fourteen feet, and eight feet high, has been found sufficient for about two barrels of fruit at a time, and about twenty hours complete the drying pro-
