CHARLESTOWN, VA.

Tuesday Morning, April 28, 1868.

Now for the Presidency.

The Radicals having staked their all on Connecticut, and proclaimed far and wide that the election of Jewell would be an indorsement of General Grant for President; and still further, having adorned their ballots with the head-line "Grant and Jewell," under which were pictures of these worthies, it becomes interesting to forecast the proba-ble result of the Presidential election, based upon that of the recent contest in Connecticut. We have, therefore, collated a few figures bearing upon the point, showing the 13- Job Lots received daily from New York majority given by the States to be enumerated at their last general election, their probable majorities next fall, based upon the vote of the two contending, parties in Connecticut, and the electoral votes to which they will be entitled, and which they will be likely to cast for the Democratic candidate: Men's and Boys' Clothing, CHARLESTOWN, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY APRIL 28, 1863. - POETICAL Mrs. Lincoln's Book—Exposures of Radical Rascality.

It seems that Mrs. Lincoln's "book," in spite of all the efforts to keep it back, is nearly ready for the press, and will soon make its appearance. The politicians, office-holders, and shoddy contractors who owe their places and fortunes to her influence, and who turned their backs upon her when her troubles came, may look out for squalls. The Louisville Journal says: An Illinois editor has been permitted to look through some of its pages, teeming with all that is rich and rare in Radical rule and rascality. Hundreds of prominent members of the Radical party are painted in colors that will make them still more prominent, but, if. possible, far less respectable. The Illinois editor gives us an inkling of what is to come. He refers especially to the case of John A. Logan. In connection with this fresh blown stateman, Mrs. Lincoln records the history of a diamond ring-a splendid solitaire. When Logan presented it to her he gave her to understand that it cost him several hundred dollars. Remembering how few there were of Logan's friends with whom his word was as good as his well-endorsed bond, she sent the ring to a New York jeweller with a request that he would tell her the value of it. As she anticipated the ring turned out to be worthless-or very nearly so, the jeweller placing its value at eighteen dollars-and it was returned to Logan with a message which he probably remembers.

From this little incident we may form some idea of the quality of Mrs. Lincoln's book.—
It is to be hoped that she will not suffer herself to be deferred from publishing it. The public will readily take a bundred thousand copies, and from its safe she will realize quite as much as her cast-off finery would have brought her. .

Behind the Scenes."

This is the title of a book by "Mrs. Keckley, for thirty years a slave, but more recently modiste and triend to Mrs. Lincoln." which will shortly be published. It is pretty liberally interspersed with miscellaneous and will be a rich morsel for scandal-mongers. We are treated with displays of feminine jealousy on the part of Mrs. Lincoln, and of the moral and religious character of her husband. Mrs. Lincoln's opinions of generals and statesmen are given. She says of Chief Justice Chase, then Secretary of the Treasury, in conversation with her husband, that "he is anything for Chase. If he thought he could make anything by it he would betray you tomorrow." Of Mr. Seward: "It makes me mad to see you sit still and let that hypocrite Seward twine you around his finger as if you were a skein of thread." General McClellan she pronounces to be "a humbug!" General Grant even is not exempt from the withering criticism of this worthy lady. "Yes, he generally manages to claim a victory, but such a victory! He loses two mem to the enemy's one. He has no management, no regard for life. If the war should continue four years longer, and he should remain in power, he would depopulate the North. I could fight There is a falsehood on the face of it, for an army as well myself. Thousands of thy battlemen

Slumber 'neath their shields
Fallen is thy grandeur,
Wild and desolate
Lie thy broad dominious;
Oh hapless, hopeless State.
Mountain-side and river
Devastation claims;
Naught is left unto thre
Save a thousand names—
Names all wreathed with glory,
Dauntless valor won—
Names to live in story
For deeds of glory done.
Wasted are thy tressures. Wasted are thy treasures.
Gory is tny breast,

'The Banner of the South! This is the title of a weekly parer just started in Augusta, Ga., by Father A. J. RYAN, at $3 a year. It is needless for us to say anything of the man, the priest poet and Christian patriot of the South, whose name is a household word, and whose tongue like Isaiah's seems touched with a living cal from the altar of Divine inspiration. We py below that portion of his salutatory in which he defines the politics of his paper. To say a word in its praise would be "gilding refined gold." He says : In politics, we shall be independent. belong to no party. Mere partizans we shall never be, but holding ourselves aldif from party and prejudices, we shall take the liberty to discuss all public questions, publismeasures and public men-not in their relations to party, but in their relation with principles and the welfare of society. By birth and sentiment we are of the South. Dearer tran all other interests of this world, to us, at those of our own land. Over these interests we shall watch. Firmly and faithfully shall defend them, and more so now than ever when those interests are in such i eed of brave defence and true defenders. Helieving as we do, that the South had right, and reason, and principle, on her side in the late, war, we feel that we should not let the traditions and memories and glories of the truggle pass into oblivion. We must keen them alive and aglow-we must pass them diwnwe must make our children proud of them. There is not a day nor a deed of the struggle of which we may feel ashamed. We we it to the past to preserve the story of our strugêle, and the future will not forgive us if we fail to record it. And in recording it we must not use words of apology, as the gh we doubted of the righteousness of our sause; but, plainly and fearlessly, true to on selves, to our cause, to our country—true to the dust at our feet—true to the spirits of those who were so true to us-true to the Future which is coming down to ask of us the vind cation of our course and the story of our past-we must declare and still declare, and never cease declaring, in words as brave as our warriors were; that in the dread struggle in which our Flag went down with not a stain of dishonor on the virgin purity of its folds. Justice stood on the side of the men who wore the Grey. And Justice has not changed sides because we have been defeated. Unconquered and unconquerable. Justice is still with the conquered. The success of our cause has been lost-not its right; fe failure can never make right wrong, nor con success transform the iniquity of wrong into the sacredness of right, & Brute force goes down into the battle fields not to test the rightfulness of causes but to try the strength o combatents. The success of the sword is to argument in favor of the cause for which it has been unsheathed. The surrender of the sword is no argument against the cause which drew it from the scabbard. Shot and shell do not reason—they are slaughter—and slaughter, be it more or less, is only slaughter-it is no argument for or against the rights of those who kill or are killed. Bullets may mangle flesh-spill blood-slay men-but they can never reach the vital principles for which men contended. These principles are beyond the range of muskets and cuinon. Battle-fields may be the burial places of men -never of rights. Above the smoke and storm and shock of battles, unaffected by victory or defeat, calm, and immovable, Justice sits on her eternal throne, and in he eyes right is right for ever-wrong is et pally wrong-and trampled right is grande than triumphant wrong. From the decision given against us in the court of battle, we merefor appeal; and these decisions we carry up to the high tribunal of Justice for reversal. This, and this alone, was settled by battlethat we were the weaker party. We had less brute force on our side and we were obliged to yield to the superior strength of our a sailants. The armies and government of the Confederacy were but the mortal flesh and blood of an immortal cause.

blood of an immortal cause. nor lead, could touch its life, nor take it away. It is living in the loves of Southern hearts-it is living in the memories of the Southern dead-it is living in the stories which Southern mothers are telling their little children-it is living in the sorrows and tears of our widows and orphans. And we shall keep it alive. The right of our cause did not fall with Richmond. It exists to-day as clearly as it did when the first boom of our guns sounded across the Carolina waters, and when the Palmetto flag-mid the ringing of bells, and the rapture of gladdened hearts friends. Right began our strugle, right justified and ennobled it, right and ted our soldiers, right made them strong to suffer, strong to endure; right made them brave to dare, and bravest of all, to die; right marched with them, step by step, into every gory field; right flashed in the sheen of their awords, and thundered in the boom of their cannons in every fray; right wreathed a glory around their banners wherever their ban-ners were borne; right consecrated their vic-tories and consoled them in their defeats; right lit in their hearts the flames of that heroism which blazed out into deathless deeds; right nerved them to every sacrifice they made, to every hardship they endured ; right lit beacon fires of glory on the plains of Manassas, on the heights of Fredericksburg, in the swamps of the Chickshominy, in the trenches of Richmond, on the mountains of Tennessee, in the battle places of Kentucky, on the soil of Georgia, on the semboard of the Carolinas, in the wilds beyond the Mississippi; and, now, right stands amid our ruins and graves, and pointing to the glories of our cause and waiting in hope for the terrible retribution of the future, lifts towards the heavens in the protest. We stand by the past of our country and cause and we accept no Future which will not accept that Past. There are men who bend their principles before the bayonet .-There are men who desert lhe altars of a lost cause round which they once stood with the blood in their hearts panting for liberation, and who kneel to offer homage at the altars of successful wrong. There are men pho trample under foot the very standards that once floated proudly over them. There is men base enough to lift their hands against the very rights for which they once uplift d swords. We are no such. For us, principle is principle, right is right—yesterday to-day-to-morrow-forever. Submission to might is not surrender of right. We yield to the one-but shall never yield up the other.

the manacled hands, which, there at least,

have never pleaded in vain, and solemnly wrong; and we for one, join now and always

We shall do our best therefore, to save from oblivion the memories and traditions of the Confederacy. Where in the South is ashamed of these had better not read "THE BANNER OF THE SOUTH "Amid the questions which agitate the present, we should never lose pride in our sist. It is too grand to be forgotten. Pass down its memories they should live forever.

> [From the Charlottesville Cronicle.] Southern School Books.

We wish to call the attention of Teachers and Parents, to this subject, again, not to show how injurous to the minds of the Southern youth, are the false and trashy vankee, works. so largely used, but to notice a new school history of the United States; now almost ready for publication-from the pens of two young Virginians of the Valley. Satisfied as we are, that nothing can be more destructive to morals or religion and nothing Fore subversive of the truth of history, than the sentiments and the fact that have for iny years scattered so industriously over ur country, by the exertions of Northern blishers, we are always ready to well he cordially any Southern work which promies to supply the demand for instruction in lay department. School history has been heretofore the favorite, because the most obvious, means by which the so-called Isms have been propagated everywhere-and it is therefore the first branch to which those reoposing to prepare School Books should tung their attention. We happen to know the authors of the book now offered to the public, the one by reputation, and the other from a long and intimate acquaintance at school and college-and can fully endorse them as men who bring to their task, not only talents but a conscientious determination to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

We give a portion of their preface, that they may tell for themselves the design and character of their work. "For nearly a century the Puritans have written the School Books of America Through these, by craftily insinuating er into the minds of the young, they have pro gated their peculiar ideas, and established their nower. The fear of detection bas, however. sharpened their ingenuity in devising mode of concealment. In the primers, grammers, readers. Puritanic doctrine sneaks und served into notice, in the company of inticent truths which nobody disputes.

"In the geographies and histories strategy is different. Here the opportunity for misrepresentation is greater, but the guise is not so complete. Sometimes the indulge in a mere exaggeration of actual events: but the more usual mode is to prevert or suppress unsuitable facts.

"That the South should have been hoodwinked for so long a time in the matter of. grammars and readers, is deplorable; but that she should have been contented to learn Southern history from hereditary enemies, is almost incredible. It is time to turn over a new leaf. Americans who love truth must reject the cunning fictions of the Puritans. and the South must rescue her glorious past from the grave of obloquy.

"Sincerely believing that the success of our enterprise will advance the cause of downtrodden Truth, we are emboldened to ask in its behalf the countens e and support of the Southern Press. In ed, encouragement should be freely given to all who volunteer in the crusade against error. Much has yet sheets. Instead of the pepper, bitter apple They are gone—it is living. Nor steel, to be done before her supremacy is overthrown. The accumulated slanders of a century must be removed, and the minds of the rising generation sown with new impressions, before the South can hope for a vindication of her fame and character.

FIELD AND FIRESIDE.

Deep Tillage. Most farmers would plow their lands two three inches deeper than they now do, if were not so hard work for their teams. A pair of horses will turn a furrow seven or eight inches deep, and plow an acre and a half or two acres a day; but when the plow is run to ten or twelve inches, it is too hard for most teams to draw it; consequently, many farmers prefer to plow more shallow, and take their chances for a good crop.

For Corn, when sod ground is turned over, it is advisable to plow only just deep enough to turn the sod over flat, with some six inches of the earth beside, making with sod and all about eight inches. This is about as deep as sod land should ever be plowed, because when you go deeper, the sod is turned more upon its edges, which is a bad system of plowing; but the next time the land is plowed after the sod has become rotted; it would be well to plow a foot deep, at least, and some soils 15 to 18 inches would be better, if one has teams to do it, two pair of horses, or two yoke of oxen.

Not all soils, however, will bear plowing so deep, and be advantageous. Light and sandy soils should not be plowed so deep as to throw up a stratum of sub soil that is almost unproductive; but clay loams that extend down 18 inches may be plowed as deep as any ordinary plow can be made to run, and it will be greatly benefitted thereby. Deep plowing not only benefits the land. by mixing the surface and sub-soils; but it also prevents any serious loss of crops from the droughts. Indeed, hardly an instance is on record where a crop has been badly injured by the drought, when the land was ploughed from 12 to 15 inches deep. The reason is this: the porosity of the soil below the roots of the plants allow a constant rising of moistures from below, which could not occur if the land had been plowed no deeper than the roots of the plants penetrate.

How to Grow a Large Crop of Corn.

In April, gather together all the leached and unleached ashes, and the dropping of the poultry house, and under cover, mix and thoroughly incorporate, ready for use. About the 25th of April or first of May, drag the ground all to pieces, and then drag it over again, May 8th to 10th, drag again and mark the rows four feet apart each way. May 10th to 14th plant seven or nine grains in a hill. With two boys or girls drop the seed at the intersection of the rows, one man can plant three or four acres per day. Cover one inch

Immediately after planting, before the corn sprouts, out with your compost of ashes and home-made guana, and drop from two to four spoonsfull on each hill. As soon as you can follow the rows nicely, go in and cultivate both ways. All the scare crow you want in the field is - yourself. Thin out to five plants in a hill. When the corn is four or five inches high cultivate and weed and hour carefully with a hand hoe. Then cultivate as often as once in ten days until it is toud large to drive a horse among.

Never hill corn up, its roots need all the heat of the sun to perfect its growth. As soon as it is in the tassel, go through it with the corn knife, and cut all weeds close to the ground, so as to let in the air and sun-shine to mature the crop. HOW TO KEEP FRESH MEAT .- Steak, pork and beet,) sausages, puddings, etc., can be kept fresh the 'year round,' by frying and seasoning when fresh, the same as for the table, packing down in crocks or lard cans, and pouring hot lard over them, covering about one inch. When needed, scrape off the lard and heat through. This is valuable information to farmers and others, who kill a beef and dispose of a portion at a low rate, and then are unable to procure fresh meat during the summer. Those who have adopted this plan assert that it is impossible to detect any difference between the preserved and the recently prepared meats.

A GOOD WAY TO USE COLD BEEF-STEAK.-Chop together the cold steak and a few slices of dry bread; place in a pan and turn boiling water over it; season with butter , pepper and salt; then make a crust asfor biscuit and line a deep dish; turn in your mixture, and sprinkle flour over it and put on a top crust. THE IMPEACEMENT.

The strong probability is that the Presidential term of Mr. Johnson will find its conclusion before the issue of our next paper. Qa Wednesday last, the Puritan Boutwell opened the argument in behalf of the prosecution, and was replied to on the part of the President's counsel by Mr. Nelson. The argument of Boutwell was just such a one as might have been expected, filled up with falsekoods, which he tried to palm off as facts. The Baltimore Gazette, in speaking of his rhetorical flights, as specimens of turgid bombast, says they are unequalled in this way. He said some things that remind us of the immortal ELIJAH POGRAM and JEFFERSON BRICK. The public is aware that the President has been impeached because he desired, like all his predecessors, to have about him as confidential advisers men whom he trusted and respected; because he sought to test the constitutionality of a revolutionary enactment of Congress, and because he made, a year or so ago, sundry foolish speeches. Under these circumstances, BOUTWELL arraigns him as the "great criminal," and in a harangue full of falsifications of the grossest sort he has packed a vast deal of carefully manipulated stuff which is to do duty as eloquence. Lest it should be lost on the public, which will probably read his speech in a very cursory way, we reproduce one extract. It runs as follows:

"Travellers and astronomers inform us that in the Southern Heavens, near the Southern cross, there is a vast space which the uneducated call the hole in the sky, where the eye of man, with the aid of the powers of the telescope, has been unable to discover nebu læ, or asteroid, or comet, or planet, or star, or sun. In that dreary, cold, dark region of space, which is only known to be less than infinite by the evidences of creation elsewhere, the Great Author of celestial mechanism has left the chaos which was in the beginning. If this earth were capable of the sentiments and emotions of justice and virtue, which in human mortal beings are the evidences and the pledge of our Divine origin and immor tal destiny, she would heave and throw, with the energy of the combined forces of air, fire and water, and project this enemy of two races of men into that vast region, there forever to exist in a solitude eternal as life, or as the absence of life, emblematical of, if not really that "outer darkness" of which the Saviour of man spoke in warding to those who are the enemies of themselves, of their race and of their God." It is barely possible that some one member of the Senate-Mr. CHARLES SUMNER, perhaps-may think this all very fine. The idea that "if this earth were capable of the sentiments and emotions of justice and virtue," &c., "she would heave and throw" Mr. Johnson through "the hole in the sky" into infinite chaos may be thought by a Bowery boy to be what he would call a "bully" suggestion. School-boys may be struck by the effort of a member of Congress of "Divine origin and immortal destiny" to consign an official who is opposed to the Radical party to a "solitude as eternal as life," whatever that may mean. Sensible people will only read Mr. BOUTWELL's flight with a smile. and will class him with that celebrated functionary who insisted that they should write him down an ass.

THE PRESIDENCY. The election of a President in November

pext is beginning to excite some apprehension in the Radical camp. The New York Sun, an organ of the extremists, is becoming shaky at the strength developed by Mr. Pendleton in the West, and says that his strength is not alone in the Democratic ranks. It says :-

"Our advices from the West are to the effect that Mr. Pendleton is rapidly gaining in strength as a Presidential candidate. Nor is this gain in the ranks of the Democratic party alone. In that party he has long been one of the most admired of all their statesmen; but now, as we are assured, he is establishing himself in the affections of Republicans also."

The Sun then goes on to give its reasons for thinking that Mr. PENDLETON will be the successful candidate for the Presidency. It

"The resolutions of the recent State Convention of the Democracy of Illinois are believed to express with much force the average sentiment of the people of the West upon this great subject. The most essential portion of those resolutions is as follows:

"Resolved. That the national honor, financially, in our hands, remain as unsulfied as it ever has been in all respects; that the present system was contracted in a paper issued by a Federal Government, and which was declared to be lawful money by the legislative authority of the country, and which, while accepted by the Government for the larger part of its assessments, and paid out to the soldiers and other defenders, should be, as by its items it is, receivable in satisfaction by the holders of the pledge of the faith of the Government in all cases except wherein a different standard of value has been stipulated for. "Resolved, That the vast bulk of the indebtedness of the country, known as 5 20's are lawfully payable in legal-tender notes of the Government, and should be so paid, as the said obligations are within the power of the Government to relieve and discharge; and that whereof the faith of the Government is pledged to pay in gold, we will so fulfil, and beyond this we will not go.

"Resolved, That the present system of national banks can and should be abolished at once, and the notes of the said institutions redeemed, and their place relieved by noninterest bearing notes of the Government thus saving annually to the people $20,000,- Resolved. That all the wealth of the country, whether invested in Government securities or otherwise, should sustain its fair share of taxation."

The Sun then, after stating that Mr. PEN-DLEEON "will command a powerful support" not only among Democrats, but "even among Republicans," sums up its argument upon the

"These facts account for the surprising etrength which Mr. Pendleton has developed Judge Chase stands ready to abandon it. It of stages from Summit Point to Millwood was passed to make the 11th of April and as a candidate. The West is all for him, cannot afford to drum out such men.

Every State west of take Erie has declared for him, except Indiana; and the voice of her convention would have been given in his favor, but for a desire to gratify Senator Hendricks by a complimentary vote. Kentucky is for him; Tennessee will be for him; Marvland is for him; Maine is for him; all the South will be for him. Only New York, Pennsylvania, and five of the New England States will be against him. "We say that this is surprising. Mr. Pendleton is not a promising candidate at the first view. His record during the war is against him. The fact that he was beaten n 1864 is against him. But, notwithstanding all this, so great is the popular feeling respecting the public debt and taxation, so auxious are the people to escape from the weight of their present financial embarrasements, that they are looking to him as a guide out of the labyrinth. How deeply the shrewder of the Republican leaders are impressed by the silent movement toward him among their own supporters, is evident from the recent resolutions of the Indiana Republican Convention, and from the bill lately introduced into Congress by Senator Sherman, of Ohio. They are trying to regain something of the ground which Pendleton has won from them But, on that line of operations, their hopes

STEINMETZ'S PARTNER.

Circumstances, not always within our conrol, occasionally compel us to vary the charcter of our exhibitions, hence the postpone ment of our "Big Show" this week to give place to the "Rogue's Gallery." It so happens that the first subject we have for this portrait gallery, is the loathsome partner of an gnorant Dutchman, who is now serving a term in the Penitentiary of West Virginia, for forging the county bonds of Berkeley county. The subject of our sketch escaped the fate of poor Steinmetz, not that he deserved it less than that unfortunate victim, but because he is one of the High Priests in the " loyal " church, who by the cry of thief against his partner, threw the officers of the law off the right scent. Since he has had the temerity to make a cowardly newspaper attack mon us, in which he has shown himself an adent in vulgarity, we think it but justice to present him to the community in our "Rogue's Gallery," where we shall take pleasure in airing others of his clan before the summer is over. But his case will suffice this week. Hamlet is represented to have said that he "thought some of nature's journeymen had made men, and not made them well either they imitated humanity so abominably." In its application to the editor of the Berkeley Union; the conclusion of Hamlet has a remarkable appropriateness, except that nature did not entrust his creation even to a skilful journeyman, but left it in the hands of a botch, who has produced a nondescript that seems to be a cross between the human species and a nameless animal that is providentially provided with its own means of self defence, and which is so foul that contact with it is insupportable. Unfortunately for the community in which this lusus nature is located, there is a perceptible predominance of the nameless animal in his composition, rendering an assault upon him one of the most hazardous of undertakings, and subjecting his assailant to a stench that is not easily endurable. Skinning a skunk, it must be confessed, would not be a desirable occupation, and yet in comparison with a newspaper controversy with Hoke, it Right justly be considered an agreeable pastime. A decent respect for the olfactories of our readers will not permit us to probe below the surface, this embodiment of corruption, for the mere puncture of the putrid cuticle will emit a slime sufficient to stifle a whole community, whose inhabitants have not been reared in the vicinity of a fishwharf. So much for that part of the creature, which nature's botch workman has made to predominate. We now address ourselves to the scanty provision of humanity with which nature, or her botch, has invested the accessory of Steinmetz; but here we shall fail, for a man of straw would furnish more suitable material than this mockery of an individual, whôśe humanity is intangible. In courage, he finds his counterpart in the timid mouse that every noise affrights, and that dodges to its hiding place whenever a shadow flits its path; in intellect, he is a greater dwarf than only party that would tolerate such a combihad a spark, and yet he is one of the "loyal"

the pigmies who crawled over Gulliver; in principle, he is as bankrupt as is the commonest pauper of funds; in decency, he is the perfect imitation of total destitution; in moral depravity, his name finds fit association with those of Chapline and Steinmetz, the latter of whom is now serving his term in the penitentiary, where the other two ought to be; in politics, he holds communion with the nation of meanness; of patriotism, he never shriekers, who goes for the Union because of its advantages for gratifying his Butlerizing propensities; as a liar, he fills up the first grand qualification requisite to be a successful conductor of a radical paper; as a lawyer, he is a foul blot upon the profession, and a disgusting burlesque upon its integrity. Further than this, we care not to follow him, but leave him to wallow in his own filth, without which his existence would be as precarious as the life of a fish taken from its native ele-

JUDGE CHASE .- The New York Independent reads Chief Justice Chase out of the Radical party. MORE ROBBERY.

The heart sickens as it centemplates the wholesale robberies that have been committed since 1861, by the party that has held control in this country since that time; and is sad to witness the heartless depravity and utter demoralization that is even creeping into the churches, and making them the refuge of those who are seeking to live by a system of licensed brigandage. The Methodist Episcopal church has borne, and is still bearing ts part, in the crusade upon the rights and nterests of communities, and because power is on its side, it is making use of the law to enrich its coffers, and to stir up strife and bitterness among those who would otherwise

Last year a bitter contest was waged at Shepherdstown for the possession of the church property, which terminated as might have been expected, considering the tribunal by which it was decided, in the transfer of everything to the Northern party. Elated with this success, and emboldened with the discovery that the courts were ready to do their bidding, the authorities of that church have taken another step in advance, and are now demanding the church property at this point and at Middleway. That they will get it, is hardly to be doubted, for, without regard to justice, the courts of West Virginia, are not only willing, but eager to decide in their favor. - A greater outrage than the transfer of the church property here to the occupancy of the Northern branch of the M. E. Church, has never been perpetrated, as it can be of no possible service to them in a religious point of view, whilst it robs of a place of worship, a large and thriving congregation that is trying to accomplish good in the community. Without a membership, and with no sympathy from outsiders, these plunderers are seeking to gain possession property that has been paid for by those who now hold it, and who are to be driven out at the behests of partizan courts, and corrupt and ignorant juries. Unasked, unbidden, and unwelcome, the disciples of Bishop Simpson, are going to squat in our midst, not for the purpose of preaching the pure gospel, but to stir up strife and breed dissension,

The "Black Pilgrim" who presides over the Winchester District, and who was the earliest and most blatant advocate of secession in the old Baltimore Conference, is to plant his missionaries on our soil, where they will be watered and nourished by the proceeds of nissionary meetings in the North, in which the sympathetic tear and the unwilling dollar will be extorted by lying recitals of indignities offered their suffering brethren in Charlestown. These martyrs to the truth, as it is in the thieves log-book, will fill the columns of the Northern religious press with accounts of outrages perpetrated upon them, because our people choose not to listen to their political harangues and because for the maintenance of the decency of their families they exclude them from their house-holds. We predict that Brother Clemm will have a barrowing history to relate of the establishment of the mission station at Charlestown, when next the Baltimore Conference assembles in solemn conclave. The Fejee Islanders of Jefferson Circuit will destroy the usefulness and glory over the scalps of more than one of his pet lambs, before March next-and then, oh then, there will be howling in the Sanhedrim over the sad fate of these self-sacrificing disciples, these devoted and pious church thieves, who count all things but lost for the excellency the knowledge of the truth as it is in Puritania." Brethren, prepare to weep!

Southern Elections. The vote in Georgia is being slowly counted and the official result will not be made known for several days. It is believed that the Radicals have carried the Augusta district, electing one Prince to Congress. The Democrats claim to have elected five of the seven Congressmen and a majority of the legislature. Both parties are confident of success on the gubernatorial vote. The Democrats have carried Savannah by a large majority, it is believed, and nearly every county in Southwestern Georgia has voted against Constitution.

In North Carolina the vote upon the Contitution is reported as very close, and the vote of the extreme western counties will be required to decide the result. General Schofield has issued an order de claring that the election to ratify or reject the new constitution will not be held in Virginia on the 2d of June as announced, unless Congress shall before that time make appropriation to defray the expenses of holding the election, but will be postponed until later day, of which due notice will be given.

The Berkeley Union says that Mr. KITCHEN has determined to be a candidate for re-election to Congress. We observe, in the New York Tribune, notice of the meeting of the New York Conference of the M. E. Church, in that city. They, too, have followed the example of the Boston Cenference, and raised a special committee on "The State of the Country"-i.c., politics. Formerly, it was our beast that, in his country, there was a complete isolation of the Church from the State-the one having no affinity with the other. The individual Christian owes allegiance to the State (we use the latter term in its broadest sense, out the Church recognizes only the authority of its Divine Head. It has nothing whatev er to do with the State. It divides empire with no human authority; but, least of all can it be guided by the teachings of any po litical party in the State. It has to do with the things which pertain to eternity; and these are paramount. How can it concern the Church whether Johnson or Wade rules the State?-What matters it, whether the Radicals or the Democrats are in power? The dominion of the Church is spiritual and it has no connection whatever with the temporal power. But, alas! for us when the officers of the sacramental bost reach forth their hands to grasp the sceptre of temporal authority, and attempt to bind the consciences of men! They blindly emulate the Jews, who sought to prejudice the populace and the rulers against the Author of Christianity, because he was " not Cæsar's friend;" though his mission had anything to do with

It can hardly be doubted that the men who evince the temper of these Northern Methodists, would, to-morrow, if it were in their power, unite Church and State, and rule with the authority of the Vatican, on soil consecrated to religious liberty-"Freedom to worship God?' as Mrs. Hemans ex-

MR. DICKENS .- The press festival in honr of Mr. Dickens took place at New York on Saturday night, and was attended by prominent journalists from all parts of the country. Mr. Greeley presided, and made a complimentary address to Mr. Dickens. The latter responded at length. He referred to his criticisms on this country in his "American Notes," and whilst declaring they were the result of his honest impressions at that time, he was delighted to witness the improvement in the social, moral, and material condition of the country. On his return he intended to publish his present impressions of the United States and do justice to the country; and he pledged himself that those revised impressions should accompany, as an appendix, all future editions of "American Notes" and Martin Chuzzlewit."

The meeting of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the U.S., is to occur on the 1st of next month, in Chicaro. This Conference assembles only once in four years; it is composed of delegates. from all the Annual Conferences in the United States, sixty-eight in number, which have an aggregate clerical membership of eight thousand. The ratio of representation in the General Conference is one delegate for every thirty members. It is expected that there will be present at the forth-coming session nine bishops, two hundred and thirty nomination of Hon. Thomas Ewing, and sent five delegates proper, and numerous visiting delegates from England, Ireland, France, the Canadas and the United States.

TREASURE FOUND .- We learn that on Thursday of last week, Mr. W. L. Smith. while walking on the tract of land, recently purchased by Mr. A. J. Harford, from Mr. Neill Barnett, found at a point where workmen were engaged in leveling the fortifications, a cigar box, which seemed to have been long buried, which on being opened, was found to contain one hundred silver filty-cent pieces. This money was no doubt buried by some Yankee, during their occupation of this place. We are informed by Mr. Harford. that in addition to this, other money has been found there; and he seems to be of the opinion, that some statement made to him, by a vankee during the war, that two hundred and fifty thousand dollars were buried in the fortifications, is about to be realized .- Clarke

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

BUILDING ASSOCIATION .- We direct the attention of the share-holders of this institution to the call for a meeting on Friday next. At this meeting the first quarterly report of the condition of the Association will be submitted : hence the importance of a full attendance of those directly interested in the success of an Association which promises to be prolific of beneficial results to the community. In this connexion we deem it not inappropriate to make a suggestion to those constituting the Board of Directors of the Association .-The room now used for the transaction of its business, is bardly such a one as the convenience and comfort of the officers and members of the Association require, and its joint occupancy with other parties does not contribute to its convenience. It is true that as a matter of economy, the room referred to has its advantages, but it is questionable whether these advantages should be permitted to out--weigh the very decided benefits that would be likely to result from the occupancy of a room under the immediate and entire control of the Board of Directors. On Saturday last, cold, damp, and inclement as it was, the. Treasurer of the Association was compelled to sit during the day without fire, waiting the convenience of the members to come in and deposit their weekly dues. This was a discomfort and a risk to which no man's health and patience should be subjected, and the small stipend allowed this officer for his services, is no compensation to justify such an ininfliction. We throw out this suggestion in the hope that those entrusted with the management of the affairs of the Association will weigh the propriety of having such accommodations as will give at least the appearance of business.

LOCUST YEAR .- The seventeen year Locusts advertised to appear this year, are not identical with the Egyptian locusts-in fact they are not locusts at all, but simply a sort of grasshopper. They have no jaws like the locust, and during their brief winged state, devour nothing. The only injury they do is to the young twigs of trees, which the female stings in order to insert her eggs. The twigs die and fall to the ground. When hatched from the egg the grub burrows in the earth and spends the long underground | the Southern States yet to vote on the ratilife in sucking roots and passing through the fication of their new constitutions, viz : Virvarious stages necessary to perfect the flying machinery. At "sweet seventeen" it emerges into society, splits its underground shell along the back and steps out, ready to lay eggs, or, if of the opposite gender, to beat his drum for a few weeks in the sunshine. When the eggs are laid and the song sung, death closes IMPROVEMENTS .- Such improvements are now in progress in our town, and adjacent thereto, as will necessarily give an impetus to business, and which we trust will at no distant day clothe the old town in a brighter garb .-Mr. R. A. HESSEY on the lot recently purchased of Andrew Hunter, Esq., has already commenced the manufacture of brick, and expects in a short time to be able to supply the increasing demands of the community.-His yard is well located, and the clay which he is using is said to be of a very superior quality. That he will be liberally sustained in his enterprize, no one can doubt, who contemplates the future of the town an surrounding country.

Messrs. McElnoy & McKnight are bus in the arrangements for the erection of builings for their steam saw-mill and planing factory, and before the summer is fairly con menced, they will be in full operation. A fift horse power boiler has just been adjusted site, and a thirty horse power engine w during the present week, be placed in positio

ICE-CREAM IN PROSPECT .- Our worthy friend, GUSTAV BROWN, who runs one of the neatest Confectioneries in the Valley of Virginia, is laying his wires for supplying the people of the town and country with ice-cream as soon as the weather will justify. In the meantime he has supplied his store with an extensive stock of fresh Confedencery, Fruits &c., which he is offering very cheap, and with his abundant and rich stock of homemade Cakes, he expects to meet every demand made upon him.

A Good Stock .- On a recent visit to Halltown, we had the opportunity of examining the select stock of goods on exhibition at the Brick Store-House, of which Mr. B. F. Engle has charge. The only purchases we made consisted of a few groceries, and in this line we certainly feel warranted in recommending the stock of Mr. Engle. He is selling Coffee, and Sugar, and Syrups, at prices which seem to us astonishingly low. His assortment of Dress Goods and Domestics, is very full and complete, and we should judge abundant to supply the wants of the community in which he is located. He has an article of Rio Coffeeof which he presented us a large paperwhich we believe is equal, if not superior, to any we have ever used.

THE MILLINERY BAZAAR of Mrs. A. C. MITCHELL & Co., on Main street, is now the great centre of attraction, and the ladies are goods on exhibition. We havn't a great deal of taste in these matters, but when we see a favor him with their orders, and his terms will be flower we can tell whether it is white or yellow, and just so, we know whether we are looking at a Bonnet, or a miniature representation of the article that bears that name. We thought that the styles last year were about as small as they well could get, but this season caps the climax. With one of these, a lady can give a full exhibition of her face and water-fall. A big butterfly, with about fourteen yards of ribbon attached to his flying apparatus, would afford as much protection to the head. But then the ladies say they are pretty, and so they are, and that fills up the programme. All right, the next season may abolish head-gear altogether.

BOARDING .- We take pleasure in directing attention to the card of Mr. A. D. BARR, who has opened a boarding house near the Depot. Having jurnished the house in heat and comfortable style, he is prepared to offer superior accommodations at very mode-

Local Correspondence.

Mr Editor :- What I take to be the two great barriers to the progress of temperance, are the license system as established by the State and moderate drinking as upheld by very many excellent persons in their theory and practice.

The first of these assumes formidable propertions, inasmuch as it bears the seal of ower and law. Why the State should legalize and uphold by its authority that trafic which panders to the worst passions; which is the fruitful cause of the most abhorrent and heinous acts; which contributes most to fill the criminal docket of the courts; which makes the most paupers; which sends the most subjects to the jails, penitentiaries, and the gallows; which in a word does most to put the State to an expense and deplete the treasury, is an anomaly in political economy that cannot be justified on any righteous prin-

If it be said, that the State needs the revenue and its action is therefore justifiable, it may be put in bar, that what it receives, it is compelled to pay out, and that with interest in support of the paupers, the criminals, the prisons, etc , entailed by the system, where it is largely the loser. If it be said that it is necessary for the State to throw its protecting aegis around the practice of selling or drinking liquor in order that it be kept within a certain limit; otherwise it would become rampant and not in excess, it may be said with force, the State in one way is giving permission to infract its own laws and in another it lays its hand upon the offender and punishes him for that act to which it lends its countenance. A most glaringin consistency, and certainly, Mr. Editor, most unwise legis-

If it be said that the State has no right to interfere with the individual in his personal habits and tastes, it may be responded if that habit be demoralizing, and its abuse become dangerous to life and property, as the protector of right, good morals, and the wellbeing of the whole community, the State should exercise its power and defend these great interests; and this is not to be done by licensing and giving liberty to a traffic and practice which may, with truth, be called a modern Pandora's box, the opening of which floods the country with evil, but in refusing its sanction thereto, and wielding its power TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

-The elections now in progress in North Carolina and Georgia will leave only four of inia, Mississippi, Florida and Texas. -Of these, Virginia and Florida, have framed constitutions. In Mississippi the convention is still in session, and its work by this time nearly completed. In Texas the election for a convention was held about two months ago, but no order for its assembling has yet been issued. The State will, therefore, be some months yet before it can possibly be prepared for admission. In Florida the election to ratify the Constitution has been ordered to be held on the first Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday in May. The Radicals, it is said have triumphed with the colored vote in South Carolina, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

-We learn from a gentleman who lives in the lower end of this county, that a Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in the upper end of Scott, was burned by incendiarism on Saturday night last. It was a new and commodious building, with a school-room attached, and was erected at a cost of $800. Our informant thinks it is an easy matter to guess what class of men did the deed .- Abingdon

SAM PATCH is a dark brown, with a star in his forehead, eight years old this Spring, without blemish. Goes aligaits under the saddle, works well in single or double harness, is full 16 hands high, and weighs over 1,100 pounds. A further description of this horse is unnecessary, as his appearance will com-mend him to all. SAM PATCH is by Hector Bell's imported Norman horse, Sam Patch, who was imported frem Normandy, France, by Messrs, Rosette & Vandeville, of Philadelphia. The sire of Sam Patch was driven on a hot day, 72 miles in 8 hours and 30 minutes, also driven by Hiram Woodruff in single harness I mile in 2 40½. I do not deem it necessary to enter into a statement of the excellencies of the French Canadian stock. They are widely known as possessing remarkable bone, sinews, muscle, and feet for traveling and endurance. Persons at a distance can be accommodated with pasturage for mares. April 7, 1868.

I believe Dr. Lawrence's, "ROSADALIS" to be the BEST ALTER TIVE IN USE, and therefore cheerfully recommend it as such. THOMAS J. BOYDTON, M. D.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 10th, 1868. Dear Sir-I-take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results-one a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cared after having taken five bottics of your medicine. The other a case of scrofula, of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

ROSADALIS WILL CURE THE WORST CASES OF SCROFULA. BEAD THE STATEMENT SELOW AND DE PAIR NOT. WILSON COUNTY, Sept. 10, 1867.

Dear Sir: My youngest daughter, aged five years has been dreadfully afflicted with Scrofula nearly all her life. I tried a great many physicians, but without relieving her much; in fact, a ost of them said there was no hope of cure. During the last spring she was worse than ever, her body and limbs being covered with sores and b otches-with face and eyes badly ulcerated and swollen. Whilst in this condition, I was advised by Dr. L A Stith to try your Rosadalis. I at once procured three bot-tles, and commerced giving it to her. The effect was magical: In less than a month, to my great astonishment, she was entirely well. I am yours, · With much respect and gratitude, W. W. BURNETT.

ROSADALIS CURES ALL SKIN DISEASES. Wilson, N. C., September 15, 1867.

Dr. Lawrence - Dear Sir - In 1862, my son, now aged five years, was vaccinated with what proved to be impute matter, which completely destroyed his health. He has been afflicted with an inveterate and extremely troublesome Eruption of the Skin, sometimes breaking out in sores, &c. Rosadalis was prescribed by my family physician, Dr. A.D Moore. After taking it a few weeks my son became and remains entirely well.

Yours truly:

ROSADALIS WILL CURE THE VERY WORST CASES OF CHRONIC RHEUMATISM. PORTSMOUTH, Va, February 25tb, 1869. Captain J H. Baker:
Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have been af flicted with Rheumatism for the last five or six years, many times unable to move. I tried all medicines recommended to me for the disease, without receiving any benefit. Having heard Rosadalis highly spoken of I procured a bottle, and finding me relief, continued it until I am happy to say that I am completely well. I not only consider the Rosadalis a sovereign remedy for Rheumatism, but I believe it also a pre ventive, and cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted. Yours very truly, JAMES WEBB.

Wilson January 7, 1868. I hereby certify that I have used Dr. Lawrence's justly celebrated Resadalis in my family as a general Alterative and Fonic, with the most satisfactory results, and I therefore, conscientiously recommend it to the public as a Medicine of tare and genuine merit.

THE MOST RELIABLE CUSHION used in Billiard Tables is the CAT-GUT CUSHION.

Manufactured by KAVANAGH & DECKER, and Patented Dec. 18, 1866. (See Scientific American; Vol. 16, No. 11.)

It is the OMLY Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a PERFECT Cushion. It is the most elastic and most durable Cushion ever offered to the billiard-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its latroduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the CAT-GUT Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the tightened cord of cat-gut willch overlies the tace and edge of the rabber and running the full length of the Cushion whick prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the table. The addition of the eat-gut cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The CAT-GUT Cushion has already been applied to over 1,000 tables //hich are in constant use. It can be applied to tables of any make for $75 per set.
