BENJAMIN F. BEALL, Editor. CHARLESTOWN, VA.

Tuesday Morning, May 12, 1868.

B. F. Butler. Many years ago, says the Philadelphia Age some well-meaning persons in this city covered all available places with this solemn admonition, "Prepare to meet thy God." They believed, no doubt, that it might arrest and fix the attention of the thoughtless and thus be the means of good. Some one, has, per-haps, addressed the same admonition to Benjamin F-Butler; he made a parade of it in the High Court of Impeachment; and the Radical reporters telegraphed to all their newspapers that a secret society (which gives public notice of its intentions!) has doomed Butler to sudden death. No man knows the hour of his death, and instead of trying to make capital out of the admonition, Butler had better heed it. He now presents the most abhorrent moral speciacle this world can show. The spectacle of insolent, triumphs and villainy, using every resource of craft, falsehood, and impudence, to effect the unjust conviction of an innocent man. For, without being eulogists of President Johnson, we hold him to be as innocent of the crimes charged in the articles of impeachment, as any man, woman or child in this community. This is the great rock of his defence; not his counsel, nor the temper of his judges, nor the rules of law, form the grand obstacle of the impeachers; it is the innocence of the man they have accused. The charges have fallen to the ground; all that is left is the outside clamor of venal organs, raising the wicked, hungry cry, "condemn him, for the good of your party." Of this foul conspiracy, a man without conscience, and without shame, s the fit instrument. He has been, in turn, the servant of dirty work, in all parties. He was the sycophant of Jefferson Davis; as his star paled, he turned to Mr. Lincoln. He too, despised him. It was Lincoln, in fact. not Grant. who dismissed Butler from the Army of the Potomac; Grant "bottled him up" with a scornful word, and finished him as a humbug soldier. Now he stands up covered with infamy; gorged with ill-gotten plunder; a great moral leper, the compen-dious embodiment of all rascalities, falsely accusing others, and brazening it out to the ast. Let him heed the warning, no matter who gave it, even if his own falsehood invented it. It is not in the Divine dispensation for the moral government of the world that falsehood shall openly, and in the face of day, prevail against the truth. Villainy, when prosperous, is always nearest its overthrow.

The Abyssinian Expedition.

The English expedition against King Theodore, of Abyssinia, terminated in effect, on the 18th of April, by the capture of the fortress of Magdala, and the killing of the African monarch in his intrenchments. The latest dispatches from that region represent that Sir Charles Napier had stormed the fortress, captured all its equipments, killed, wounded or captured all the followers of the King, who was himself found dead in his works, shotthrough the head, some saying that he was shot in battle, others claiming that he bad committed suicide upon discovering that fortune was against him. The body was recognized by the English captives whose imprisonment occasioned the war, as were the persons of the King's two sons. The interior of the fortress, which was immediately sacked by the British troops, is represented as presenting a splendid sight, filled with the strange accourtements of the Abyssinians, and glowing with barbaric splendor in which the Africans delight. Much plunder was secured, and it is believed that all the tribes subject to the sway of the King have submitted to the conqueror. King Theodore seems to have been the foremost man of his race in the world. He consolidated a great empire out of many heterogeneous and conflicting elements, and founded a government, barbarous, it is true, something akin to the more enlightened governments of the Old World. This kingdom he ruled with a rod of iron, and annually increased by his ambitious wars, in which he always personally participated, against peighboring tribes. His death, and the consequent dissolution of his government, such as it was, will leave the surrounding tribes to resume their intestine and inevitable wars of conquest and extermination, which his reign is alleged to have for a season suspended .-The cause of the war, as is well known, was the capture and imprisonment by Theodore, of about fifty English subjects, by whose captivity Theodore hoped to force an alliance with England, trusting to the remoteness of his location and the natural obstacle of the country for protection from the military chastisement of the whites. In this calculation he was mistaken. He staked his all upon the hazard of a die, and lost: His fate may serve to exempt for a period European travelers from the outrages habitually heaped' upon them by the Africans. The British Expedition started with the understanding that they were under no circumstances to take control of the country, which is comparatively worthless. What their subsequent policy may be, since it has so easily fallen a prey to their arms, is a matter of conjecture. The British Government expended over a hunof its subjects from the captivity of the barbarous Africans. The so called free Governthat sum annually to subjugate six millions | mond Dispatch.

Thad. Stevens in the Pennsylvania Legislature-His Anti-Masonic Proclivities.

Thad. Stevens, the long acknowledged leader of the House in its onslaughts upon the Constitution, the fiercest if not the strongest spirit of all the Radical band, impeachment's foremost champion, was not always as successful in his schemes and efforts as he has latterly been as an exponent of Radicalism, At the time when the great anti-Masonic excitement—born to life from the Morgan bughear—swent over the land like a fierce simoon, from Maine to Georgia, Thad. Stevens was a member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. Espousing the cause of the anti-Masons from disappointment, and actuated by feelings of the bitterest animosity against the Masons, for reasons that will be made apparent, he introduced a resolution to the effect that the House, of which he was a member, inquire into the subject of Masonry, with power tosend for persons and papers. The House, largely anti-Masonic—the members as well as the Governor of the State having been elected upon the then tremendous issue of the day-adopted almost unanimously the resolution, and a number of well known Masons were summoned to attend the "high court," then in session at Harrisburg, to give evidence in matters pertaining to the Masonic

A thorough it vestigation was to be held n the premises, and the secrets of the brothergood laid bare to the world. The "devil," the "goat," and the "gridiron" were to be shown up in all their hideousness; the fearful and horrible rites and ceremonials were to be brought forth and exposed to the light of day, and the black monster, Masonry, was to receive its death blow then and there. Thad, Stevens was the St. George who was to annihilate the dragon. On the day appointed for the commencement of the proceedings which were to consummate the above, every member-and as we have said, a majority of the House were anti-Masons-was in his seat, anxious for, yet dreading the uplifting curtain that darkened the ceremonial of the Masonic pleased when he saw what seemed to be brotherhood. The House was packed with Masons and anti-Masons, and among the from the artist's canvas. former was a well known Mason, master of a lodge in the State, who had been summoned to Harrisburg in relation to the matter then about to be investigated in all its details, and him, Thad, as grand inquisitor, proposed to

When all was in readiness, the self-constituted champion of the anti-Masons commenced his interrogations thus:

"Are you a Mason?" "I am, sir."

"Do you belong to a lodge in this State?" "I do, sir." "What position do you hold in the lodge? "The position of Master."

"What are the initial proceedings consequent upon the meeting of a lodge?" "The lodge is opened with prayer." "Well, go on, and state what follows." "I am waiting for your questions."

"Well, what are the ceremonies incident to the admission of a member?" "He is balloted for, and if no votes be cast against him, is admitted a member of the or-

"What then? Please state the subsequent proceedings, What follows next?" "Mr. Stevens," said the witness, with a mischievous twinkle in his eye, "if, on the found worthy, you would have become a meniber of the _____ Lodge, in _____, and would have been initiated in all the secrets. and mysteries connected with the order, and would have possessed a knowledge that, except he becomes a member, no man ever will possess." The witness sat down. Stevens was completely thrown back upon his haunches by this unexpected thunderbolt coming from a serene sky, and, paralyzed from the effects of the blow, stupefied with astonishment, he ignominiously wilted. The fact was, he had been some years previously proposed for membership in one of the lodges of the State of Pennsylvania, but was "black balled," which "little circumstance" he supposed forgotten. The reminder hurled at him at this particular juncture, knocked him completely off his pins. There was a universal buzz of satisfaction from the large number of Masons in the house, as the point-blank shot of the brother went so true to its aim, and amid the commotion consequent from the mark being so squarely hit, the further examination of Masonic witnesses was postponed until the next day. It is needless to say this was the end of the matter. The whole thing, as far as legislative interference was concerned, was very wisely dropped.- N. Y Herald.

CONFEDERATE DEAD.

BY MISS CARRIE BELL SINCLAIR. The following extract from the above entitled poem, written (y one of the sweetest muses that ever warbled the simple history of a nation's lead, commands in the chaste simplicity and beauty of its poetic expression, apart from the object with which t was penned, the sympathy of our people. It is written for the purpose of securing funds wherewith to decorate the graves of our heroic dead:

Oh! gallant Heroes! ye who sleep Beneath our banner bright; Who struggled with true bravery, For freedom and the right; What need of marble monuments To tell thy deeds of glory, When every humble soldier-grave Has proudly told the story? The fallen flag, though folded now Never to wave again, Is sacred still, for oh! that flag Bears not one single stain. The blood of our brave hero sons

Has deeper dyed its Bars!
The honor of the South's as bright
As its unsullied Stars. And you, who 'neath your country's flag Faced the dread battle-tide; Who for that country bravely fought,
And for her her freedom died;
The grave of every fallen son Is now a hallowe shrine; And wreaths of lau el and of song

O'er each we proudly twine! MISSELLANEOUS. An Old Story.

Many years ago a celebrated Italian artist was walking along the street of his native city, perplexed and desponding in consequence of some irritating dircumstance or misfortune, when he beheld a little boy of such surprising and surpassing beauty that he forgot his own trouble and gloom in looking upon the almost angel face before him ... "That face I must have," said the artist for my studio. Will you come to my room and sit for a picture, my little man?"

The little boy was glad to go and see the pictures and pencils and curious things in that was to reveal the hitherto veiled horrors the artist's room; and he was still more

> The artist took great pleasure in looking at that sweet face. When he was troubled, or irritated, or perplexed, he lifted his eyes to that lovely image on the wall, and its beautiful features and expression calmed his heart and made him happy again. Many a visitor to his studio wished to purchase that lovely face ; but, though poor, and often wanting money his good angel, as he called this portrait. So the years went on. Oftentimes as he looked up to the face on the glowing canvas he wondered what had become of that boy. "How I should like to see how he looks now! I wonder if I should know him? Is he a good man and true, or wicked and abandoned?. Or has fie died and gone to a better land ?" One day the artist is strolling down one of the fine walks of the city when he beheld a man whose face and mich were so vicious. so deprayed, so almost fiend-like, that he involuntarily stopped and gazed at him.

"What a spectacle! I should like to paint that figure, and hang it in my studio opposite the angel-boy?' said the artist to himself. The young man asked the painter for money, for he as a beggar as well as a thief. "Come to n room, and let me paint your portrait, and the give you all you ask," said the artist. The young nan foll wed the painter, and set for a sketch. When it was finished, and he had received a few coins for his trouble, he turned to go; but his eye rested upon the picture of the loy; he looked at it, turned pale, and then urst into tears.

"What troul syou, man?" said the painter. It was long be the young man could speak. He sobbed alon, and seemed pierced with At last he pointed to the picture on the wall, and in broken to es which seemed to. come from a broken he rt, he said ?" "Twenty years ago y u asked me to come up here and sit for a picture, and the angelface is that portrait. Behold me now, a ruined man; so bloated, so hideous that women and children to n away their faces from me; again. There is another elildhood that we so fiend-like that you want my picture to show how ugla man could look. Ah! I of death-the feeble childhood that we enjoy see now what lice and crime have done for

The artist was amazed. He could not believe his owd eyes and ears.
"How did this happen?" he asked.

The young man told his sad and dreadful story; how, being an only son, and very beautiful, his parents petted and spoiled him; how he went with had boys and learned all their bad half its and vices and came to love them; how, naving plenty of money, he was enticed to wicked places till all was lost, and then unable to work and ashamed to beg, he began to steal, was eaught, and imprisoned with the worst kind of criminals; came out still more depraved to commit still worse crimes than before; how every bad deed he performed seemed to drive him to commit a worse one, till it seemed to him he could not stop till brought to the gallows.

It was a fer ful tale, and brought tears into the articles eyes. He besought the young man to top, offered to help him, and tried his best beave him. But, alas! it was too late. Disease, contracted by dissipation, soon prostrated the young man, and he died before he could reform. The painter hung his portrait opposite that of the beautiful boy and when visitors asked him why he allowed such a hideous looking face to be there, he told them them the story, saying as he closed : only twenty years of vice."

The lesson of his tale is in the tale itself. You who read it can tell what it is. Think of it often, and heed it always.

-Dr. Samuel Johnson was much attached to a young man - an intelligent Italian.

As the Doct r lay upon the couch, from which he neve rose up, he called his young friend to him and tenderly and solemnly said: "There is no one who has shown me more attention than you have done, and it is now right you should claim some attention from me. You are a young man, and are to struggle through life; you are in a profession that I dare say you will exercise with great fidelity and innocence; but let me ex- centry is in raptures over the result. Preparing Seed Corn.

Farmers who have not choice corn for seed dready on hand had better pay five Allars per bushel for the best quality, than to lant inferior grain, if the latter is obtained for nothing. A kind of corn should be selected that ripens early, fills the cob well to the end, large sized ears, with plump kernels and small cob. It is a bad plan to buy shelled corn for seed, for likely there will be grains of an inferior quality mixed in, and besides experiment has shown that kernels from the small end of the ear will always produce small

I planted the first two rows from the tip or small end, and planted all the same morning. The large end produced fair sized ears, with cregular rows, much as you will find them a the end of the ear. The middle kernels roduced ears mostly straight and fair. The tips brought forth nubbins only. There was not a fair ear in the two rows of corn." It is respectfully suggested that, as far may be practicable and convenient, the Delegates be chosen by Township or County Conventions, on SATURDAY, JULY 4th, 1868. It is also recommended that the Delegates from the First and Second Congressional vention nominate a Congressional candidate and a Presidential elector for each of their respective Districts.

The possibility that, owing to their remoteness, some of the counties of the Third Congressional District may not be fully represented, has induced the Committee to leave the selection of the time and place for making their Congressional and Electoral nominations entirely to the discretion of the Democratic and Conservative voters of that District.

Fellow Democrats and Conservatives! Your political bretheren in all parts of the country where elections have been held within the last twelve months, have achieved magnificent victories. The great reaction I which is to redeem the nation from tyranny and misrule has fairly set in. In other States, its progress is irresistable. Let us, too, press forward in the work of redemption, Not one moment should be lost-no exertion spared. County, Township and School District organizations should at once be completed, and every man who can be moved to espouse the right, should be approached, informed and incited to action. The work is in your hands. If you are true to yourselves, your State and. your country, you cannot fail. Success will crown your efforts, and the blessings of good Government, so long unknown in West Virginia, will once more bring to her people peace, prosperity and happiness.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

The labors of the impeachment court have closed, and the case is now in the hands of the Senate. It is expected that a verdict will be rendered to day, (Tuesday) and if we may credit the opinions of letter writers on the subject, the President is certainly in danger of being deposed. Pending the trial in which his conusel distinguished themselves for the masterly manner in which they conducted the case each day witnessed a vibration in impeachment stock-sometimes running above, and often falling below par-but since the conclusion of the trial, outside influences seem to be making their inroads upon the minds of the judges. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, in his letter of Friday last says :-

POLITICAL CONVENTIONS:

The political contest in Virginia has regularly commenced, and last week the opposing parties placed their candidates for the various offices in the field. The Conservative Convention, which met in Richmond on Thursday, and which was presided over by Hon JOHN B. BALDWIN of Augusta, was a gathering of the able and carnest men of the Commonwealth, intent upon rescuing the State from the degradation which the mon grel constitution of the recent Convention threatens to impose; whilst the radical Convention which met the day previous was body composed in great part of the scalla wags and negroes who figured in the deceased Constitutional Convention.

In contrasting the two bodies, the South ern Opinion says, in one assemblage stood Virginians, high and hoary of head-men such as General Samuel McDowell Moore Thomas Jefferson Randolph, David Tucker, Thomas S. Bocock, John B. Baldwin, and a host of others of the old and ancient regime. In that other collection of the odds and ends of humanity-the "tailings" of the human herd-crouched and snivelled such specimens as Bayne and Teamoh and Norton, and Lindsey, among the representatives of the negro race, and Porter, Platte and Hines, puny apologists for the white among their spotted kind. In one body, the wicked work that consummated would place the State under negro and scallawag hoofs, was about drawing to a conclusion; in that other higher and nobler body, the mighty work designed to rescue Virginia from the talons of these ghouls, was about to commence.

In one wrought the elements of Right and Justice; in the other raged all the devilish influences of wrong, oppression and discord. One body was white-the other black; one Virginian-the other African.

The Conservative Convention concluded its abors by placing in nomination the following admirable ticket, which for the honor of the State, we hope to see successful at the ensuing election: For Governor, Col. Robert E. Withers, of Lynchburg; for Lieutenant Governor, Gen. James Walker of Pulaski; for Attorney General, John L. Marye, of Spottsylvania; for Congressman at large, Col. Marmaduke Johnson, of Richmond city.

The radical convention conferred their nonors on the following parties: For Governor, Henry H. Wells, the present carpetbag incumbent; James H. Clements, of Portsmouth, another carpet-bagger, drew the prize for Lieutenant Governor; for Attorney General, George W. Booker of Henry; and for Congress at large, A. M. Crane of Winchester. The latter edits a radical paper in Winchester, and we believe originally hails from Vermont. In the latter convention there were some rich, but rather inharmonious scenes. Ita temporary chairman was not up to parliamentary tricks, and his management of the negro element was anything but satisfactory to that rising and ambitious class. The Southern Opinion thus pictures a scene which transpired about the hour when the permanent organization was effected;-At three o'clock the Hall was again filled and the Convention came up smiling to the work, The spirit of the "ring" had been working, and the Wells wing was more turbulent and saucy than before. It had been apparent from the first organization that the Chairman was an ignoramus and unfit for his position. He was less than a child in the storm that swept about him. and failed utterly to grasp and hold the reins of parliamentary control. The Convention was chaos and he could not bring order out

Utterly at fault with his rulings, the unfortunate, bewildered, and dumbfounded Chairman hit upon what he thought the only safe expedient left him : so he ruled everybody out of order

The more expert of the delegates, graduates of the Capitol Convention, strove for the enlightenment of the Chair, and sought in a modest way to put him on his parliamentary pins, but he knocked them down one after another with his heavy tack hammer.

"Sit down! The gentleman is out of or-'der!" were the only recognition they re-

EDITORIAL BREVITIES.

-The friends in England have issued circular, addressed to the landed proprietors of the Southern States, urging them to bear patiently the distresses they have suffered, to "accept the situation" to treat the colored people kindly, and to cultivate a spirit of peace and amity with their former slaves. They state that they are fully aware of the hardships which have ensued consequent upon recent violent changes, and that their sym pathies have been enlisted for those who have been reduced from affluence to poverty -"stripped of much that had been secured to them by law."

But the people of that city have returned to the god of their fathers, and Mongrelism will find itself-in the camp of the enemy. # Another Presidential Nomination.

Among the secret societies of the negroes the South says the Richmond Enquirer and Examiner, there is one called "The Sons of Liberty," which, we are told, claims to possess a greater amount of intelligence, respectability, wealth and moral worth than any other of the negro associations. This society have just made a movement upon the politico-religious checker-board, which is intended to unite the entire negro vote of the South for the advancement of "the immortal principles of fustice and truth." They propose to do this by withdrawing all support and sympathy from existing parties and organizing into a new party for the support of Frederick Douglass for President of the United States. They are to hold a public meeting on the Capitol Square some evening this week, and have issued a circular on the subject as follows:

THE SONS OF LIBERTY In God is our trust, whom we acknowledge as the source of all power in will government. Believing that to the immortal prin ciples of justice and truth the present roliti cal parties have turned a deaf ear, and closed their eyes, we therefore announce the withdrawal of all support and sympathy with said parties, and declare ourselves in favor of organizing a third party, presenting as the people's candidate for the next Presidential election Frederick Douglass, of Rochester, New York. # Forney and Old Thaddeus.

From the Baltimore Gazette, we clip the following showing up of the "Dead Duck"

The Philadelphia Press has published, quite frequently of late; letters from Washing ton, which purport to be written by a woman, and are signed "Olivia." But any one who will take the trouble to lift, but a few inches, will take the trouble to lift, but a few the petticoats of this Olivia, will discern beneath them the boots of Colonel Forney.— The letters themselves are charming specimens of the spread-eagle tyle of writing, and as examples of what the author of the Jameson letter can do in the line are not to be despised. Having quarrelled with Senator Cameron, this Colonel in crinoline puts on a falsetto voice, and to annoy Cameron makes love to his ancient enemy, Thaddens Stevens. Olivia's description of the venerable and malignant commoner is well adapted to please the taste of the vulgar. It is very highly colored and is intensly figurative. It opens grandiloquently, as thus: "After the storm and cloud of an eventful life. Thaddeus Stevens lingers on the disc of the Western Horizon surrounded by the glory of departing day !" There are few prettier sentences than that, if one could only understand what it means. What follows is, however, much better, as it develops an eminently feminine quality, in Olivia, and, therefore, as coming from a man in disguise, must be regarded a high stroke of art. Just now the venerable Thaddeus was discovered "lingering on the disc of the Western Horizon." He speedily vanishes from that remote outer verge, and in the next sentence we find, with that charming inconsequentiality which so peculiarly distinguishes the letters of Olivia, he roappears as "the central figure of the House of Representatives, and likewite occupies the same place at the Manager "table in the High Court of Impeachmen." Now 'his is a sort of ubiquity resembling the of Sir Boyle Roche's bird, which was two places at once, and it also trenches largely upon the prerogative of Mr. Manager Sombastes But-When that pettiforger wore a cocked hat, and a sword hung dangling between his legs, he had the reputation of being in front and at the rear at one and the same time, and, according to correspondents, was particularly conspicuous for the display of this remarkable faculty after the battle of Big Bethel. But Thaddons Stevens must not be shorn of his laurais. His argument against Andrew John-on before the Sepate, says Olivia, "was the cream of the whole matter in dispute." This allusion to the dairy, considering the hoots beneath the crinoline, is very artfully thrown in. We are next told "how solemnly he was impressed with his surroundings," and how, when he advanced to the platform, he rose from the cushioned seat in which he had been pected of having any regard for their oaths deposited, "slowly, trembling, yet brilliant as tion to provent them from voting to acquit the taper burns low in the socket and expires." We regret to say that, in this last whether they have sufficient manhood to give right plagiarist. She is a petty larceny a verdict according to the law and the evi- rogue, and is guilty of stealing from the Rev. Harris Barham, who in describing just such an expiring candle as Mr. Stevens is said to be, remarks, not less grapfically than suggestively, that it - Winks, blinks, Falls in its socket and -stinks." Which latter and closing function-happile or unhappily, as the case may be-Olivia's taper has not yet performed.

The dear Olivia is further impressed with the belief that her moribund Thaddeus, tho' but a flickering candle end, is quite remarkable in other respects. He does not exist, it appears, by the same laws by which other people live, move and have their being. "He lives;" says Olivia, "to prove to the world the immortality of the soul." How he proves it we are not told; for on this point Olivia suddenly becomes mysterious and simply informs us that "he (Thaedeus) shows that body is not necessary to existence.' This being a bold assertion we are inclined to doubt it. But it is an easy matter to put it to the test. If Olivia will but keep Thaddens from all kinds of provant for one week. and if he shows at the end of that time "that body is not necessary to existence," we shall begin to think there is something ghostly as deal more in this letter of Olivia's which doubtless is very profound, and which certainly we cannot fathom. We learn, however, that there was a time when Thaddeus was a "little Green Mountain boy, "who many vears ago was fairly embarked on the ocean of life. That up there in Vermont, he had no gaily painted merchantman at his command; but he did have-mark the delicious freshness of the figure-a little life boat, whose paddles were a pair of strong hands. In this "life boat," in due course of time, he paddled off to Pennsylvania, and there he moored himself for the remainder of his days. There too is the scene of many of his exploits. That remarkable work of art, "the Tapeworm Railroad," is due to his genius. He also signally distinguished himself in the "Buckshot War," in which he suffered literally, what General Scott complained of being subjected to figuratively-"a fire in the rear.' Nevertheless, and in spite of this argument posteriori, Olivia tells us enthusiastically, though every window of his mansion of clay is broken, and through each rent and crevice the storm of the outer world pours in. yet like a couchant lion in his den, his mind is ready to spring upon an adversary."

Finally, and to sum up all, as the climax of his good deeds: "It may be pleasant to know that he has sold his lots in the two cemeteries of which he was an owner, because colored people were refused burial in them; though it may be possible that he feels that he shall have future use for them." And thus fitly ends Olivia's account of the career of the Great Commoner, who lives to prove to the world "the immortality of the oul," and who, although he "has sold his lots in the two cemeteries," feels that he shall have use for them. What, both?

"Insatiate (Thaddeus) will not one suffice?"?

A few nights ago a terrible storm visited the country some 16 miles from Nashville.

The Nashville Banner says: On Wednesday night Mr. Simmons and the other inmates of his house had retired to bed, when about 10 o clock, while the storm-was fiercest, he was wakened by a tremendous noise, followed by the falling of timbers upon and near his person, after which he remembered nothing until so far recovered from his numerous bruises as to realize the awful havoc which had been done. Hurled by the violence of the tempest from the summit of the bill, it had come down on its mission of destruction with irresistible force. After entering by a rear door, it crushed to pieces the bads in which Mr. Simpson, his wife and daughter were sleeping, dashing them against the walls, and so severely injuring the two last mentioned that but little hope of their recovery is entertained. As the huge butt of the tree crashed through the front of the house, it carried all before it and brought part of the roof. His wife and daughter may not possibly recover.

K. K.'s overcome by numbers, abandoned the field to the darkies, who raised a wild shout of victory and examined the ground to pick up the killed and wounded. To their utter surprise nobody was hurt, notwithstanding a score of well-aimed muskets and pistols ware shot at the ghostly disturbers of their peace. One of the K.'s was cut off from his confreres but by superior horsemanship and cool courage he managed to get off untouched-clearly proving that he was ball-wroof .- Staun-

THE OCEAN RACE.—It is now known that there has been a race across the ocean between the steamships City of Paris and the Cuba. The City of Paris belongs to the Inman line, and the Cuba is one of the Cunarders. The cable has informed us on this side of the Atlantic that the City of Paris reached Liverpool at | Hats, Caps & Straw Goods, 3 o'clock, A. M., on Tuesday, 28th of April, and the Cuba at 1 10 o'clock, A. M. on Wednesday, 29th. The Cuba was detained 65 minutes in getting away from the harborof New York. Allowing for this still the City of Paris beat her competitor 20 hours and 15 minutes, and this to the passengers was equivalent to one full day. It will be seen that the City of Paris occupied 9 days 6 hours and 50 minutes, and the Cuba 10 days 3 hours and 5 minutes. Washington

DISQUALIFICATION FOR OFFICE .- Thurlow Weed, a veteran Republican politician, who has been familiar with public men and measures for forty years, predicts that every senator who shall vote for convicting the President will a few years hence be disqualified by that fact for holding office. If a senator; or a vice-president, or a president, is to be nominated it will be sufficient to whisper "He was

The facts in regard to the Alta Vala case says the Carlisle (Pa.,) Volunteer, and the Impeachment Managers, as alluded to in Mr. Nelson's argument, are briefly these: On the 9th of March, of this year, Ben Butler drew up a paper for one of the claim ants of the guano island of Alta Vela, which he, Thad Stevens, John A. Logan and John A. Bingham, (impeachment managers,) and other Radicals signed. This paper was sent to the President with a demand that a vessel be sent to the island to dispossess the foreign occupants, which sated the inference (the paper signed by the impeachers having been delivered after impeachment proceedings were commenced) that a private speculation was thus to be forced through successfully by a menace from the managers. Butler denied that the letter was dated; denied that he had any pecuniary interest in the chim, and aid he did not intend to use his power over he President, as an impeachment manager, force him to send an armed vessel to the sland against his better judgment. Mr. Ne!son replied that he did not know what pecuniary interests were involved nor what motives prompted the act; all he knew was that the paper was dated March 9, 1868, after the imeachment had commenced, and that it was signed by Butler and three other managers. He produced the leter in court, and the redoubtable Ben was se floundering in words in the vai effort (he used to such efforts) to clear h uself of the damaging imputation. Had it no been that he went into the management with ut any reputation, he would come out a sadle damaged accorney; but as it is,

- The Baltimore Commercial contains the following: "In 186? there lived in Staunton, Va., a young ady of rare personal beauty, and endowed with superior educational accomplishments, and the daughter of wealthy parents. The sad havoc of war caused reverse of fortune in the family, the father and two brothers were killed in battle, and in a short time the once happy home was broken up. Yesterday the daughter, who is known by a name different from her own, was nicked up in the western portion of the city as a vagrant. From affluence she has fallen to that of a common vagrant, and when encountered yesterday by the police officer she had bartered her shoes for whiskey. She was committed to jail under the vagrant act for thirty days by Justice Bride."

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

WINCHESTER PRESBYTERY .- This body assembled at Falling Water Church, Berkeley county, on Wednesday the 29th of April, 1868, at 3 b'clock P. M. We give a short summary of their proceedings:-

At 3 o'clock P. M. Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Foote, of Romney, preached the opening sermon in the absence of the last Moderator. Presbytery was organized by the election of Rev. W. A. Crawford Moderator. Revs. M. W. Woodworth and Charles White were elected Temporary Clerks. Dr. Hamner, last Commissioner to General Assembly, reported that he had attended the Assembly in Nashville and participated in its proceedings, whereupon Presbytery accepted the report and approved the diligence of the Commis-

Woodstock was selected as the next place, and the 16th of October as the next time of.

ceived a call from the church at Martinsburg and having presented a certificate of dismission from Ohio Presbytery was received after examination. The call being placed in his hands, and Dr. Riddle having signified his acceptance, the following order was taken by Presbytery: That Presbytery appointed Sab-bath May 10th, 11 A. M. for Dr. Riddle's installation at Martinsburg; that Rev. Rev. L. F. Wilcon preside; Rev. Mr. Beattie be invited to preach the sermon, that Rev. Dr. Foote charge the pastor; and Rev. A. C. Hopkins to charge the people.

Committee to confer with licentiates reported, which report was received. Reports as to supplies ordered by last Presbytery were heard showing that ministers had generally and diligence in observing them. The Treasurer's report was received; while it exhibited inadequate contributions, it showed improvement in the Missionary zeal of the churches. An extended report was received from the Committee on Church extension, whose consideration was postponed till the Committee on Domestic Missions should present its report. Rev. E. W. Bedinger asked to be relieved from service at Gerardstown, and that his pastoral relation to Shepherdstown be dissolved. On motion the first part of his request was granted, and the congregation of Shepherdstown cited to appear before Presbytery, Friday May 8th, in their own church, to show cause why Mr. B's request should not be granted.

Rev. L. F. Wilson ministerial principal, with Rev. E. W. Bedinger alternate : Elder, David H. Humphreys, principal, with Mr. Felix S. Welton alternate, were elected Commissioners to General Assembly. Numerous reports were made by Committees, most of which excited no remark.

In answer to an overture of the General Assembly, Presbytery declared by a upan-'imous vote that it is not within the province of the church in her organized capacity to look after the mental education of her people. Rev. Geo. W. Finley, a licentiate under care of Orange Presbytery was received upon certificate from that Presbytery and taken under care of this.

Rev. J. M. P. Atkinson D. D., President of Hampden Sidney College, presented the claims of that institution upon the Presbyterians of that community. This subject elicited interesting discussion at a late hour, and it is hoped an impetus was given to educational impulses which may result in good. The general subject of Domestic Missions came up upon a report of the select Cominfittee to whom papers were referred on that subject. Discussion was elicited, but harmonious action was had which it is thought will promote the interests of Presbytery, and especially in Shenandoah county-as it proposed dividing the large field now occupied g Rev. J. M. Clymer. The Presbytery rdered a second collection to be taken up in its churches for Domestic Missions. A vote of thanks was tendered the people of the community for their generous hespitality, when Presbytery adjourned to meet in Shepherdstown to dispose of Mr. Bedinger's request for a dissolution of his pastoral relation to the Shepherdstown church. Closed with Every minister belonging to Presbytery, but one, was in attendance upon this meeting. The preaching was good, and the enjoyment-of guests was great.

OLD CITIZENS DECEASED .- Within the past week, our county has sustained the loss of several old and valued citizens. On Monday last. Mr. GERARD D. MOORE, departed this life at his residence, after a well spent life that had reached more than its three score and ten. He was a man of exceedingly kind heart, great probity of character, and filed oup the measure of his days as a husband, father, neighbor and friend. For some time. past his condition has been very feeble, and the summons which reached him on Monday was not unexpected Capt James L. Ranson, who was an officer in the war of 1812, an I who had filled the office of Sheriff of the county and other positions, died on Thursday morning, at the advanced age of seventy-six. In his day, he was largely identified with the business interests of the county, and was ever ready to contribute of his energy to the prosperity of the community in which he had so long resided. Familiar with the better and happier days of the county, his sensitive nature keenly felt the innovations which recent years have effected. On Friday his remains were laid in their final resting place-the grave-yard of the Episcopal Church of this town-in which church he had long held membership. Capt. R. was born in Buckingham county, Va., in the year 1791, and took up his residence here in 1808.

On Saturday morning, a large circle of friends and acquaintances were called to mourn the death of Mrs. HESTER A. DAVIS. relict of the late Aquilla Davis, of this town. Connected with some of the oldest families of our community, she had passed a long life in our midst, rearing a large family of children, many of whom yet survive to mourn her departure. In the various relations of life she was called upon to sustain, she bore well her part, and her death is universally egretted.

ACCIDENT .- An accident occurred in town on Saturday last, which came near being serious. Three boys, two of them sons of Mr. John H. Campbell, were riding down Main Deet in a buggy, when one of the wheels came off, causing the horse to run away, but luckily he was stopped ere he went far, the boys receiving but little injury. This should warn our readers to be careful about the condition of their vehicles at all times.

CORNER STONE .- On Saturday evening last the Congregation of the Free Will Baptist Church (Colored) laid the Corner Stone of the Church edifice now in progress of erection, at the Southwestern extremity of the town. The ceremonies were conducted without the attendance of the Masonic order, it being we understand against the rules of this Church for that order to officiate.

The ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Mr. Dungey, (colored) the pastor of the church, who delivered an address full of wholesome advice to his colored brethren During its delivery he stated that he was a Virginian, had been in a number of places in Virginia, and never met with an insult anywhere, as he always made it a point to attend to his own business, and to treat every one with courtesy and politeness. He exhorted them to honesty and industry, remarking that they were here and would remain here, and that they must use every effort to build up the community, and to promote peace and Rev. David H. Riddle, D. D., having re- harmony among all classes. Altogether he seems to be a man whose sole aim is to promote the cause of Christ, and we hope he may do much good in our community. Qur color-ed friends will do well to heed his advice, and we feel assured if they do so all will be well, and both whites and blacks live in peace and harmony.

OFF FOR CALIFORNIA. - On Tuesday last Mr. JOHN W. BOWERS, with several young gentlemen from the Shepherdstown and Duffields neighborhoods, started for the golden. shores of California, where we trust they will meet with the success they anticipated, Our young friend WILLIE BUTLER, son of C. T. Butler had made his arrangements to accompany the party, but yielding to the solicitations of an anxious and affectionate mother, he has concluded to remain in his native county. Mr. John M. English, a native of this town, but for a number of years a resident of the golden State, has been on a visit here for the past month. He sailed yesterday from New York for his adopted home.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY .- A few nights since a daring attempt was made to enter the house of Mrs. Waugh, a widow lady residing at the Northern extremity of Lawrence street. Mrs. W., we understand, had retired for the night, and some time afterwards, being aroused by a noise at the window, arose and went to it, when the found the body of a man (or boy) partly through the aperture, upon which she screamed for help, and the robber sought safety by flight.

Mrs. W., had been absent from home, and he no doubt thought she had not yet returned. It has been pretty well ascertained who the party is, and hereafter his movements will be kept under close surveilance by our citizens. A little powder and lead may do him good

DRAMATIC.-The Dramatic Association lately organized in our town, have had several pieces in rehearsal for some time, and will, we understand, give their first entertainment on the night of the 16th. They have secured the commodious hall over the shops of Messrs. Weirick & Weller, which is now being fitted up for the occasion. From the character of the material of this Association, a fine entertainment may be expected by lovers of the LUMBER.-We direct the attention those in need of lumber of any description, either for building, fencing or cabinet purposes, to the advertisement of Mr. Towner Schley, whose yard is located at Shepherdstown. We are assured that his stock is full and complete, and that his facilities for replenishing at all times, is unsurpassed.

Who is that lady dressed in green?

It can't be Mrs. Leach-There's Mr. Jones with Deacon Giles! I wonder if he'll preach.

Lend me your lan—it is so warm;
We both will sit at prayers—
Mourning becomes the widow Ames—
How Mary's bonnet flares. Do look at Nancy Sloper's veil, It's full a breadth too wide

Appears to-day as bride. Lord! what a voice Jane Rice has got -Oh! how that organ roars—
How hard Miss Johnson snores!

What ugly shawls are those in front? Did you observe Ann Wild?

Her new straw bonnet's trimmed with black ! I guess she's lost a child !

I'm half asleep—that Mr. Jones,
His sermons are so long—
This afternoon we'll stay at home, And practice that new song.

It may be a fair question whether a man can be said to be wedded to celibacy. -Why is a thief in a garret like an honest man? He is above a wrong action.

-Many men and women have had occasion to know that two do not necessarily make a pair. -Vegetation is so scarce at Cape Cod that two mullen stalks and a hucklberry bush are called a groye. - Women should remember that men would often ring their tender fingers only to wring their tender hearts.

-There is no end to the sayings of John Randolph of Roanoke: Randolph was in-a tavern lying on a sofa waiting for the stage to come to the door. A dandified chap stepped into the room with a whip in his hand, just come from a drive, and standing before the mirror, arranged his hair and collar quite unconscious of the presence of the gentleman on the sofa. After attudinizing awhile, be turned to go out, when Mr. Randolph asked him.

"Has the stage come?" "Stage, sir! stage!" said the fop. "I've nothing to do with it sir." "Oh! I beg your pardon," said Randolph quietly, "I thought you were the driver.

- The Salt Lake Vidette says :- Awayfarer dropped into the Occidental Hotel in this place the other day, to get a square meal. Having planted himself in a chair at the head of the table he was confronted by the waiter with : "What'll you have?"

The hungry one fastened his eyes on the attach la soup, and said. "What you got that's good ?"

"Oh, we've got roast beef, corn beef, roast mutton, fried ham, and boiled curlew. "What is a curlew?" said the stranger. "Curlew is a bird something like a snipe."

"Did it have wings?" "Yes."

"Did it fly !" "Yes."

"Then I don't want any curlew in mine anything that had wings and could fly, andt didn't leave this hard country, I don't want for dinner."

FISHING FOR DUCKS-How the Dutchman's Geese Flew Away and Newer Returned. -"There goes the old Dutchman who had the dangerous geese !" exclaimed a friend in the country, the other day, calling our attention to a Dutchman of the "old school," who was walking slowly along the road. 'We asked for an explanation. "Why, when the Yankees first began to settle here, he was joined by a slabsided eral Alterative and Tonic, with the most satisfacspecimen of 'em, as he was picking up the tory results, and I therefore quills that his geese had dropped in their morning waddles, by the edge of an oblong pond at the roadside. Presently one of the geese stretched out his long neck at the Yankee, who started and ran as if a mad dog were at his heels.

"I dold him," said the old Dutchman, "not to be avraid; dat de geese wouldn't hurt um any; but de geese did run after him, dough, clear over de hill; and none of um wouldn't give um no rest any more; whenever he came along de street, I believe dey had a spite agin de Yankees. Mein gracious; its eurious, dough, dat de geese always went away, and didn't come back any more! The secret of that was, that the Yankee, who was so afraid of the Dutchman's geese, had thrown out kernels of corn, among which was one with a fish-book attaached. Once swallowed, the angry goose was in tow of the Bying fugitive.

the Best AUTERATIVE IN USB, and therefore cheerfully recommend it as such.

THOMAS J. BOYDTON, M. D. Baltimons, Feb. 10th, 1868.

Dear Sir-I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other a case of scrofula, of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the for mula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find i an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.
Yours truly, R. W. CARR, M. D. Yours truly,

ROSADALIS WILL CURE THE WORST CASES OF SCROFULA. READ THE STATEMENT BELOW AND DE PAIR NOT. WILSON COUNTY, Sept. 10, 1867.

Dr. J. J. Lawrence-Dear Sir: My youngest daughter, aged five years has been dreadfully afflicted with Scrofula nearly all her life. I tried a great many physicians, but without relieving her much; in fact, most of them said there was no hope of cure. During the last spring she was worse than ever, her body and limbs being covered with sores and blotches—with face and eyes badly ulcerated and swollen. Whilst in this condition, I was advised by Dr. L. A. Stith to try your Rosadalis. Lat once procured three bot tles, and commenced giving it to her. The effect was magical. In less than a month, to my great astonishment she was entirely well. Eam yours

With much respect and gratitude, W. W. BURNETT. ROSADALIS CURES ALL SKIN DISEASES. Wilson, N. C., September 15, 1867. Dr. Lawrence-Dear Sir-In 1862, my son, now aged five years, was vaccinated with what proved to be impure matter, which completely destroyed his health. He has been afflicted with an inveterate and extremely troublesome Eruption of the Skin, sometimes breaking out in sores, &c. Rosadalis was prescribed by my family physician, Dr

A. D. Moore. After taking it a few weeks my son became and remains entirely well.

Yours truly,

J. B. DANIEL. CHRONIC LIVER COMPLAINT CURED. This is to certify that I was cured of Chronic Liver Compisint by Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis, af-ter having been confined to my bed and house for a long time, and trying various medicines without I know of several others in this country cured through the use of Resadalis, and it can be found in nearly every house in my neighborhood, and all praise it as a great medicine.

PORTSMOUTH, Va, February 25th, 1869: Captain J H Baker: | Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have been af flicted with Rheumatism for the last five or six years, many times unable to move. I tried all medicines recommended to me for the disease, without receiving any benefit. Having heard Rosadalis highly spoken of, I procured a bottle, and finding some relief, continued it until I am happy to say that I am completely well.

I not only consider the Rosadalis a sovereign rem edy for Bheumatism, but I believe it also a pre-ventive, and cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted

BALTIMORE, February 2d, 1863. My chickens were dying very fast with what my neighbors called "Chicken Cholera." I was induced to try your "Poulterers' Friend." and it worked like a charma. I gave it as directed, and it made by your "Poulterers' Friend" can not fail to interest all who raise Poultry. A gentleman of this village has been experimenting on chickens with the gapes. He tried your "Poulterers' Friend" according to the directions, and it had the desired cffect in destroying the worm, effectually relieving the chicken at once. Since then I have had many calls for it, and it has been used extensively with the same result. It is of incalculable value to all who raise Poultry. Respectfully, A. Spencer. NEW YORK ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE MOST RELIABLE CUSHION used in Billiard Tables is the CAT-GUT CUSHION.

Manufactured by KAVANAGH & DECKER, and Patented Dec. 18, 1866. (See Scientific American; Vol. 16, No. 11.)

It is the ONLY Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a PERPECT Cushion, it is the most elastic and most durable Cushion, ever oferred to the billiard-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the CAT-GUT Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the tightened cord of cat-gut which overlies the tace and edge of the rubber and running the full length of the Cushion which prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the table. The addition of the cat-gut cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The CAT-GUT Cushion has already been applied to over 1,000 tables which are in constant use. It can be applied to tables of any make for $75 per set.

KAVANAGH & DECKER'S Factory, at the corner of Centre and Canal Streets, N. Y., is the most complete of its kind in the world. The machinery is of the most improved character, the lumber drying room the largest in the United States, the material used the best that can be purchased, and the workmen thoroughly skilled.

April 7, 1868, Bee Hives.

THE undersigned having purchased the right and LANGSTROTH'S PATENT BEE HIVES. for the county of Jefferson, are prepared to furnish many in this vicinity. We can vouch for over three hundred pounds of pure virgin Honey having been taken from three of these Hives in 1865, besides leaving an abundant supply for the winter use of the bees in the lower or breeding department.

As there are some persons in this county who have these dives in use who have no papers to show their authority for using them, we hereby notify them that we will place our claims for their use, with damages, in the hands of a Lawyer for sealement in the United States Court, if they disregard this notice by not obtaining the proper authority from us. We have paid our money for this right, and do not intend that it shall be used by ady one without authority and payment of the patent fee. There do not intend that it shall be used by any one without authority and payment of the patent fee. There is but one side to this 'question before the United States Courts, where the costs are very heavy, independent of damages. As weare reluctant (though determined) to take this course, we hope no one will disregard this notice. This patent has been extended for seven years from the 5th of October, 1866. We also caution all persons (not authorized) against manufacturing said Hives in this aty.

We have ordered some of Langstroth's ne work on the Honey Bee, and expect soon to have them for sale.
