Spicit of Jefferson.

The New York correspondent of the Buffalo N. Y.) Courier, says :

"Prominent Radicals say Grant will receive the nomination at Chicago. The only men one hears talking in his favor, are the mild republicans who have no working influence. All the strong, active' Radicals are either indifferent or opposed to him. They defend him warmly enough when he is assailed for the part he played in the Stanton business, but when it comes to the question of his nomination for the Presidency, they either dodge the points or say plainly they don't want him. Then the Stewart-Vanderbilt movement, from which Grant's friends expected so much, has come to a halt, and the engineers appear to have lost all interest in it. It is the general opinion of intelligent Conservatives that Grant will not get the nomination. A complimentary vote, they say, will be dropped for a more pronounced republican. The Chase party is still hopeful, and will work hard at Chicago. Greely and his followers are privately as much opposed to Grant now as they were two months ago .--Greeley's name was placed on the list of vicepresidents at the last Grant meeting, and the Tribune said next day that its use was unanthorized. Whatever the feeling elsewhere may be, it is certain that here in New York -except among the nonderscripts-there is no real enthusiasm for Grant, and unless shrewd observers are much mistaken, he will benut aside at Chicago, and a man with brains and straight out convictions will go on the track for the white house prize.

Southern Trade with Baltimore. We are pleased to see by the following from the Sun that Baltimore is gaining a large share of the trade of the South. She deserves Trade with the South has been quite brisk during the month of February, particularly in cotton, of which 18,181 bales were raceived by water. Of this amount 6,590 bales came from Norfolk, 1832 bales from Savannah, 964 bales from Charleston, 402 bales from Wilmington, N. C.; 295 bales from other North Carolina ports, 281 bales from Richmond, 180 bales from Galveston, and 147 bales from New Orleans. Of naval stores there were received 798 bbls. spirits turpentine, 40 barrels tar, and 50 barrels pitch from Wilmington, North Carolina; 960 barrels tar from other North Carolina ports; 70 barrels rosin, 60 barrels tar, and 144 barrels spirits turpentine from Norfolk, and 11 barrels turpentine from Richmond. The receipts of tobacco were light, amounting only to 109 packages from Norfolk and 32 packages and 55 hogsheads from Richmond. Of rice, 302 tierces were received-from Charleston and 50 tierces from Savannah. With the opening of the spring trade, and with the facilities offered by regular lines of first-class steamships to nearly all the Southern ports, it is confidently expected that the trade of Baltimore will rapidly increase in all Southern products .---Another incentive to increased trade will be the advantage of direct shipments to Europe by steam afforded by the elegant steamships of the Bremen and Liverpool lines. The Baltimore, of the Bremen line, it is presumed is now on her way across the Atlantic, and is to sail from this port on her return voyage on the 1st of April. The Somerset leaves this port on the 25th inst. for Liverpool, and the Worcester is now on her way out, expected to return with a full cargo of spring goods.

The intelerance of the black and tan Radicals, in the gathering which holds its daily conclaves in the Capitol, and which is called itself within the past day or two in the most offensive manner. On Friday afternoon Mr.

his aid to the fanatical crew on the Radical gentlemen of the right of suffrage, was arraigned on a resolution offered by a ci-devant person named White, and an effort made to expel him, simply because he refused to vote on a proposition to disfranchise all Confederate officers above the rank of "first lieutenant" in the army, and "master" in the navy. Mr

Williams gave his reason for not voting, and it was, that he believed, in his inmost soul, if

MUNIC IN CAMP.

BY JOHN R. THOMPSON. Two ermisscovered bill and plain, Where Rappahanuock's waters Ran, deeply crimsoned with the stain, Of battle's recent slaughters.

POETICAL.

The summer clouds lay plitched like tents In meads of heavenly asure; And each dread gun of the elements Slept in its hid embrasure.

The breeze so softly blew it made No forest leaf to quiver, And the smoke of the random cannon Rolled alowly from the river.

And now, where circling hills looked down, With cannon grimly planted, O'er listless camp and silent town, The golden sunset slanted.

When on the fervid air there came A strain, now rich, now tender ; The music seemed itself aliame With day's departing splendor.

A Federal band, which eve and morn Played measures brave and nimble, Had just struck up with flute and horn And lively clash of cymbal.

Down flowed the soldiers to the banks. Till margined by its pebbles, One wooded shore was blue with "Yanks," And one was gray with "Rebels."

Then all was still, and then the band, With movements light and tricksy, Made stream and forest, bill and strand, Reverberate with "Dixie;"

The conscious stream, with burnished glow, Went proudly o'er its pebbles, But thrilled throughout its deepest flow With yelling of the rebels.

Again a pause, and then again The trumpets pealed sonorous, And Yankee Doodle was the strain To which the shore gave chorus.

The laughing ripple shoreward flew To kiss the shining pebbles; Loud shrieked the swarming Boys in Blue Defiance to the Rebels.

And yet once more the bugles mang Above the stormy riot ; No shout upon the evening rang-There reigned a boly quiet.

The sad, low stream its noiseless tread Poured o'er the glistening pebbles; And silent now the Yankees, stood, And silent stood the Rebels.

The Year of Jubilee.

Under the Hebrew dispensation every fiftieth year was the year of Jubilee. We give a masterly passage descriptive of that great institution from Salathiel, the wonder-ful romance of Mr CROLY. We doubt whether any of our wisest and best statesmen have a suitable conception of the value and influ-ence of that universal emancipation from pub-lic and private debts, and the restoration of debtors to the rights and estates they had conveyed to their creditors;

"The year of jubilee arrived. Abolished as the chief customs of Judes had been by the weakness and guilt of idolatrous kings and generations, they were still observed by all who bonored the faith of their fathers. The law of jubiles was sucred in our moun-tains. It was the law of wisdom and benevolence above man. Its peculiar adaptation to Israel, its provision for the virtue and happiness of the individual, and its safeguard of the public strength and constitutional integrity, were unrivalled among the finest ordinances of the ancient world. On the entrance of the Israelites into Canaan, the land was divided, by the inspired ordinance, among the tribes, according to their numbers. To each family a portion was given as a gift from heaven. The gift was to be inalienable. The estate might be sold for a period: but at the fiftieth year, in the evening of the atonement, in the month Tisri, the sound of the trumpets from the sanctuary, echoed by thousands from every mountain top, proclaimed the Jubilee. Then returned every family to its original possesions. All the more abject degradations of poverty, the wearing out of families, the hopeless ruin, were obviated by this great law. The most undone being in the limits of Ju-dea had still a hold in the land. His ruin could not be final, perhaps could not extend beyond a few years; in the last extremity he could not be scorned as one whose birth-right was extinguished; the Jubilee was to raise him up, and place the outcast in the early rank of the sons of Israel. All the higher feelings were cherished by this incompa hope. The man, conscious of his future possessions, retained the honorable pride of pov- drought better, than when elevated above erty under the sternest privations. The time was hurrying on, when he should stand on effectually to dry the soil in which the pota-an equality with mankind, when his worn toes are imbedded. an equality with mankind, when his worn spirit should begin the world again with fresh vigor, if he were young; or when he should sit under the vine and fig tree of Soil has an influence upon potatoes aside from their growth. Some soil—a light sandy loam—will produce mellowness where it is wanted, and improve it where it exists. Ma-nure is hurtful to the quality, and especially to the flavor of potatoes. Hence a soil suffi-ciently rich should never have manure for potatoes—and very rich soil is not required for this tuber. A rank growth of potatoes will give a rank taste. The same potatoes raised on a light natural soil where the output raised on a light natural soil where the only manure has been vegetable—for instance the carbonaceous matter of new land—will be improved. This accounts for the diversity of opinion in regard to the different kinds of potatoes.

The Garnet Chili is condemned by some. We have just heard a man pronounce against them-who gave the preference to other kinds, among which the Peach Blow is one. He had "no luck with Garnets last year."-He raised his potatoes in soil manured from the horse stable. His neighbor has just the reverse opinion. He raised his where little or no manure has been used-some on a discontinued strawberry bed, where sawdust has been applied for mulching, and afterwards worked into the soil, and rotted when the potatoes were grown. This was vegetable ma-nure, and made the difference between the two crops.

There is another element of great value in the potato crop-this is lime. It is probably better than anything that can be used. This, in connection with vegetable manure, on a light sandy loam, well drained, will ensure the best crop. It will yield largely, as well as the best quality. On such soil there is less rot. A moist soil is always to be avoided if quality is to be considered. For feeding purposes, a rank growth is probably preferable, as more potatoes are generally produced.

The soil should not only be light and loose, but the seed should be well down in the ground-not raised in ridges. Five or six inches below the level of the soil will give more moisture-in other words, will stand a this level, giving a chance for the air more Never hill a potato-cr, if hilling will be done, do it after a shower, soon as the ground will permit. Cultivate and keep the soil, mellow, especially in a drought. This is a thing that is much neglected. We do not cultivate potatoes sufficiently. They require much moisture; and, unless the ground is well stirred, repeatedly, there will be great hurt-small potatoes, and few in a hill. Clay will also improve the quality of potatoes, as well as other roots and grains in general. But it will not much increase the growth .- Rural World. MASHES FOR HORSES .- The following recipe was given me by a celebrated steeplechaser-I never knew any horse refuse it :--Take a feed of oats, a double handful of linseed for each horse, and boil for three hours: then turn into a large tub or earthenware pan, and add as much bran, with just enough warm water to moisten the whole through ; put a cloth over it, and let it stand an hour; then mix it well, and feed as soon as it is cool enough. This mash is very useful when horses in hard condition "dry up" and grow thin, in spite of continual feeds of corn. I give it once a week all the year round, but oftener if required by any particular horse. A few beans may be boiled with the corn if the horse is in a very low condition .- London Field. A WRENCH, ITS VALUE .- Few farmers or owners of wagons and carriages appreciate the value of this little instrument-a wrench -and, failing to do so, foot many a costly bill in needless repairs and new purchases. You cannot allow one part of machinery to work loose from its fastenings without injury to all the rest. At least once a month, every nut and bolt in the running gears of a wagon or carriage should be examined and tested with a wrench. By this precaution, the carriage will be preserved and accidents avoided. So important is this that artillery officers are compelled to report to the Ordnance Department how often the nuts are turned upon artillery carriages .- Kansas Farmer. HEADING IN PEACH TEEES .- This tree is such a rapid grower, that, if left to itself, it will thus become more symmetrical, as well as more convenient for the fruit-gatherer .-This process, we believe, has also the effect to prolong the life of the tree. It often hap pens that the extreme ends of the peach-twig do not ripen, and are winter-killed, and would be better off than on the tree. They are by this mode of trimming, kept nearer the ground, exposing both the tree and fruit less to injury by storms. Some perform the ope-ration in autumn, others in spring. Either will be productive of good result, so that it be after the leaves are off in the fall, or before the starting of the trees in the spring.

There are about 140,000 white voters in Tennessee. Of these 100,000 are disfranchised by virtue of a Radical edict, supported by military force. At the same time 100,000 negroes are made voters. This places the state-the State of Jackson and Polk-entirely in the hands of the negroes. A Winston (Tenn.) correspondent of the New York Express thus states the case. He says: "I wish you could have been here at some of the late elections, to see gray-haired wisdom standing afar off, disfranchised, yet paying taxes, and the woolly-headed, ignorant negroes clamoring for their 'rights,' and voting just whatever ticket their Radical master's gave them. Oh! it was enough to make patribts despair. The negroes here rule completely-that is, a few white men, who in their hearts despise the negro, use him for party purposes. Over 1,500 white voters out of 1,900 in this county are disfranchised, and yet a man having served in the rebel army is no bar to a vote, if he would vote the radical ticket. I speak to you the truth, and do not speak 'under the rose.' There are men in this county who served with me in the rebel army, yet who are now allowed to vote. They belong to the Loyal League, and are Jacobins. Old men of three score are disfranchised, and why, God only knows! Yes, we know, too -- they are Democrats, and believe that Romulus set a good example for us when he made citizens at night of enemies conquered in the morning, and herein said Tacitus, was the secret of the power of Rome."

THE JEWS TAKE THE FIELD AGAINST GRANT .- The Israelites have good memories, and are good haters, where they are unjustly dealt with or maligned and traduced. Having denied and most barbarously abused and outraged the people of that ancient nation, their leading organ has already taken the field against Grant for his infamous general order of the 17th of December, 1862, in which all Israelites were "expelled from the department of Tennessee," at "twenty four hours' notice." This sweeping condemnation of a whole class of citizens caused a general outcry of horror all over the Union, and was condemned in a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Pendleton, who is likely to be Grant's opponent for the Presidency .-The leading organ of the calumniated people says that "as a Jew we cannot and will not vote for a man who has done us a more shameless injustice than any man in power in this country, and we hope and expect that the whole Jewish press will come out against his fathers, if his age refused again to struggle for the distinctions of the world. The agrarian laws of Rome and Sparta, feeble efforts to establish this true foundation of personal and political vigor, showed at once the natural desire, and the weakness, of human wisdom. The Roman plunged the people in furious dissensions, and perished almost at its birth. The Spartan was secured for a time only by barbarian prohibitions of money and commerce-a code which raised an iron wall against civilization, turned the people into a perpetual soldiery, and finally by the result of perpetual war, overthrew liberty, dominion, and name.

The Jubilee was for a peculiar people, restricted by a divine interposition from increase beyond the original number. But who shall say how far the same benevolent interposition might not have been extended to all nations, if they had revered the compact of Heaven with man ? how far through the earth the provisions for each man's wants might have been secured; the overwhelming superabundance of beggared and portionless ife that fills the world with crime have been restrained; and tyranny, that growth of desperate abjectness of the understanding, and gross corruption of senses, have been repelled by manly knowledge and native virtue? But the time may come !

The Moon Ghost.

One chap has been kicking up a terrible rumpus for some three weeks past at Moon's residence-sometimes two make their appearance. The fact that two have been present lately, at the same time, is evident from the fact, that heavy rapping was heard one night on either side of the house, (front and rear,) at the same time. Glass have been knocked out, and rocks thrown into the house and the family annoyed in various ways, almost nightly for some time past. A few nights ince, a man made his appearance-the guard inside had a full view of him-they determined instead of firing upon him to open the door suddenly, and 'try if possible, to seize him. They therefore hrew open the door, and spring toward him-as quick as thought, he gave a dodge, was around the corner, and out of sight. They might as well try to catch a deer.

This is one of the strangest affairs on record. The house has been guarded for a year. One or two men during this time, have been seen, or heard, in and about the house, hundreds of times annoying the family-they have been shot at repeatedly. Indeed one of them has as much daring as it is possible for any human being to possess. The escapes from death he has made, and is still making, are mysterious and almost miraculous.

Another mystery is, what can be the object of these visits? Why should a man, night after night, the coldest weather imaginable, for this climate expose himself, sometimes to the pelting storm-sometimes in snow 6 inches deep ? Can it be gratifying to him to alarm the ladies by rapping, throwing lights, knocking out glass, and walking over the house occasionally? He must be a despicably mean creature to wish thus to in-minit of Bettersan. BENJAMIN F. BEALL, Editor OHABLESTOWN, VA. Tuesday Morning, March 17, 1868. THE IMPEACHMENT TRIAL. Ten Days Allowed the President to Answer.

The Trial to Proceed Immediately on the Filing of the Replication.

Friday last, the day apppointed for the President to make his response to the impeachment summons, was one of great excitement in Washington. We copy from the papers of Saturday such details of the proceedings, as we think will prove most interesting to our readers: At one o'clock the President pro tem. of the Senate said the chair would now be vacated for the Chief Justice of the United States.

The Chief Justice then entered and took the chair of the presiding officer, and directed the Sergeant-at Arms to make proclamation.

The Seargeant at Arms-Hear ye! hear ye! hear ye! All persons are commanded to keep silence while the Senate of the United States is sitting on the trial of articles of impeachment exhibited by the House of Representatives against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States.

Mr. Howard rose and moved the adoption of the order usual on such occasions, notifying the House of Representatives that the Senate is now prepared to proceed with the trial.

The Chief Justice-The journal of the proceedings will be first read.

Mr. Grimes said a number of Senators had not yet been sworn as members of the court. The Chief Justice-The reading of the onrnal is the first thing in order. After that the Senators can be sworn.

The Secretary of the Senate (Mr. J. W Forney) then read the journal of the proceed. ings of the Senate sitting as the high court of impeachment. When the articles of impeachment were reached-Mr. Conkling moved that the reading of them be omitted, as he understood the House of Representatives were now ready to be announced. 10.00

The Chief Justice put the question, and the reading of the articles were accordingly dispensed with. When the reading was concluded.

Mr. Howard again rose and said: Now Mr. President, if it be in order. I move the

The application was discussed at considerable length by the counsel of the President on the one side, and the managers of impeach-ment on the other. At the close of this discussion, the Chief Justice announced that the counsel of the President had asked a continuance of forty days in which to prepare their answer, and was about to take the vote on the question, when Mr. Edmunds offered, as an amendment to the motion an order, that the respondent be required to file his answer on or before April first next, and that the House of Representatives put in its replication within three days thereafter, and that the matter stands for trial on Monday, April 6th.

Mr. Bingham said he was instructed by the managers to ask that the vote be taken upon the original motion, as that would settle the enforcement of the rule. The Chief Justice said Mr. Edmunds' order was put as an amendment. Mr. Morton moved that the Senate retire for consultation. This motion was agreed to, and at 2 o'clock the Senators retired to the marble room for consultation

At four o'clock the Senators re-entered the Senate chamber, and the Chief Justice resumed his chair.

The Chief Justice then addressed counsel for the President and notified them that the Senate had declined to grant the request for forty days time in which to pre-pare to answer the articles of impeachment, and then directed the secretary to read the order agreed upon by the Senate.

The secretary then read the order, which requires the respondent to file his answer on or before the 23d of March instant. Mr. Bingham said he was instructed by the managers of the impeachment on the part of the House of Representatives to offer the able hatred of the people of the South has following order :

"Ordered that upon the filing of a replication by the managers of the House of Representatives to the answer of Andrew Johnson. President of the United States, to the articles exhibited against him by the House of Representatives, the trial of said articles of im- accomplish the purpose." And from this expeachment shall proceed forthwith." Mr. Sumner.-Question.

Mr. Trumbull asked for the reading of the order, and it was again read. The Chief Justice put the question, and announced that it was decided in the negative.

Mr. Sumner called for the yeas and nays, and the order was rejected, as follows : Yeas-Messrs. Cameron, 'Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbett, Drake, Ferry, Harlan, Howard, Morgan, Morton Nye, Patterson of New Hampshire, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Ross, Stewart, Sumner, Thaver. Tipton, Williams, Wilson and Yates-25.

-Messrs. Anthony, Bayard, Buckaign in their favor, they will precipitate the lew. Davis, Dixon, Edmunds, Fessenden. Fowler, Frelinghuysen, Grimes, Henderson Hendricks, Howe, Johnson, McCreery, Morrill of Maine, Morrill of Vermont, Morton, Patterson of Tennessee, Saulsbury, Sherman Sprague, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers and Willey-26. The Secretary did not call Mri Wade's name. Mr. Sherman offered an order that the trial of the articles of impeachment shall be proceeded with on the 6th day of April. Mr. Wilson moved to amend by striking out April 6 and insert April 1. Mr. Butler desired to know if the managers of the House had the right to be heard on this motion.

The political jail birds who have bee The father of General Grant is writing ketches of the early life and character of the leneral for the New York Ledger, for a con-ideration. The father commences with the pirth of the General. According to these etches, the birth, suckling and early boy ood of the General was most remarkable.-The peculiarity of his birth, is that he was orn of a woman; and, unlike those two arbarians who founded Rome, he was not suckled by a she wolf, but by a woman. The parrative is defective, insomuch that it leaves the public groping in uncertainty as to his when weaned, or the manner in which he as weaned. It appears that he early showed fondness for horses and was fond of the circus, (nothing is said of the subbath school,) and had a special ambition to ride horses and villainous circus mules in the circus ring.one occasion he mounted one of these mules. they propose to disfranchise and degrade .which vainly undertook to do it. A monkey, The Grand Inquisitor of the Most Holy Infull of mischief and in obedience to orders. quisition never conceived of such refinement came to the assistance of the mule by mount of cruelty as this, neither did Hun, Goth. ing up behind the boy (now General) Grant, and round the ring they went at a furious rate, causing the whole ampitheatre to ring Vandal nor Tartar ever subject a conquered people to such outrages as to lay waste their with boisterous applause. It was the best lands and cities and liberate their slaves, and part of the performance. Young Grant disnounted at his pleasure. As to breaking colts, it was marvelous how he succeeded. These hings the readers of the Ledger, and es-tax-gatherers from Virginians, many of whom are strangers to the comforts of good food and clothing, have been paid as the wages of creatures who, day after day, denounce, calumniate and seek to outrage those whose money they have taken, and no one can predict how long this spoliation of the tax-payers of the State is to continue. New England squatters, who were elected to this "Convention" by the votes of negroes, and who entered the capitol with no other property than a carpet-bag full of old clothes, have each received a thousand dollars for villifying and defaming the white men of the State. Negroes, with no more conception of the solemn responsibilities resting upon the shoulders of law-makers than the distinguished African who was roasted in Barnum's Museum the other night, have each pocketed the same amount for helping the aforesaid hungry carpet-baggers to war upon the propertyholders of the State. And while what they have done demon-

The matscribed race with taxes which they cannot pay, and which will press so heavily that an attempt to collect them will inevitably lead to civil war. The whites are to be taxed to educate the children of black paupers and thieves. A legion of paid officials are to devour the little which war has spared, and a host of salaried county judges, superintendents of schools, &c., are to take the places of those unpaid officials whose honest and faithful performance of their duties have for nearly a century been the pride of Virginia. mire.-Ohio Statesman. And having already taken from the people one hundred thousand dollars, these implacable enemies of the white man will soon initiate measures for wringing additional money from their intended victims, in order that they may get eight dollars a day for denouncing, for some months yet, the men whom hey are taxing. These monstrous and iniquitous measures are but the shadows which coming horrors, calamities and outrages cast before them, and which will render Virginia unfit for the occupation of decent white men if the work of this "Convention" shall be approved at the polls.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM BURNED. Estimated Loss $500.000. The Fat Woman Overcome-Statement the Giantess, etc.

NEW YORK, March 3, 1868 .- A bout half. ast 12 o'clock, this morning, a fire broke out n the rear basement of Barnum & Van Amburg's Museum and Menagerie, on the Mercer street side, in which were kept the animals belonging to the menagerie. The flames spread rapidly, and notwithstanding the exertions of the firemen, the fire soon extended into the theatre and menagerie. Just previous to the discovery of the fire an alarm ras given for a fire in Spring street, near Renwick, and in consequence of the engines being at that fire they did not get to work as soon as they otherwise would have donc. The adjoining building, 535 Broadway, was considerably damaged by water. The Prescott House,on the corner of Spring street, was slightly damaged from the same cause. The wind was blowing a perfect gale from the northwest and rendered the efforts of the firemen almost fruitless. They stood upon the roof of 535 with two lines of hose until the smoke and heat drove them away, compelling them to leave their hoes upon the roof. On the Mercer street side efforts were made o save the animals in the Museum, but with little success. The giraffe tumbled down near the doorway, and thus blocked up the egress. A number of the other animals were then rescued, and finally a rope was put around the giraffe's neck and leg and he was raised up, but refused to move. At this time the pecially the Republican part of them read fames were bursting through the partition, with mouths agape. The last sketch, however, contains an exand the hind part of the poor animal com-now General) Grant went, and he jumped of the few stuffed birds and animals taken downwards, and in alighting he sank to his out on Broadway, and the animals rescued on waist in mire. The old man Grant, with an Mercer street, is totally destroyed. The loss air of great satisfaction, and to relieve the is estimated, with the improvements made by Mr. Barnum, at $500,000. The buildings were owned by the Coster estate; loss about $50,000.

When the fire had been in progress for nore than an hour, and the entire interior of the building from cellar to roof was one mass of surging flame, in which it seemed impossible that any life could exist for a single instant, a sudden cry of wonder and horror rose from a group of firemen, who were standing near the front of the building drew all eyes to the spot, when, to the amazement of all, some poor beast, so charred and wasted that it was impossible to tell whether it was tiger, leopard or bear, was seen faintly struggling to force its way out from the horrible pit of death .---There was a moment of silence and a recoiling of the crowd, as the wretched creature, with a desperate effort cleared the blazing pile of combustibles that hemmed it in, and half sprang, half tumbled to the sidewalk .--For an instant it stood staring wildly around, uncertain which way to turo. Then with the first step to carry itself further away from the blazing doom it had so fearly escaped, nature gave way, and it fell strangled and struggling to the sidewalk. It was obvious mercy to put the poor wretch out of its agony. and a prompt policeman drew his revolver, burnt, strangled, exhausted as the poor creature was, its hold of life was wonderful, and more than a dozen shots were discharged into its body before it finally ceased to struggle. STATEMENT OF THE BEAUTIFUL CIECASSIAN. I sleep on the third floor of the building; last night I went to bed about 11 o'clock ; went into a dose, but was rather restless and dreamy; about midnight I awoke, and had a confused idea of something startling going on; my room fronts Broadway; a noise in the street attracted my attention; I sprang to the window and opened it; a clear volume of flame was pouring into the street from the lower second-story window. Hastily throwing on a wrapper, I called out to Miss Swan who was greatly agitated. The beasts in the menagarie began to howl in a piteous manner. The fire reached the staircase, and while we were deliberating as to the feasibility of this means of escape, a gentleman rushed up the stairs, seized me in adoption of the usual rule directing the Secretary of the Senate to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate is now sitting in its chamber, and ready to proceed with the trial of the articles of impeachment against Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, and that seats are provided for the accommodation of the members of the House; which were adopted.

The sergeant-at-arms here announced the managers of impeachment on the part of the House of Representatives.

The Chief Justice-The managers of impeachment will come forward and take the seats provided for them. A large number of the members of th

House of Representatives here entered. Mr. Grimes .- Mr. Chief Justice, there are several Senators here present who have not been sworn in as members of this court. I move that they be sworn. The Chief Justice-That will be the order as soon as the House of Representatives is seated. The Chief Justice-The Secretary will call the roll of Senators who have not been SWOTD.

The Secretary then called the roll of those who had not been sworn, commencing with Mr. Doolittle, who was not present. The remaining Senators were then sworn as follows: Mr. Edmunds, of Vermont; Mr. Patterson of New Hampshire; Mr. Vickers of Maryland. The Chief Justice-The Secretary of the Senate will read the return of the sergeant-at-arms. The Secretary then read:

"The foregoing writ of summons and the foregoing precept, addressed to me, were duly served by me on Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, at the executive mansion, his usual place of abode, on Saturday, March 7th instant, at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon!

GEO. T. BROWNE,

"Sargeant-at-Arms of the Senate." The Secretary then swore the sergeant-atarms as to the truth of this report.

The Chief Justice .- The sergeant-at-arms will now call the accused.

The Sergeant-at-Arms .- Andrew Johnson. President of the United States! Andrew Johnson, President of the United States! appear and answer to the articles of impeachment exhibited against you by the House of Representatives of the United States. After a short interval, Mr. Johnson, of Maryland, rose and moved that the counsel for the defence be notified to enter the chamber, and the motion was adopted.

Messrs. Stanbery, Nelson and Curtis appeared as counsel for the President, and took the scats assigned them.

Mr. Conkling rose and said he desired to offer an amendment to the 8th rule, to correct an error which had been overlooked, the purpose of which was to allow the presiding officer to submit at his option a question to the Senate without a call of the yeas and nays, which was adopted.

At 1.20 P. M. the sergeant-at-arms officially announced the members of the House of Representatives, and the remainder of that body entered and took seats.

The Chief Justice .- The counsel for the President will now put in their reply to the articles of impeachment.

Mr. Stanbery .- Mr. Chief Justice, my brothers, Messrs. Curtis and Nelson, and myself, are here as counsel for Andrew Johnson. President of the United States. I have his authority to answer to the articles of impeachment, and with your leave will read. Mr Stanbery then read :

Mr. Sumner-Unquestionably. The Chief Justice replied that he considered the managers had a right to address the court on the motion.

On these propositions another discussion ensued, Mr. Butler representing the managers of impeachment, and Mr. Nelson the President. At the conclusion of Mr. Nelson's remarks.

Mr. Conkling, of New York, offered the following :--

Ordered, that unless otherwise ordered, the trial of the pending impeachment shall proceed immediately after the replication to the answer shall be filed. The Chief Justice stated the position of the question before the court, and ruled that Mr. Conkling's amendment was not in order. Mr. Wilson then withdrew his amendment in favor of Mr. Conkling's and the latter was then declared to be in order. Mr. Johnson asked whether the proposed amendment limited the time when the replication might be filed. He suggested that it might possibly be filed without due notice to the accused.

Mr. Bingham said the replication could not be filed except by order of the House of Representatives, and thus due notice would be given. He would say however, that the replication would be filed within a day or two of the answer.

Mr. Conkling said he disliked to make a point of order, but he mustinsist that the rule must be enforced requiring these questions to be decided without debate on the part of Senators.

Mr. Johnson said if the Senator referred to him he would say that he had not debated the question, but had simply risen to ask a question.

The question was then taken on Mr. Conkling's order as an amendment to Mr. Sherman's order, and it was agreed to by a vote of 40 yeas to 10 nays as follows:

Yeas-Messrs. Anthony, Cameron, Cattell. Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbett Drake, Edmunds, Ferry, Fessenden, Fowler, Frelinghuysen, Grimes, Harlan, Henderson, Howard, Howe, Morgan, Morrill of Vermont, Morton, Nye, Patterson of New Hampshire, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Ross, Sprague, Sherman, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Trumbull

vengeance upon the President, and will perhaps, before the Presidential campaign fairly opened, have an Executive whose views accord with their own, so that no obstacle shall present itself to the consummation of the programme they have marked out, to wit:-the admission of the states of the South with their constitutions securing the political equality of the negro.

Trusting their cause to the ballot-box in stead of the bayonet, the Democracy of the North will see their liberties swept away with only a faint protest against the "deep damnation of their taking off."

.THAT CHARTER.

Through the indefatigable exertions of the reteran CHAMBERS, the House of Delegates of West Virginia, at its late session, was in duced to cast a unanimous vote in favor of granting a charter to the town of Harper's Ferry. According to the information with which we have been furnished, and we think it comes from sources upon which we can rely, nine tenths of the people of the town were in favor of this charter, while the other tenth, from some cause, not fully explained, were opposed to it. The unanimity with which the bill passed the House, encouraged the hope that the Senate would not withhold its sanction from a measure so palpably just, and so evidently and eagerly desired; but it fell into the hands of the Senator from this county, and his Upas touch sealed its fate The bill never became a law, and the town was left without its coveted corporate privi-

Now, we are not satisfied that Joe Chapline cared individually one copper whether Harper's Ferry was a town, a village, or a mere dependency of Storer College and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. We hardly think his "spare brains" ever looked at the matter in any serious light, until, perhaps, to serve the interests of a friend, he undertook to engineer the bill-not through the Senate-but out of the way, and off the calendar. Rumor says he put it in his pocket, where it remained until the Legislature was on the eve of adjourning, and when too late to do anything with it, he brought it out. If this is so, he was prompted, and the question comes up. who prompted him? It is known that George Koonce visited Wheeling about the time this charter bill passed the House, and it is further known that he is a violent op -ponent of the act of incorporation. Had he anything to do with the action of Chapline? We expect he had, and we think to him may be attributed the defeat of this bill. We lows: want light on this subject. Will anybody furnish us with the facts?

A Bit of History.

On the 10th of May, 1800, President Adams addressed to T. Pickering, Esq., Secretary of State, Philadelphia, the following :

"May 10, 1800. "SIR: As I perceive a necessity of introducing a change in the administration of the Office of State, I think it proper to make this communication of it to the present Secretary of State, that he may have an opportunity of resigning it, if he chooses. _ I should wish the day on which his resignation is to take place to be named by himself. I wish for an answer to this letter, on or before Monday morning, because the nomination of a successor must be sent to the Senate as soon as hey sit.

"With esteem, I am, sir, your most obedint and humble servant,

"JOHN ADAMS." Colonel Pickering replied declining to resign ; whereupon Mr. Adams sent him this laconic notice, which bears date May 12, 1800:

"12тн Мау, 1800. To Timothy Pickering, Philadelphia : "SIR : Divers causes and considerations essential to the administration of the Government, in my judgement requiring a change in the Department of State, you are hereby discharged from any further service as Secre-JOHN ADAMS. tary of State.

ter is now explained. We did not Before know how it was that the General lately umped into the Radical mire. For a few marbles, in his boyhood, he did not hesitate to jump into the mire up to his waist. In expectation of securing the Presidency, he has jumped into the Radical mire, covering himself all over-a mire dirtier and more enacious than the mire he jumped into for the marbles when a boy. He can't be extricated from it before the Presidential election, when he will discover that he dirtied his clothes for nothing, and he will, in all likelihood, be looked upon as old stuck in the

Double Murder.

A horrible double murder was committed pear Anderson, Indiana, on Saturday P. M. The murderer, Geo. Satter, went to the house of an old man, named Elsnagle, and requested the loan of a horse to attend a funeral. Being refused, he swore vengeance against the family, but went away.

Some time during the evening lie returned and commenced abusing the family. He was ordered to leave the house, and refused. The sons of Elsnagle, William and Isaac, aged 16 and 19, undertook to eject Satter from the house, when a scuffle ensued, during which he drew a pocket knife and stabbed William four times in the heart, killing him instantly. He then fought Isaac, and throwing him on a bed, stabbed him in the heart killing him instantly. He next went into another room where the old gentleman was lying in bed, and attempted to stab him, but the old man struck him with a stick and broke the knife. Satter then left the house and fled to the woods, but was arrested yesterday. He is now in jail at Anderson. He is said to be a desperate character; was not intoxicated at the time of the murders, but had been drinking. NO PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION .- The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, who is not always wrong, says : Nor must I refrain from exposing a new device of the enemy. It seems the Radicals have determined to hold no Presidential election at all next fall. They argue that the Constitution nowhere appoints a time for indulging in such tom-foolery; neither does it make direct provision in case of the removal &c., of the President and Vice President, but expressly leaves the whole of these matters to Congress. It is contended, therefore, that the legislative branch of the Government, by a mere act, may continue Mr. Wade 'or any other man' in the Presidency for four complete years from the day of his 'inauguration' there being no reference whatever in the sacred instrument to the '4th of March.' Upon looking into the Constitution, I do not hesitate to say that longress has more colorable authority to do such a deed than it has for nine-tenths of he legislation already inflicted upon the country. This course will undoubtedly be taken by the Radicals if 'Democratic vietorics,' as they are called, shall continue."

PROFITS OF SHEEP RAISING IN TEXAS .----Galveston paper has this story of successful sheep raising in Texas:

STATEMENT OF MISS ANNA SWAN. The lions in the menagerie were very restless after 11 o'clock. The gray wolf would howl spasmodically, and the lions would howl out a half angry, feeble reply. Although this was unusual, it was hardly worthy of notice. I did not close my eyes however, and soon after midnight heard a quick shout in the street, half drowned in a sullen roar of the lioness. I heard Zuleima spring from the bed and raise the window. A flash of light partly illuminated the room, and I heard Zuleima cry fire.

The blaze was even then licking the floor at the bottom of the stairs. A fireman came up on a jump, clasped Zuleima in his arms. and dashed down stairs. I mechanically followed. I have saved nothing but this old wrapper which I have on. I have lost a complete wardrobe, a pair of valuable diamond ear-rings, a large cluster diamond ring, and a very fine gold watch and chain, in all about $3,000 worth. This is the second fire from which Zuleima and myself have been saved. The fat woman was too much overcome

S. Black, William M: Evarts, B. R. Curtis and Thomas A. R. Nelson, who are instructed by me to answer to this summons, and to ask a reasonable time in which to appear and answer to the articles which have been prepared." The reply further says that after a careful examination of the articles, and a full con- sultation with his counsel, he (the President) is satisfied that at least 40 days will be re- quired in which to answer said articles, and most respectfully asks that that time be al- lowed him.	Schofield has issued an order suspending sales of property under deeds of trust, where the sale would result in unnecessary sacrifice, or where the payment of interest in a reasonable time without such sacrifice can be made. It will be recollected that the stay law now in operation in Virginia has operated to prevent the sales of property, until recently the Court of Appeals decided that law to be uncon- stitutional so far as it applied to deeds of trust. This order of Gen. Schofield will have the effect to set aside the decision of the court, and will be virtually a stay law against sales under deeds of trust.	lector Abernethy; accompanied by Marshal Lask and a company of cavalry, left for the scene of the disturbance, for the purpose of dispersing the rioters, arresting the distillers. and seizing the stills. # LOCAL MISCELLANY.

Agricultural Statisticts From the monthly report of the Department of agriculture for January, we copy the following statistics with regard to the agricultural products of this county, for the year 1867:-

When it is remembered that up to the year in question a large area of the arable land of the county had not been brought into cultivation because of, the destruction of fencing during the war, the above statistics, in our judgment, present a most encouraging exhibit of the real value of our lands. Jefferson county has an area of about 210 square miles, or 135,090 acres of land. Estimating that one-third of this is waste land, not susceptible of cultivation, and we have left 90,000 acres of tillable land. If one third of this were sown down in wheat, we would have nearly 10,000 acres more in that profitable cereal than were in cultivation in the year 1867. But large as the figures seem, and remunerative as the wheat crop of last year appears-(its estimated value being over half million of dollars) -the crop was short, compared with several crops before the war. As far back as 1839 this county produced about 550,000 bushels. With the day last. We regret that we have not room improved facilities for farming that are now for the list of appointments entire, but being introduced in the way of machinery the fertilizers that are being used on our lands, and the greater care that is taken in seeding, we may reasonably conclude that the yield, in a few years, with favorable seasons. will exceed those of former years; and perhaps reach an average yield of 25 bushels to the acre. It will be observed that in the table above, the county is credited with an average of wheat of 11.5 bushels for the year 1867, whilst the average yield of Indian corn is 27.5 bushels to the acro. With an increase of acreage in cultivation, and the advantages above alluded to, we very confidently anticipate a prosperous, if not a happy future for our glorious and gallant little county. If she does have to groan beneath the oppressive weight of West Virginia taxation, her generous soil will respond to the labors of the husbandmen and add to the material

EXTENSIVE SALE OF PERSONALTY .- The largest sale of Personal Property that has yet taken place, among the numerous sales of this spring, was that of Mr. GEO. W. TABB, on Wednesdoy last, The counties of Berkeley, Jefferson, Clarke and Frederick were represented in the attendance, and as a consequence the bidding was lively and the figures ruled high. The six-horse team, consisting of two fine mares and four mules, brought $1,262 ; milch Cows, with calves by their side, ranged from $60 to $75; corn in lots, from $4.50 to $5.50 ; oats, a small quantity, at $1.17 per bushel: and other articles in proportion. The stock offered by Mr. T. was very superior, and deserved the high estimate put upon it by purchasers. And besides, Mr. Tabb had used printer's ink freely, advertising in three different papers, and distributing hand-bills over the country. To this, in a great degree, may be attributed his success in disposing of his property. The auctioneer on the occasion, was our old friend McGinnis, who seemed to be in his glory, his voice holding out to the end with remarkable clearness. We understand that the amount

On Friday last, an accident occurred on the Winchester & Potomac Railroad, at Summit point in this county, which resulted in the death of Mr. JOHN O. REED of . Baltimore, formerly proprietor of Reed's Express, but more recently connected with the commission house of Messrs. Duvall & Iglehart. When the train arrived here on the day in question, the deceased got out of the cars, and had a brief interview with Dr. Starry the agent at this point, and jumped on the train again just as it moved off from the platform. At Summit Point when the train stopped, he alighted to have a talk with Mr. Hilleary continuing his conversation until the train had started, when he attempted to get on share of $260 was redeemed at a premium of board. Unfortunately he missed his footing $130. Two other shares were redeemed at and fell beneath the car, two wheels of which a premium of 119, the holder bidding $141. passed over one of his legs, crushing it how ribly and rendering amputation necess Dr. Randolph of Clarke was at the Po when the accident occurred, and under advice the sufferer was placed on the tr and taken to Winchester, where he had attendance of the best surgical aid that co be procured. The shock to his nervous s tem, however, was too great for enduran and whilst undergoing amputation of the r tilated limb, death came to his relief. deceased is represented to have been an tive, energetic man; and was on a business trip for the house with which he was engaged when the calamity overtook him. His remains were taken to Baltimore in the train of Saturday morning.

SAVE YOUR CHICKENS .- In the spring of the year one of the great sources of annoyance to the careful house-wife, is the fearful rapidity with which her young chickens are carried away by the gapes. With regret she sees whole broods swept off, and feels herse'f powerless to prevent the ravages of the destructive malady. But 'science has at last come to her relief, and the "Poulterers' Friend," is offered as a sure guarantee against by addressing THOS. F. CHAPMAN, Chemist, the future progress of the destroyer. Read

TO THE FARMER.

RECENT experience has proven that a good FERTILIZER upon CORN pays better than upon any other crop. Besides pushing the plant to an early maturity, and enabling it to stand suc-cessfully the drought of Summer, experience has proved that ZELL'S FRAW BONE renders it proof against the ravages of insects which of late years have destroyed so much of the product of the Far-mer's labor. We refer to Mesars. A. C. Timberlake, C. J. Manning, Col. F. Yates, G. W. Eichel berger, J. F. Abell. James L. Griggs, T. H. Willis and J. L. SINGULAR AND PLURAL .- The Rev. J. L. Garret was met a few years ago by a young ecclesiastic of Oxford University, accompanied by a few pupils under his care, who very jocosely exclaimed : "Sir, we have had - a dispute in our scho I about the difference of the terms phenomenon and phenomena; what is your opinion of the difference?" The question excited all the risible faculties of the philosopher, who, when sufficiently recovered, wrote as follows: "When one bright scholar puts the fool's cap on, He makes himsell a real phenomenon. It others join him, and like asses bray,

"I wish you would not smoke cigars." said a plump little black-eyed girl to her lover. "Why may I not smoke as well as your chimney?" "Because chimneys don't smoke when they are in good order." He has quit smoking.

They all together make phenomena.

-Mrs. Smith Las company to dinner and there are not strawberries enough, and she looks at Mr. Smith with a sweet smile and offers to help him, (at the same time kicking him gently with her slipper under the table.) He replies, "No, I thank you, dear, they don't agree with me."

-"Young man, do you know what relations you sustain in this world?" said a minister to a young member of church. "Yes, sir," said the hopeful convert, "two cousins and two nephews, but I don't intend to sustain them any longer."

-First class in geography come up, "Bill Flint, what is a cape ?" "A thing that moth-er wears over her shoulders." "What is a plain ?" "A tool used by carpenters for smoothing off boards." "What's a desert?" "It's goodies after dinner." "That will do, Bill, I'll give you goodies after school,"

-A red nosed gentleman asked a witness whether he believed in spirits. "Ay, sir," replied he, looking him full in the face, "I see too much evidence before me to to doubt that."

-Brown, the other day, while looking at the skeleton of a donkey, made a very natural quotation. "Ah," said he, "we are fearfully and wonderfully made."

-"Father." said a roguish boy, 'I. hope, you won't buy any more gun powder tea for mother." "Why not?" "Because every time she drinks it she blows me up." -A western editor remarks that he is glad to receive marriage notices, but requests that they be sent soon after the ceremony and before the divorce is applied for. He has had several notices spoiled in this way.

- At an agricultural dinner a farmer present gave as a toast-"The game of fortune. Shuffle the cards as you will, spades must win."
