TION OF WEST VIRGINIA. Its General Proceedings.

Plan of Organization.

Without the room for the publication of the proceedings entire, of the State Convention held at Wheeling on the 8th inst.; we submit so much of the general report as will convey an intelligent idea of what was done. and of the work cut out for the accomplishment of the Democratic Conservative party during the present year. After the permanent organization of the Convention, a conmittee consisting of one delegate from each Senatorial district was appointed to report a plan of party organization, and an address to the people. This committee performed their duty by reporting the annexed

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION. The committee believe that in order to assure success in the coming canvass, five objects should especially be kept in view:

1st. The collection of money in liberal sums to be used for lawful political purposes. 2d. The polling of the entire registered vote of the State by townships, in order that the actual strength of each party may be ascertained. Two lists should be prepared, one for each party, that will show the present strength of each. 3d. Lists should be prepared containing the names of doubtful voters, with a statement of the supposed political inclination of

4th. An enrolment of the names of such pregistered voters as can subscribe to the test oath should be prepared.

5th. Provision should be made for bringing to bear upon doubtful or Radical voters such legitimate instrumentalities as will induce them to unite with us for the overthrow

Other proper objects of organization will readily occur, but in order that the ends named, constituting the prime conditions of success, may be first secured, your committee

1st. The appointment of a State Executive Committee, composed of active, earnest and untiring men, to whom may be entrusted the general supervision of the organization and the campaign. In this appointment the fitness of the men for the work should be an essential condition of selection.

2d. The organization, at each Court House in the State, if expedient, of County Associations upon the plan herewith reported, to which should be assigned the duty of county organization. Said Associations should be in direct communication with the State Executive Committee, and should make to it detailed monthly reports, or oftener if possible. of the progress of the work.

3d. The organization of Township Associations upon the same general plan with the County Associations, to have over their townships the same care that the County Associations exercise over the counties.

4th. The organization, where possible, of School District Clubs, under the same constitution as the other Associations, to take immediate charge of the work in said Districts. When such clubs cannot be established, then the township Associations should superintend the work. The Clubs should make regular and frequent report of their operations to the township organizations; these should report in like manner to the county Associations .-When from any cause reports cannot thus be made, they should be forwarded directly to the State Executive Committee. In order that all these organizations may be speedily completed, the Executive Committee should call upon the people of the various counties to meet at an early day and form the County Associations, and then should proceed at once to the work of organization. This done, contributions to the general fund should be actively solicited, and the lists referred to should at once be prepared. Then OBACCO, GRAIN AND OTHER COUNTRY our qualified but unregistered voters should be promptly registered, and every legitimate influence that will induce doubtful voters and Radicals to act with us should be brought to bear. In this we include the dirculation of documents, a general invitation to men of the opposite party to attend our meetings, district, township and county, and the influence of personal intercourse and fireside discussion. We cannot overrate the importance of circulating our own newspapers. Each association should solicit subscriptions to the general fund and where parties are too poor, or for any reason unwilling to take these papers, free copies should be sent them. When disfranchisement is attempted it should be opposed and obstructed by every lawful means, and when voters are unable to defray the expenses of their own defence, the associations should supply the funds for that purpose. We also suggest that it be the duty of the State Executive committee to employ good men and send them into counties where their services may be needed or asked, for the purpose of effecting organizations in such counties. The following constitution for the county association is recommended. With slight alterations the same will suffice for township associations and clubs.

PREAMBLE. We, the Democrats and Conservatives of County, of the State of West Virginia, believing that the perpetuity of Republican Institutions depends upon the maintenance of Constitutional principles in the administration of the Government State and Federal, and that upon the Democratic and Conservative party mainly must we rely to check the Radicalism now threatening to overthrow the Constitutional Government of our fathers, blot out sovereign States, and subvert the liberties of the people; in order to secure such a thorough organization of our party, as will make it efficient in promulgating its principles, and to defeat the evil machinations and purposes of its enemies, whether sought to be accomplished at the polls or by fraud and violence elsewhere; hereby Boxember 8, 1907.

ART. 10. We acknowledge the Executive Committee as the head and front of the Democratic and Conservative party of the State of West Virginia, and will heartily co-operate with the same for the overthrow of Rad

Your Committee deem it of special imortance that great care be taken in the section of men to whom this work is to be signed. Ability to do effective work should be the first condition in the selection of each and every officer, and those persons should in all cases be selected, who can best meet this equirement.

Your Committee submit this plan of organization with the earnest hope that it will meet your approval and that your Executive Committee be directed to put it in operation at once. It is clear that by rigid adherence to the plan herewith proposed, we will be able to poll our entire strength, and without some such method concentarted and effective action cannot be had. We close with the declaration that with proper general effort we see no reason to doubt the ultimate success of the organization thus proposed. The same committee also presented an adlress to the people of West Virginia, which we deem too lengthy for publication in our paper, especially as it presents only an arraignment of the radical party for its innumerable rascalities, and a general statement of facts, with which the readers of this journal at least, are painfully familiar. On the second day of the Convention, the following offered by Mr. J. M. Jackson, was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That it is the sense of this Conention, that it is the binding duty of the Government of the United States to extend rotection to all of its citizens, whether naive or naturalized, in whatever land they may be found, and that it should at once take effective measures in behalf of those citizens, now languishing in English dungeons, either to obtain their release or to quarantee to them a fair and impartial trial. Gen. J. J. Jackson, of Wood, offered the following, which was adopted unanimously: Resolved, That this Convention desire to xpress to Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, their cordial sympathy with him in his efforts to maintain Constitutional Government, and in resisting the unconstitutional encroachments of the Congress of the United States. The Convention express their approval of each and all of his veto messages, and of his policy of reconstruction of the Southern States, as disclosed in his various messages to Congress, and they respectfully urge him to uphold the Constitution in the future as in the past. Resolved, That these resolutions be signed by the President and Secretary and transmitted to the President of the United States.

Considerable time was spent in discussing proposition to memorialize the Legislature p repeal the obnoxious laws with reference o Registration and other matters designed to erpetuate the reign of radicalism, when the ollowing proposition was finally agreed upon: To the Legislature of West Virginia:

The Convention assembled at Wheeling, anuary 8th, 1868, and representing the Pemocratic and Conservative voters of this State hereby ask your honorable body to epeal the law providing for the appointment f the Boards of Registration, the test oath for suitors, lawyers and teachers, and to enact that any constitutionally qualified voter shall have the right to vote at all elections upon aking the oath to support the Constitution of this State.

structed to forward a copy of the resolution to the Senate and House of Delegates.

During the afternoon session, Judge Kennedy, of Jefferson, offered the following, which was unanimously adopted, as an addition to the resolution offered by himself and adopted by the Convention at the morning session

"And that they provide by law that each voter qualified according to the unamended Constitution shall be allowed to vote upon taking the oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the unamended Constitution of this State, and that no registration officer shall be eligible to any office during the time for which he was elected or ap-

Col. Benj. Wilson, of Harrison, moved that the Convention proceed to the election of delegates to the National Convention, making the basis of the vots ten votes for each mem-ber of the Legislature. The motion prevailed, and the following named gentlemen were placed in nomination: Messrs, John Hall. of Mason, D. Lamb, of Ohio, J. J. Davis, of Harrison, J. N. Camden, of Wood, H. S. Walker, of Ohio, Benj. Wilson, of Harrison, H. G. Davis, of Mineral, J. W. Kennedy, of Jefferson, C. A. Sperry, of Greenbrier, D. D. Johnson, of Tyler, F. Smith, of Marion, and

J. S. Burdett, of Taylor. Messrs. Benjamin Wilson, D. Lamb and Fountain Smith declined being candidates. The Convention then proceeded to vote, and on the first ballot the following named gentlemen were elected: John J. Davis, of Harrison; John W. Kennedy, of Jefferson; and H. S. Walker, of Ohio. The successful candidates acknowledged the compliment paid them, and each avowed himself determined to use every effort to advance the interests of the great Democratic party and the cause of Constitutional liberty in the land.

Mr. Wm. A. Hanway offered the following, which was unanimously adopted.: Resolved, That we, as Democrats and Conservatives in convention here assembled, declare that we regard the creation of the State of West Virginia as one of the United States of America, as a fact accomplished; and so regarding her, further declare our underable determination to maintain her as such, and to this end pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to not only make her respectable, but alike respected with her older sisters. On motion, the Executive Committee were instructed to have twenty-five thousand copies of the plan of organization and address for circulation throughout the State.

On motion, Grafton was selected as the place of holding the State Convention next summer, the time to be fixed by the State Executive Committee.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

New Reconstruction Bill.

The following is the new Reconstruction Bill as reported in the House of Representatives last week, and which will doubtless become a law, despite its unconstitutionality:

Be it resolved, &c., That in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Florida and Arkansas, the civil State governments in said States, respectively, shall not be recognized as valid or legal State governments either by the executive or judicial power or authority of the United States.

Sec. 2. Be it further enacted, That for speedy enforcement of the act entitled "An act to provide for more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867. and the several acts supplementary thereto, the General of the Army of the United States is hereby authorized and required to enjoin by special orders upon all officers in command within the several military departments within said States performance of all acts authorized by said several laws above recited. and to remove by his order from command any or all of said commanders and detail other officers of the United States Army, not below the rank of Colonel, to perform all duties and exercise all powers authorized by said several acts, to the end that the people of said several States may speedily reorganize civil governments, republican in form in said several States, and be restored to political power in the Union. SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That the General of the Army is authorized to remove any or all civil officers now acting under the several provisional governments with in said several disorganized States, and appoint others to discharge the duties pertain. ing to their respective offices, and may do any or all acts which by said several laws above mentioned are authorized to be done by the several commanders of military departments within said States; and so much of said acts, or of any act, as authorizes the President to detail military commanders to said military departments, or to remove any officers which may be detailed as herein pro-

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That it shall be unlawful for the President of the United States to order any part of the army or navy of the United States to assert by force of arms the authority of either of said provisional governments in said disorganized States, to oppose or obstruct the authority of the United States, as provided in this act, and the acts to which this is supplementary. SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That any interference by any person, with intent to prevent by force the execution of the orders of the General of the Army, made in pursuance of this act and the acts aforesaid, shall be held to be a high misdemeanor, and the party guilty thereof shall, upon conviction, be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars and imprisoned not exceeding two years. SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That so much of all acts and parts of acts as conflict or are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed.

NATIONAL BANKS .- On Monday in the House Mr. Blane, of Maine, introduced the following bill in relation to the taxation of

Be it resolved, &c., That the words "place where the bank is located and not elsewhere," in section 41 of the "act to provide a national currency," approved June 3d, 1864, shall be construed and held to mean the State within which the bank is located, and the Legislature of each State may determine and direct the manner of taxing the shares of all national banks located within said State, subject to the restriction that the taxation shall the United States and the Constitution of not be at a greater rate than is assessed upon this State. vidual citizens of such State.

"IN MEMORIAM."

BY FATHER RYAN. We are indebted to Rev. A. J. Ryan, the gifted Southern poet, for a manuscript copy of the lines on the death of his brother, a Confederate soldier, who died on one of the battle-fields of Kentucky. It was one of the pieces read at the entertainment for the benefit of the Catholic orphans, and Father Rvan's introduction to the reading of it, was thrillingly pathetic and eloquent, and was received by the audience attentively, and with the most impressive silence. The speaker stated that he had a brother, at the breaking out of the war, who applied to him for advice regarding thearmy. Hereferred him to their mother, to whom the young patriot wrote an appeal. Like many a Southern mother, she told him to go and defend the cause of his people. He died under the Confederate flag; but the speaker would rather have him, there under the soil f Kentucky, in a soldier's grave, than living in a down-trodden land. The lines cannot be read without emotion by any capable of appreciating the sensation so poetically expressed .- Savannah News and

Thou art sleeping, brother, sleeping In the lonely battle grave; Shadows o'er the path are creeping—
Death, the Reaper, still is reaping—
Years are swept and years are sweeping
Many a memory from my keeping,
But I'm waiting still and weeping

Francy beautiful and brave.

When the battle songs were chanted, And war's stirring tocsin pealed;
By whose songs their heart was haunted
And thy spirit, proved, undaunted, Clamoured wildly—wildly panted—
"Mother let my wish be granted!
I will ne'er be mocked and taunted
That I feared to meet our reanied. That I feared to meet our vaunted Foeman on the bloody field."

"They are thronging, Mother, thronging To a thousand fields of fame; Let me go—'tis wrong and wronging God and thee to crush this longing; On the muster-roll of glory, In my country's future story, On the field of battle gory, I must consecrate my name."

"Mother. gird my sword around me; Kiss thy soldier-boy good bye."
In her arms she wildly wound thee, To thy birthland's cause she bound thee,
With fond prayers and blessings crowned thee,
And she so bled—"when foes surround thee,
If you fall, I know they found thee Where the bravest love to die."

Stood that mother and her son He-the victim of oblation, Panting for his immolation She in priestess' holy station Weeping words of consecration While God smiled his approbation, Blessed the boy's self abnegation, Cheered'the mother's desolation

When the sacrifice was done Forth like many noble other, Went he whispering soft and low "Good-bye-pray for me, my mother; Sister, kiss me-farewell brother;" And he strove his grief to smother; Forth, with spirit proud and peerless— Forth, with lootsteps firm and fearless-And his parting gaze was tearless, Though his heart was lone and cheerless,

Thus from all he loved to go. Lo! you flag of freedom flashing In the sunny Southern sky! On—to death and glory dashing— On—where swords are clanging—clashing-On—where balls are crushing—crashing— On—'mid perils dread, appalling— On—they're falling—falling—falling— On—they're growing fewer—fewer— On—their hearts beat all the truer— On- on-on-no tear-no falter-On-though 'round the battle-altar, There were dying victims meaning On-right, on-death-danger braving-Warring where their flag was waving, And baptismal blood was laving,

With a tide of crimson water, All that field of death and slaughter; On-still on-the bloody laver
Made them brave and made them braver, On-with never a halt or waver-On-they're battling-bleeding-bounding, While the glorious shout is sounding Recied the foemen's proud array.

They had struggled long and striven,
Blood in torrents they had given, But their ranks, dispersed and driven, Fled disgracefully away. Many a heart was lonely lying There that would not throb again; Some were dead and some were dying; Some were silent, some were sighing;

"We will win the day or die."

And they won it-routed-riven,

Thus to die-lone-unattended-

Unbewept and unbefriended— On that bloody battle plain. When the twilight, sadly, slowly Wrapped its mantle o'er them all!
O'er these thousands lying lowly— Hushed in silence deep and holy— There was one—his blood was flowing. And his last of life was going-And his pulse faint-fainter beating Told his hours were few and fleeting; And his brow grew white and whiter, And his eyes grew bright and brighter-There he lay, like infant dreaming, With his sword beside him gleaming; For the hand in life that grasped it True to death—still fondly clasped it, There his comrades found him lying, 'Mid the heaps of dead and dying; And the sternest there bent weeping, O'er that lonely sleeper sleeping, 'Twas the midnight stars shone 'round him-In a shroud of glory bound him, And they told us how they found him

Where the bravest love to fall. Where the woods like banners bending, Drooped in glory and in gloom— There, when that sad night was ending, And the faint, far dawn was blending With the stars now fast descending-There-they mute and mournful bore him-There-they laid him down, so tender, And the next day's sun and splendor Flashed upon my brother's tomb.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

By request, we publish the following re ports which were submitted and adopted at the District Conference of the M. E. Church South, held at Winchester on the 28th of November last :-REPORT OF COMMITTEE BITUALITIES.

The Committee on the spiritual condition and interests of the Church in the Winchester District, Report :

Conference year. In many places the Spirit has been poured out from on high; the membership revived, souls converted, and the Church graciously enlarged-while at other points the good work of salvation is even at this time going forward. Preachers and people are striving together in the bonds of the Gospel for the extension of Christ's kingdom among us. . .

But while, on the whole, the spiritual condition of the Church is good, doubtless it would be universally improved by a more extended deadness to the world and its ways, will not be found wanting in attention to this at the sons of liberty, and the cause in which dition of the Church is good, doubtless it tended deadness to the world and its ways; and a more general observance of Christian and Methodistic duties and privileges.

Our attention has been called to the ne glect of the Sacraments of our blessed Lord. that obtains in some quarters of the District Some of our members, by reason of their surNO. 21.

As preachers, we still continue to preach Jesus, and labor for the salvation of the people, not only in the pulpit, but from house to house. We will particularly explain the na-ture and enforce the obligations of the Christian Sacrament; we will attend to the judicious administration of Discipline.

As members of the Church of God-clerical and lay-we will punctually attend to family and private devotion; the former, morning and evening; the latter, morning, noon and night, We will discountenance all methods of merely carnal and worldly amusement. We will by all means endeavor to etion that once characterized us, and rest not till we shall have carried our point to the extent of making attendance on this means of grace a matter of conscience with all our either for a more efficient occupancy of present

We recommend to our preachers to bring these items to the attention of our people, by reading to them in their public assemblies. this Report, and enlarging upon and enforc-ing the subject matter herein set forth. Respectfully submitted,

JAS. H. MARCH, WM. R. DENNY. REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON TEMPORALITIES. The Committee to whom were referred the temporal interests of the Church in the Winchester District, have given the subject such consideration as the limited time afforded them allowed. The magnitude of the questions involved demand much time for thought 1 a chief purpose in the minds of your Committee being to inaugurate some system by which to meet the demands upon the Church for the successful conduct of its various enterprises, including, as of prime importance, the support of its ministry. Want of system in its financial operations has always been an evil in the Church. On some circuits and stations, crude and imperfect attempts at a plan have been made-but even these attempts have rarely been energetically carried forward. Nor can such feeble and spasmodus-a want of system in our finances. Our members should understand distinctly that their contributions to the church and its enterprises, are not to be viewed in the light of charities, but that it is no less the Imperative duty than the privilege of every one of their number to contribute to these things, "as of the ability which God giveth," "not grudgingly, or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful giver." These demands create a debt which we owe to God; and surely we are not at liberty to regard such dues as of less dignity than the debts we contract with our fellows for food, raiment, and other, the necessaries and comforts of life,-Nor are the poor among them to consider themselves exempt from the universal obligation to give-as an incentive to do what they they can, they may observe that in the view of the Divine Reedemer, the two mites of the poor widow were of more worth than the gifts of those who cast into the treasury of their abundance. Many of our members do not seem to understand why there is now so large an increase on the amounts formerly levied on their circuits and stations for the support of their pastor-not bearing in mind that the cost of living is, in the aggregate, double of what it was before the recent war. It is needless to inquire the causes of this fact; the fact itself must be recognized by us all .-The producer, the merchant and mechanic have, of necessity, severally advanced their rates. And is there not a corresponding necessity on the part of the church to increase its allowance to the ministry and its benevolence in all its enterprises? Your Committee can but believe it is only needed to bring this matter distinctly and fairly to the attention of our people, to secure a prompt response to this increased demand.

Our membership should also be prompt in meeting their monetary engagements. preachers's salary should be paid in full, at least quarterly. Is it right, that owing to neglect in this matter, he should be compelled to go in debt for the necessaries of life, while the Church owes him a just debt, which, if paid at the proper time, would obviate this unpleasant necessity? In many places the finances are suffered to get so far in arrears. that, on the eve of the Annual Conference. in order to raise the amount due the preacher, a huge public effort is made, always mortifying to him, and too often failing of success. Indeed in some charges, this annual spasm has occurred with such unadmirable regularity, and for so long a time, as to be now matter of expectation at the close of the Conference year, and is verily regarded as one of the inevitable adjuncts of the season. Surely these things ought not so to be. Let us have system, that we may cure this dreadful defect. our last Conference Minutes, this District was largely deficient, the past year, in the disciplinary collection; especially in the colrespects in the future.

LETTER FROM MISSOURI. KANSAS CITY, Jan'y, 9, 1868. Mr. Editor :- Xmas has come and gone, but it is not without tts footprints. The day itself indeed was notable. The evening before, many a dark cloud floated across our sky, veiling the beams of our day-god's fires. The air too seemed to augur the near approach of rain. I sunk to rest that night with the expectation that the pattering drops would usher in the light of the morning, but how agreeably was I disappointed, for, as I arose, the sun peeped from behind the last departing cloud, and his rays were soon gumboling over the hills, and glossing their brightness in the streams. It was a glorious day. Addic efforts be assigned the place of exceptions ed to the genial sunshine and the fine condito what we regard as the general rule among tion of the surface below, a balmy zephyr from the magnolia groves, freighted with its odors, vied with the sun and earth in rendering the scene paradisial. Nature lavished the richest gifts in her treasury to grace the earth in beauty and loveliness. The fair daughters of the west, arrayed in the perfection of art. and comeliness, their smiles yet redolent with the all sainted purity of heaven; their cheeks touched with the most delicate hue trom nature's repository, flitted to and fro like fairies in the dreamland. But imagination fails to paint the reality. I was the recipient of much kindness during the merry season. The welcome that greeted me was only equalled by the feast that was spread before me. Exhilirations were abundant, and though my temperate habits forbade me but a limited acquaintance in this department, yet I strayed sufficiently far to test their qualities and pronounce them according to the Virginia recipe.

But the Democratic meeting yesterday was better than Xmas. It was a soul-stirring scene, for the unterrified Democracy of Mis-spuri had assembled to more effectually organize for the coming campaign. South was there, manhood was there, grey hairs were there, and character and intelligence were there, and last but not least, rebels were there, among whom was your humble servant. It made me feel patriotic, an impulse which has not prompted me for some time. After the meeting was called to order, Mr. Bingham, an aged sire, proceeded to read a platform for the adoption of the loyal Democrats of Jackson county. It embodied universal amnesty, payment of bond holders in greenbacks, white man's government, and non-interference by Congress with the elective franchise of the people of the States. Many of the speakers were federal officers, but I never heard rebels more praised and lauded since we furled our banner, than I heard at that meeting. One of the speakers said, " if we were rebels, we were the most glorious rebels he ever saw, and he was proud of them."-The Radicals too, were denounced in terms as strong as the vocabulary would furnish. and damned so low in the netherlands, that it would require a special resurrection to reach them: Mr. Fletcher and his barbarous militia were handled roughly, and altogether there was more enthusiasm than at a Methodist Comp Meeting. Old men who had felt the strokes of tyranny wept for joy at the returning dawn of liberty. Young men shouted, and really Kansas City was wide awake. The Radicals cowered and but few dared to show their faces. Sir, the Democracy has started, and in earnest too, and the day is not far distant when her voice will be heard thro' the valleys and over the hills, of what was once our glorious old Commonwealth, proclaiming the tidings of deliverance from radi-That we have great cause for thanksgiving Your Committee would also call attention cal oppression. Be firm, be steadfast, be pato God for the very abundant prosperity to the fact, that, as appears by the Reports in tient, for the tide is coming that will hard every satrap, every local thief of tyranny from power, and consign them where their fiendish spirits belong. That devil incarnate, lection for the Bishops' support, and would who blackened the suburbs of heaven with here express the hope of amendment in these the smoke of his burning in our beautiful Valley, who made angels hang out their mourning on the clouds, and weep their pity condition. THE SITUATION.

Tuesday Morning, January 21, 1868.

One by one the pillars which have hitherto supported the government, are being pulled down by the vandal hands of Radicalism, and the temple is now ready to crumble. The Constitution is no longer in view, and the expressed will of the people of the North to return the administration of the government into hands that will respect that instrument, has fired the Radical Congress with a spirit. of desperation to rule or ruin, and in their madness they are determined to plunge the country again into civil war-cold, cruel and relentless. The present action of the Rump now in session at Washington, is the note of defiance to the Democretic party of the North, and it will perhaps be well for the country if it is received and met with such an understanding. In this event, we may expect that at least a struggle will be made to regain the supremacy of the Constitution, and hurl from power the miscreants who have disgraced American legislation by the most unblushing and tyrannical usurpations known to the annals of history.

The space which we give to details with reference to the present condition of affairs at Washington, precludes the possibility of lengthy comments of our own, even if such were necessary. As is well said by the Richmond Enquirer, the violent measures of the Radicals during the past week furnish conclusive evidence that whatever may be the end of the terrible chapter of the present revolution, it is near at hand. The programme is to be "put through" in hot haste and with an audacity which has been simulated to inspire terror. This course has no doubt been determined upon in secret caucus, because twice during the late civil war, the Radical party was rescued from defeat by resort to the most high-handed and lawless. measures. During the war all opposition to -the Radical party was put down by brute force.

monarch, and Stanton filled the prisons of the North with gentlemen who were arrested for pretended political offences. Freedom speech was denied, newspapers were then suppressed, and editors mobbed, exiled and imprisoned. Public sentiment then sustained all these outrages, and the men whose usurpations were then successful, have determined to practice the same tactics again:

If the Northern people again submit to the brutal reign of terror which the Radicals have inaugurated, not a vestige of our original form of government will be left. If they submit to the overthrow of two departments of the government, a corrupt and revolution ary Legislature stands ready to barter the forfeited liberties of the nation for the support which a popular military Chieftain will give its most vindictive and unconstitutional measures. So far as the South is concerned, as we are ruled by the bayonet, let us take care that we do nothing which the beyonet does not force from a disarmed people.

COMPLIMENTARY.

In the course of some remarks in opposition to the new Reconstruction Bill, in the House of Representatives, on Wednesday last, Mr. Fernando Wood, of New York, characterised it as "a moustrosity, and the most infamous act of all the infamous acts of this infamous Congress." This remark was too forcible, and embodied too much truth, to pass unnoticed by the sooundrels who winced under it. A retraction of the offensive words was at once demanded, but Fernando was stubborn and wouldn't retract. He felt himself fortified by the truthfulness of what he had uttered, and he refused to unsay it .-For his contumacy a resolution of censure was passed by the House, and Mr. Wood arraigned at its bar, and complimented with a reprimand by head-centre Colfax; which; under all the circumstances, was about the highest compliment that could have been paid him by the Rump.

DON'T KNOW.

" A Friend and Patron" writes to us to know why Dr. Stephen Balch, - Getzendanner, and Augustus Trump, are exempt from taxation for school purposes in Averill township. The question is one that we are not prepared to answer, as we were not aware that these parties enjoyed such exemption until the letter referred to was received .-We presume, however, that the parties mentioned, belong to that great "loyal" party that has done, and is still doing so much for the country and the negro; and which hesitates not to run its hand into the pockets of the tax-payer, whenever opportunity offers. If our friend will take the trouble to hunt ur the School Board of Averill township, he may be able to obtain some information from its members that will satisfy him. By the way, if out memory is not at fault, the Dr. Balch alluded to, is a member of that Board. If he is, so far as he is concerned, the question propounded to us is answered. It is not fashionable for members of the School Board in West Virginia to tax themselves.

Mr. THURLOW WEED, one of the founders of the Republican party, says in the New York Commercial Advertiser :

" For every bad act like this, impairing the independence of the Judiciary, Congress makes 'handwriting' on more than one 'wall,' the reading of which will make the knees of modern Belshazzars, 'tremble."

"Our regard for Mr. Stanton is strong What we suggest consists with his duty and lonor. A Cabinet Minister who is either redically opposed to the measures or personalhostile to the President, from whom he received his confidential trust, ought to resign. This is so plainly a duty that no argument, no sophistry, and no vindictive action of Congress can pervert on mystify it."

POOR GRANT!

If ever any man occupied an ignominious position before the American public, that man is Ulysses S. Grant, the General of the Armies of the United States. His conduct during the past week has sunken him into depths of infamy from which the desperation of the radical party will fail to resurrect him. The Lynchburg Republican says the fate and epitaph of such men are splendidly written by Shakspeare on his King Henry VIII. and Gen. Grant might have read it with as much profit in the past as he will have occasion to read it with remorse in the future:

"Norfolk. And so we'll leave you to your meditations How to live better For your stubborn answer, About the giving back the great seal to us, The King shall know it, and, no doubt, shall than o fare you well, my little good lord cardinal. Wolsey. So farewell to the little good you bear me. Farewell, a long farewell, to all my greatness Fhis is the ctate of man; To-day he puts forth The tender leaves of hope, to-morrow blossoms,

And bears his blushing honors thick upon him;
The third day, comes a frost, a killing frost,
And,—when he thinks, a good easy man, full sure! is greatness is a ripening,—nips his root, and then he falls, as I do. I have ventur'd, ke little wanton boys that swim on bladders This many summers in a sea of glory; But far beyond my depth; my high-blown pride At length broke under me; and now has left me, Weary, and old with service, to the mercy Of a rude stream, that must forever hide me. Vain pomp, and glory of this world, I hate ye; feel my heart new open'd: O, how wretch I feet my heart new open'd: O, how wretched is that poor man, that hangs on princes' favors! There is, betwint that smile we would aspire to, That sweet aspect of princes and their ruin, More pangs and fears than wars or women have; And when he falls, he falls like Lucifer, Never to hopeagain.'

The full account we publish this morning of the surrender of the portfolio of the War Department to Stanton by Grant, will be read with profound interest and unconcealed dis gust by every friend of constitutional liberty and decent propriety in the land. The lead ng facts of the case appear to be as follows

Before the Senate had passed the bill rein stating Stanton, President Johnson had ta ken the precautionary step to ask Grant what would be his course of action in such an event. Grant's reply was as follows :- "I shall in that event either hand you my resignation as Acting Secretary, or let a mandamus be issued against me to surrender the office." This conversation was renewed from time to time, and even on last Saturday week. when Howard's report on the question was under discussion in the Senate, Gen. Grant was again "pointedly asked by the President Seward then boasted of the power which if he had changed his mind in reference to he possessed as far greater than that of a the course he would pursue if the Senate faored Stanton's reinstatement, and he (Grant) reiterated his promise previously made."-These repeated promises from Grant gave the President assurance that, if the Senate undertook to reinstate Stanton, he would have time and opportunity to relieve Grant, if he desired to be relieved, and to place some one in his place.

The bill reinstating Stanton was adopted on Monday, and on the evening of that very day Grant was present at the President' reception at the White House, but mentioned nothing to the President as to any change on his part of the promises previously made, and it was not until 12 o'clock on Tuesday that he notified the President that his "functions as Secretary of War ad interim ceased from the moment of the receipt" of the Senate's resolution reinstating Stanton. Three hours before this notification was made to the President-at 9 o'clock that morning-Grant had locked the door of the War office and retired, at 10 o'clock Stanton came and Grant sent him the key, and he took possession of the War Department! After thus installing Stanton in office, in obedience to the behests of the Radical party and in contempt of the President, Grant attended a meeting of the President's Cabinet and admitted in the presence of its members all the facts of the case precisely as we have here reported them We repeat, that comment upon such an act of trickery and treachery on the part of Gen. Frant is entirely unnecessary to give color or force to the moral or political crime of the offence. The nation will render its verdict.

THE WAR OFFICE AFFAIR.

Stanton still clings to his position as Secretary of War, and the rumors that he will resign are unlikely to have an early fulfillment. As matters are at present, he is rather master of the situation, and being a bold, shrewd man, he will hardly throw away any chances he may have of serving the party that has sustained him in his fight with the President. The following is the latest we have from Washington, and we think this indicates a caving on the part of the President :-WASHINGTON; Jan. 19 .- There is a decided lull in the excitement that has prevailed here for the past week, and to-day we have neither a startling fact nor a sensational rumor to record. It is well understood, by those conversant with the purposes of the administration, that none of the extravagant things and questionable orders mentioned in dispatches sent hence were ever contemplated or under consideration by the President, and that they had existence only in the brains of the writers of sensational telegrams which disturbed the citizens and commercial communities of the Northern cities during the week just closed. There is reason to expect that Mr. Stanton may resign in a few days. Gen. Grant was again with him to-night and unqualifiedly expressed his opinion that Mr. Stanton should resign, and Gen. Sherman yesterday earnestly advised the same course. Meantime Mr. Stanton is reduced to the merest clerkship in the War Department. The President will not permit any order to be sent from that department except in strict accordance with law, which, being literally followed, will prevent any order issuing from the Secretary of War as heretofore, and compel everything of that character to be issued by direction of the President, Gen. Grant will only recognize orders from the President.

Hunnicutt has explained, and says he called Mr. R. M. T. Hunter a "traitor" in a political, not a personal sense-in the past and not the present tense; and that if Mr. Hunter would say he was a loyal citizen now, he would believe him, as he knew him to be an honorable gentleman. Hunnicutt is simply a white livered coward, and would lick the dust from Mr. Hunter's shoes to save his carcass from a cowhiding.

- Two hundred and sixty-seven marriage licenses were issued from the Clerk's office of Rockingham county, during the year 1867. retary of War ad interim.

The War Department-General Grant's

The following facts appear in the Wash-

ogton papers of Wednesday: At 9 o'clock Tuesday morning the ther cting Secretary of War, General Grant, came to the War Department as usual, and, after arranging some papers, locked the door of the private office of the Secretary of War, and taking the key with him, proceeded to the headquarters of the army, nearly opposite to the War Department. About half-past 10 o'clock Mr. Edwin M. Stanton appeared at the War Department, and proceeded immediately to the office usually occupied by the Secretary of War. Finding the door locked, he took a seat in the ante-room, where he was the recipient of many warm congratulations from senators and members of the House of Representatives, who had assembled apparently to see what would take place. Mr. Stauton appeared to be in unusually fine spirits, and conversed freely with all around

Upon the arrival of Mr. Stanton, General Dent, the acting Adjutant-General of General Grant as Secretary of War ad interim, hurried over to the headquarters of the army to inform General Grant of the fact, and to obtain the key to the Secretary's office. In a few m' 13 utes he returned, and placed the key in the hands of Adjutant General Townsend, who in a sort of "present arms" style, delivered it up to Secretary Stanton.

As soon as the reinstated Secretary was fairly ensconced in his office the Radical members of the Tennessee delegation in Congress waited upon him in a body to present their congratulations and to ask him to use his nfluence to continue the operations of the Freedman's Bureau in the States of Tennessee and Kentucky after the 15th of February next, at which time, by order of the President, ceases in those States. Mr. Stanton replied that so long as he had any power he would use it to protect the weak, and would do his best to have the request carried out. He further stated that it would be a few days before matters would commence to run right

General Grant soon entered the Secretary's office, when the latter appeared at the door and shook the General warmly by the hand, and both passed in. It is understood that General Grant and

Mr. Stanton were closeted together on Monday evening after the passage of the Senate During the interview between General Frant and Mr. Stanton General Dent transferred his desk to General Pelouze, who had occupied it during the latter part of Mr. Stanton's former administration of the Department and General Hardie gave up his position to General Shriver At a few minutes past 3 o'clock an order was issued by Mr. Stanton informing the employes of the War Department that he Mr. S.) had again taken possession of the ortfolio of the War Office. At 4 o'clock Mr. Stanton left the War Department for his residence. It is understood that Mr. Stanton. during the day, transacted no official business

ELECTION OF SENATOR-In the Legislature of Maryland, on Friday last, Hon. WM T. HAMILTON, of Hagerstown, was elected United States Senator for six years from the 4th of March, 1869. The final vote stood as follows :

Hon, W. T. Hamilton. Hon. Thomas Swann, 46 Hon. W. M. Merrick. Hon. Thos. G. Pratt,

Mr. Hamilton, the Senstor elect, is about 48 years of age, a prominent member of the pan of Western Maryland, and at this time President of the Hagerstown Bank. He has been always a member of the democratic party, and was formerly in the United States House of Representatives from the western district of Maryland, and served three consecutive terms. Mr. Hamilton was a promient candidate for Governor in the late demperatic State convention, coming within one vote of receiving the nomination.

-The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, in the following extract shows clearly the effect which Radical misrule and revolutionism are having upon every interest of the laud. If the present unsettled condition of affairs is much longer to dontinue, not only are the Southern States honelessly involved in ruin, but the spreading waves of distress will sweep over the entire North, and the people of New England will realize the fearful fact that "curses, like chickens, come home to roost :" The reports from Washington, announce ing that the new Reconstruction bill, placing the Southern States under one military government, will be passed, together with the rumor that ex-Secretary Stanton is to be reinstated in the War Department, have a very disquieting influence on the public mind quite independent of partisan or political considerations. The year with such beginnings as these, it is feared, will be one of feverish excitement, and needing clear heads and steady hands at the helm to avoid disastrous results. That, at any rate, is the way men are talking on and off 'Change."

LOSING PATIENCE .- The Newark Advertisca (republican) rebukes the intemperate leaders in Congress, who have severely tested the patience of the people, and are now losing their influence. The Advertiser, which is republican authority, says: "There reckon. should be less reconstruction; less attempts to legislate courts into enforced silence, and generals out of command." No doubt of t. The Chicago Republican says with reference to the reconstruction policy of Congress, that the people "will not approve the adoption of means to trample down present obstructions which may prove dangerous precedents in the future. Neither is there any doubt-

- The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, writes in his last letter as follows: "It is jously contemplated, I can assure you, by a disiderable portion of the Radical party to strengthen the Grant ticket by placing the name of Fred. Douglas upon it as a candidate for the Vice Presidency. This is deemed absolutely necessary to appease Wendell Phillips, Garrison, Butler, Greelev. and others of like proclivities."

WILAT GRANT SAYS .- General Grant says that at the interview on Saturday he did say he had not changed his mind, but also gave the President distinctly to understand that in case he (Gen. Grant) received from the Senate an official notification that that body did not concur in the reasons given by the President for Mr. Stanton's removal he (General Grant) would feel bound, under the tenureof-office bill, to at once withdraw from the

The mongrel Convention at Richmond pre ented a lively scene on Tuesday last, on the casion of the visit of "Beast" Butler .-From the report in the Dispatch we copy as follows :-

Several Radical members then arose to ask that under the rules the resolution lay over. Mr E Gibson claimed that such would be dishonorable and discreditable to the other side of the House, and asked that the resolution be considered. After some confusion, Mr. Thomas asked the gentleman to withdraw his resolution, in order that he might move a reconsideration He had a high respect for Gen. Butler, and wished to hear him speak, but would rather hear him out of the Convention. Mr. Gibson withdrew temporarily his reso

He wanted gentlemen on de other side o' der house to see dat dev couldn't be puttin no disrespectful nor contemshus resolushuns in. Mr. Gibson argued for some moments in Pending Mr. Gibson's remarks, a flutter was noticeable about the door, and the Sergeant-at-Arms made a motion to the Chairmrn, whereupon he turned nervously to Mr. Gibson and asked him to suspend his remarks. Mr. Gibson : I claim, Mr. President, to have the floor, and neither Gen. Butler norany one else has a right to stop me from speaking before I have finished. Mr. Gibson: Mr. President, do you rule me out of order? "No. sir! The Chair rules that through courtesy you must take your seat!"

Mr. Gibson: Well, then, I'll leave this house; you can't make me stay here to listen A half dozen members arose to points of order. The Chair, in the meantime, was very ill at ease, casting his eyes first to the right and then to the left, telling gentlemen to take their seats, and displaying a reasonable amount of ignorance under the circumstances, as to how to proceed. There was in the hall confusion confounded. The members shuffled about in their seats-those who were not on the floor-and looked on the one side indignant; on the other amused. The negroes in the galleries looked on in silent amazementonly a few of them venturing upon cries of "Bring him in !" "Don't be backed out of it!" Finally, the Chair made several bold strokes on the table with its hammer, with the remark : " Order, gentlemen!" motioned to the Sergeant-at-Arms to bring the "gen tleman" in. The Sergeant-at-Arms, standing in the middle of the aisle, heels together. toes turned out at angles of forty-five degrees, body erect, a little thrown forward, and with eyes to the front, made a military salute, and announced the "distinguished visitor,

Major General Butler." In the meantime confusion still reigned in the Hall, so that even the stentorian and clear voice of the Sergeant could scarcely be heard. The Chair did not get through with the sentence, " Gentlemen, you will please rise "when in waddled the "distinguished visitor" amid three or four motions to adjourn coming from either side of the House. As Butler was being seated Mr. Gibson said: " Mr. Chairman, I again claim that] have a right to speak upon the motion to reconsider the invitation given to Gen. Butler. White, Clements, Snead, J. C. Gibson, Mayse, and others, simultaneously, "Mr.

decision of the Chair. General Butler came in the house pending a motion to reconsider the resolution inviting him here, and it should be decided, or the House adjourn." "Division! Division." The Chair seemed very doubtful as to how to proceed. The "distinguished visitor" had in the meantime looked on the scene from his seat with his arm thrust into his bosom, and with his own peculiar, indescribable expression of countenance, made more indescribable, by the contemplation of the scene around .-Viewing the Radical side of the House on two separate lines of observation, he looked as if to say: "This beats me. But go on. I'm waiting your decision." At the june ture of affairs last mentioned he turned to the Chair and remarked : "There is a division called for .. Let them have it."

The House was divided and the motion t adjourn lost. The Conservative members arose in a body War Department and cease his duties as Sec. and left the hall. White and Snead, from the Radical side, also left.

"The "distinguished visitor" was about to start, when he was interrupted by Mr. Clements, who appealed to the Chair, with all due respect to General Butler, that the Convenon ought to adjourn and listen to Genera Butler in meeting for the sake of the digu-

liable to interruptions during his speech, and besides, he considered the introduction of an outside speaker during the sessions of the Convention an innovation

After a little more confusion quiet was re tored, and the visitor was introduced by the Mr. Underwood: It is my pleasant duty to announce to you, General, that by a resolu-tion of this house you have been invited to appear before us, and at this time, if convenient and agreeable to you, to deliver to us (We of course have no space for the remarks of the "beast" on that occasion. They were much more conservative in their tone than we had expected from such a source.] The day following several members who had felt themselves aggrieved, submitted the following protest against the action of the

ARTICLES OF IMPEACHMENT AGAINST THE CHAIRMAN.

Mr. Walton rose to a question of privilege. The question was one which involved a fundamental principle of parliamentary usage, in which every member was interested. As the Chairman of the Convention was involved, he would suggest that he vacate the chair and call some other member to take his seat. Mr. Bowden was called to the chair. Mr. Waiton submitted the following for no partisan or political purposes: We, the undersigned members of this Convention, complain that a breach of the rights and privileges of the members of this body was committed upon the 14th day of January, 1868-to wit: "First.-That E. Gibson, Esq., a member of said body, while upon the floor, and engaged in the discussion of the motion to reconsider the resolution by which B. F. vention and to the Chair. After further motions, the motion refusing to receive was adopted with ayes and noes: Ayes, 30; noes, 49.

The Convention then adjourned. Lindsey Again Speaks.

The irrepressible LINDSEY, who has n been heard from for several weeks; took of casion to electrify the Virginia Convention on Wednesday last. The body had under consideration the new Bill of Rights, when Mr. Bowden, of Norfolk, offered the following as the twentieth article :

himself after the following grandiloquent He thought dat de gentleman from Norfolk had struck de pint on de head, and was prepared to look into de subject more fully He was afraid dat de Convention would not give de subject before dem time enough to consider de ideas proposed. He was afeared, unless dey did so, dar purposes would be lost. I is perfectly awar, sir, what Constitution we propose to embody. I knows all about it Dar is no necessity for de proposition of slavery to be talked about, but to give solely de rights to those whar slavery have been taken from. Everybody knows dat class; and I thinks we can derive at de principle of thar rights expediently better by looking more fully into the legislative branch of our proeeedings. Dat branch, although the minor branch of the fundamental branch, will bring home every idea, and will not allow the rights of that class which I represents to be egnored. He repersented de choice of de people de people, at least, whar put him in-de bal lot to come here and he wanted to claim for dat class equal rights before de law. He thought dat in consequence of de necessity of giving dis class dar rights thar ought not to be any hurry, but dat every proposition ought fore de proper action was taken. Tharfore he was entirely opposed to hurry. I am satisfied, Mistar President dat dose gentlemen who so says are satisfied wid dis reconstruction miluntary arbitrument of de sword : but, sah, de monopoly shan't rule in dis house. We majority, and not de monopoly must rule. I comes here for de rights of my race. I has perceived dat some of the gentermen has gone back on dar promises to my race. I derives at dar idee, because when dey made dose promises they did not have de ballot in thar hands: and as they has since received dat ballot, they says dey didn't make those promises. I wants to stand here and wocate the rights o' my race; for dat class put me here will not be satisfied onless I do so.

to have two days foregone consideration be-

He continued for some moments on the subject of rights, . In conclusion, he said : I differ very much wid de outside idee (supposed to be Butler's), dat we must go thoo in a great hurry, and I don't think my voters would be willin to obsarve it. I has been sittin here quietly, Mr. President to see if I couldn't qualify what was goin on widout sayin a word; but as I has noticed a desposition to hurry thoo de work, I has risen to speak against it.

Lewis was called to order and asked to confine himself to the subject under debate several times, but without avail.

THE VALLEY BANK.—The assets of this That old Conservative and prudent journal bank having been, by an order of his majes—the National Intelligencer, that is necessary ty, Judge J. C. Underwood, seized by one moved until the coal is applied to its back, is H. G. Fant of Richmond, that individual is evidently alarmed at the present revolut advertising in some of the Virginia papers. a notice that debtors of the said Valley Bank are expected to pay over their obligations to him, and creditors are requested to file their claims with him as early as practicable, as per order of the court creating him receiver. As there is at least a probability that Mr. Fant's exercise of authority as receiver will be contested in the courts, we would advise the debtors and creditors of the Bank to have nothing to do with him, and to give no sanetions to his usurpations.

BADLY NEEDED .- In these days of lawlessness, when white men and negroes are perfectly indifferent about infractions of the law, the need of some means of inflicting punishment on effenders, is sadly felt. We have laws, and we have officers of the law, but we have no means by which punishment can be inflicted, without sending disturbers of the peace to Shepherdstown; and this cannot be done without incurring expense. which nobody is willing to pay. A very small sum would provide a "lock up" for our town, and then if petty offences were committed and the peace of the community disturbed, the guilty parties could have an airing without the necessity of shipping them to the county-seat. Evil doers have no fear of the law before their eyes so long as those who are entrusted with the execution of the laws are powerless to punish them. As a means of preserving the peace, and deterring the lawless in the perpetration of crime, we suggest that our citizens would do well to uphold the hands of the magistracy, by providing some place of confinement, where the obstinate and unruly may have opportunity. of reflecting upon their misdeeds, and becoming familiar with the fact that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

THE "LIFE AND CAMPAIGNS OF GEN. ROBERT E. LEE," by James D. McCabe, Jr is said to be a work of decided literary merit. We have had no opportunity of examining it, but presume it is all that it is recommended to be. The agent for this county, Mr. JOHN W, DALGARN, expects to commence the delivery of the work during the present week, and will wait upon those who have subscribed for it. Mr. D. is authorized to act as agent for the Spirit of Jefferson, and will receive pay for any new subscribers who may wish to have their names entered on our books. We commend him to the public.

SHEPHERDSTOWN BRIDGE .- A meeting of the Stockholders of the Virginia and Maryland Bridge Company was held in Shepherds town on Monday last. The following gentlemen were elected directors for the ensuing year : E. I. Lee, David Billmyer, Jos. Byers, Joseph Entler, D. S. Rentch, J. H. Grove and Morgan Miller. E. I. Lee, Esq., was re-elected President, and D. S. Rentch, reelected Secretary. It is expected that the Bridge will be re-built during the coming

SALE OF TOWN PROPERTY.-We learn that Mr. William Crow has sold his frame house and lot on Lawrence street, in this town, to Mrs. Roper, widow of the late Jas. Roper. The price paid, or to be paid, we have heard stated at $2.000.

A BEQUEST .- In the will of the late Jas Roper, there is a bequest to the Methodist Church of this town, amounting to three hundred dollars. This money is to go into the hands of trustees, and the interest thereof to be paid annually to the preacher in charge of Jefferson Circuit. Messrs. J. M. Brown and William Grantham are named in the will as trustees of this fund.

LECTURES .- Rev. W. E. MUNSEY, the renowned Southern pulpit orator, has accepted an invitation from the Shawnee Tribe O. R. M., of Winchester, and will lecture in that place on the evenings of February 25th and 26th. He is also expected to preach in the Braddock street church on the Sabbath previous. Cannot we have a lecture from him in Charlestown.

LAND SALE .- Capt. Jos. R. Hardesty has disposed of 200 acres of his farm near Wadesville, Clarke county, Va., (including improvements,) to Mr. John Reichard, of Washington county, Md. The land is good, and brought $65 per acre.

Home Lemons:-As the growth of our own county, we are pleased to notice the reception of several very fine lemons from our friend and kinsman, Mr. Humphrey Engle, near Duffield's Depot. These lemons, we think, are equal to any that we have ever seen, and speak well for the patience and care bestowed upon their culture.

TURKEYS .- We have never said anything about it, but we did receive two turkeys during the Christmas holidays, both of which were very nice indeed, though not large. One of these was a present from Mr. Jas. M. Johnson, and the other from Mr. George Rissler. Both of these gentleman have our gratitude for their kindness, though we are rather late in making the acknowledgment.

LECTURE. - Our townman, WM. H. TRAV-ERS, Esq., is advertised to lecture before the young ladies of the Valley Female Seminary in Winchester, on the evening of the 30th of January.

Jefferson Hall this evening, by L. LESEM, Harmonist. It will no doubt be a rich treat. Performance to commence at 7 o'clock; precisely: Admission 25 cents. Tickets for sale at the Drug Stores.

In concluding an elaborate review of the new Reconstruction Bill, the same paper holds the following unmistakable language: "It (the bill) can come to nothing without the co-operation of the General of the army. At the first overt act, however slight-were it but to orally promise to accept the functions offered in, it after such a ill had been passed over the veto-the Genral of the army must be cost into jail to wait his trial for treason to his country unless the Chief Magistrate of that country is talse to the trust of the people and his oath

Gen. McClernand's Opinion of Grant, General McClernaud writes the following otter to the Springfield (Ill.) Register under date of January 6: I observe in the Chicago Tribune of the 4th inst., certain extracts purporting to be taken from "Badeau's Life of Gen. Grant." Of whilem Colonel, now Lieutenant Badenu, is well enough to say, en passant, that he was inknown to me, unless I once saw him hangner around Gen. Grant's headquarters as a questionable appendage, where he may still e an ornamental, rather than useful appurtenance. Failing to gain distinction as a soldier, he seems determined to gain infamous notoriety, both as a personal traducer and panegyrist. Undertaking ostensibly to write Gen. Grant's biography, he has commenced the hopeless task of writing him into the Presidency. In this effort he has gone outof the way to assail me, and only echoes his master's malevolened. It is, rather then, of his master, from his position a more distinguished object, that I would briefly speak. Let him publish the correspondence-the whole of the correspondence of which he complains-through his partisan and amanuensis. This done, his character for candor and fair dealing will be exhibited in a better light than at present before the public, to whose judgment he appeals against a fellow-soldier. Sometimes Gen. Grant's sense of justice, but oftener his passions, have conrolled his conduct toward me. Especially has this been the case since the brilliant and successful issue of the Mississippi campaign, in which the Thirteenth Army Corps, which had the honor to command, bore such a meritorious part. In his official seport of that ampaign, he, either from ignorance or malice falsifies important facts, honorable to that corps and to me, to the disparagement of both. The proof is on file in the War Department. but has never been permitted to see the light. Only recently, when my name was before the Senate for confirmation to office, he, as I understood, and no doubt truly, descended from the dignity of his station to cause my rejection, thus pursuing me in civil as well as military life. A man who receives an injury may forgive its author, but that author never forgives the person he has injured. General Grant should, in prudence, if not in justice, be more forbearing, for no public man of modern times owes so much of reputation and influence to the forbearance of others .-If the veil were once lifted, and the public made aequainted with his real character. General Grant would stand very differently a public estimation than he does at present. That time will yet come when the wrong done me and my command will be corrected.

Your obedient servant. JOHN A. MCCLERNAND.

THE NEW SENATOR FROM OHIO .- HOR Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, the democratic candidate for Governor at the late gubernatobeen elected by the Ohio Legislature to the United States Senate, is a lawyer of great ability and of high personal character. He f January.

has for the last thirty years been a prominent champion of the Democratic party of Ohio in political discussions, and conducted the late canvass for Governor with marked talent and skill. Mr. Thurman is a nephew of the Hon. Wm. Allen, who formerly represented Ohio in the United States Senate.

> On the 7th inst., a conductor of a material train on the Manassas Gap Railroad named Beach, was killed by a section master on the road, named Brown. The conductor, it seems, interfered with some hands under Brown's control, which led to an altercation and collision, in the course of which Beach was struck on the head with a heavy stick, causing almost instant death.

The motion was overruled, and the Court was about to sentence the prisoner in accordance with the verdict of the when on motion of the counsel, a stay of forty days was granted, to allow them to take the case to the Court of THIEVES ABOUT .- The thieves and burglars have become quite bold of late, and ply their vocations with an energy and a daring worthy a better occupation. Last Sunday, night they did a land office business. They relieved our friend Joseph Hoffman, Esq., of two very fine turkeys which he had been keeping for a special occasion. They entered the gun-smith shop of Mr. Daniel Marker, by removing a log from the side of the building, and stole a lot of guns, pistols, &c., amounting to $300. The store of Mr. Geo. Sharer was entered the same night and several hundred dollars in Southern bank notes, together with a set of jewelry, &c., stolen. On Tuesday night of last week the tailor shop of Mr. Fisher, at Bunker Hill, was broken into and robbed of clothing to the amount of $150.

JAMES D. FAYMAN,
Deputy Clerk.

The parties interested in the above decree will contain the cure of lame, diseased horses, would be cheerfully welcomed by our farmers, and owners generally of that lame, diseased horses, would be cheerfully welcomed by our farmers, and owners generally of that noble animal. Before however, recommending Dr. MITCHELL to our agricultural community, we chose to wait for some practical proof of his skill and success in the veterinary art. That proof we now have. Some twelve or fifteen horses, some of them were hear in the proof we have them very bad with RING-BONE, SPAVIN AND FARCY, and other diseases, have been placed under his treatment, and the cures that he has effected, and his rapid progress in the cure of others still under treatment, have been somewhat remarkable, and given entire satisfaction to the owners. This statement is fully concurred in by several gentleman of whom we have inquired, among whom we may mention, John H. Strider, Halltown, Jefferson co-W. Va., Jas. T. Reed, John H. Reed, C. King, S V. Yantis, S. A. Cox, John J. Stevens, John E. Er win, J. W. Neer, D. J. Young, Capt. U. S. A., Harper's Ferry, W. Va.

Most of these gentlemen have had horses under the care of Dr. Mitchell, and have cheerfully al-lowed the Doctor to refer to them touching their opinion of and confidence 11 his scientific know ledge and practical skill in the speedy and success ful removal of the various defects with which that valuable animal, the horse, is so frequently afflicted. (75-Dr. MITCHELL can be found at the Shenan-doah House, Harper's Ferry, West Va. December 17, 1867-tl. MORE PREPARATIONS FOR CHRISTMAS. OYSTERS! OYSTERS! W E are making that preparation becoming the season, and respectfully notify the citizens of Charlestown and surrounding country that we shall be able to supply OYSTERS by the Gallon, Quart, Pint or Plate.

Persons wishing Oysters for Christmas or the hollidays, will be promptly supplied with the very BEST the Market affords, upon short notice.

Our RESTAURANT is open for the accommodation of visitors, and Oysters served in good style, and with all the necessary condiments. LIQUORS of the best quality constantly on hand.
An extra supply for the holliday season. We invite a call at the Restaurant in the Basement of the Sappington Hotel.

THE MOST RELIABLE CUSHION used CAT-GUT CUSHION,

Manufactured by KAVANAGH & DECKEB, and Patented Dec. 18, 1866. (See Scientific American; Vol. 16, No. 11.)

It is the ONLY Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a PERFECT Cushion. It is the most elastic and most durable Cushion ever offered to the billiary-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the CAT-GUT Cushion and renders its unerfor to all others, is the tightened distinguishes the CAT-GUT Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the tightened cord of cat-gut which overlies the tace and edge of the rubber and running the full length of the Cushion which prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the table. The addition of the cat-gut cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The CAT-GUT Cushion has already been applied to over 1,000 tables which are in constant use. It can be applied to tables of any make for $75 per set.

Bee Hives.

THE undersigned baving purchased the right and LANGSTROTH'S PATENT BEE HIVES. for the county of Jefferson, are prepared to furnish said Hives, made in the best manner of seasoned material with recent improvements, to all who may want them. For their merit and great superiority over any and all other hives, we refer to any and all persons who have them in use, of whom there are many in this vicinity. We can vouch for ever three hundred pounds of pure virgin Honey having been taken from three of these Hives in 1865, besides leaving an abundant supply for the winter use of the bees in the lower or breeding department.

As there are some persons in this county who have these Hives in use who have no papers to show their authority for using them. authority for using them, we hereby notify them that we will place our claims for their use, with that we will place our claims for their use, with damages, in the hands of a Lawyer for settlement in the United States Court, if they disregard this notice by not obtaining the proper authority from us. We have paid our money this right, and do not intend that it shall be used by any one without authority and payment of the patent fee. There is but one side to this question before the United States Courts, where the costs are very heavy, independent of damages. As we are reluctant (though dependent of damages. As we are reluctant (though determined) to take this course, we hope no one will disregard this notice. This patent has been extended for seven years from the 5th of October, 1867. We also caution all persons (not authorized) against manufacturing said Hives in this county.
We have ordered some of Langstroth's new work on the Honey Bee, and expect soon to have them
