refuse to see it : This man (Stanton) under whose orders twelve hundred churches have been laid in ashes, ministers dragged from their knees in the most sacred moments of devotion, and other ministers shot down like wild beasts,waited upon by a Christian Bishop, accompanied by a discharged military satrap, whom three Generals were willing to swear they could not believe upon oath, disgraced by a cowardly military career only exceeded by his monstrous crime as satrap of an usurpation. A Christian Bishop, accompanied by such persons, call to pay their respects to him whose very name startles the quiet of civilization. Did Bishop Simpson call to thank Stanton for refusing to exchange prisoners, until thousands, both Northern and Southern, were perishing from hunger and thirst? Or it may be to congratulate him upon the burning of twelve hundred Christian churches, or felicitate him upon the facilities afforded to take possession of other people's churches under the auspices of his brother Bishop Ames. Or to return his obligations for the use of the Freedmen's Bureau as a missionary board for the extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church among Southern negroes, and building up of their churches, schools and ecclesiastical organizations at an expense the employment of preachers like Clinton B. Fisk and his army of local preachers, exhorketry necessary to drive quiet congregations of the Southern branch of their own church from their meeting houses, parsonages and graveyards, that they may take them into possession and appropriate them to their own purpose which the ministers and Freedmen's Bureau have been and are now doing. The nomination of General Grant as a Methodist candidate was more than hinted at in the excandidate was more than hinted at in the extraordinary and indiscreet speech of Bishop Thompson in these words:—"Beginning with Grant, the ablest living General, and I verily believe in many respects the equal of Napoleon I., the greatest military genius of modern ages, a long line of army officers have gone from Ohio Methodist families." This style of eulogy upon the church would have been a singular episode in a sermon of those Patron Saints of Methodism, Asbury, Mo-Kendree or Roberts. Even now it atartles our sense of propriety to see Bishops of the great church of free grace endorsing those nameless crimes which, with the new era. nameless crimes which, with the new era. have intruded themselves upon our civiliza tion. Take then as samples: Rev Col. Shiv-ington murdering in cold blood two hundred innocent friendly Indian women and children in their lodges; Brownlow's reign of blasphemy and murder; Fletcher's reign of murder and robbery; Stanton's butchery and women-hanging; universal peculation of pub-lic officers, and speculation upon human blood. In the sincere spirit of devotion to my mother church, I lift my warning voice and beg its members to cut loose from these men who would leave both church and State a wreck to gratify malice and satiate inordinate ambition. I beg you to turn away from these political monsters, and save the country from the adulterous union of church and State. The representatives of the New Nation of your State lead off this high-handed work, and combine the military with the ecclesiastical, and solicit your votes for the Rev. Col. Harriman as Governor of New Hampshire.

Wendell Phillips Denounces Mr. Chase and the Senate. In a letter from Washington Wendell ips says: The Chief Justice of the Supreme he placed himself behind a tree and let him of millions to the public treasury? Or for Court is his ally. Salmon P. Chase, mad with the Presidential fever, and desperate in the consciousness of baffled plans, meanly ters, class-leaders, professors, stewards and jealous of Wade, and, perhaps, cherishing the forlorn hope of a Democratic nomination, negroes and the poor? This last freak of his joins forces with the enemy and stands as the Reverend Holiness is remarkable even in Presidential ally. It has been known for a Bishop Simpson, who played alternate nights | long time that the relations between the Chief Justice and the President were more cordial than was made necessary by the mere official relations of the parties; and last Wednesday night the rooms of the Chief Justice, filled with the gay and fashionable society of Washington, were startled as by an electric shock when the doors were flung open and the usher, in a loud voice, announced "the President of the United States and daughter." Few who were present with me will soon forget the significant looks which passed from face to face through those brilliant and crowded rooms as the unusual event of the President of the United States attending tan fore fathers to have seen John Bunyan walking up to thank Judge Jeffries for the an evening reception of the Chief Justice was fully realized. His carping letter to the bloody campaign in which the headless trunks Senate-his refusal, at first, to obey the manof dead rebels were scattered over the field of date to appear as its presiding officer-and his decisions of the following day, are but less skeletons of executed followers of the the unfulding of a plot to obstruct and defeat ambitious adventurer might have been seen as ornaments of charitable civilization at every as far as possible the conviction of the Presicross-road. It might throw light upon this dent. How far he may be able to work harm depends, of course, on the firmness of the Senate; but, in any event, he is a serious obstacle, with evil intentions only limited by bers of his church-Dr. Edson B. Olds, who was imprisoned without authority of law .his courage; which latter, fortunately, is not great. He seems determined to maintain the consistency of a public career which may be summed up in these words: He never had lying in the jaws of death without even a whisper from this missionary angel "flying an opportunity to serve his party that he did most other requisites when the imperial army not betray it. The Senate itself is the next great danger. There is reason to believe that a serious defection exists among the Republicans on this question. Ross, of Kansas, and Sprague, of Rhode Island (Chase's son-in-law,) are already counted secure as two of the seven Republicans it is necessary to win over to prevent a conviction. The more than probable defection of Fessenden would carry at least four more gentlemen who hang on his skirts. The sight of the dwelling of this inflammatory | folly of Congress in not providing for the suspension of the President during trial will soon be evident. The boundless opportunity this gives the culprit to corrupt his judges the soldier's table, picking up the crumbs | will not remain unimproved.

The President's Vantage Ground.

When the Senate had the Tenure of Office bill under discussion, Senator Sherman said emphatically, "that no gentleman with any sense of honor, would hold a position as a Cabinet officer after his chief desired his removal;" and further, "that the slightest intimation on the part of the President would always secure the resignation of a Cabinet

POETICAL SPRING IS COMING. ST A. J. REQUIES.

I know it by the hyacinths
Which now begin to blow;
And flitting voices strangely sweet
And tremulously low,
By something purer in the sun,
And softer in the air,
And holier in the twilight stars.
That Spring will soon be here.

The almanacs are well enough.
For gardeners and for cooks—
I see the seasons in the sky.
And find them by the brooks;
I hear them on the breezy hills.
And, in the hollows, see
Their token-flowers and signs that speak
Their messengers to me.

And thus, I gleam from gleaming isles Of supper in the West; From wavingsof untiring wings That will not go to rest; From spells of fragrance spiced afar,
And peeping spears of green,
And silver bugles in the wind,
The advent of the Queen!

I know it by the hyacinths Which now begin to blow. That Winter, on his iey bed, Is dead or nearly so.
And soon will come, with flaxen curls,
Led by the laughing hours,
The blue-eyed daughter of the Sun,
In glorifying showers!

MISCELLANEOUS.

Lynching of a Murderer in Tennessee From a gentleman who witnessed the execution of Powell, alias Walker, alias Watts, we get the particulars of his last moments : Having arrived at the spot which was to end his career in this world, he requested a few minutes to engage in prayer, which of course was granted. His prayer was fervent. He said he was not prepared to meet his God, and invoked the great I Am to have mercy on his soul, and to save his last victim-"that poor boy I so cruelly murdered, and to save the souls of all others that fell by my wicked hand." After this prayer, and when the tope was being arranged to a limb, he desired | and is parted in the rear and brought down to make a clean confession, which he partly | in front on each side of his singularly formed did. He said when he saw Bicknell coming pass on a few yards, then taking deliberate aim, shot him through the head near the ear. His victim reeled and fell, and commenced begging for his life, telling him to take everything he had, but to spare his life. The assassin told him no; that dead men told no tales. He confessed to having killed a man in Edgefield, one in Maury county in 1862, one in West Tennessee several years ago, and one in South Carolina. He desired to tell more, but the "boys" told him to mount ahorse that was brought up and stood under a limb, so that the rope could be put round his neck, as they did not wish to hear any more. They were in a hurry to give him the justice which he deserved in this world, and knew that God would mete it to him in the next. As the horse was about to be led out from beneath him he exclaimed: "God have mercy!" One of the "boys" replied, "God may, but we won't." The next instant he was dangling

Wooden Artillery. Few parratives of sieges are more entertaining than that given in the Seir Mutakhereen of a fort which was defended by the use of wooden artillery, and defended effectually, in one of Aurungzebe's campaigns in and at once it was determined to pursue the the Deccan. The commandant was nearly unprovided with cannon, having only one or two defective pieces. The town, however, was a great mart for timber. The governor, securing both the timber and the carpenters, garnished his ramparts with wooden imitations of cannon; and being fully supplied with arrived, put a good face on the business. He did more, too, for he kept the secret within his own walls; and the enemy, suspecting the number of his train, commenced their approaches in due form, affording him thus abundance of leisure to mature his plan of defense. Every piece, as soon as fired. became, of course, unserviceable, but he immediately replaced it by a new one. No foundry ever produced more guns in a year than this man's ingenuity did in one siege. The enemy, tired out at last with the obstinate defense which he made from his batteries, determined to carry the place by escalade in open day. Having failed, however, in some similar enterprises, a neighboring saint was procured, who was to head the attack, and, by the sanctity of his character, to inspire the soldiers with greater zeal in a desperate cause. The holy man was raised on a platform, and carried in the rear of the forlorn hope. The governor's good luck still adhered to him. A shot from a wooden gun, when the escalades were nearly close to the walls, knocked down the saint, on which the party took to their heels. A delay ensued; the siege was at last raised; and the commandant the voice of a regiment of soldiers. It finally covered with glory.

The Bank of England.

The bank of England possesses singular traditions and experiences. We heard the other day an anecdote, from an anthentic source, although it related to something that happened many years ago, before the lifetime of the present generation. The directors received an annonymous letter, stating that sembling to a great degree the description sible practice of relieving them by milking. the writer had the means of access to their given by the negroes. bullion room. They treated the matter as, a hoax, and took no notice of the letter. Another more urgent and specified letter failed to arouse them. At length the writer offered to meet them in the bullion-room at communicated with the correspondent through | rich by fraud and disloyalty; be without a bucketfull of warm water twice a day with the channel he had indicated appointing a place or power, while others beg their way a little meal, or even the slope of the family "midnight hour" for the rendezvous. A deputation from the Board, lantern in hand, repaired to the bullion room, locked themselves in, and awaited the arrival of the mysterious correspondent. Punctual to the hour crawl. Wrap yourself in your own virtue, such a drink, will soon teach any cow to a noise was heard below. Some boards in the floor were, without much trouble dis you have in such a course, grown gray with placed, and in a few minutes the gay Guy Fawks of the bank stood in the midst of the astonished directors! FIELD AND FIRESIDE.

The thrifty, prudent farmer,—one interested in his business, and who pursues it as well for the love of it as for the profit it will surely afford if conducted with system and econ-The following extraordinary story—which for want of space we have been compelled to condense—we have received from a perfectly reliable source. About twenty five miles from this city, but in this county, is a small stream known as Bear Greek, which empties into the Big Black river. The margin of both these streams, in that vicinity, for miles back is an almost impenetrable swamp, grown up with cane-brakes and wild, tangled vines, but filled with all kinds of game, including bear, deer and turieys. In pursuit of this performed at such time some needwith their including or some time past, atrange stories have been told by the negroes of an extraordinary animal seen near these always has plenty of time to receive and make calls upon his neighbors, attend to necessary business that frequently calls him away from home, and store his mind with useful knowner, gave graphic and startling descriptions of his appearance, but usually winding up with the declaration that it was the devil ledge. It is this very attention to his home which had been seen by them. One pecu- duties, this husbanding of his time, this conliarity, as described by the negroes, was that stant care to the little necessary fixings of from his tracks he seemed to be going both his farm and buildings that enables him to ways at once. OYSTERS .- We take from an exchange the following, which is well worthy of trial: We suppose that nine out of ten house keepers will contradict us point blank, in a statement that nine out of ten of them do not know how to stew a dish of ovsters. By the gular like that of a fowl. The hair on the lows, either the oysters are stewed and shrive eled out of all semblance of themselves in shape, size and flavor, or else the soup and thickening" has a raw taste that spoils it. Here is the right method. Try it at once, and we'll warrant you won't need telling the second time. Pick the oysters out of the juice with a fork, as dry as possible; stew the juice, thickening, milk; or water, of which, the soup is to be made, until thoroughly cooked; then drop the oysters in, and just as the cooled soup begins to show signs of simmering, empty out altogether, and you represent, has been seen by them at different will have rich soup and plump oysters, lus-cious enough to make you think you never times for several months, and that night has tasted oysters before.

SELECTING A Cow .- It is sometimes the case that the best judges will be deceived. A cow of very promising appearances, coarse in the neck, large boned, and second or third? rate milk marks generally, will now and then turn out to be first-rate, while another, with these marks largely developed, fine in the head and neck, and promising in every way, attention was attracted to an unusually large | will prove unsatisfactory | But a failure in this case is rare. Let the head be light, the forehead broad, the horn rather thin and clear the eye clear and prominent, the neck thin, and the forequarters rather light; the back straight, the hind quarters well developed, wide over the loins, the carcass deep, the udder coming forward and well shaped, the skin soft to the touch, the teats well set, not too large nor too small, the tail long and thin, like a whip-lash. . Such a cow ought to be a good one.-Ploughman.

KEEPING CALVES .- A calf kept in winter and summer, in thrifty growth, at two years old, will make as much and more beef, than one neglectfully kept at twice the age. The profit will be found on the side of the two year old, and the loss on the four year old; yet the owner of the latter has pursued this system, if system it may be called, with the idea that he was saving money. Keep the thrifty animal two years longer in the same way and something very bandsome in the way of beef will be the result-while the starvling can never pay the expenses of its rearing and GETTING WET .- When a person is wet he ought never to stand, but to continue in motion till he arrives at a place where he may be suitably accommodated. Here he should strip off his wet clothes, to be changed for such as are dry, and have those parts of his body which have been wetted, well rubbed with a dry cloth. The legs, shoulders and arms are generally the parts most oxposed to wet; they should, therefore, be particularly attended to. It is almost incredible how many diseases may be prevented by adopting

MILKING BEFORE CALVING .- A dairyman writes the Practical Farmer that the best cows he ever raised had to be milked soveral weeks before the period of calving. This practice was a preventive of garget, and tended to the general health of the animals. In our intercourse with those in that city whose facilities for obtaining reliable information and forming correct conclusions are supposed to be of a favorable character, we found that the impression was pretty general that the trial of Mr. Johnson, now about commencing, will result in his conviction under the articles preferred, and as a consequence, his removal from position. To such an extent does this impression prevail, that its influence is greatly felt on every business interest. There is an evident want of faith inanything like justice on the part of the radical tribunal before which the President's case is to be heard, and even those who would otherwise condemn the movement, assert that impeachment has become an imperative necessity for the future success of the radical party. Everything is to be made subservient to this success-the clamors of the New England hounds being more potent with the Jacobins who enjoy official position, than any sense of justice, or even the prospective de-country.

It is evident that if the leaders of the Abolition party are permitted to carry out their designs, says the Columbus (Ohio) Crisis, they will carry the whole country to that last extremity of social war which threatens the people of Tennessee. The agitation of the telegraph in connection with certain local disturbances in Tennessee, looks like a premonitory symptom of the revolution ceasing to be bloodless, and of its coming to that point where musketry and artillery are the only arbiters. There does not exist upon the face of the globe a more outrageous usurpation or scandalous tyranny than that which pretends to be the government of Tennessee. Violence, crime and confusion are the natural attendants of such an absolutism as that of BROWNLOW'S. The oppressed, gathering strength by every day's duration of such a swindle as Brown-Low's burlesque, make head against it, and so far frighten it that the recreant usurpers are compelled to dispatch messengers in hot haste to Washington for succor. To statesmen, or to men truly great, the disturbances in Tennessee would be surcharged with significance and responsibility; but to the wrangling demagogues at Washington they amount to less than the result of an election in a Loyal-League club. Infatuated with malignity and consumed with the greed of power and plunder, the Jacobins at the Capital drivel through and gap over speeches of the value of one shinplaster, while everything precious goes to wreck, and the whole country is menaced with a social war whose horrors no imagination can magnify.

NEGRO SUFFRACE.

A proposition was, a few days ago, before the State Senate of Pennsylvania to amend the constitution of that Commonwealth so as to allow negroes to vote. It was voted down. Only fourteen Senators voted for it, while sixty-four voted against it. The Senate is a Radical body, and for its conduct in this matter, is thus noticed by the New York Independent (Rad):

"The Republican majority acted in a base and cowardly manner, bringing disgrace upon themselves and their party. Shame on them !" The Radicals have no objection to forcing negro suffrage on other communities than those to which they belong. It is a good thing at a distance, very offensive at home.

STATE FUNDS.

In its reference to Governor Boreman's report on the "Civil Contingent Fund," the Wheeling Register thus pitches into his Excellency :-A brief examination of the report shows that an explanatory supplement thereto may not be altogether needless in the future. The Governor states, in his message accompanying. the report, that the "Civil Contingent Fund" is merely designated as a portion of the in Baltimore, until a few hours before going Treasury that may be used to meet expenditures in the administration of the State Government, the amount of which cannot be foreseen or specifically provided for by the Legislature." Hence we take it that this "Fund" carnot be applied to any purpose for which the Legislature has made specific and abun-

A comparison of the Governor's report with the Auditor's report proves that the theory of the first named official is not borne out by the facts. The Auditor shows that the Legislature of 1867 appropriated $1,000, to pay "cost of serving notices, summoning witnesses, &c., under the Registration Act of 1866," and that of this fund he paid out $237.33, leaving $762.67, to be applied to the objects thus "specifically provided for." The Governor reports that he expended $162.00 in Jefferson county for the above named purpose, and states several other items of outlay, which although vague, yet seem to have been incurred in the same way. By his own show ing the "Fund" in question is not to be used for objects amply and "specifically provided struction of the business interests of the for," and yet if his report be correct he has applied money from the "Fund" to an object for which the Legislature had made full and specific appropriation. So far as we can gather from his obscure wording of some of the items, he has used altogether for the object above named about $237.00. It is some what singular as well as suggestive, that the Auditor claims that he expended on the same account, the same sum of $237.00. Whether the Governor is claming credit for what the Auditor has expended, we shall not undertake to decide.

> The Auditor's report furthermore shows that the Legislature of 1867 appropriated $10,000 to pay counsel to defend the suit of Virginia vs. West Virginia, in regard to jurisdiction over the counties of Berkeley and Jefferson. The same report shows that this officer paid out $1,600 for this purpose, leaving $8,400 of that appropriation unexpended. How the Governor could conscientiously pay out $1,000 to Reverdy Johnson for the same purpose when he claims that his "Fund" could only be used for objects not "specifically provided for," we cannot exactly anderstand. We can only explain it on the idea before suggested, that possibly the Governor has inadvertently placed to his own credit an item of $1,000 which the Auditor had expended and himself charged against the State. Certain it is, that according to His Excellency's own theory of the "Fund," he would never have used intentionally any portion of it to pay counsel in the Berkeley and Jefferson case, seeing that the pay of such counsel had clearly been otherwise and "spe-'cifically provided for."

The report of the Auditor shows that he paid out $450,00 as the costs incurred in defending election suits, from an appropriation of $1,000 made by the Legislature of 1867 for that purpose. It is a remarkable coincidence that the Governor should have felt constrained to pay out $450.00 for similar if not the same purpose, and to the same men. Seeing that the cash had already been provided by the Legislature to help Radical election officers out of their tribulation, the generosity of the Governor is quite astonishing, especially as he applied that amount to a purpose to which by his own declarations it was not applicable. We presume that both to influence Judge Chase with reference to he and the Auditor wished to show their zeal in behalf of "the laws," and hence the little confusion incident to the payment of the same sum for a single object by both officials. It is presumable, however, that if both got credit for this money, the individual who claimed to have paid it, and didn't, would immediately and promptly return the amount to the "Conscience Fund," which, as a happy complement of the "Civil Contingent Fund," would evidently not be an inappropriate institution.

An Act of Cruelty

Mr. Bonner, of the New York Ledger, is certainly excusable for turning an honest penny by setting Mr. Grant, the father of the General of that name, at work, to puff into eminence his son. But Bonner has much to answer for, in beguiling from a respectable obscurity an innocent old gentleman, and inducing him to display his egotism and garrulity in the futile attempt to make a great man out of a very ordinary boy. THE IMPEACEMENT TRIAL. The Postponement of the McArdle Case

At a consultation of the Judges of the Inited States Supreme Court yesterday, the McArdle case came up in regular order for determination. A proposition was made to postpone further action upon the case, until after the legislation now pending before Conress to regulate appeals in such pases shall have been concluded. This was objected to by two of the judges, on the ground that the court is not charged with official knowledge of the mere pendency of such legislation, and that the court could take no judicial notice of legislative action until Congress has finally passed a bill and the same has become a lawin due form. A vote was taken upon the proposition to postpone, and six judges voted for postponement and two against it. So the the legislative branch to wrest a cause from the court after jurisdiction has been acquired, a portion of the court holding that whilst the legislature cannot take away a right already acquired under an existing law, it has the power to change the remedy by which the right is to be maintained or adjudicated; that the pending bill, if it shall become a law, will abolish the remedy by which McArdle seeks to obtain judgment, and therefore the court could not enter a decree upon the case as now presented upon the pleadings.

Other judges hold that this remedy is a part of the right that has accrued by existing laws, and cannot by act of Congress be taken from the party in court. The case comes up in open court to morrow, when it is expected that an announcement of the result above set

He has been in conference with leading republicans upon the proposed nomination of General Grant, and reliable report says he has vainly sought to get Chief Justice Chase committed to the support of that nomination. It is not a fact that Mr. Greeley has been attempting impeachment. The latter would not permit such propositions to be argued to him, and although Mr. Greeley's paper is vehemently urging the conviction of the President, it is known that Mr. Greeley was opposed to the impeachment project. He was in the West delivering Tectures when the Tribune took its stand in favor of impeachment, and it is alleged upon good authority that had he been in New York when the House passed the resolution, the tone of the paper would have been very different from what it has been.

Newspaper Troubles in Tennessee.

Col. Gallaway, editor of the Memphis Avalanche, having been committed to prison Wm. Hunter, Judge of the Criminal Court of Memphis, on a charge of contempt, his wife assumes, in the following card, editorial charge and conduct of that excellent paper. The card of this accomplished and high-spirited lady is marked by a fearless and outspoken regard for truth, while she does not in the least transgress the strictest limits of female delicacy and decorum. We commend the example of this brave and noble woman to the admiration of our readers, in these degenerate and violent days, "when no freeman is allowed to speak through the columns of any paper," without incurring the malevolence and violence of individual offenders, or the persecution of infamous men in power. The following appears at the head of the editorial column in the issue of Monday :- Lynchburg Re-

"Twenty-six years ago, I gave my girlish heart to the husband whose name I proudly own. We have lived through adversity and prosperity, but in whatever condition our lots have been cast calumny has never dared to assail my husband's name. Notwithstanding this fact, he was yesterday torn from his little family and is now a prisoner in the county jail; but, thank God, he is a prisoner without a crime. He has been torn from his home for the offense of exercising the rights which are his by the laws of the land. To a free country a free press is as indispensable as light is to day. It is, in fact, the sun of the social and political system from which emanate the healthy influence which produce vitality, strength and fertility. For exercising rights which the Constitution guarantees, my husband has been incarcerated in jail. Not only my prayers, but the prayers of all good people of both sexes will follow him in his prison cell. I shall not speak unkindly of the man who has sought to degrade my husband and has brought unhappiness upon two families. But as the principal editor and the local editor have both been arrested, and no freeman is allowed to speak through the columns of the Avalanche, there is no other alternative left but for me to assume the position forced upon me by the persecutions and misfortunes which despotism always brings upon the noble and the brave. A preconcerted arrangement has been made to crush out the paper. It cannot be done. #### "FANNY B. GALLAWAY." The Herald's New Candidate.

The New York Herald continues to push the nomination by the Democrats of Admiral Farragut for the Presidency. It thinks that his name would be a rallying cry which would bring out entire anti-radical strength and ensure success. Says the Herald:

"They (the Democracy) - must organize their fight around the name of Admiral David G. Farragut, the Old Salamander, the hero of Forts St. Philip and Jackson, the hero of Mobile, the little middy of the glorious old frigate Essex under Porter in the Pacific. This is the man for the Democracy. Much of the strength of the republican struggle in New Hampshire seems to have been due to the fact that Grant was kept forward so prominently that the issues of the war standing on the stump of his Appamattex apple tree, is a very pretty picture of abstract neroism; but a more magnificent presentation. one that will catch the popular eye with its more attractive charm, is that of the sailor hero in the shrouds of his ship, his whole figure lighted up by the fire of the battle raging below. This is the case for the democracy; let them fight it earnestly, and they will inevitably win."

Bold Express Robbery. A Messenger Knocked Down in his Cur and $10,000 Stolen.

At about 9.45 last evening, as the express train of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, due here at 10 o'clock, was leaving Galendale, a man entered the express car in which a messenger of the American Express Company was standing before his open safe, making up his money for Cincinnati. This messenger, Mr. S. B. Haymen, entirely unsuspicious of any danger, had no warning of the attack that was about to be made upon him, for almost simultaneous with his first glimpse of the man, as he instinctively felt his presence, he was felled to the floor, senseless, by a heavy blow as of a pistol or metal knuckles-a blow that cut his head and drew a profuse stream of blood, while it entirely deprived him of consciousness. Having done this part of the work, the bold robber kneeled down by the side of the messenger, and hurriedly examined the packages of cash, bonds and valuable papers. Having secured all the money he could find, estimated at from $10,-000 to $15,000, the scoundrel pulled the bell-rope, checked the train, sprang from it into the darkness, and made his escape, near Lockland, A brakesman saw him jump from the car, but did not suspect what his objectwas. The robbery was not discovered until the train was near the city, and then it was first noticed by the baggage-master, who, upon entering the car, found the messenger ying there as if dead, with the papers scattered all around. When he revived so as to be able to talk, the wounded man became delirious. He lives in Newport, but was taken, last night, to the house of one of his relatives in this city. Up to midnight he was still unable to converse sufficiently to tell anything save that, as soon as he discovered cinnati Commercial, March 12th.

New Hampshire.

We are at last able to present to our rea ers the almost complete returns of the New Hampshire election, and in spite of the disatches claiming the re-election of Harriman y an increased majority, we are now able to show that the Democracy have really made large gains. N. Hampshire, since 1855, has never been carried by the Democrats. The State has gone Republican by the following majorities for the past twelve years :

Republican majority

The returns from 223 towns give Harriman, Republican, 39,531; and Sinclair, Democrat, 36,923, showing a Radical majority of 2.608: The remaining eight towns last year gave a Democratic majority of 116, which will probably be increased, thus reducing the Radical majority of 3.146 in 1867 to 2,492 in 1868, a Democratic gain of 654. The Lower House of the Legislature stood in 1867, 203 Radicals to 128 Democrats; Radical majority 75. This year the Lower House stands 190 Radicals to 141 Democrats; Radical majority, 49, a Democratic gain of 26. It will be observed that the Democratic vote will exceed 37,000, a majority of the legal votes of New Hampshire. A glance at the map will show that New Hampshire is surrounded by the intensely Radical States of Vermont Maine and Massachusetts. This fact shows whence the increased Radical vote was derived. The vote of New Hampshire has hitherto never exceeded 71,000.

An examination of the vote by towns will show the damning fact that the Radicals have gained only in those tows bordering on Maine. Massachusetts and Vermont; while in the interior the Democrats gain largely. Colonization beat us, but that cannot be done in No-

It will be remembered that the Democratic ains here made were made on the vote of 1867, when the Democrats carried everything. Similar gains elsewhere will give us Connecticut by 3,000, and New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Nevada, California and Oregon by majorities that cannot be shaken.

A Boy of Fourteen commits Suicide in Baltimore.

A case of suicide causing great excitement occurred vesterday afternoon at the male grammar and primary school, No. 15, on Refacts learned it appears that a lad named of Mr. Charles Campbell, who is in the employ of Thomas Winans, Esq., was a pupil of the above mentioned public school. For some reason he had fallen under the displeasure of his teachers, resulting, as is aleged, in his dismissal. He was again received into the school, and, by way of punishment for his transgression, he was, it is stated, not allowed to play with his schoolmates. He told one of the female teachers of his feelings in the matter, threatening, as is alleged, to kill himself if denied the privilege of playing with his schoolmates. No notice was taken of his remarks, and vesterday afternoon, as one of the little children o the school was going into the yard, he found the body of young Campbell suspended by the neck in a shed of the yard attached to the school. The boy ran into the school-room and informed one of the lady teachers, who at first thought nothing of it. She afterwards, however, informed the principal. Mr. J. S. Arthar, who went into the shed where he found the boy hanging by the neck, with were fairly brought up again. Farragut is his knees resting on the ground. He was the card to play against this game. Grant, I immediately cut down, but life was extinct. The startling news spread like wildfire among the scholars, numbering some two or three hundred, and occasioned great excitement. The schools were dismissed, and Sergeant Handy, of the Western District Police, with a force of men, were promptly at the scene, and succeeded in allaying the excitement. Coroner Greentree was notified, and summoned a jury of inquest, which, after hearing some testimony, adjourned to meet at eight o'clock this morning. The body of the ill fated lad was removed to his parents' residence, No. 17 South Fremont street .- Balti-

CHEAP WHISKEY MARKET .- It is a matter of surprise to a great number of citizens how low the rates are at which whiskey is sold in this city. It is stated, on authority, and with good ground for the assertion, that the exhilarating fluid is at present sold in this market at $1 per gallon-a price considerably less than the tax imposed by act of Congress. Illicit manufacture is, of course, the cause assigned. and this practice is pursued, it is said, even under the eyes of government employees who. if not themselves engaged in the manufacture of the article, connive at its production and realize a rich harvest therefrom. Distilleries when seized by the government authorities, are placed in the hands of keepers, until the sale of the property is effected, which is postponed until such time as those in the ring decide upon. During the interval the manufacture of whiskey takes place. In this manner it is estimated that between 20,000 and 30,000 gallons of whiskey are manufactured daily in this city. Some startling disclosures will shortly be made to the Treasury Department in relation to the matter. - N. Y. Herald.

BOREMAN BLOWETH .- Boreman's name, says the Register, was yesterday added to the list of gubernatorial donkeys that have as a low-bred, vulgar criminal. shown their knowledge of their master's crib by braying in behalf of Congress. Colfax conveyed to the House of Representatives the Governor's assurance that West Virginia was ready to take the war-path to make Ben. Wade President. Along with the Legislature our Executive seems to forget that, when muster day comes, in spite of registration laws and test oaths, "a man's a man for a' that," and that a voting majority may happen to be a militia ininority. Imagine Borethe man the blow came, and he fell.- Cin- man calling out the State troops to fight for nine ditto sleeve buttons, a gold snuff box, one Congress when he annually avers that the peachment business, wouldn't they?

PENDLETON VS. BELMONT .- The Pendleton men here are beginning to talk pretty plainly to Mr. Belmont and his friends in Wall street. They say the feeling at the West just now is, Pendleton or nobody. They think too, that Mr. Belmont has too deep and direct a personal interest in the thought the gallant colonel will defer his management of the business of the foreign bondholders to be a safe manager-in chief of crisis. An effort therefore will be made to induce him to resign; but as there is another powerful interest at work within the parit.—Philadelphia Ledger:

Closing Scenes of the Tyng Case A New York letter to the Philadelph Ledger thus describes the conclusion of the Tyng case, which culminated in the public admonition of the offending clergyman by Bishop Potter, at the Church of the Transiguration, in New York, on Saturday. The Ledger correspondent says:

A dense crowd was present, and a number of policemen were on hand to keep down excitement and preserve order. After the usual morning prayer, Rev. Mr. Tyng took the position assigned to him and listened to the Bishop's admonition, which was read from printed slips. It is a lengthy document, and would occupy about two columns of the Led-

The Bishop said the duty devolving upon him was a painful one. It was so, not because he deemed the law of the church which has been violated harsh w unreasonable, nor on account of any want of fairness in the proeedings which had led L this result, but because of the grief which the felt in finding himself constrained to utter words of censure, where he would so gladly speak words of loving commendation.

At the conclusion of the admonitoin there was quite a scene, which is thus described: The Rev. Dr. Tyng, Sr., rose to read a written protest. He said: "Right Reve-The rector (Dr. Houghton) began at the same moment to read the prayers in the institution office, commencing: "Oh, Almighty, who has built thy Church on the foundaion of the Apostles and Prophets, &c." The Bishop, turning to Dr. Houghton, said with an emphatic wave of his hand, "Go on,

The Rev. Dr. Tyng then ceased reading, but remained standing. At the conclusion of the prayer the Bishop pronounced the blessing. As he was about to retire, the Rev. Dr. Tyng advanced Bishop, bowing received. After the Bishop and Clergymen had refired, an excited crowd gathered around Dr. Tyng, Jr.; some wished him to advance to the altar and make an address, others wished to shake hands with him, and others still hissed loudly. The police officers promptly interfered and prevented tumult.

"The Men to Reconstruct Virginia."

Joseph Ferguson, a very respectable young colored man, delivered a lecture last night, at Hillard's Hall on the subject which stands at the head of this paragraph. He contended that to do this great work as it should be done, men of ability, experience and statesmanship, must be placed in the positions occupied by the incompetents now at work at publican street, near Saratoga. From the the Capitol. He said truly that neither the respectable white men of this city, nor the Arthur Campbell, aged fourteen years, son better class of colored men, were represented by the delegates returned to the convention. It could not be claimed that Hunnicut, Underwood and Morrissey, represented a single respectable white man in the city; and that such ignorant people as Lewis Lindsay and Joe Cox certainly did not represent the intelligent and respectable portion of the colored people. He was particularly severe on the "carpet bag" politicians who had rushed to Virginia and had procured seats in the convention by humbuging and honeyfuggling ignorant negrees in the country districts. He denounced the efforts of men from New York and Massachusetts and Vermont and Pennsylvania to disfranchise the best white gentlemen in the State, and said if the illustrious Virginians, whose statues adorn the monument on the square, could look on the actions and doings of the "carpet bag" men in the convention they would be, like other Virginia gentleman, filled with unutterrable disgust.

Several negro members were present, but left before the lecture was concluded. One of the "carpet bags" was also on hand and sat it out. Ferguson did very well indeed for his first effort. He will continue his lecture for several weeks .- Richmond Eng.

The Affair at the Residence of Mr. J. S. Moon.

The Albermarle "ghost" has raised the ire of the editor Scottsville Register, who discourses as follows in Saturday's issue: The cowardly miscreant who, laving aside the character of ghost, undertook to play, theatrically, the role of assassin at the residence of Mr. Moon on Sunday last, (about the middle of the day,) in the absence of both Mr. M. and his eldest son, shall not be gratified by having his feats on that occasion chronicled in the Register. This creature is evidently, an admirer of the horse-thief heroism taught in the lowest literature of the times. It is consoling to believe his vile propensities will not long permit him to defraud the gallows of its due, however, cunningly he may contrive for the present, by consorting with negroes, to vent his low mallice towards Mr. Moon without exposing himself to danger. The base enmity which leads him to take revenge by terrifying women and children, instead of seeking an open, manly and fair contest, classes him as one of the lowest of his species, whoever the individual may be. Or, if under a weight of infamy too heavy to lift, or by birth, education, and training incapable of manly feelings and gentlemanly association, he is, without malicious motive, only seeking to win notoriety, in place of fair reputation, which he feels is beyoud his reach, he should teffect that characters described in paper-backed novels and periodicals never had real existence, and it s impossible for him to figure otherwise before our matter-of-fact, every-day world, than TREASURE FOUND .- A gentleman from Hanover informs us that a widow lady, residing near Ashland, was rewarded Saturday by the finding of a treasure valued at over, $1,900 During the latter part of the war, when Hanover was so frequently subjected to the visits of raiders, this lady placed in an earthen pet three gold watches, with chains attached, belonging respectively to herselfand two daughters: five plain gold rings, two ditto broaches, dozen silver table spoons, one dozen tea s Federal forces are necessary to execute the a silver urn, tea-pot, eream jar and sugar dish. laws in a time of peace! Since the termination of the war every effort to find the treasure has proved unsuccessful until last Saturday, when strangely enough the hiding place was discovered by a dog, who ran a mole into a hole, which led directly to the earthen jar. It is somewhatremarkable that the lady kept the burial of thejar a profound secret, lave among the members of her own immediate family. Our informant states that there was great rejoicing in the household, on Saturday .-Richmond Inquirer.

LETTER FROM LEETOWN. LEETOWN, March 20th, 1868.

Mr. Editor:-We are alive and calcitrating in our thriving borough, and enjoying a most gratifying immunity from disease. The healthfulness of the place for the last two years has been notorious, and a great variety of opinions as to the cause prevail. Some maintain that where a community has unbounded confidence in its resident physician as to skill, there is not much sickness. No one wishing to incur the ridicule of being sick to-day and well to morrow, which is sure to be the case if you have a good doctor. Another theory. A good physician generally makes a pretty stout pill and persons are fain to keep well in order to avoid swallowing it. Eschewing all useless speculation as to causes, it is certainly true that Lectown is a very healthy place. Our doctor has quit his practice and gone to farming-no wonder! no one got sick. He acted a while as township clerk, but a misunderstanding having arisen between him and the sovereigns he resigned. The sovereigns were very sorry and thought the dector had heaved it to them tolerably stout. The sovereigns should have care how they question official prerogatives in future.

There is a difficulty in getting a proper person to fill the vacint office, on account of the notorious disloyalty of the people. Some are in favor of sending to Massachusetts for a clerk, but then the distance is so great, and the expense and delay would be great objections. But a rebel cannot, and shall not, fill it! The public preference seems to be drifting towards a coloured gentleman in our town, named Burns, who although not much of a scholar, is a strong man, or will be, as summer is approaching. Burns will accept the position.

Mr. Editor, it is desirable to have all offices filled by loyal men, and we are laboring in Averill Township to bring this about. I could tell you a siring of anecdotes as long as your leg, illustrating the boldness, persistency and cunning of our few loyal men, which no doubt would delight you hugely. I must not run the risk of incurring a suspicion of partiality by naming Anthony Turner as one of the best fellows in the world. You would laugh till hoarse if I were to tell you how he circumvented rebels at the polls. You know how our mutual friend, James Pitcher, walked into G. W. Shirley's affections, to the tune of several hundred; well, that was decidedly sharp-but I tell you that James is not a circumstance to Anthony. But in a prayer meeting he has no equal except brother Lindsay; he can "hollar" louder than a donkey, and "the Devil has to git." faster than ever lightning chased a squirrel down a hickory sapling. Dear Mr. Editor. I must close this interesting letter, by reminding that you shall hear from our town Yours'till death,

He was employed on the bridge, and had gone up to adjust one of the top plates, when some of the fastenings gave way, precipitating the unfortunate man a distance of about 60 feet, the falling timbers breaking both legs and crushing his head and skull, producing instantaneous death !

Berkeley County.

From the New Era we clip the following: - The Dramatic reading by Miss Belle Boyd, Monday night, was not largely attended. In the May Queen, and several other pieces, she acquitted herself quite creditably, though in some of the more difficult she scemed to lack the experience which guarantees entire success. The small audience which greeted the appearance of Miss Boyd Monday night, is in a great degree attributable to the lack of appreciation, on the part of our citizens, of entertainments of a literary character. A minstrel troupe would secure a larger audience than Dickens.

From the Union we clip the following :-- Our Sheriff received a letter from the aspector of Police at New York, on Thursday morning of last week, stating that a Frenchman had been arrested there, supposed to be Luciani, convicted here for the murder of his wife. It seems he was pedlling confectionery on the street, and was ecognized by Mr. Wm. Meracle, who was jailor at the time he made his escape. He ives his name as Pierre Morin, and denies knowing anything of Luciani; but Mr. Meracle, who ought to know, says it is him. The necessary requisition on the Governor of New York was received on Tuesday last, and on Wednesday morning Sheriff Pitzer started

-There were twenty-three town lots sold Harrisonburg last week, at prices ranging rom $60 to $310. Harrisonburg has now within its corporate limits fourteen hundred acres, included in a circumference of six and three-fourths miles.

There are numbers of people on Garden Mountain, Botetourt and Rockbridge counties, who have nothing to eat | but dry corn bread. A gentleman informs us that he has ecently seen girls, 16 and 17 years old dressed in nothing but a thin cotton dress in and no meat to be had .- Staunton Virg.

ACCIDENT AND CHEMICAL DISCOVERY .-Mr. Ferdinand Zeiler of this town, says the New Market Valley, had his fingers terribly accrated on Saturday evening last by the explosion of a small piece of lunar caustic, which he was envieworing to re-insert in a quill. Nitrate of silver has never been considered explosive, to our knowledge, and we suppose the only solution to this otherwise chemical mystery is to be found in the fact that the stick of caustic had been kept in a wooden match-box, out of which the matches had long since been used. The wood of the match-box having become impregnated with the sulphur of the matches, we suppose, by chemical affinity for the silver, it was absorbed by it and the result was an explosive compound. Attlibugh the stick was not more than half an inch in length, the report of the explosion was equal to that of a rifle. This is making discoveries at considerable cost at the start, but it may be of considerable benefit to the scientific world.

REAL ESTATE

The "Cave Farm" FOR SALE. THIS very productive Farm, belonging to the heirs of the late Andrew Kennedy, is offered at Private Sale. This farm lies two niles South of Charlestown, and contains a little less than 400 Acres of as rich Limestone Land as can be found in the Shenandoah Valley; some 80 acres of which is the MEAVILY TIMBERED. It is divided into six fields, for cultivation, of equal size exclusive of the House Grounds and Orchard. THE IMPROVEMENTS are abundant for the uses of the farm. The main

DWELLING HOUSE is built of Stone, and contains Eight Rooms. The TENANTHOUSE, SERVANTS QUAFFERS, BARN, CORN-HOUSE, BLACKSMITH SHOP, and other Out-Buildings, are in good condition. THE ORCHARD IS A LARGE ONE.

filled chiefly with prime and healthy APPLE and PEACH TREES, of approved varieties.

This tract of land is nearly square in form, and is susceptible of division into two equal parts, by a lane which runs from the farm buildings to the centre of the wood land; and bids will be received for the whole, or either half of it.

Persons desirous of purchasing are requested to call on John Selden, on the premises, who will take pleasure in showing the property, and describing the proposed mode of division; and the terms can be ascertained either from him or the undersigned, be ascertained either from him or the undersigned acting for the other heirs.

March 3, 1868. . ANDREW E. KENNEDY. DESIRABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE. THE heirs of the late Andrew Konnedy, offer for sale the property in this town now in the occupancy of John W. Kennedy. The LOT contains an ACRE OF GROUND, and is improved with a com-Dwelling House. and necessary OUT-BUILDINGS. The Dwelling House has six rooms, exclusive of those in the base-ment, and is in good condition, having been repaired thoroughly during the past year. The terms of sale will be cash on the 1st of next month, on which day possession can be had. Any informa-tion as to price, &c., can be obtained from John W. Kennedy, on the premises, or from the under signed. ANDREW E. KENNEDY, March 3, 1868.

Bec Hives

THE undersigned baving purchased the right and entire and complete control of LANGSTROTH'S PATENT BEE HIVES, for the county of Jefferson, are prepared to furnish material with recent improvements, to all who may want them. For their merit and great superiority over any and all other hives, we refer to any and al persons who have them in use, of whom there are many in this vicinity. We can vouch for over three hundred pounds of pure virgin Honey having been taken from three of these Hives in 1865, besides leaving an abundant supply for the winter use of the bees in the lower or breeding department. As there are some persons in this county who have these Hives in use who have no papers to show their authority for using them, we hereby notify them that we will place our claims for their use, with damages, in the hands of a Lawyer for settlemen in the United States Court, if they disregard this notice by not obtaining the proper authority from us. We have paid our money for this right, and do not intend that it shall be used by any one without authority and payment of the patent ice. There is but one side to this question before the United States Courts, where the costs are very heavy, in dependent of damages. As we are reluctant (though determined) to take this course, we hope no one will disregard this notice. This patent has been extended for seven years from the 5th of October, 1866. We also caution all persons (not authorized) against manufacturing said Hives in this county.

We have ordered some of Lengstroth's new work on the Honey Bee, and expect soon to have them for sale.

FERTILIZERS. TO THE COTTON, CORN & TOBACCO Growers of the Southern States DXCELSIOR

WE again call the attention of the Farmers and Planters of the South to this tried and popular Fertifizer, assuring them that it is, as heretofore, THE MOST CONCENTRATED and DURABLE FERTILIZER OFFERED FOR SALE.
The experience of the most prominent Planters for the past eight years has demonstrated beyond all doubt that 100 pounds of Elcelsior is equal to about 200 to 300 pounds of any other Fertilizer or Guano in the growth of Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, Wheat, &c. We refer to every one who has used it to optoply our assertion. EXCELSIOR is in fine dry powder, prepared especially for drilling in any quantity, however small per acre. Uniformity of quality guaranteed by the manufacturers.

J. J. TURNER & CO.

Farmers of Jefferson and Clarks. The numerous certificates on liand will prove the efficacy of same. We can also supply COR'S. RAYNE'S. TO WAY SEND'S, and other Fertflizers that may be desired. We have also Poudrelle, a cheap and valuable manure for Corn or Oats.

To these Fertilizers the attention of the Farmer is called and early orders solicited, as in sums cases the supply has not equalled the deman?

March 10, 1868.-2m SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO.

FARMERS intending to fertilize their CORN CROPS will find this GUANO equally well adapted to that as to other ENOPS. It can be applied either in the hill or broadcast. Applied in the hill it gives the crop a healthy and vigorous start. A broadcast application sustains the crop better through the season, and is to be preferred except where the suil is good. where the soil is good.

Tell me, ye winged winds,
That round my pathway play,
Is there no place on earth
Where printers get their pay?
The whispering breeze went by
With accent filled with wo, A voice borne on the sorrowing air, in sadness answered "No!"

Tell me, ye flowing streams.
That smoothly glide along.
Is there one cherished place
Where printers meet no wrong?
The gentle brook replied.
In murmurs soft and low—
And winding on its verdant var. It meekly answered "No!"

Tell me, ye murky clouds,
Now rising in the west,
Is there one spot on earth
By happy printers blest?
The flashing clouds outspake—
With an indignant glow a voice that filled the earth with awe, In thunders answered "No!"

Tell me, hard-hearted man, Withholding day by day, is there no honor in thy breast. The printer's bill to pay? Unanswering turns he round— How plain his actions show, A muttered, oath-capt sor od is heard, His actions answer "No!"

Tell me, ye gentle nymphs,
Who bless life's hours through, Is there one sacred shrine Where printers gain their due? A mantling blush her cheek suffused, Did tenfold grace impart-A soft response replied.
"Tis found in woman's heart."

Tell me, angelic hosts, Ye messengers of love, Shall suffering printers here below Have no redress above?
The angelic bands replied —
"To us is knowledge given— Delinquents on the printer's books, Can never enter Heaven!"

ARRANDALE & CO.'S GREAT WATCH CLUB. Everybody needs a good watch, and wishes to get it at the lowest possible price; a hordeof swindlers knowing this have contrived various ingenious devices to get people's money, and then either fail to send a watch, or send one that is worthless as a time-keeper. ARRANDALE & CO., have now perfected arrangements by which, for the small sum of $10, a good and reliable watch may be CERTAINLY d. They have formed a GREAT WATCH CLUB on the following plan. Cortificates containing the numbers of all the watches named in our wholesale list (which is sent to all applicants) are mixed up, enclosed in envelopes, and sold for 25 cents each. Every certificate is WARRANTED to be for a watch, and as will be seen on reference to the list, none are of less value than Ten Dollars, whilst some are worth $300. We undertake to send any watch drawn whatever may be its value for $10 and in order that every one may absolutely depend upon getting a first class time-keeper, we guarantee that every purchaser of One Dollar's worth of certificates shall receive at least one for watch No. 533 on our wholesale list, sent post free, which is a first class patent lever, a handsome and reliable watch, in sterling silver hunting case, and usually sold for $40. You will certainly get such a watch; and, besides, you may get a GOLD CHRONOMETER worth $500. We sell the certificates as follows: One for 25 cents, Three for 50 cents; Six for $1; and Twenty for $3. To those sending $1, we will send a handsome chain gratis. To those sending $3, we will send a GOLD CHAIN warranted not to tarcish in 20 years. Parties getting larger clubs will receive liberal presents, particulars of which may be learned on application. As it is our intention to do a strictly honorable business, and to insure our customers from liability to loss, we will

Order, and it will then be at our risk. We will then REGISTER the package at our post office, and if lost replace it free of charge. If any watch sent is not approved, it may be returned and the mouey will be refunded. The reputation of our firm which has been established for five years, and is well known in every part of the country, we trust will be deemed a sufficient guarantee that we will faithfully perform all we contract to do.

REEVE'S AMBROSIA FOR THE HAIR,

Improved. THE experience of over one hundred years in the cultivation and preservation of the Hair, is now embodied in this widely known preparation. For dressing, curling and preserving the Hair, it has no equal in the world. Three or four applications will stop the Hair from falling off, and if used occasionally, it will prevent hair losing its original color during a lifetime. No preparation equals it for RESTORING the hair quickly; and no preparation has been more extensively endorsed by the medical faculty for its perfect innocence as regards injury to the hair or head, and for its tonic effects upon the system. Price, large buttles $1. Druggists, Deal-ers in Fancy Goods, and Storekeepers generally, liberally dealt with. Retailed in all parts of the

THE MOST RELIABLE CUSHION used in Billiard Tables is the

CAT-GUT CUSHION,

Manufactured by KAVANAGH & DECKER, and Patented Dec. 18, 1865. (See Scientific American; Vol. 16, No. 11.)

It is the ONLY Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a PERFECT Cushion. It is the most elastic and most durable Cushion ever offered to the billiard-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the CAT-GUT Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the tightened ord of cat-gut which overlies the tace and edge of the rubber and running the full length of the Cushion which prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the table. The addition of the cat-gut cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The CAT-GUT Cushion has already been applied to over 1,000 tables which are in constant use. If can be applied to tables of any make for $75 per set.

Middleway, Jeff. Co . W. Va., MR. GEO. H. BECKWITH: Dear Sir-A few days since I sprained my ankle very severely. It was badly swollen, and very painful—I could not get on my boot. A friend gave me some of your Liniment. I used it once only rubbed long and well at night, and the next morn-ing was so far relieved as to a able to get on my boot and walk without limping.

I believe it to be the greatest Liniment now known, and recommend it to every one.

I am, sir, yours gratefully.
