More of Roderick Random Butler. This member of the Butler family, who so arrowly escaped expulsion from the House of Representatives on account of his barter of cadetship, has been using his frank for a very singular purpose. We wender that Redcrick, who is "a nice young gentleman" himself, allowed the "young lady of talent and ability" to inquire any further. But here is the remarkable Congressional document franked by Butler to the New York Tribune. which we find copied in that paper with the following prefatory notice. Says that journal: "We have received under the frank of the Hon. R. R. Butler, still member of Congress from Tennessee, notwithstanding his little cadetship escapade, the following Congressional document, which we hasten to lay before our readers: WASHINGTON, March 18, 1870. "Editor New York Tribune Dear Sir : I wish you would please insert in your paper for one week the following: "CORRESPONDENCE .- A young lady of talent and ability desires the love and correspondence of a nice young gentleman.

"Address ... NELLIE MONTROSE, P.O., Washington, D. C." From this it would appear that the cadet peddler is in more rings that one, and is worthy of his connection with the party of grand moral ideas.

per's Magazine, is the opinion of three em-inent mineralogists, who have traveled over target practicing as the most eligible site for Virginia, of the mineral wealth of this State :

"To give an adequate description of the mineral wealth which Virginia contains would be not only to describe every rod of her en-tire length, embracing hundreds of miles, but to enumerate almost every mineral of value ever known among mankind. It is not in gold alone that she abounds, but, scattered in profusion over her almost entire surface, are to be found iron, copper, silver, tin tellurium, lead, platinum, cennabar, plumbage, mag-anese, asbestos, kaolin, slate, clay, coal, roofing slate of great durability, marbles of the rarest beauty, soapstone, sulphur, hone-stone (equal to the best Turkey,) gypsum, lime, copperas, blue stone, grind stone, cobalt, emery and a variety of other materials that we have hitherto been compelled to import or do without. Indeed, it may be said, without exaggeration, that in the State of Virginia, in the most singular juxtapositon of what might be considered geologically incongruous materials. is to be found an almost exhaustless fund of God giving treasures, more than enough to pay off the whole national debt, and only waiting the magic touch of capital and enterprise to bring them to light for the benefit

A SAD ROMANCE OF THE ONEIDA DIS-ASTER.-In conversation with a very intelligent and accomplished lady from Maine, a few days since, I learned the following facts, which throw the shadow of a sad romance over the Oneida disaster: Commander Williams, the highest officer on the vessel, and one of the lost, was a widower of something less than forty, and the father of two bright little children. In May last he contracted an engagement for a second marriage, which was to have taken place very soon after the arrival of the Oneida in this country. I believe it was fixed for the middle of April. He left the United States for Japan in June last, and just before his departure he was one of a dinner party at which my informant and the affianced bride were also present. Had he returned safely, he would have known a fate which his brave heart would not have met with the cool courage that faced death, at his post on the quarter deck. Since the first of January his two children and his intended. wife have died. When he left Japan he had not heard this sad news, but supposed he was coming home to meet them all in health and happiness. So to ove, at least, of the gallant men who went down on the ill-fated steamer. death cannot be called disaster. · [Wash. Con. Cin. Enquirer.

THE ALBINE HORN.—The Alpine horn is an instrument made of the bark of a cherry tree, and, like a speaking trumpet, is used to convey sounds to a great distanc: I have heard, when the last tays of the sun gild the summit of the Alps the shepherd who inhabits the highest peak of these mountains take his horn and cry with a lond voice, "Praised be the Lord!" As soon as the neighboring shepherds hear him they leave their huts and repeat these words. The echoes of the mountain and grottoes of the rocks repeat the name more solemn or sublime than such a scene. During the silence that succeeds, the shepherds bend their knees and pray in the open air, then repair to their huts to rest. The sunlight gilding the tops of these stupendous mountains, upon which the vault of heaven seems to rest, the magnificient scenery around, and the voice of the shepherd sounding from rock to rock, the praise of the Almighty, fill the mind of every traveler with enthusiasm of God. Imagination cannot picture anything says Stebbens, "the money that has been spent by the Revolutionary Government, and in war, and I will purchase every foot of land on the globe. I will clothe every man, woman and child, in the attire that kings and queens might be proud of. I will build a school house upon every billside, in every valley over the habitable earth. I will supply that school-house with a competent teacher: I will build an academy in every town, and endow it; a college in every State, and fill it with able professors; I will crown every hill with a church consecrated to the promulgation of the gospel of peace; I will support in its pulpit an able teacher of righteousness, so that on every Sabbath morning the chime on one hill, shall answer to the chime

The Bourbon Duck.

re Particulars of the Late Tragic Mer Near Madrid Four Shots Exchanged-

Montpensier challenged the Infante, and the challenge was of course accepted. Pistols were the arms chosen, and Generals Cordova, Alaminos and Solis were the seconds of Montpensier. The ill starred Prince found no General se poor as to do him homage. Not one of all these who were so eager at his bidding, so lately, when his brother was King of Spain, could be found willing to act as his second; not even one of his brother officers, for he was a General in the mays. The duel was locake place on Solution. brother officers, for he was a General in the navy. The duel was to take place on Saturday morning, February 12th, and at midnight, Friday, Don Enrique had as yet found no seconds. He was a Freemason, and at that hour ha went to his lodge, and there found Don Federico Rubio, the Republican leader, and Deputy from Seville, who consented to act as his second, procuring, for the purpose, two other friends. Don Enrique then retired to his house, passed the night in arranging his papers and in writing, and at seven in the merning was about to leave his house quietly, without disturbing any one, when he was met by his son, a young man of some twenty-two years, who insisted on ascompanying him. A most affecting scene followed—the son pleading to be allowed to go with his father; the father beseeching his son to desist from his entreaties. Finally a heart-rending separation took place, Don Enrique convincing his son of the impropriety of his presence on such an occasion.

The place selected for the duel was a park, a little way out of Madrid, called La Casa de Campo, but when the respective parties arrived there they found it already occupied by the police. This was the only show made grand moral ideas.

MINERALS OF VIRGINIA.—The following extract, taken from a late number of Hartheir purpose: The spot chosen was behind the target, and the duel took place in the presence of all the officers of the artillery regiment stationed there.

Fate seemed to favor Don Entique to the very last moment, when it deserted him. In drawing lots, his was the first shot, and by lot. he was placed with his back to the sun. He was a tall, slender man, and Montpensier is very corpulent. The distance was ten meters. Both combatants perfectly cool, and showed no signs of emotion. The Infante fired first without effect. Then Monpensier's second made him observe that he was presenting a full front to his adversary. He changed his position, and his first shot was also without effect, but it must have barely grazed Don Enrique's head, from the involuntary movement he made. Don Enrique's second shot was also wide, and then Montpensier fired in the air. This was objected to by Don Enrique's seconds, who knew that he was determined to mortally wound his adversary if possible. The Infante's third shot was also wide, and Muntpensier's third hit the stick of the Prince's oistol. This was fatal to the latter, for from that moment he became entirely disconcerted, and his fourth ball went nowhere near his adversary. It is said that at this Monpensein absolutely refused to fire again; but the secthat he hastily, as if only to satisfy them, and apparently without siming, fired his last ball, which struck the Infante in the temple, causing instantaneous death.

On seeing his enemy fall, Montpensier exclaimed, "Good Good! what have I done This is the first human being that I have ever injured in my life! God knows that it is not my fault !" And carrying his clenched hand to his mouth; he bit the flesh till the blood started from it. He was then taken with a nervous attack, became speechless, and had fainted completely when he was carried to his coach by his seconds, and in this state was taken to his house. The friends of Don Enrique carried his corpse to the chapel of the barracks, and at an early hour Sunday morning he was brought to Madrid The news of this sad affair spread like wild fire through the city, and, notwithstanding the obloquy cast on the Bourbon name in Spain, sympathy is everywhere felt, for the spain, sympathy is everywhere left for the unfortunate man cut off in the prime of his life, and the old national prejudice against the French is again ripe among the lower classes, who are loudly demanding the punishment of the Frenchman who has murdered the Spaniard. The death of the Prince will no doubt, be used as a formidable weapon against Montpensier, should he continue in his pretensions to the Crown.

Montpensier, who was so overcome as to take his bed on reaching his house, was immediately surrounded by all the quendam satellites of O'Donnell, who are most solicitous in their attentions to him. This makes him still more obnoxious to the public; while none of the powers that be, have sent one word of condolence to the house of mourning.
The Masons and Republicans are there though, watching by the dead. They have embalmed the body, and are preparing an imposing and costly funeral, which will take place to-morrow, and will no doubt serve as a public mani festation of hostility to Montpensier.

Don Enrique's children, now orphan's are left perfectly destitute. The oldest, the Duke of Seville, and Captain in the Hussars, is alone in Madrid; the rest, who are mere children, are in Paris. It is supposed that the ex-Queen will take them under her pro-tection. Montpensier has offered to adopt them, but his offer was indiguantly rejected. Don Enrique was forty-two years old. His MONEY WASTED IN WAR .- "Give me," assignment as Infante of Spain, was suspended short time before her dethronement, the Queen had cashiered and banished him, stripping him of all his military honors, for an abusive letter which he had written to her, and which he had read to the Cabinet before sending it to her. At a late hour this evening pasquins have been found posted about the city, calling on all Spaniards to attend tomorrow the funeral of their murdered countryman, and to avenge his death. But the Government, fore warned, will undoubtedly prove fore-armed against any disturbance of the peace.

Honesty the Best Policy. One day the Duke of Buccleuch, a Scott nobleman, bought a cow in the neighborhood of Dalkeith, where he lived. The cow was to be sent home the next morning. Early in the morning the duke was taking a walk in a very common dress. As he went along he saw boy frying in vain to drive the cow to his residence. The cow was very unruly, and the poor boy could not get on with her at all." The boy, not knowing the duke, bawled out to him in broad Scotch accent "Hie, mun, come here, and gie's a ban' wi' this beast? | lanes

The duke walked slewly on, not seeming to notice the boy, who still kept calling for his help. At last, finding he could not get on with the cow, he cried out in distress : "Come here, mun, and as sure as anything I'se nie ve

The duke went and lent a helping hand. "And now," said the dake, as they trudged along after the cow, "how much do you think you will get for the job?"

"I dinna ken," said the boy ; but I'm sure o' something, for the folks at the big house are guid to a' bodies." As they came to a lane near the house the duke slipped away from the boy, and entered by a different way. Calling his butler, he put a sovereign in his band, saying: "Give that to the boy who has brought the cow." He then returned to the end of the lane where he had parted from the boy, so as to meet him on his way back.

"Well, how much did you get ?" asked the "A shilling," said the boy; "and there's half o' it to ye." But surely you had more than a shilling."

The butler fell on his knees, confessed his fault and begged to be forgiven; but the duke ignorantly ordered him to give the boy the overeign and quit his service immediately. "You have lost," said the duke, "your money, your situation, and your character by your decitefulness. Learn, for the future, that honesty is the best policy."

The boy now found out who it was that helped him drive the cow; and the duke was so pleased with the manliness and honesty of the boy that he sent him to school, and provided for him at his own expense.

The Children's Friend,

Home and Woman.

Under this caption the Christian Enquirer ives utterance to some very interesting truths, remarking that "our homes-what their corder stone but the virtue of woman? And on what does social well-being rest but on our homes? Must not trace all of our bles. sings of civilized life to the door of our private dwellings? Are not our hearth-stones guarded by the holy forms of conjugal, filial, and parental love, the corner stones of church and state—more necessary than both? Let our temples crumble and our academies decay; let every public edifice, our halls of justice and our homes. Man did not invent and he cannot, abrogate them. A private shelter or covert in two hearts dearer to each other with fears lest his family expenditures may encroach upon public payments. Be inde-pendent; a young house-keeper never needed that all the world; high walls to seclude the profane eyes of every human being, seclusion enough for children to feel that mother is a peculiar name—this is home; and here is the birth-place of every virtuous impulse, of every sacred thought. Here the Church and the State must come for their origin and support. Oh, spare our homes! The love we experience there, gives us faith in an infinite goodness; the purity and disinterested tenderness of home, is our foretaste and our earnest of a better world. Tears streamed down her palid cheeks as she trod the well-worn track to her husband's last resting place. The widow started when she caught sight of a white slab, newly erected at the head of her companion's grave. It was an honor she had long yearned to pay his memory, but she lacked the means. Who had filled her wishes so exactly? She pressed forward and read: "Let our friends come to see us, and not to hear a piano," exclaimed the husband.
"But, George, everybody has a piano, now-adays— we don't go anywhere without seeing a piano," persisted Esther.

to those who experience death.

A man living in New Haven, Connecticut, drank so deeply that his reason was for a time overthrown. When his paroxysms came on, he fancied that he saw before him men preparing to flay him alive. Slowly they began their dreadful work, cutting his flesh with keen little saws, then tearing off his skin in strings and hanging it up on wires before his eyes. He would shriek and cry out in as terrible agony as if they were really doing it.—
Then he would imagine that his heart was a cage of wild beasts, who are tearing, growling and fighting with each other. He would beg his companions to tear them out, and when to gratify him they would pretend to do so, a feeling of deadly faintness would come over his companion, "by useless extravagance, and repining when I was doing well."

What a world does this open to the inhim. Then he would think those about him were throwing sharp hooks at him, trying to fasten them in his flesh. He would wrestle and fight for hours with unseen foes until the

'The concerted, organized Insurrection, inau gurated by the imported, carpet-bag appointees of the Army of the United States constitutes one of the most remarkable examples of Radical disregard of law, order, and civil authority vet exhibited by the dominant party. It will be remembered that when Governor Swan, in the exercise of a power conferred upon him by the legislation of the Radical party, turned out the incumbent registrars, and appointed Democrats in their stead, the Baltimore Amer ican, representing the Radieal party in the State, counseled resistance by violence and arms. It so happened that the United States forces then quartered in the city were under the command of a Democrat, who declined to use the military to supplant the legitimate civil authority, and to support treason and rebellion. This prevented an outbreak in Maryland, but the Radicals proved themselves ready for the issue, and ripe for rebellion .-In Virginia they now manifest the same spirit, and are determined to hold on to the offices. in spite of law and the will of the people .-In the cities of Richmond, Petersburg, and Norfolk they have broken out in open resistance to the laws, and civil authority of the State, and the most significant fact in connection with the matter is that the military authorities of the United States have volunteered to aid and assist the insurrection. Still more significant is the fact that the Federal Administration so far from rebuking the Army, has encouraged and countenanced their insubordination, and insurrection. Now the Constitution expressly provides the mode and manner, and the instances in which the Federal Executive may interfere to keep the peace in a State. A call must be made by the Legislature, if in session, otherwise by the Governor of the State on the President, and then, and then only, can the latter call out the military to put down an insurrection or riot. In Virginia, on the other hand, General Canby, without awaiting orders from the President, on his 'own responsibility, in defiance of the wishes of the Legislature, and Governor of the State, proceeds by military violence to aid and assist rioters who are in arms against the constituted authorities of the State ! This is a military mutiny, for which Canby should be arrested and tried for and convicted of treasen.

Not long since our ideas of Radical respect for the negro were completely upset by the announcement that the Radical Senators declined to receive Senator Revels into the social circle, and now we are horrified with the statement that the Directors of the Academy of Music in Philadelphia, eleven out of the twelve being Radicals, have unanimously refused the use of that building to the friends of Revels, who wished to have a public ceremonial in the City of Brotherly Love in honor of the Mississippi Senator.

And such would be the case, but for the melancholy fact that the party in power, for partizan purposes, of their own, and in contempt and defiance of the Constitution, have supported Canby in this outrage. The whole spirit of the dominant party, exhibited in this State, in this county, and throughout the country, is to hold on to the offices through usurpation and violence, and in defiance of the will of the people.

Verily are the Blacks wounded in the House of their Friends (?)

The Pennsylvania Anti-Slavery Society has disbanded. After thirty-seven years of agitation, those who have kept the country in turmoil upon this question intend formally to announce that nothing more remains for them to do. Those who have kept up the hue and cry about slavery are fast turning their attention to the question of female suffrage, and on that subject we may expect them to keep up an agitation until it is decided one way or the other.

The respective counsel in the Richmond, Virginia municipal case had another hearing before Chief Justice Chase Friday night at his residence. A Washington correspondent of the Bal-timore Gazette, writing under date of the 8th instant says:—

Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees has just returned from a flying visit to his constituents in In-diana. While at home he made a speech, which is regarded here as sounding the true key-note of the course proper for Democrats to pursue sn relation to the "new element" introduced by the "Fifteenth Ameddment." He declared openly, distinctly and emphati-cally that he wanted no negro to vote for him. cally that he wanted no negro to bote joi multiple the Radical outrage of illegally and by fraud forcing negro suffrage upon the people of the North, without their consent, express or implied, shall fail to lose them more white votes. than the "negro element" can possibly coun-tervail," then indeed, it will be time to shut up shop, so far as the ballot is concerned .-It seems, at least, that no act should be com mitted by recognized adherents to constitutional liberty to weaken the force of this idea. By attempting to appropriate or to divide the fraudulent hegro votes by the Democatic party, those who would otherwise probably for ever leave the Radical ranks on that issue would become disgusted, and stay where they

The people, in some quarters, appear really to be in a fair way of coming to their senses. It has all at once struck certain Pennsylvania journalists that the corruptions at Washington have reached as far as Harrisburg! Indeed, so firmly convinced is one "Conservative" editor of this astounding fact, that he does not scruple to characterize the honorable members of the Legislature of that State as "the miserable body of scoundrels that have been pretending to legislate for the people of Pennsylvania!" The organ here, which takes special care of the Keystone Commonwealth, interposes an objection to this mode of plain speaking, inasmuch (it says) as it impliedly socures the people (who voted for these secondrels") of kindred qualities. "Whatever," (it remarks) "may be the political com-plexion of a State or National Legislature in this country, it will always represent the people. If the latter are scoundrels, outlaws and reprobates, the former will not be muct better. f, on the other hand, the people are moral, intelligent and patriotic, their representatives will be likely to possess the same excellent characteristics." The converse of this proposition must, of course, he equally true. If so (looking at the composition of the present Congress), with what profound alarm must every good man look upon the moral condition of this people, at this moment, as a whole ! It has been heretofore supposed. perhaps in an excess of charity, that the 'rogues," the "thieves," the "bribed," and so on, in Congress, misrepresented their constituents; that "the people, were deluded and" mittees; that their senses were benumbed and confounded by lying yarns of "Klu-Klux" and "rebel" counter-revolutions, so that the true characters of their so-called "representatives" had escaped their observation, or even their suspicion. But if we are to believe the Chronicle, that our "National" Legislature fairly "represents" the great body of the people of this country, then all that can be done s to call upon Jehovah himself to save the Republic, for it is manifest that any other than supernatural power would be inadequate. An honorable Senator from New York yesterday essayed to prove that the "income tax" would make us, if we were not now, a "nation of liars." The logic of the organ would prove that to an extensive degree. We are already a nation of "scoundrels, outlaws and reprobates." Out upon its assumptions!

Reported Reaction in favor of the Spaniard -Capture and Execution of Insurgent HAVANA, April 7 .- Official despatches have been received from Captain General De Rodas, at Puerto Principe, announcing a great reaction in the insurrectionary districts in favor of the Spaniards. The presentation of persons to the Spanish authorities for protection continues. Ten calumns of Spanish troops had left Puerto Principe, with instructions to divide into small parties. Each column was under sealed orders from the Captain General.

The rebel General Agreamonte lately hung a man to a tree on the road leading into Puerto Principe, with the following inscription pinned to him : "Executed for trying to surrender." The towns of Casiorre, Sibanica and Guarymaro have been strongly fortified. Companies of volunteers are being organized in those towns, which will be composed entirely of Cubans, and as soon as they are equipped will proceed to the field. Two hundred Spaniards from the garrison at Puerto Principe marched into the town of Santa Cruz, where they captured and executed three rebel Colonels, named Receo. Hencio and Medina. The Spanish have despatched a report that the rebel General Jordan has certainly fied, and the main body of insurgents, consisting of eight hundred men, are commanded by General Agreemonte. These despatches also report that the Cuban Congress had been dissolved. The Cuban families who surrendered to the Spanish authorities at Arenas state that Presi-

The McFarland Trial.

The trial of McFarland for the murder o Richardson, of the Tribune, was commenced in New York last week, and is attracting considerable attention. The Baltimore Gazette of Saturday says :-

Great interest is still manifested in the Mo-Farland case in New York. The court-room was again crowded yesterday. The ease was pened by the defence, and several interesting letters were read. A number of witnesses were examined. The Court adjourned until Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

New York, April 10 .- The McFarland trial will be continued to-morrow, when the witnesses who will probably be called are the inmates of the house in Amity street, where Mrs. Richardson resided at the time of the first shooting. During the week Horace Greeley, Henry Ward Beecher and other prominent persons will be put upon the stand.

GENERAL THOMAS .- The New York Tribune, after stating that General Thomas was the greatest of Grant's lieutenants, says: Let us not forget that he was a Virginian who never faltered in his allegiance to the Union, a regular who was the idol of the volunteers, a West Pointer who never sought a promotion, complained about his pay, abused

He commenced by asserting his innocence of the harges preferred against him, but Shrewsberry, true to his promise, denied the truth of his assertion, and demanded the proof. The Chairman now ordered Shrewsberry to be put out, and several rose to execute the order, but were met half way by more who were determined to resist it, and instead of putting Shrewsberry out. Butler and Spotless Purity.

Poer Butler! Miserable creature, he i wounded even in the house of his friends.

The St. Louis Democrat, one of the leading Radical papers of the West, in an article under the above heading, concludes as follows: The time has not yet come when the Republican party can afford to exclude a memer from the House because of its past conduct ip other relations, for, were that pre-cedent established, General Butler himself and several other members might have to pass a severe scrutiny. Of the conduct of a man while a member of the House it is the duty of that body to take cognizance. But it would hardly answer, in times when the control and organization of the House might depend upon a few members of either party, to permit any man to exclude any other man from a share in the organization by changes of past misconduct, and to require a court to try all the accusations which have been made against General Butler, for example, before he could take his seat. Perhaps the most ridiculous thing he has ever done is this attempt of General Butler-of all men in the world-to set up a precedent so impracticable and absurd. About Conner we know nothing. Shanks says he is a worthless fellow, and he seems to be. Others say he is a scamp, and the Para-

The bill to repeal the franking privilege still slumbers in the Senate. It passed the House by a very large majority, but will prebably never go further. Referring to the subject, the New York Tribune gives our national law-makers a cutting rebuke, as fol-

"Skeptical observers say that it was never meant to become a law at all, but merely to give the cheap virtue of certain representatives an expression for home use, throwing the responsibility of continuing the swindle upon the Senate, where the term of occupancy is longer. What a pity it is that the rule which forbids judges from sitting on the bench in their own cases, cannot be applied to Congressmen, and the whole subject of their perquisites and pickings left to some tribunal other than themselves! They might then fare quite as well, perhaps, and would at least be able honestly and without shame to take all they would get."

AWFUL DEATH .- An attentive correspond ent at Upperville, Va, gives us an account of a fearful death at that place on the evening of the 30th of March. It appears that a Mr. J. W. Williams (formely of Baltimore, and a gentleman of considerable property), who has for some time been residing near Upperville, had been in the town during the day, and gotten considerably under the influence of liquor. Towards nightfall he mounted his horse and started in the direction of home. Some half mile from town it is supposed he dismounted, divested himself of his coat, and attempted to remount. The animal, fright-ened at something, started to run, and a few head weighed 94 ibs., and the weight of the whole hog, nearly dressed, was 1040 lbs. rods from where he started. Williams lost his balance and fell to the ground, his head striking a sharp rock, so that at this point a teaspoonful of the man's brains was found on the rock. But his feet were entangled in the stirrup, and in this condition he was dragged against a snag, by which a hole three inches long was torn into his entrails. The horse brought the lifeless body of Williams into the town, where it was found next morning in the street by C. W. Bowie and a colored boy.

Passing Away.

One by one the old landmarks of the city have passed away under the march of improve ment, but there is one now being razed which in the earlier days of Baltimore town, oc-cupied a prominent position. The old build-ing at the corner of Grant and Mercer streets; own after Revolutionary days as the Wash-cton Hotel, will, after a few days, have entirely disappeared. There is no data from which to reach the time of its construction, but in 1752 it was the only hotel of Baltimore town, and the headquarters of all the great men of the country who stopped in the then village. It was built near the river shore, and in that day was considered a first-class hotel. During the Revolutionary war it was the headquarters of General Washington when he was in Baltimore, and of the chief men of the then struggling colonies. For years after it continued as a house of public entertainment, but as the city grew it was not equal to the age, and about the beginning of the present century it became a house of only ordinary pretensions. In 1815 it was still a hotel, but its former prestige had passed away. Subsequent to that period it was used for again as a dwelling house. For years past it has been an abode of poverty, and scenes of squalid wretchedness, have frequently called the police to look after its inmates, and provide them with a more comfortable home in the almshouse. A few days since, in one of its crevices, a copy of the Baltimore Patriot, printed in the latter part of April, 1815, was found, which contained a report of the battle of New Orleans and a history of the defeat of the forces of the British cammander, Packenham, by General Andrew Jackson.— For more than twenty years past the old building has been but a wreck, but the spirit of improvement has reached its locality, and it must now give place to one adapted to business purposes. A little boy named Conway Stanard, son of Mr. B. P. Stanard, living near Goshen, met wit h a serious accident, on the 24th ult He was sitting on the fence and undertook to raise his gun by taking hold of the muzzle.-The hammer caught in the fence, causing the in the gun except powder and the ramrod.— The ramrod entered his arm between the wrist and elbow and came out at the shoulder, inflicting a very serious wound.

[Staunton Spectator CENTENABIAN.—We mentioned the fact not long since that Mrs. Catharine Fulwider living in Dutch Hollow in this county was 101 years old on the 1st day of January last Though she was the only child of her parents she is the mother of 14 children, 101 grand children, between 500 and 600 great grand children, and between 15 and 20 great-great grand-children of the 5th generation.

[Staunton Spectator. PLACING OBSTRUCTIONS ON RAILROAD. One day last week office Kurtz arrested a negro boy known as Milton Gumby, charged with placing obstructions on the W. & S. Railroad in Baker's cut. The working train was thrown off, but happily no other damage was done .-The witnesses and informers against Gunby were two negro men, but whether they can substantiate the charges is not known. He was lodged in jail to await trial.

[Winchester News. THE W. & S. RAILROAD .- It was thought that before this time trains would be running through from Winchester to Starsburg. The delay has been occasioned by the construction of a permanent iron bridge over Cedar Creek. The waters of the creek for the past two weeks have been very high, thus retarding the work-men. So high indeed were the waters, that the temporary bridge was washed away, and upon being reconstructed was washed off again, [Winchester News. CHEERING NEWS .- The President of the S. V. R. R. Co., Mr. Borst, has just returned from philadelphia, where he has been in consultation with Gen. Wright, the chief engineer of the Company, and his assistants .-He was much pleased with the interview, and of General Lee's army were finally lowered on the Appomattox, and the cause of Confederate neers are in the field. The assistant Chief. Mr. Barrett, with a full corps of assistants, five years which have since intervened have | will commence the survey at Front Royal, on been more pregnant of oppression and sorrow Tuesday morning next, and will reach Lursy and trouble, than the five years previous— in less than ten days; and hence right on to although these latter were lurid with the sed Salem. In a few days, also the Committee to ascertain the right-of way, land damages, releases, &c., will be in the field. Liberality and public-spirit in the right of way, &c., and all will be well .- Page Courier.

WASHINGTON RELICS .- A special dispatch from Washington City, D. C. to the Baltimore Sun of Friday last, says:

" Mrs. Washington, wife of Col. Lewis W Washington, of Jefferson county, Va., visited Mount Verson yesterday for the purpose, it is said, of arranging with the directors of the Mount Vernon Association for the delivery into their keeping of certain relics of the 'Father of his country.' Among these relies is the sword presented to Washington by Frederick the great of Prusia, and severa other articles, among which are a gold chain and seal formerly worn by General Washington.

In Town.—Charles H. McCurdy, Esq., for-merly a member of the West Virginia Legis-lature, from Jefferson county, is now on a visit to our city. Mr. McC. brings encouraging news from West Virginia, and thinks the day of deliverance for the disfranchised there i not far distant. He estimates the Conservative majority at 20,000 if every one had the right to vote, notwithhstanding the fifteenth amendment, enfranchising the negroes, and Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sent by mail on says that fifteen hundred persons out of eighteen hundred, are disfranchised in his county. [Fredericksburg Herald.

WINCHESTER PRESENTERY.—This reednesday evening last, and continued in ession until Friday afternoon. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Riddle, the hat Moderator present, and the Presbytery was organized by the election of Rev. Geo. L. Leyburn, Moderator; and Revs. M. W. Woodworth and G. W. Finley, Clerks.

A call from Ronney and Springfield churches for the services of Rev. Geo. W. Finley, was put into the hands of Mr. Finley

The death of Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Foote was anounced, and Rev. Dr. Riddle, Rev. Mr. Raymond and Ruling Elder David Gibson ted a committee to bring in a suitable inte, who reported a lengthy and well prepared paper.

At the request of Rev. E. W. Bedinger, the church concerring, his pastoral relation to the Shepherdstown church was dissolved The delegates elected to the General Assembly were Rev. M. Woodworth, principal and Rev. John Johnston alternate, ministerial; and David Gibson, Esq., principal, and Geo. H. Turner, alternate, from the ruling

At his request, Rev. Dr. Hamner was dismissed to Chesapeake Presbytery.

The committee to arrange for Rev. John A Scott's installation as Pastor of Elk Branch Church reported, viz : Rev. Geo. W. Finley to preach the sermon ; Rev. D. H. Riddle to preside, propose the constitutional questions and charge the pastor; Rev. A. C. Hopkins to charge the people—exercises to take place at 11 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Free Conversation on the state of religion showed a hopeful condition of the church in the bounds of Presbytery, especially a greatly revived interest in the Sabbath

The next session will be held at Moorefield on the 5th of October next.

BULLARD'S PANORAMA.—This splendid panorama of New York City, according to advertisement in our last issue, was exhibited at Lee Hall on Wednesday last, afternoon and expectations of all present. In the language of an exchange, this is one of the largest and most perfect panoramas that we have ever seen, if not one of the greatest works of art. Taken in connection with the interesting l-cture delivered by the exhibito, which was done in a masterly style, we have rarely been present at a more pleasing and instructive exhibition. To form the least idea of the magnitude of New York, and all that in the great city is, from her grand public schools, noble churches, splendid hotels, and most pleasing attractions down to the societies of her thieves and rowdies, one must see this panorama, and bear Mr. Norton's lecture.

Luxurious.-Master John B. Haines will accept our thanks for one of Schmidt's Patent Charcoal Pipes, one of the finest articles of the kind we have ever used. Those who love to enjoy a pleasant "whiff," cannot find a more pleasant and agreeable article, or procure it of a mere accommodating and enterprising little fellow.

In this connection we would state that Johnie has just received a large stock of new goods, consisting of pipes of every variety, from a costly meerschaum to a penny chalk, tobacco, cigars, stationery, and notions of all kinds. Call and see them.

SALE OF PROPERTY .- On yesterday moraing Messrs. Green & Trappell, commissioners sold at public auction the Parson age prop erty of the Protestant Episcopal Church is this place. The property was divided into four lots, and sold as follows :-

No. 1, on the corner of Congress and Lawrence streets, $490-purchaser John P. Gor-No. 2, adjoining No. 1, 60 feet front on Lawrence street, $210-purchaser John W. No. 3, on the corner of Congress and West streets, $290-purchaser J. C. Holmes.

No. 4, adjoining No. 3, $180—purchaser Thomas Debson. PERSONAL .- We are pleased to greet again in our midst our former townsman, Geo. Lee Stewart, Esq., the gentlemanly and accommodating agent of the O. & A. R. R., at Lynchburg, who is now on a short visit to the home of his earlier days. Mr. Stewart is a genial, whole-souled gentleman, of the finest business qualifications, and we are sure that the above company, as well as the citizens of Lynchburg, find in him an excellent official.

MILITARY RAILROAD .- In the U. S. Senate on Friday, Mr Stewart offered a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to detail a competent engineer to make a survey of the ground from the west bank of the Potomac, adjacent to the city of Georgetown, to Harper,s Ferry, with a view to the building of a military and commercil railroad which was passed.

IMPROVEMENT AND NEW STORE.—The old Peat Office building, belonging to Humphrey Keyes, Esq., is now in the hands of competent mechanics, and is being remoddled into a handsome glass-front store. The roo will be occupied by Mr. S. I. Hamburger, who proposes to open a first-class gents furpishing and clothing store, and give special attention to ladies boots and shoes.

RELIGIOUS NOTICES .- The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the Presbyterian Church of this place on Sabbath morning next, preparatory services commeasing on Friday morning, at 11 o'clock. The Rev. J. W. Ewan will preach at Wiltshire's School-House on Sabbath afternoon next, at 3 o'clock.

CIRCUIT COURT .- The April term of the Jefferson Circuit Court will commence to-day, and will probably remain in asssion some three or four weeks.

SUPERVISORS' COURT.-This Court met on Wednesday last, and from its proceedings we ake the following extracts:-

The road viewers who were appointed by this Board at its meeting on the 22nd day of March, 1870, reported as follows:

To the Board of Supervisors of Jefferson County, West Virginia:—In obedience to your order dated March 22nd, 1870, we the undersigned viewers therein named and ordered to view and assess the damages arrising from the opening of the Old Clark Saw Mill Boad, from the old Shanandale road to W. A. Roner's Mill, between the lands of E. M. Road, from the old Shanandale road to W. A. Roper's Mill, between the lands of E. M. Lackland and Andrew Kennedy's heirs, having executed said order report as follows:—
That we this day rode over said road (which was originally only about twenty feet wide) and made an estimation of the quantity of land that would be occupied by a road thirty feet wide, between the points specified, one half to be taken from each tract; and also the additional fencing necessary should said road be ditional fencing necessary should said road be opened, and fix the damages to Andrew Kennedy's heirs at one hundred dollars, and E. M. Lackland at two hundoed and seventy five

> Respectfully submitted, G. F. MASON, S. HOWELL BROWN

On motion the above report was adopted by the Board, and the road ordered to be opened as recommended in said report.

It appearing that the election held on the list day of March, 1870, in pursuance of the order of this Board made at its meeting on the 23rd day of February, 1870, providing for holding an election to submit to a vote of the eople the question of the subscription of $250,000 to the capital stock of the Shenandoah Valley Railroad Company, has in all respects been held, and returns thereof been made in conformity with law. Therefore be it resolved that this Board proceed to the consideration and examination of the returns of

The Board after carefully and impartially examining the returns of said election, announced the following as the result thereof, to-wit:

Total number of votes for "Subscription," 625. Total number of votes for 'No subscription' 390. On motion, the application of S. II. Brown, to plant a hedge fence along the County road to the Smithfield, Charlestown and Harper's Ferry tarapike was received and permission granted.

On motion, the resignation of Supervisor Jon. W. Taylor of Grant township was received and accepted. On motion, Samuel Ridenour was appointed Supervisor of Grant township.

REV. E. W. BEDINGER .- This able divine, well known and highly esteemed by our peobyterian Church at Shepherdstown, with the intention of taking charge of a church near the residence of his father, in Kentucky .-The Register says :--

The tongregation had become very much attached to him and were loth to give him up, but his request was so urgent that they rielded their assent and united with him in asking Presbytery, at its present meeting at Elk Branch, to dissolve his pastoral relations with this church.

STAMPED ENVELOPES,-The attention of the public is called to the advantage of using stamped envelopes rather than postage stamps. Daily numbers of letters are dropped in the post office without prepayment, with revenue stamps or stamp cut from stamped envelopes affixed, which are held for postage; whereas by the use of stamped envelopes these letters would go forward without delay. Stamped envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed

CLEAN UP .- Spring has now fairly opened. we trust, and it behooves our citizens to turn their attention to the condition of their property. Let each one clean up thoroughly is and around his premises, sprinkle a little lime on all damp places occasionally, and we may avoid a great deal of disease and bad health during the coming summer.

A POINT .- Would any sensible man ever think of attempting to carry on any business that depended upon public patronage, without hanging out a sign on the streets? Hardly Remember that an advertisement in a popular newspaper is a sign which extends into everybody's house' and is thrust under everybody,s eyes. In hec signo vinces!

RELIGIOUS .- The pulpit of the Presbyterian Church was occupied on Sabbath morning last by Rev. Geo. L. Leyburn, of Winchester, and in the evening by Rev. Geo. W Finley, of Gerardstown, who delivered most able and interesting discourses.

Rev. Mr. Martin, of Berryville, preached in the Episcopal Church on Sabbath morning. and Rev. Mr. Suter, of Wichliffs, in the evening, to large and attentive congregations.

THE WHEAT .- The growing wheat, after the past severe winter, was thought by many to have been injured considerably, but under the genial rays of the sun during the latter part of last week it has come out greatly, and the prospect is now very good. Some of our farmers inform us that they never saw wheat improve so much in so short a time.

IMPROVEMENT .- Our old friend, Henry Dumm, the prince of Confectioners, has rented the house of the Rawlins heirs, adjoining his old stand, and is fitting up the parlor into a spacious store-room, where he will be enabled to spread himself hugely.

ENLARGED .- The Accountant and Adveriser, Baltimore, Md., has been greatly enlarged and improved, and is now an admirable journal, and a welcome guest in the countingroom of the merchant, a friend in the home of the farmer, and a social companion around

OUR COLORED POPULATION .- Yesterday morning a colored agent arrived here, and entered into a canvass with our colored citizens, with the object of securing laborers for the extreme Southern States. What success he has met with we have not learned.

GARDENING.-Last week a good many of our citizens broke ground in their gardens, and employed their time industriously in sowing seeds for early vegetables.

CHANGE OF BASE. - Justice Myers, during the past week, has been fitting up a portion of the old jail for an office, which will prove quite a convenient situation.

RAILROAD MEETING .- An inte ing of the citizens of East Augusta and East Rockingham, favorable to the construct tion of the Shenandosh Valley Railroad, wa held at the Mount Vernon Iron Works, on the 26th ultimo, and among other business transacted, the following resolutions were usly adopted :-

"Resolved, That we hail with delight the prospect of the early construction of the 'Shen-andoah Valley Railroad,' and pledge ourselves to advance the work to the utmost of our

"Resolved, That whilst we of these sect of our counties, (Rockingham and Augusta) were the greatest sufferers from the desolating effects of the late war—thereby prostrating our pecuniary interests, yet, we are willing and pledge ourselves to the utmost liberality in granting the right of way free from damages, and also in taking stock as freely as our present situation will permit,

"Resolved, That this meeting resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to labour for the interests of the Shenandoah Valley Rail-

We clip the above paragraph from the Baltimore American of the 1st inst. The mother of Belle Boyd does not reside in Martinsburg. but has been for more than a year a resident of Baltimore City. Her daughter, the unfortunate person referred to, has been for months an inmate of the Mount Hope Asylum, near Baltimore. Hers is said to be a case of hopeless insanity. - Berkeley Union.

the confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues, given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for IM-PUBITY OF THE BLOOD, LIVER DISEASE, &C. The last Medical Journal contains an article from Prof. R. S. Newton, M. D., President of the E. Medical College, city of New York, that speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the practitioners of medicine.— This is, we believe, the first instance where such medicines have been officially endorsed by the Faculty of any of the medical colleges, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Pr. Lawrence, its compounder, and also puts-'Koskoo" in the VAN of all other medicines the present d: y.

[Norfolk Daily Journal Dec. 11 1869. DRESS MAKING .- There are many ladies who would refer to make their own and their children's sece, but for the difficulty in cutting and fitting them properly-the ordinary charts being very high priced, and, at the same time, so complicated as to be available only to professional dressmakers, after long practice. An eminent mediate of Paris has recently issued "THE UNIVERSAL GUIDE IN DRESS-MAKING," which overcomes this difficulty entirely. s contains a superior mode of measuring, perfectly exact, yet so easy that it can be applied by any one in itself worth more than the price of the whole work. Also a complete scale of patterns for all sizes, from the largest adult to the smallest child. Tegether with printed Rules and Explanations, by means of which any lady can make her own and her children's dresses in the best style. To dressmakers it is invaluable. Da. Lawrence—Dear Sir: Your Koskoe has worked wonders in my family. My daughter has been a sufferer from Screfula since childhood. She lost thirty-one pieces of bone from her ankle, easteral from her arm, besides having ulcers in several parts of the body. Whilst in this condition she commenced taking your Koskoe—it acted like a charm on her; under its use the ulcers gradually healed, and her general health greatly improved.—It certainly saved her much suffering, and perhaps her life. I regard Koskoe a specific for all scrofuleus affections. Your Koskoe also cured my wife of dyspepsis, from which she suffered greatly. She is now in better health than she hasbeen in five years.

With the highest regards.

W. H. CHRISTIAN.

From Dr. Lloyd, a Physician of Large Practice: Great Bridge. Va., October 8, 1869.

J. J. Lawasnes, M. D.—Dear Sir: I cheerfully endorse your Koskoe as being a most valuable preparation. Upon examination of the formula, I find each ingredient highly extelled by our best and most progressive efficial investigators. I have tested its effects in my own practice, and have no hesitation in recommending it. In my opinion, it hesitation in recommending it. In my opinion, it is the best compound of its class ever put before the public—exceeding by far all the various compounds of sarsaparnia, &c., ever invented. It is a decided Nerve Tonic, and Invigorator of the animal forces, aiding digestion and assimilation, and thereby producing healthy blood, which should be the basis of treatment in all chronic diseases. Hoping you will reap the reward you deserve from the public as a benefactor, I am sir, Yours truly, CHARLES LLOYD.

After reading the above high recommendations, invalids cannot reasonably healtate to give the KOS-KOO a trial. FOR ADDITIONAL TESTIMONIALS Price, ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE. For sale by the Principal Druggists in the United States, and British America.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ye Olden, Time.

The following editorial announcement is taken from the Philadelphia Weekly Mur-cury, of November 30, 1752. It forms a complete novelty in its way, and also affords an insight into the degree of communication which existed at that period between the large towns and the provinces of America .-It is, moreover, a curious jumble of information, strangely making up the starting of the stage coach with the news of the day :

"On Monday next the Northern Posts sets out from New York, in order to perform his stage but once a Fortnight, during the Winter Quarter. The Southern Post changes also, which will cause this Paper to come out on Tuesdays during that Time. The Colds which have infested the Northern Colonies have also been troublesome here, few Families having aped the same. Several have been carry'd off by the Cold, among whom was David Brintnall; in the 77th Year of his Age; he was the first Man that had a Brick House in the City of Philadelphia, and was much esteemed for his just and upwright dealing.-There goes a Report here, that the Lord Baltimore and his Lady are arrived in Maryland, but the Southern Post being not yet come in, the said report wants Confirmation."

How will the articles of the present daily and weekly papers of this city read one hundred and eighteen years hence? Perhaps they will seem as odd to the reader at that day as the foregoing does to us. The following advertisement is taken also, from the Weekly Mercury. It is dated March 8, 1759, and will serve to give an idea of the way in which traveling was performed in America at

a week. "John Butler, with his waggon, sets out or Mondays from his House, at the Sign of the Death of the Fox, in Strawberry alley, and drives the same day to Trenton Ferry, when Francis Holman meets him, and procaeds on Tuesday to Brunswick, and the passangers and goods being shifted into the waggon of Isaac Fitzrandolph, he takes them to the New Blazing Star to Jacob Fitzrandolph's the same day, where Rubin Fitzrandelph, with a boat well suited, will receive them and take them to New York that night. John Butler returning to Philadelphia on eday-with the passengers and goods delivered to him by Francis Holman, will again set out for Trenton, Ferry on Thursday, and Francis Holman, &c., will carry his passengers and goods, with the same expedition as above to New York."

A Nantucket Love Story.

A Nantucket correspondent gives an entertaining illustration of the "gradual progress ," in this anecdote, about a shipracta who accompanied him on one of his early whaling voyages: les was a simple-hearted, transparen jour fellow; and, when we sailed, had been paving attention, for some time to a young y, he, he had reason to think, did not fully coemcocate his ardent feelings. At all - events, the parting, on her side, was not so preceed with the belief that she only kept him as a stand-by, in default of a better offer. 'I dan't believe,' Stiles would say, with a de see shake of the head, 'I don't be lieve Ann Jones 'll have me, anyhow.' What we had been out a few months, and half mot with fair success, Stiles' tone was mediand. The burden of his monologue chanced to, Well, I dun' no but Ann Jones 'H have me, after all.' With a thousand barrels of oil under hatches, he became still more hopeful. "Chance is pretty good for Ann Jones, he would say; pretty good now.' At fiteen hundred barrels he had assumed s self-eatisfied manner, and soliloquized-I guess there's no danger but what Ann Jones 'll have me now.' At two thousand barrels-'Ann Jones'll be glad enough to get me now,

I know. When we cut the last whale that was to fill the vessel's hold and squared away for home, Stiles threw his hat in the air with a wild Indien vell of triumph-'I'll be d-d if I'll hars Ann Jones anyhow."

- Know ye the printer's hour of peace? Know ye an hour more fraught with joy than e felt the Maid of Greece when kissed by Verns' amorous boy? 'Tis not when news of soloun note, his columns all with sadness fill. nor yet when brother printers quote the effugion of his blunt worn quill. But O, 'tis vien the weather's fair, or clad in rain, or hal, or vapor, I've come to pay for your parer.

- Somewhere in the West, a knight of the her and brush was performing the operation of shaving with a very dull razor. "Stop, that won't do," said the sufferer. "What's de matter, boss?" "That razor pulls."-"Well, no mattere fer dat, sah; if de handle cb de razor don't break, de beard's bound to come off."

- Josh Billings charges the cat with being a kritter that is guilty of affektashun : "I hov known a kat tew klean the kream all oph from the buzzum of a pan of milk, and then limp into the sitting-room on all four leggs, and lay down in the corner of the fire-place, as melancholly as the she hadn't a friend on the face of the earth." - An Irishman that was very near sighted, about to fight a-duel, insisted that he should stand six paces nearer his antagonist than the other did to him. -The shoemakers are in favor of female suffrage. They manufacture woman's rights-

VIRGINIA. OUR experience in the business which we advertise to conduct, and our theroughacquaintance with it in all its branches, enable us to assure the public that any work entrusted to us will be executed in the most workmanlike manner, and with the utmost dispatch. Having stood to their posts in the Confederate army during the four years' struggle which it so manfally encountered, they have located in their native county, where their services are offered in brilding up the waste places, and in carrying out practical reconstruction.

Particular attents a given at all times to the drawing of place and specifications; and in the construction of GEOMETRICAL STAIRWAYS, where calculation is required, they are confident that they cannot be surpassed by any workmen in the Valley of Virginia.

By-Being well known in the community, they deem it unnecessary to say more, than that orders left for them will receive prompt attention.
