LETTER FROM MISSOURI. KANSAS CITY, Mo.,

October 6th, 1868. Mr. Editor :- The Spirit came to hand esterday, and was read with more than usual interest. It is refreshing, indeed, at any time, to glanco through its columns and call to remembrance the names that figure there, but this number is rendered doubly entertaining by the startling announcement of the sudden disappearance of the "Loil Purp" from your midst, and by the accurate description, with carte de visite, given of him. You may rest assured, he has made for his old den here in "free Misery," and I will expect to hear soon of his ravages. It seems that in all this land, he can find but two places to rest his infamous careass; one here under the shadow of the "Great Leiger," the other in the "bastard State," under the protection of the scalawag Boreman. What fit abodes for such a monster! They do not even deserve the name of territory, for they are but the dens of political infamy, where the out-casts of every State, both social and political, exiles from virtue and refugees from justice, unknown to honor and integrity and incapable of even the conception of what is good, noble and generous, have assembled and poured into the boiling caldron of legislation he poison of their crimes, their malice and vindictiveness, from its surface scum the most obdoxious miasma of the bitter potion, and fixed it upon a brave and generous people as their State constitutions. You will study geography in vain to find two more such places; you will search history in vain to find the counterpart of two such State governments. I cannot believe that the arch fiend in the hierarchy of hell is capable of the conception of two such monstrosities. But thanks to Heaven! the people here are rising in their might, are determined this state of affairs shall end, and I am confident ere another moon wanes, our political horizon will be, lit with the light from the funeral pyres of mongrel constitutions, mongrel statesmen and mongrel rascalities. I sincerely hope that you may follow in the wake, and be able to shake off the shackles that fetter the good people of the time hon-ored county you represent, and of that section of the Old State now termed "West Virginia;" for I must ever look upon the Old Common wealth as undivided. I am not willing to give up the glories and the honors that beong to any portion of her old domain. I know too there are thousands of those who boast "montani semper liberi," who would to day gladly join hands with the gallant men of the Lowlands, and aid them in restoring to Virginia her rights- from the Potomac to the Carolinas, and from the coast to the Ohioand in reestablishing her in her proud place in the galaxy of States. There is innate in every Virginian, a true State pride. They are unwilling to give up any of their common glory to gratify either the caprice or the selfish plundering propensities of a few petty office seekers, and her honor, her glory, are monuments that will outlive the generation of miscreants who will insult the one or strive to detract from the other. The day is not far distant when the tidal wave of passion and prejudice will have swept by, and the people will return to a sense of justice and right. Then Virginia, glorious in her past history, sublime in her misfortune now, will rise refreshed from the storm, and bask again in the sunlight of peace and prosperity. The political contest here is growing very warm. Both parties are thoroughly organized into companies and drilling for the batle. The train is laid, and it will require but a spark to set it agoing. Fights are numerous. The masses are far ahead of the leaders. They want but the countenance of authority, and this State will be a scene of bloodshed. The people have withstood the encroachments of the Radical party until patience and forbearance have ceased to be virtues, and they have determined to have a free vote or a free fight. On Saturday night last, the "Tanners" sneaked into a bar room kept by a Seymour man, and used him roughly; then went to the houses of several Irishmen, and not finding them at home, at one place, shot two pet sheep; at another, two goats. If retribution don't overtake these rascals soon, the devil will. Our city is increasing at its accustomed gait. New arrivals every day. Fine business houses, hotels, operas, &c., going up in various parts. Five piers of the bridge across the Missouri are completed, and the other three are well on the way. The Kansas City and Galveston road is being rapidly laid, and everything wears the air of prosperity. More J. E. B.

-The largest advertising contract given out in 1868, and probably the largest ever given to one advertising firm at one time is that of the proprietors of Plantation Bitters to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., Advertising Agents, No. 40 Park Row, New York, on the 18th of Sept., for $43,776 26.

Messrs. P. H. Drake & Co. have for years been among the largest advertisers in America, and the contract mentioned above is but a small part of their expenditure in this way for the present year. It is only those who have tried printers' ink most extensively that are so firmly convinced of its efficacy.

The Advertising Agency which is sending out this order is another example. It commenced business less than five years since, and the fact that it now controls a greater advertising patropage than any similar establishment, is without doubt to be attributed to their having expended more money in advertising themselves and their facilities within that time than all other advertising firms put together, since the establishment of the first agency a quarter of a century since.

— On Monday, the 28th ultimo, whilst the material train of the O., A. & M. Road was unloading bridge timbers near Timberville, a heavy piece of timber fell upon one of the train hands, a colored man, and injured him to such an extent that he died in a few hours.

"Don't you think, dear Julia, that Araminta has such sweet hair?" " Yes, and no

We have been surprised more than once at the want of information abroad, even in the adjoining States, concerning West Virginia

It is a fact of easy demonstration, that even the Southern States, ruled as they are by the sword, are more free to-day, than the always loyal State of West Virginia.

In this State there are not less than twentyfive thousand disfranchised citizens. No, not "citizens!" for the amended constitution of the State declares that they can never become citizens; although they were born on her soil, have lived here all their lives, and are heavily taxed to support the municipal State and national governments. They are aliens on their native soil, so far as the State constitution can make them aliens. In this county alone, there are 1,400 disfranchised men, comprising the wealth, intelligence, public spirit and moral worth of

In this town, with a population of 1,200 there are only eight voters. And yet, in this county there is not one disloyal man, excepting the Radicals, who are all disloyal. In West Virginia there are not less than 25,000 men who cannot hold any office, sit on a jury, or teach a public school. In West Virginia there are not less than 25,000 men who cannot obtain judgments upon old debts due them, or enforce contracts. In West Virginia the taxes for county and township purposes are eight times heavier than before the war.

In West Virginia we have five paid officers nows for one before the war. In West, Virginia the salaries for count officers are double, and some of them treble what they were before the war. In West Virginia, especially in the border counties, the officers are, with few exceptions, filled by the most ignorant and vicious of the

In West Virginia three men in each county. known as the County Board of Registration are actually licensed, by an act of the legislature, to enter on record that their fellow citizens are perjurers!

In West Virginia the county boards of registration have entire control of every office in the State. The board of registration of Ohio county can unseat Governor Boreman by merely scratching his name from the list of registered voters. The board of registration of Monroe county can unseat Judge Nat. Harrison in the same way. No man can hold office unless he is a voter. No man can be a voter unless he is registered. No man can register or remain registered, wirhout the consent of the county boards of registration. Scratch Boreman's name or Harrison's name from the registry, and the sceptre of power drops from their nerveless grasp. Did such a state of things ever before exist in any civilized community? Has as mean, contemptible, sneaking, cowardly, brutal despotism as that of West Virginia ever before rejoiced the hearts of devils, or called for the avenging bolts of heaven! "Mountineers always free !" Oh, what a mockery of a noble sentiment! What a brazen faced lie! There is no freedom in these mountains, except the freedom of ignorance and villainy to lord it over intelligence and honesty .- Greenbrier Independent.

WHERE DOES HE BELONG!-We have been shown a letter from Blanchester, Clinton county. Ohio, which says that a man named John Bamber, who belonged to the 47th Ohio Regiment under McClellan, and afterwards under Gen. Cox, brought to that county a little boy whom he says he got in South Carolina; but a fellow soldier says that Bamber brought him from Virginia. The boy is now in the hands of Bamber's parents, who treat him most cruelly, so much so that interference on the part of the citizens has more than once been talked of. The boy says his name is David Hollis, but he cannot tell what town or State he come from. He is about ten years old-fair complexion,-blue eyes, light hair, handsome and intelligent. John Bamber, the letter further states, has taught the boy to say and believe that his father was killed in the war, and his mother has gone off. The letter closes as follows: "If the child's parents are not in Leesburg. I think it advisable to send this along McClellan and Cox's route through Virginia. I hope you may find his parents, I will do all I can to relieve him, and I hope all Virginians will assist mc." Signed, M. E. STEPHENSON. Blanchester, he says, is on the Cincinnati and Marietta Railroad .- Loudoun Mirror.

- A correspondent of the Richmond En quirer, writing from Charlotte, N. C., announces that the Old North State is certain for Seymour and Blair, and adds: " A full registration will give the whites a majority of nearly two to one over the colored votessay 135,000 to 75,000. Only about 29,000 of these white voters have ever shown any disposition to forsake their race, and many of these did so only under the fierce pressure of their surroundings last spring. If the remaining 115,000 can be got out to the polls we can carry the State by twenty thousand majority without a single pegro vote! In fact, however, we will poll at least 5,000 negro

MOTHER'S GRAVE. BY G. D. PRENTICE.

The trembling dewdrops fall
Upon the shuttering flowers, like souls at rest.
The stars shine gloriously, and all Save me are blest.

Mother, I love thy grave!
The violet, with its blessoms blue and mild,
Wave o'er thy head. When will it wave

'Tis a sweet flower, yet must
Its bright leaves to the morning tempest bow.
Dear mother, 'tis thine emblem—dust
Is on thy brow. And I could love to die—
To leave untasted life's dark, bitter streams,
By thee, as erst in childhood, sie,

And I must linger here
To stain the plumage of my sinless years,
And mourn the hopes of childhood dear
With bitter tears.

Aye, I must linger here,
A lonely branch upon a withered tree,
Whose last frail leaf untimely sear
Went down with thee,

Oft from life's withered bower, In still communion with the past, I turn And muse on thee, the only dower . In memory's urn.

And when the evening pale Bows like a mourner on the dim, blue wave, I stray to hear the night wind's wail Where is thy spirit flown?
I gaze above—Liy look is imaged there—I listen, and thy gentle tone

Oh, come, while here I press My brow upon thy grave, and in those mild And thrilling tones of tenderness, Bless, bless thy child!

False and erroneous statements are oftenmes repeated with such assurance; that in time they come to be accepted as truths of history. Experience teaches us that the only effectual way to controvert false statements and to make history correct, is to notice them before time has obscured facts, and buried witnesses. We of the South, particularly, owe it to ourselves and our posterity to see every event, and even minutest details connected therewith, are truthfully handed down to history. Little now is left us but our deeds, and the fame which awaits us in history .-

render at Appointtox, and how Gen. Lee stood and surrendered under an apple treehow Gen. Grant admired Lee's beautiful sword, and returned it, remarking that Lee was too brave a man to be without a weapon.etc. Gentle reader, none of these things happened. Lee did not surrender under an apple tree! He did not offer his sword to Grant! Grant did not admire the weapon and return it! If our readers will bear with us, we will give the surrender as we saw it. It is well remembered that Gen. Lee, hoping to divide Grant's army, had made a terrible onslaught on his (Grant's) left centre, at "Hare's Hill," and how nearly it succeeded: It failed, owing to causes over which Gen. Lee had no control. It is also well remembered how the army of Northern Virginia, worn down by continuous fighting, numbering only 40,000 men, was stretched out as a shield for the worn Confederacy, daily fighting and defending itself, and on a line fifty miles in

On the 2d of April the lines around Petersburg were broken; and 10,000 of Lee's veterans left on the field or in the hospitals. The remainder, Lee rushed towards Burksville, but failing to find the provisions for them which he had ordered concentrated at Amelia Court House, was compelled to scatter his army to obtain food. For six long days had the army struggled against its wolfish for famine had now leagued itself with the Army of the Potomac. Step by step, on a retreat which excelled the horrors of the retreat from Moscow, the army of Northern riginia fought its fleshly focs and buoyed up against the invisible power famine, until scarce 10,000 of that glorious band had strength to raise an arm or fire a shot.

On the 8th of April it became apparent that the army of Northern Virginia was soon. to pass from earth to history. The troops, worn by continuous battle, exposure, and irritated by the ceaseless pangs of hunger, fought only from instinct. The high resolve the noble enthusiasm of former days had died away. Hunger had palled stout hearts and weakened strong arms. We were conquered at Appomattox ere we fought. Just at dusk a cannonading in front told that the wolf was again upon our track and ahead of us .-Thirty pieces of artillery moving ahead of the army, without escort, had been captured by Sheridan-his divisions were across our path—and the army, worn and scattered by a long day's march, could not be concentrated in sufficient strength to attack that night. Gen. Lee called a council of war. For some days correspondence between the opposing Generals had been carried on Grant emanding Lee's surrender, and Lee, while insisting that Grant was not in a position to make such a demand, offering to open negotiations with a view to a general peace throughout the South. Gen. Les had previously supply trains were unguarded, as everything was bent upon cutting us off in front; and that the destruction of these trains would drive Grant back for want of supplies. Gen. Lee, on the other hand, thought that such a movement would destroy his army as an army that the men could only carry with them sufficient ammunition for one hard fought engagement-that they could carry with them only a few days rations and no artillery or medical supplies; that their power for any permanent good to the cause would be gone, and that such a force would only prey upon and become an enemy of the people of the country. The only thing left, therefore, was to cut through the enemy's lines—join Johnston and make peace with arms in hand. So it was determined to cut through Sheridan in the morning. Gordon was to direct the move-ment, and all of the 2nd corps and parts of

to him. The troops, when formed, amounted to some 2,500 infantry and about one thousand ing desperately to protect our rear.

The Sabbath morn dawned brightly—all nature smiled, and spring-time gladness covered the earth as if in mockery of the nation which on that day was to die at Appomattox. Gordon moved forward-crushes Custar's division of Sheridan's cavalry—captures and brings a battery in our lines—and driving on, crushes life out of Custar and his reinforcements. The cavalry on our right overcoming all obstacles, ride freely on the Lynchburg read. It seems as if victory is about to crown ur efforts.

But alas! the Mender attacking force is black bread and water from the mire, where soon felt to be weak, and just as we are the frogs croak. Like the wandering Jew, he gathering strength for a final leap, we see black lines as far as eye can reach. It is the no kindred to meet him with joy. Men close army of the James, sixty thousand strong, filing across our path. We are too late! Slowly we are forced back, through the village that now is, or that is coming. His knock at of Appomattox, and our foes gather around us on every side, save in the direction from whence the river hems in all escape. Gen. by his sight-what has he to do with rags? Lee, viewing the hopeless conflict from a distance, dispatches a flag of truce to Grant—the strife ends, and the hostile lines are drawn back. While this correspondence was going on, and while Gen. Lee was waiting the arrival of Gen. Grant, he took shelter from the sun under an apple tree in McLane's orchard, under which Col. Talcott, of the engineer corps, had. placed some rails for a seat, and fully half a mile from Appomattox. Grant's 'arrival on the outskirts of his army was soon announced. Lee, in a full suit of grey, with his English sword girded to his side, riding forward on his grey to meet Grant—he was a warrior at whom history itself might stoop to gaze. The interview between the opposing chieftains was severely simple-but few attendants present. It took place between the pickets of the two armies, and lasted only a few minutes. Grant apologized for not having his sword, which was behind in his wagon -the terms were agreed upon, and Lee rode back to his army. Commissioners on either side were appointed to arrange details. The surrender became known, and then-to us for two days-a blank. Lists of our names were made out, and two days afterwards, with heavy hearts, we filed by, brigade at a time, before a line of captors, and deposited our banners and arms. Gen. Lee rode homeward on the third day-and all was over! McLane's orchard, in which the tree was, under which General Lee stood, was all cut down by relic worshippers. So much for the apple treeso much about the swords! A Scotch Highlander, who served in the first disastrous war with the American Colonies, was brought one evening before his commanding officer, charged with the capital offence of being in direct communication with the enemy. The charge could not well have been preferred at a more dangerous time .extent, confronted by 140,000 infantry and | Only a few weeks had clapsed since the execution of Major Andre, and the indignation of the British, exasperated almost to madness by the event, had not yet cooled down .-There was the direct proof against the High lander. He had been seen, in the gray of twilight, stealing out from a clump of underwood that bordered on one of the huge forests, which at that period covered much the greater part of the United Provinces, and which, in the immediate neighborhood of the British, swarmed with the troops of Washington. All the rest was mere inference and conjecture. The poor man's defence was summed up in a few words. He had stolen away from his fellows, he said, to spend a few hours in private prayer. "Have you been in the habit of spending hours in private prayer?" sternly asked the officer, himself a Scotchman and a Prestyte-

The Highlander replied in the affirmative. ('Then,' said the officer, drawing out his watch, "never in your life had you more need of prayer than now; kneel down, sir, and pray aloud, that we may all hear you." The Highlander, in the expectation of instant death, knelt down. His prayer was that of one long acquainted with the appropriate language in which the Christian addresses his God. It breathed of imminent peril, and earnestly implored the Divine interposition in the threatened danger, the help of Him who in times of extremity is strong to deliver. It exhibited, in short, a man who, thoroughly conversant with the scheme of redemption, and fully impressed with the necessity of a personal interest in the advantages which it secures, had made the business of salvation the work of many a solitary hour, and had, in consequence, acquired much fluency in expressing all his various wants as they occurred, and thoughts and wishes as

No one could have prayed so without a long apprenticeship; fellows who have never attended drill always get on ill at review."

- A witness in court, who had been cautioned to give a precise answer to every ques-tion, and not to talk about what he might think the question meant, was interrogated as follows: "You drive a wagon?" No, sir, I do not." "Why, man, did you not tell my learned friend so this moment?" "No, sir, I did not." "Now, sir, I put it to you on is my cow gone?" The sailor replied in a I did not." "Now, sir, I put it to you on your oath, do you not drive a wagon?"____ "No, sir." "What is your occupation, then?" I drive a horse, sir."

The Bag Picker.

Nowhere does industry celebrate a more of rious triumph than when it changes the foul rag into snowy paper, and makes the low ragpicker subserve the highest interest of madkind. For as the rag stas last and most ofueless remnant that is contemptuously thrown away by all but the very poorest on earth, so is the rag-picker's work the humblest of all pursuits. In the country his life lies among the poorest of personis. He lives away from home, leaving his wife and his children behind him, to return after long months, per-haps never. He tramps over rough roads and lonely bypaths, with no shelter from the has no one to love him, no friend to great him, that now is, or that is coming. His knock at the door says, "You are poor; you are as miserable as I am." The rich man is insulted The rag-picker laughs in his sleeve at his disgust, and thinks to bimself. "Next year, or the year after, I will come again ; perhapa there will be rags then." Sunday and holiday afford him no rest; he is even on the tramp, and his parish is far away. There is a poor, miserable hut somewhere, which he calls his own, but he sees it only for a few days in the year. When he returns, he feels he is a stranger ; the little children know him not, and stare at his rags, the dogs bark at him and smell his power erty. He hesitates at the threshold, for be knows not what God has sent him in !! meantime, a cradle or a bier. The popul song, however, gives him some hope. It with dirt, it says, are the rags which he di ries, but running waters shall wash the clean; rending wheels shall grind them, & they shall come forth as paper, whiter the the driven snow. So white then, poor picker! One day thy body will lie by the wayside, covered with tutters and rags, but hy soul will fly away, fair and white, and God's angels will bear it upward to heaven. EARLY RISING .- A young farmer found that he was getting reduced in circumstances. He went to a friend to ask his advice. This friend, with a very grave face said, "I know of a charm that will care that; take this little cup, drink from it every morning of the water you must get at such a spring. But remember you must draw it yourself at fire o'clock or the charm will be broken." Next morning the farmer walked across his fields, for the spring was at the further end of his estate, and spying a neighbor's cows which had broken through the fence, and were feeding on his pasture, he turned them out and mended the fence. The laborers were not yet at hand; when they came loitering after their proper time, they were startled at seeing "master," so early. "Oh!" said he "I see how this is; it comes of my not getting up in time." This early rising soon become a pleasant habit; his walk and cup of water gave him an appetite for breakfast, and the people were, like himself, early at work. He soon acknowledged that the advice his friend had given was as good as it was simple.

AGRICULTURAL JOKES. - The Ohio Farmer lets off the following: Large horses are generally most admired by farmers ; but farmers are most admired Prosperity is generally based upon knowledge and industry the swine will always get most that nose most. Farmers are like fowls ; neither will get full crops without industry.

Because a man who strends a flock of sheep s a shepherd, makes it no reason that a man who keeps cows should be a coward. We like to see a farmer increase the growth of useful plants and shrubs around his home but do not like to see him use rails, poles and STAINS. &c .- All clothes subject to be stained such as table linen, napkins, childreu's clothes, towels, &c., ought to be examined before being put into any wash mixture, or soap sude, as these render the stain permanent. Many stains will yield to good washing in pure, soft, warm water.-Alcohol will remove almost any discoloration Almost any stain or iron rust, or mildew, may be removed by dipping in a moderately strong solution of pitric acid, then covered with salt and kept in the sun. This may require to be repeated many times, but with us has never failed.

ELECTIONS.

The loyal few in our county will bear in mind, as most of them no doubt have an "axe" to grind," that an election will be held in each township where a vacancy may exist. of Supervisor, Township Clerk, Township Treasurer, Constable and Magistrate. We desire it distinctly understood, however, that we are not a candidate for any of these positions, as we have long since learned that evil and corrupt association demoralizes, if it does not destroy, the best reputation.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

On Saturday afternoon last, the Democrats and Conservatives of Averill township, held a meeting at Middleway, which was addressed by Messrs. J. W. Kennedy, E. W. Andrews and E. W. Wilson. The remarks of each were very brief, and related to the action to dier he was only distinguished for the basest be taken on Thursday next, by the voters of the county. Mr. B. F. Harrison was also called out, but contented himself with simply returning thanks for the kindness shown him.

On to-morrow afternoon, the 21st, there will-be a meeting held at Lectown, which will be addressed by the same speakers. We hope the turn out will be a creditable one; and especially would we rejoice to see the Radicals in attendance. Come out and hear the truth. The Speaking will commence at 1 o'clock.

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

Our readers are all doubtless aware of the results of the recent elections in the States of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio and Nebraska, and it needs only that we sum up for record. We have no comments to offer.

The latest figures show that the Radical majority in Pennsylvania is somewhere near 10,000. The Democrats gain three members of Congress in the State.

In Indiana, the contest is a much closer one, and the Radical State ticket cannot claim more than 1.500. In this State, the Democrats gain one member of Congress-the eloquent and determined VORHEES, who has overcome a majority of hearly 3000.

Ohio gives a radical majority of about 15,-000. Here too, the Democrats have made in oads on the Congressional delegations, graning three members. In Nebfaska every thing is radical.

- An accident, attended by painful results. occurred on the O., A. & Manassas Raffroad. on Saturday evening week, about a mile below Timberville, in Rockingham county. The hands engaged on the road were in the habit of going over the work in the hand cars, and by some means or other there was a violent collision of these trucks, by which five men were seriously injured, two of them having the Penitentiary. legs broken, and one suffering paralysis from injury done to his spine.

- Roanoke College, says the Times, is meeting the expectation of its friends in its as a tool by others, to aid them in carrying prosperity. There are alredy nearly two hundred students in attendance, and others have informed the Faculty of their intention to be present during the session. At no time in the preaious history of the College has it been in a more prosperous condition. - On Saturday week, the Friends of Temperance at McGaheysville, Rockingham county, had quite a pleasant and interesting time -plenty of good speeches, and plenty of good things to eat. Speeches on this occasion were delivered by Revs. J. S. Gardner and

Liggett, and Messrs S. J. Price, W. S. Rohr, J. E. Roller and J. Ed. Pennybacker. - Layman son of Mr. William Layman, of Shenandeah county, was accidentally killed on Saturday week. He was engaged in moving a cane mill, upon a wagon when the lever, or beam, accidentily fell upon him, catching his head between the beam and the axletree, breaking his neck and killing him instantly. A number of street lamps were lighted in the "city" of Harrisonburg for the first time on Tuesday night last.

REGISTRATION AGAIN.

It is too late now to indulge in any lengthy comments upon the action of the Board of Registration of this county, even if we could command the language to do justice to their apparalleled villainies. Composed as this Board was, of three of the most contemptible specimens of humanity that a wise Providence permits to breathe, it was not to be expected that anything good could come from their hands, but we were not prepared for the enormities that have characterized their conduct.

We must drop them.

In the formation of this iniquitous Board, the dastardly Governor of the State, followed closely the annexed recipe, for compounding a Radical Board of Registration :-

RECIPE FOR MAKING A RADICAL BOARD. Take a booby, a blockhead, a blath'ring fool, Who's sold himself, breeches and books, as a tool; Take a horse thief, who, tho' his body be smal!, Is trying to be biggest rascal of all.

Those who are familiar with the vile characters of those who compose the present Board, will at once recognize the exactness with which Boreman has followed the above recipe in compounding the Board of Registration of Jefferson county-a county which, for virtue, wealth and intelligence, has not its superior, if its equal, in the State. And yet this county, the brightest gem in the whole coronet of West Virginia—the rich mine from which she draws the revenue that supports her existence-is insulted and spit upon by the appointment of such loathesome creatures to decide who shall be permitted to vote, and who shall control the destinies of her people. But let us look a little into the characters of these vile wretches. Who are they, and what are they? Let us undertake their dissection separately, and a more disagreeable and disgusting job, we venture to say, never was imposed-upon a publisher. The suggestion above referred to has been canvassed to a considerable extent, through the press, but has met with no favor from the National Executive committee of the Demoeratic party. Data, the Washington corresnondent of the Baltimore Sun, in his letter of the 18th, says :-Deep interest and somewhat of impatient nxiety is evinced by the democrats to learn the finale of the suggestion of leading democratic journals and influential men of the party relative to the withdrawal of Seymour and Blair and the nomination of new candidates. Private telegrams received from New York ive the information that Mr. Belmont, chairman of the National Democratic Committee. has, conjointly with certain prominent democrats of New York, decided that it would be impracticable to adopt the suggestion above mentioned, and Mr. Belmont refuses to call the executive committee together. Some disappointment and considerable indignation is manifested at this determination of Mr. Belmont and the other New York democrats, who, it is charged, have arrogated to themselves the trusteeship of the democratic part y and assumed to decide, upon their self-constituted authority a matter of vital importance, and one possibly that may determine the success of the party or prove its deatholow in the coming-presidential election. It is argued that in the first instance it may have been, and probably was, impolitic to give publicity to the suggestion of a new nominaion, but since leading democratic journals and influential members of the democratic took place in the village of Longwood, the town of Brookline, about four miles from Boston, at an early hour this morning. The act was produced by insanity on the part of the perpetrator, and the victims are his two little sons, for whom he entertained the greatest affection in his sane moments. The circumstances, as they appear upon investigation, are that George L. Richardson, during the intense heat of last summer, was exposed to the sun in such a manner as to become a victim to sunstroke, ever since which time he has suffered mental depression, and for the past week or ten days he has been too ill to engage in business, but was not during this time confined to his house. His friends were anxious about him on account of these remonitory symptoms of mental derangement, but there was not the slightest fear entertained for its assuming any violent or dangerous form. Last evening he retired early, and about I d'elock this morning his wife awoke and found him very nervous. In a few moments he got up from his bed, took a razor from his dressing case, and going into an adjoining room, where his two sons. Henry and George, were sleeping, he instantly cut the throat of Henry from ear to ear, producing almost instant death, and then attempted in the same manner to kill his second son. The wounds inflicted mon the neck and throat of the latter are very deep and ugly, and is possible he may not survive. Mrs. Richardson, hearing the cry of the youngest, ran to the room and pulled her husband back. A moment of reason came, and he exclaimed. Great God, what have I done !" and immediately left the house, clad only in his night shirt, and shortly after jumped into a milldam near by. He extricated himself from the water immediately, and proceeded in his almost pude state in the direction of Boston .-He stopped at the house of an Irishman, and rapping upon the door demanded admission stating that he was cold and wished to warm himself. While the man was preparing to descend Mr. Richardson went off, and calling at the house of Mr. Henry A. Green, near the Cottage Farm, on the Worcester failroad. knocked at the rear door. The domestics, hearing him, inquired what he wanted, when he implored admission, stating that he was cold, and urged them to come down and make a fire. Before they had time to consider, he threw up his arms and rushed away. He was found this forenoon in his own barn under the hay, and taken to the insane asylum in Somerville. When he was found he was aboring under great mental depression, and though unaware of the deed he had perpetrated, was impressed with the sense of having committed some great crime.

Mr. Richardson has a wife and four chil dren. The lad who is dead was a youth of fourteen years of age, and beloved by all .-His sudden death has thrown the decpest grief upon his circle of acquaintances, by whom he was esteemed for his many noble traits of character. Mr. Richardson's love and care for his children was something more than fatherly. He was their friend and confidant, participating in all their plans, and enjoying with them the pleasures of a very happy home. He was himself a man of decided religious character, being at the time of the above sad occurrence a deacon in the Orthodox Church at Brookline. Continued ill-health, acting upon a nature naturally sensitive, created mental derangement, which is the obly explanation to be given of this truly sad affair. In the immediate neighborhood of this sad event, among those who knew him best, there has been a tender and general expression of sympathy for the wife and family thus suddenly and fearfully bereaved. To business circles Mr. Richardson is well known, having been for about forty years prominently engaged as a shipping merchant banker, &c., in the city of Boston.

Spirit of Jefferson, LUCAREMISCELLANY.

Almost Ended. The third year of our editorial life, since resuming the publication of the Spirit of Jefferson, will end with next week's paper .-With us it has been a hard struggle, against adverse surroundings. But we have our reward, and to-day feel a pride in the position which our journal occupies. We have fought the blighting curse of radical usurpation with all the energy and capacity with which we are endowed, and have made many of its adherents squirm beneath the rightcous scourge of our oft-applied lash. And at the present time we are just as resolute in our purpose to continue the warfare, as we were when we launched upon the unknown sea in 1865. If there be those among our long list of subscribers who feel despondent and disheartened, by recent events, we bid them cheer up, and with buoyant spirits try to soar above the gloomy: clouds that seem to hang above us.

"Truth crushed to earth will rist again, God and the eternal years are hers."

Remember that

And now, a word with you, kind reader, about this paper. We have tried to make it a ceptable to those who love the truth, fearlessly told. . We have not sought for honied phrases in which to clothe our thoughts, when we have had occasion to deal with the powers that be. Where we have discovered rascality, we have unmasked it, and exposed it to the light of day. This course has met with your approbation, as you have often told us. But whilst we have been pursuing this course, and advocating your interests, have you been equally mindful of ours? Have you ever asked yourself the question, is this fearless, paper properly supported, and is its editor and family beyond the reach of want? Have you asked yourself the question, is the paper that I am now reading paid for, and if it is not, how does its publisher manage to send it to me week after week? Ah, friends, few of you know how anxiously we have waited from Monday morning till Saturday night, throughout the whole week, hoping that our office would be lit up with your smiles, and that of wild geese, we have ever seen, passed you would give us the word of cheer and the over our town, wending their way Southward. means to go on rejoicing. But you didn't come-you neglected us-you thought we were on the high tide and were growing rich. when in truth we knew not where the next peck of meal was to come from. And yet we have fought it through, and still live, but | weight such produce as can be more read ly not with your assistance. Now we have a proposition to make .-

There are five hundred of you who have not paid for the paper that you hold in your hand -some of you have been getting it two years. If you were to pay us; do you think we would desert our post and run off with the money? We will give bond that we will do no such thing, but will only labor the harder for your entertainment. How easy it would he for each of you to bring or send us three dollars or sir, as the case may be-by the first day of November. With the aggregate emount we could pay off our debts, buy shoes for our children, lay in our winter's supply of wood, and meat, and vegetables, and laugh at the storm as it howled around our domicil. But you won't do it, and winter will be upon us, and find us with few comforts, laboring night and day to print a paper for you to read by your cozy evening fire. Now we doubt whether ten of our subscribers, out of the five hundred of whom we write, will come forward and pay us within the time named. If we meet them face to face, and present their bills, they will say, "well, really you must excuse me, I intended to settle this long ago but somehow or other I have neglected it. But I reckon its in time." Very likely. And some of you will say, "well I hav'nt got it to day, but I'll attend to it soon," and six months will roll round, and if we call upon vou again, you'll repeat the same story,-"I'll attend to it soon." Some of you will pat us on the shoulder and say, "Beall, old fellow, you publish a first rate paper. I like it, my wife likes it, my youngest boy and my oldest girl like it. Everybody ought to take your paper," when in truth, if everybody kept us waiting for our money as you do, we would'nt have oil to grease our press. Now the way to have a prosperous, fearless paper, is to keep its editor well paid up. Let nothing stand on his books against you. Pay him in advance, and read your paper, not his. You have no right to expect him to furnish his time, his talent, his labor, his means, to furnish you a paper through the whole year without paying for it. It is a mistaken notion that some of you have taken up, that you ought not to pay until you have read the paper a whole year. You can't get a city paper upon such terms, and you have no right to expect them of your county press. With these few remarks we will proceed to close, expressing the hope that between this and the first day of November, we will shake hands with five hundred of you, or receive so many letters through the Post Office containing your remittances, that we will be kept busy from "early morn till dewy eve," writing receipts for you. And then we will be glad. So mote it be.

Conference for Winchester District, M. E. Church, South, will meet in Woodstock on the 11th day of November, and continue in session several days. This is a new body, created by the action of the General Conference at its last session, and is composed of all the imperant and local preachers within the bounds of the District, with lay delegates to be appointed by the several congregations .-Bishop Weightman is expected to be present on the occasion!

PRESBYTERIAN STNOD .- The Synod of Virginia will convene in the Presbyterian Church in Harris onburg on Wednesday next, October 21, at 7 o'clock , P. M. The opening sermon will be preached by the retiring Moderator, the Rev. Dr. Hamner, of Baltimore .-A large number of Minist ers and Elders will he in attendance from Virginia, West Virginia

COUNTY ITEMS.

From the Shepherdstown Register of Saturday, we take the following: — The October Term of our Circuit Court met on Mondey last in this place, Judge E. B. Hall, presiding. The Grand Jury of which Joseph Welshans was foreman, was called and received the usual charge, after which they retired to discharge their duties. Indictments were returned by the Grand Jury against a number of persons for riot, petit larceny, statutory misdementor, law ness and the Episcopal Convention. The sermous were highly spoken of by all those present." - We learn that Rev. N. G. North, of Charlestown, received license for marrying, at the present term of our Circuit Court .-Should any of our young friends of that locality wish to engage in the holy bands of wedlock, we would recommend our friend North to tie the knot. We are confident he can perform the service as gracefully and as well as any other minister in the county.

- On Tuesday last one of the largest flocks This is a sign, it is said of the approach of cold weather.

By WEIGHT. - We are glad to see that our merchants are introducing, what has long been common to most of the cities, of selling by weighed than measured. It is fair and just to the buyer and seller, and we hope will be generally adopted. We append the following table, as a matter of guidance to those not already familiar with it, which by habit and consent, we believe to be in the main correct :-

Corn, shelled, fifty six pounds. Rye, fifty-six pounds. Irish potatoes, sixty pounds. Barley, forty-seven pounds. Wheat, sixty pounds. Corn, on the cob, seventy pounds. Buckwheat, fifty-two pounds. Oats, thirty-two pounds. Sweet potatoes, fifty-five pounds. Onions, fifty seven pounds. Beans, sixty pounds. Bran, twenty pounds. Clover seed, sixty pounds. Timothy seed, forty five rounds. Flax seed, flity-six pounds. Hemp seed, forty-six pounds. Blue grass, fourteen pounds. Dried apples, twenty four pounds. Dried peaches, thirty three pounds of pealed nd thirty-six of unpealed. ELEGANT FLOUR .- To enable us to test its quality, and pass judgment upon its merits, Mr. GEO. W. JOHNSON, of the Halltown Mill, last week presented us with a sample of the flour manufactured by him. We have tried it to our satisfaction, and are prepared to say that Mr. Johnson understands his business thoroughly. The bread made of this flour was as delicious as any that has graced our table within our recollection - having every quality that makes bread tempting and nourishing. The sample furnished was suffi. cient to justify us in giving this recommendation, and if Mr. Johnson had sent us four times the quantity, we could have expressed no other opinion of its quality. We deem it proper to state that this flour is sold in this town by Mr. Jacob B. Brown, where a supply of it can always be had.

IN FULL BLAST .- That old caterer to the hungry appetite, FRED. BLESSING, desires us to inform the public that he has now everything in "apple pie order," in the rear of the 'Sappington Basement," and Oysters, with condiments to suit, will be furnished, by the plate or otherwise. Those desiring to purchase, by the quart, half gallon or gallon, can be accommodated, at a price as cheap as can be obtained in the county, and his long experience in the trade enables him to guaranty an article as good and fresh as the season and City market can produce.

ANOTHER ACT OF CRUELTY.-We stated a short time since the fact of a valuable horse of Dr. Lippitt's having been stabbed by some miscreant from which death ensued, and have st Il another similar atrocious act to record. happening on Saturday night. Mr. Charles M. Hooff, formerly a citizen of Clark, now a DISTRICT CONFERENCE. -The District resident of our town, left his horse in the neighborhood of the Methodist Church to graze during the night, and on Sunday morning he found him dead in the rear of the stone School House, having been severely stabbed. The animal was of much value to its owner, and we sincerely hope the perpetrator of so dastardly and cruel an act, may be discovered and receive the punishment he so richly merits.

grinding their noses on a grindstone. Bet this ain't a circumstance to a place in Maryland-there the land is so poor that it takes two kildeers to cry "kildeer," and on a clear day you can see the grasshoppers climb up a, mullen stalk, and look with tears over a fifty down on their knees to get at the grass; all the musquitoes died of starvation, and the turkey buzzards were obliged to emigrate.-But there is a county in Virginia which can beat that-there the land is so sterile that when the wind is northwest they have to tie the children to keep 'em from being blown away-there it takes six frogs to raise one. croak, and when the dogs bark they have to lean against the fences—the horses are so thin that it takes twelve of them to make a shadow, and when they kill a beef they have to hold him up to knock him down!

LET US HAVE PEACE .- One of the Radical candidates for the Legislature in Choctaw county, Miss., had a little boy about fifteen years old who fell in love and engaged himself to one of the neighboring girls. His father learning the facts, hunted the young man up, and finding him at his lady-love's house, gave him a good whipping and sent him home. The little fellow started on his way crying and met one of the neighbors, who inquired what was the matter. The little fellow replied that his father had whipped him | Engine, and are using it to our Threshing Machine because he wanted to marry. "Why, my son," said the neighbor, "I would not care for that-plenty of time in five years for you to marry." "Yes, but I do," replied the little fellow, blubbering, " I have got a chance to marry a white gal now, and the way dad's going on

I'll have to marry a nigger." Another .- A good illustration was given recently by a negro, in a speech on negro equality, as follows: " My friends, God a mity made de white man white. He made de black man black-nobedy can't make 'em nufin else. You know de turkey he roost on de fence and de goose he roost on de ground. You pull de turkey off a fence, and he git up agin. You crap his wings, but some how or nudder. he guine to git back on de fence. Now, you put de goose on de fence and he fall off, he don't belong dar. Middleway, Jeff. Co . W. Va., } January 21st, 1868. Dear Sir—A few days since I sprained my ankle very severely. It was badly swollen, and very painful—I could not get on my boot. A friend gave me some of your Liniment. I used it once only me some of your Liniment. I used it once only—rubbed long and well at night, and the next morning was so far relieved as to be able to get on my boot and walk without limping.

I believe it to be the greatest Liniment now known, and recommend it to every one.

I am, sir, you're gratefully.

Will cure the ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, BLOOD SPITTING, DIFFICULTY OF BREATHING. PAIN and WEAKNESS IN THE CHEST, TROUBLESOME COUGHING AT NIGHT, &c. It will effectually remove the Cough that frequently follows Measles, and any affection of the respiratory organs, no matter of how long standing, or whatever the age of the person. It acts as a specific, is purely vegetable, and is pleasant to the laste. Its effect is southing, allaying the violence of the cough, facilitating expectoration, quieting the nerves and exhilirating the system.

Mothers, Save Your Children! No child need die of CROUP, if this Syrup is used in time: this is a fact demonstrated by experience.

No family should be without this Syrup, as that fatal disease, CROUP, comes like a thief in the night, to steal away your little ones, when regular medical aid cannot be obtained. Prepared only by
