Such a result, looking at the relative strength of the two sections when the war commenced, would have been an unexampled tribute to the courage, constancy and fertitude of the Southern soldier. Granting that Missouri, Tennessee and West Virginia formed an aggregate so equally divided that we may call them neutral, we find, at the outbreak of hostilities, a Federal free population of 21,603,-460, opposed to a free Confederate population of only 6,575.937, or considerably less than one-third. The pay of the Federal private soldier, including bounties and pensions, was the greatest ever paid in any country or age; that of the Confederate the least. We have made a careful estimate of the average monthly pay of the Southern private, from May, 1861. to April, 1865, and we find that it amounted. when reduced to gold, to exactly 38 9-10 cents per month. His average monthly pay for 1861 was $9.78 7.10 cents; for 1862, $7.30 4-10 cents; for 1863, $1.90 6-10 cents for 1864, 59 cents; and for 1865, 25 7-10 cents; and for the whole period of the war, say fifty one clear months, the average monthly pay of the Confederate private was, as we have said, 38 9-10 cents! Many of them died at this rate. A soldier without pay, except the reward of a conscious discharge of duty, becomes a hero. The figures which exhibit the relative strength and losses of the two connot less striking. We have prepared such a

Tobacco, Snuffs & Cigars. EFFECT OF THE FAMINE IN JERUSALEM. -A letter has been received in London from the Anglican Bishop of Jerusalem which corroborates the statement made on this painful subject by Sir Moses Monteffore. The bishop in his letter says:

"A small donkey's load of water costs 6d tothe poor Jews whose family income is 1s 1d per week. Many Moslems and nominal Christians are in the same position. What is most dreadful to contemplate is the fact that the springs near Jerusalam aredrying up. But there is another more terrible calamity still. The locusts are spread over the mountains of Judah and Samaria, in the valley of Jordan, and in the plains of Sharon and Galilee, having come to what will be the next extreme to which those lay their eggs, which will be hatched before harvest, and as the Arabs say that each couple lay two hundred eggs, countless millions Wine. Haud Writing of Great Men.

The Duke of Wellington's writing was large and fercible, with no attempt at decoration. During the last ten years of his life, however, his writing was indifferent, and often illegible. Mone but a compositor in a newspaper office, accustomed to all sorts of hieroglyphics, could possibly decipher the characters. A letter of his to a minister in Lord Derbs's Cabinet has not to this day been untravelled. Nine out of every ten of the Duke's ravelled. Nine out of every ten of the Duke's letters treasured by autograph hunters were written by his Secretary, Mr. Greville, who wrote a hand very much like that of the Duke in his best days, Lord Brougliam's hand betrayed much unconquerable restlessness of impulse. His manuscript was a mass of hieroglyphics; and according to Dr. Blenkinsop, in all Mr. Clowe's extensive printing establishment in London, there was only one man competent to grapple with it, and he often gave up in despair. The bold and careless freedom of Byron's handwriting, compared to the elegant little prettiness of Tom Moore's reveals very clearly the peculiar qualities of the two poets. The elegant precision of Mrs. Heman's penman-ship, and the free but clear and intelligible abandon of L. E. Landon's, were equally characteristic of their mental peculiarities. The Royal family of England have generally written good, clear, and free hands.— William IV. wrote a remarkably plain and legible hand, and that of his brother George was showy and fluent. Queen Victoria has an elegant signature. Locke says that the faster a man writes the slower others read what he has written.-Napoleon could write fourteen pages in a minute; unfortunately, however, each page consisted of eight blets and a splatter. Some of his lines to Maria Louisa appear as if scattered over the paper by the explosion of a

Horace Greeley's manuscript is very illegible. A wag once observed that the sentence, "Virtue is its own reward," written by Mr. Greeley, was rendered by the compositor into. His signature was little more than the scrawled initials, with a power unwittingly, it seems. short, zigzag line following each of them .afterwards we handed Mr. Stevens the letter. Fagreed with his spirits. He could not read it himself until we gave we had made juquiry about.

A president of one of our popular railroads once wrote to an old farmer, requesting him to remove some shedding along the line. The old farmer could not make it out, and believing it to be a free pass, used it as such for a year, none of the conductors during to dispute the construction be had put upon the scrawl. [Eram Oliver Optic's Magazine.

Make a Scrap Book.

Every intelligent, progressive farmer takes a paper. This is a fixed fact. It is to be hopedistoo, that he has half a dozen journals. of one sort or another coming every month. But however that may be, when he reads them over he often says: 'Now I wish I could remember that item; and put it in practice next season. I believe I will cut it out and save it somewhere." . He does cut it out and puts it in his vest pocket, or between the leaves of a book, or in some out of the way place, where there is little chance of his seeing

Now when he cut it out he took a step in the right direction. Why did he not go on a little further, and paste it in a scrap book? Then it would have been permanently saved and very convenient for reference. Preserving papers in files would save all the articles, but few Would ever take the trouble to look all through them for some point they wished to read over again. It would seem too much like ooking for proverbial "needle in the haymow." The scrap book gives you the very cream of your papers. There are usually only a few articles in each one which seem to have been written expressly for you, and you do not care to save those belonging to somebody else.-You do not care to read the columns on beekeeping, when you never owned a bee in your life; but probably your neighbor takes more interest in that than any other departs ment. It is the beauty of every good paper, that it has something in for every one.

The house mother can never buy as good a receipt book as she can make by carefully saving the useful receipts and suggestions she meets in her weekly paper. The book should have a simple classification; the receipts for cooking should be placed by themselves, those for general housework may be placed in another part of the book-the same directions on gardening, cate of children; etc.

Such a book is a great means of economizing n the course of the year. Just the right thing in the right place often saves dollars' of money, and dollars' worth of time and tronble. Just such hints and directions we meet with from week to week in every good paper, and it is the putting it into practice, that makes the difference between the thrifty, successful farmer and his opposite. Of course, if they are forgotten they cannot be put into practice. The mind unless it has been severely disciplined, is apt to hold knowledge as much as a seive does water. It needs many helps to make the mind useful. The very act of cutting out the slip, pasting it in, is a great help towards recalling it and if the details are forgotten, there is the article itself-you can turn to it readily. Thus you, can be benefited by the experience of hundreds of people you have never seen, but who have kindly noted down their own success or failure in the various departments in which you are interested. THE BONNET QUESTION .- Fanney Hobart in an article upon the spring fashions for ladies writes : " There is a bit of hearsay, that ought to gladden everybody, who is not constitutionally fond of the ridiculous. Round hats, they say, are to be worn the head instead of on the nose, and the attitude of the girl of the period will no longer, in the street, resemble that of a belligerent goat. Is it not too good to be true however? And if it should prove true (may the gods grant it!). will resort who are nothing if not tremendous.

POETICAL. THE PRAYER OF JESUS.

BY D. AMBROSE DAVIS. Prayed the Christ, when pale and dying,
On the cruel cross he hung;
When the temple vail was rended,
and the night o'er day was flung;
When the heartless soldiers' spear point
Pierced his anguished bosom through—
"Father, Oh! forgive, forgive them,
For they know not what they do."

Mocking lips his wees derided.

Heads were bowed in scoroful pride;
Judas had betrayed his master,
Pater thrice his Lord denied. Yet still prayed the Christ unceasing, While his gasping breath he drew "Father, Oh, forgive, forgive them, For they know not what they do."

Oh, my suffering fellow mortal,
On the cross of earthly woe,
Bearing chains, and whip and fetter,
Angry words and cruel blow,
Can you pray as did the Savior,
While his gasping breath be drew—
"Father, Oh, forgive, forgive them,
For they know not what they do."

Then, whose bruised and broken spiril;
Sinketh 'neath continual strife;
Thou, who faintest worn with suffering,
By the weary way of life;
Can you say for those who crush you.
When your friends are weak and few—
"Father, Oh, forgive, lorgive them,
For they know not what they do?"

Canst thou know thy oppressors,
Are indeed the most oppressed;
That they need thy kind compassi
More, farthan all the rest; And, therefore, thou shouldst pray for them, Tho'they pierce thy vitals through—
"Father, Oh, forgive, forgive them,
For they know not what they do."

Yes, oh yes, dear blessed martyrs, Let the watchful angels see How you fight the battle Christ like, With your holy sympathy, How you pray for your appressors, -With a zeal forever new-Father, Oh, forgive, forgive them. For they know not what they do."

Tom's was a very bad case, for he belonged to a respectable family, and he had been reigiously trained; and until he had been drawn into a snare, he was an affectionate son and brother; and friends counseled, and minister preached, and every means was tried to reclaim him, but all effort seemed lost. His family mourned him as lost, and many a silent tear his sister let fall on his tattered garments, as she sat patching and darning them.

Tom was infatuated, all agreed; but for all that he was a favorite, from the mansion to the meanest hut in Arlie; and some good people prayed for poor Tom Hall. "Ah, these rents will not darn again," said

Jennie as she turned over Tom's ragged In Tom's better days he had pride, and i was such a sad change when he didn't care who saw him "out at the elbows."

But somehow Jennie could not find it in her heart to abandon the brother she still loved, and so Tom's tattered habiliments were taken up again, and made the most of . "Kiudness may win him back," said Jennie when he came home, at the worst he was met with words of peace, if in sorrow. Just as the trees were beginning to bud with the promise of spring, Tom came home, looking thoughtful. He was sober after a

In the last rays of the setting sun, his sis ter was trying to cover some darns. Tom sat down beside her, and silently watched the patient fingers for some time. "That's tiresome work, Jennie," he said

His sister held up her seam before him. "Why, that's a bunch of rags," laughed "Yes, Tom; and a bunch of rags would be the best sign that a publican could hang across his door," said Jennie, sadly:

Tom made no reply; he looked at the rags Next day, Tom went back to his work and continued so for two or three weeks. He looked at the "Rainbow" but didn't go in. "Hallo! what's up with Tom Hall?" wondered Sinclair, as he filled up a glass of Tom's favorite whiskey for another customer at the Sinclare was not the only one that was astonished at the change. Every day Tom went to his work; every night he came home sober; and after a time he appeared at church on the Sabbath. Then people began to think Tom was in earnest and meant to reform. "The angel's come at last," whispered Florence, and a bright drop fell on Dick's golden hair "Had Tom Hall really become a teetotaler?" wondered Sinclars, when a whole month had passed without a visit to the "Rainbow." "Well, it seemed so, for nothing stronger than water had passed his lips in the shape of drink, since the night when his sister had of years, he stood the last of his generation shown him the bunch of rags. "I'll have a talk with Tom and learn how he got off the scent, though," Sinclare resolved. An opportunity came sooner than he expected. In the beginning of the summer a terrific der storm passed over Arlie, and among the general devastation the "Rainbow's" signboard was shivered to atoms. Tom happened to be passing the "Rainbow" the next morning, and stopped to take a glance at the old mark. "Fine work here," remarked Mr. Sinclare, who was standing in his door ; "the storm's done for us, and I'll have to get a new sign

"Is it so bad as that?" said Tom. "Yes the 'rainbow' is in shivers," said Mr. "Then you'll want a new signboard," said his hand toward Heaven and Heaven's Eternal, "Of course; isn't that what I'm telling be no longer."

"Is it to be the 'Rainbow' again?" asked "I suppose so," answered Mr. Sinclair, "un-night, by another boy wearing a mask.

DEMOCRATIC CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

In this issue will be found a call from the State Executive Committee, for a State Convention, to be held at Charleston, on the 8th of June next. An early, organization of the masses opposed to the present proscriptive policy of the Radical party in this State, is most desirable, and we trust that the County Executive Committee will lose no time in calling the people together for the purpose of electing delegates to said Convention. Let us close up the ranks and march in solid column to the conflict, and the ides of November may witness the dawning of a new era in the political history of West Virginia.

CELESTIAL OR OTHERWISE.

The times may change, the sentinel may know little of what transpires within camp. but the most ludicrous of all is the attempt of a star to shine in the clear light of noonday. The little luminary at Martinsburg has borrowed "the wings of imagination" and come down from its orbit, to perch upon the more prominent of railroad projects-the Shenandoah Valley Railroad-where, with the majesty of the eagle, he has announced that "doubtful things are very uncertain," meaning, of course, that it is exceedingly doubtful that the people of Berkeley will vote in favor of the Martinsburg branch, when the Charlestown and Luray route of the great trunk line lies for a considerable distance through or alongside the territory of Berkeley county. However, "let us be cherry."

HOW UNCLE SAM IS BLED.

The subscriptions for the benefit of the family of the late Mr. Stanton now amount to $150,000. Of this sum $65,000 is contributed by New York, $55,000 by Pennsylvania, $25,000 by persons in Boston, and $15,000 by persons in Washington. To these amounts should be added the year's salary of Mr. Stanton as Justice of the Supreme Court, voted by Congress to the widow, although Mr. Stanton never took his seat nor was sworn i as Judge. It is easy for the Radical Congress to thus squander the people's money as long as the tax-payers justify it by their votes

A recent Washington letter to the New York Independent reminds us of two little incidents, the one in the life of Senator Brownlow and the other in that of Senator Drake. These men are now hand-in-glove with Revels and his Radical colleagues in Congress, and yet a few years ago Brownlow prayed that if he died at the North his coffin might be left open at one end so that he could crawl away from the Abolitionists; and about the same time Drake introduced a bill into the Missouri Legislature requiring all the free colored people in that State to be sold into slavery!!

Both branches of the Legislature of Iowa have passed a resolution for a woman's suffrage amendment to the State Constitution. It must be agreed to by the next Legislature and ratified by the people in 1872 before it can be of effect.

A CORRECTION!

Within the past week we have been surprised to learn that a report is current, in some portions of the county, that previous to the late election we received a communication taking ground in opposition to the railroad subscription, and refused its publication. It is true that such an article, prepared by a well known citizen of Jefferson, was presented by his son to one of the editors of this paper for publication, just previous to the last issue prior to said election; but the article being so extremely lengthy as to preclude its publication, unless we did so to the exclusion of almost everything else, the gentleman was requested to cut it down and give us the substance in a more condensed form. This he omised to do, but, unfortunately, sickness revented, and hence the cause of its nonppearance in the columns of the Spirit.

We regret exceedingly that such a report should have gained credence among our readers, as we make if a rule not to close the columns of our paper against an honorable reply to anything contained therein, but trust that the above explanation will be sufficient to allay all blame that may attach to us in the matter. The press should ever be the impartial organ of the community where published, and on this platform we mean to conduct the Spirit of Jefferson, reserving to our self the right to say to what extent our columns may be used.

THE CONNECTICUT ELECTION.

The result of the Connecticut election, say the Memphis Avalanche, is a stinging reproof of the Administration. It is a crushing indictment of the policy of malice which so long age obtained with reference to the South and of that other policy of profligacy whose result has been the grinding of the masses that the rich may grow richer and the poor poorer. The Radicals of Connecticut, instead of liberalizing with the tendency of the times, indorsed every turning of the thumb-screw beneath which the South was being ground to pewder; and they opposed every scheme for a reduction of taxation and the diffusion of the benefits of the Government to others than those who run in their own narrow grooves. The rebuke has come early, and it orce and meaning cannot be ignored. It says o the dominant party in Congress : "Hands off the South." And it says to the dominant party : "Hands off the people's pockets" It ave that the war is over : that peace has come and with it must come the legislation of peace. The Connecticut Democracy has left the ruts of old fogyism. It has planted itself on live issues, and appealed not to the passions, but the understanding of the people. And it has won while those who refuse to recognize that to day is, and yesterday was, follow defeat with defeat. It will be only because the opposition to Radicalism is idiotically stupid if the party now controlling this country remain in the White House and Congress after 1872. Nothing can perpetuate that power, whose own corruption should have dissolved it years ago, but a fatuity which will cause its opponents to cling to the dead past instead of seizing the present.

The Richmond Mayoralty Case.

Below we give to our readers a corresndence between the two Mayors of Richmond, which is a step towards a settlement of the existing municipal difficulty in that city: RICHMOND, VA., April 11th, 1870.

H. K. Ellyson, Esq.:
Sir,—Without going into the merits of our municipal difficulty, it must be apparent to every one having an interest in Richmond that the city is being greatly injured by the present anomalous condition of things; and while I am thoroughly satisfied that justice and right sustain me in the course I have taken, and that the final decision, when reached. will vindicate the correctness of that opinion. still the case has just been postponed, and may be again. In the mean time the city is the sufferer both in reputation and money. I am unwilling that any private interest or ambition of mine shall be maintained at the expense of Richmond; and to the end that good feeling may be restored, and the unnecessary drain upon our city treasury be stopped, and that injunctions may be dismissed which act to stop the pay of our police, the teachers of our public schools, the laborers upon our streets, in the gas and water departents. &c., from the best of motives, and in the hope that you will feel no delicacy in its acceptance, I respectfully submit the following

We shall both at once cease to exercise the duties of Mayor, and leave the Recorder or Senior Alderman to act as though there were vacancy in the Mayor's office. The police force to be recognized as constituted on the 16th of March; the men since appointed by either of us to be paid as special policemen up to the date of this agreement and disharged. This proposition is to be construed as not in any manner affecting our case before the courts, nor to be binding after a judicial settlement is effected, its whole intention being to save the city from a large and useless expenditure of money and to secure payment to large number of worthy persons who are wholly dependent upon their daily labor for a support.

If you consider this proposition illiberal in any respect, please state your objections candidly, with a view that some agreement may be speedily affected.

Very respectfully, Your obedient servant,

GEORGE CHAHOON:

RICHMOND, Aprit 11th, 1870. George Chahoon, Esq.: Using your own language, I have to say that 'I am unwilling that any private interest or ambition of mine shall be maintained at the expense of Richmond." If I had consulted my private interests I would have declined the office of Mayor when tendered me by the unanimous and wholly unsolicited vote of the City Council; and as to personal ambition, it exists, on my part, only to the extent of earnesty desiring to discharge faithfully all the duties which are devolved on me, and thus to secure the approval of my fellow-citizens. In the steps which have been taken by myself and those associated with me to maintain the rights of our city and State under our Constitution and laws, we have been influenced by no private interests or personal ambition; and we are confident of a triumphant vindication of our course by the courts of our

I can assure you that there is no necessity for anxiety as to the payment from the city treasury of the public school-teachers and other employes of the city, excpt the police. Arrangements have been already made for for their payment, and there will be no greater delay in meeting all the pecuniary obligations of the city than is usual at this period of

I decline your proposal that we both cease to exercise the duties of Mayor, and also decline the proposition to consolidate the police. This is not necessary to save expense, for the city ought never to consent to pay both police organizations. And under the instructions which both of us have given to our men there is no danger of collision. The peace and good order of the city will be fully preserved.

speedy settlement of the matters in controversy; I propose the following: That we bring be fore a full bench of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia (which meets to morrow) by write habeas corpus sued out by a person you have confined in jail and by a person I have confined in jail, the question of the constitutionality of the law of the State known as the "enabling act," under which I hold office. Let us both waive all technical questions, and ask the judgment of the court on the main issue. If the court decides the law to be unconstitutional I will at once withdraw all claims to the office of Mayor and cease to exercise its duties. If the court declares the law constitutional you are to dismiss all proceed ings in the circuit court of the United States and give up all claims to the office. If you agree to the above, it may be proper for us to unite in a joint note to the Chief Justice explaining our course, and assuring that we mean no disrespect to him. I will send the note by a special messenger to Washington, and if Uhief Justice Chase consents to the arrangements, as he doubtless will, our Respectfully, your obedient servant, H. K. ELLYSON.

Unnublished History.

The Interview between Mr. Lincoln and Judge Campbell at Richmond-Mr. Lincoln Agreed that the Legislature might meet.

The New York World publishes a lo count of the interview between Judge John A Campball and President Lincoln, at Rich- | (as with the wolf and lamb) it is easy to pick mond, just after its evacuation by the Confederates. We have only room for meagre

Mr. Lincoln said to Judge Campbell "General Weitzel informs me that you have been particularly desirous of seeing me?" "I have remained in Richmond," replied the Judge, "mainly for the purpose of exerting what influence I could to bring this war to an end. I believe that, if your views ted and the war ended."

"Have you any propositions to make?"
"Not formally. I have thought of the difficulties of the present situation a great deal, and have considered several plans that emed feasible for effecting a reconciliation. I think I understand the desperation of the Southern cause. I am not prepared to say that the Confederacy can hold out longer, nor vet am I willing to admit that it must now necessarily collapse. But I think I may say that, in view of the reverses it has recently met with, an appeal to the armies, made in the right spirit and under auspicious circumstances, would be most influential for good .-You will remember, Mr. President, that at the Hampton Roads conference I suggested and urged a truce or armistice for a specified time. That suggestion was not accepted. If you will allow me I would urge it again now. If a truce could now be proclaimed for six months or a year, the armies be withdrawn and permitted temporarily to disband and return to their homes, and the inhabitants of the two sections of the country allowed to visit and communicate with each other, and interchange sentiments, I believe it would be virtually the end of the war. The Southern army, I am satisfied, could never again be as sembled. The men are sick of the war, disheartened with defeats, worn down with hunger and privations, and anxious to get out of the army to better their condition. Once out they would never return, provided any reasonable inducements were offered them t remain out. I am persuaded, sir, that the most gratifying results would flow from such

Mr. Lincoln heard the Judge through with out interruption, though listening attentively and respectfully to all he said. When he had concluded, the President simply said, "Have you any other proposition to make?"

"I have another suggestion," be replied .-'It relates mainly to Virginia and her quota in the Southern army. It has occurred to me that, even should my first suggestion be unacceptable, something may yet be done through individual State action. The Virginia troops were enlisted only for the defence of Virginia They are not satisfied with being marched out of the State; but there is no authority at present that they can recognize to call them back If the geutlemen composing the Virginia Legislature could be assembled. I have no doubt they would promptly pass an act recalling their quota from the Confederate armics. This authority the Virginia troops would recognize, and, if they were not dis charged at once, they would desert and come home. The Legislature would. I think, also repeal the act of Secession, and put the State back in the Union. It would be eminently fitting that the same authority that put the State out of the Union should put it back .-Such a course would avoid many legal complications that must elsewise ensue, and retain unbroken the succession of the government. I may add, Mr. President, that to avoid any embarrassment that might arise from the semirecognition of the existing government of this State, implied in the permission to its Legis-But, participating in your desire for a lature to assemble and carry out these specific objects, the members might obligate themselves to resign so soon as these objects are effected, and give place to a new body, to be elected under the United States flag.

> "Are there any other Southern gentlemen of influence now in the city?" asked the "I don't think there are any of prominence throughout the Confedracy now here," replied the Judge. The next day the judge, in company with Gustavus A. Myers, visited the President, who was on the steamer Malvern, then lying at Rocketts. Mr. Lincoln concluded this interview by saying: "I have been considering the question of permitting the Legislature of Virginia to assemble as you suggested vesterday. I deem it exceedingly appropriate and desirable that the same power that attempted to take the State out of the Union, should put it back. If I can work the matter out satisfactorily to my own mind, I will let you know." He next wrote to General Wetzel to protect the Legislature, if it should meet, until it did some? thing bostile to the government.

On going to Washington however, he found his Cabinet opposed to his mode of reconstruction, and he sent a telegram to Gen. Wetzel, which closed as follows: "Do not allow then to assemble, but if any have come, allow them safe return to their homes.'

Is Maryland to be Dealt With?

The Washington correspondent of the Bal-timore Gazette, under date of the 14th, says: There is every indication that Maryland will very shortly feel the rod of the General Government. To be sure it is an up-hill business to find fault with her official ac a quarrel and find matter of complaint against a doomed community, however unoffending.

In order to lay a foundation for bringing your State before the bar of Congress, "Occasional" has been employed, as usual, to malign her in advance—and what do you think he charges upon your people, especially the citizens of Baltimore? The alleged ofthe citizens of Baltimore? as to the terms upon which peace can be had were made clear to the Southern people, an adjustment of all our difficulties could be effence is no less than a wholesale implication in the assassination of the "martyred Lincoln." To accomplish such a purpose, downright lying, besides a long string of non sequiters, was, of course, necessary. In the first place, it is assumed that the conspiracy of Booth, which terminated, in the spring of 1865, in the death of Lincoln, had its orgin in the winter of 1861, and that the people of Maryland, generally, were his accomplices; that the martyred President would have been assassinated while passing through Baltimore, before his first inauguration, but for the warnings of a detective employed by the President of the Philadelphia Railroad, named Pinkerton, aided by a special interposition of Divine Providence. But this "argument" being considered, perhaps, rather too far-fetched, standing without a single fact to support it, the logician of the Chronicle quotes from a sensational report extracted from the Baltimore Sun of the 25th of February, 1861, giving an exaggerated account of the treatment Mrs. Lincoln received at the hands of a Baltimore mob." and from thence argues and infers what would have been done with her husband, had he not (divinely inspired) slipped through the city between two days! Upon quoting at large the Sun's glowing account of the naltreatment of the coming Presidetness.

"Occasional" thus sums up his whole case: "This happened on the 23d of February 1861. On the 19th of April succeeding the Massachusetts men were shot down in the streets of the same city by the very assassins who were toiled for the time in their conspiracy against the life of Abraham Lincoln. October of 1868 the same ruffians attacked Union men going home to vote for General Grant, the Republican candidate for Presi-

These charges, it must be confessed, would feebly sustain a national indictment against Maryland, and her consequent "reconstruc tion." But logic not a whit more legitimate has put State after State under the ban of Congress, with the accompaniment of unmitigafed bayonet rule. A bill now pending in the House shows conclusively the design to place the whole subject of voting under Congressional control. It is another step in the direction of cenof the United States shall be required to write, print or place his name on any ballot, or to do person casting the bullot may be known; and, further, makes the printing or writing of a voter's name on the outside of the ballot punishable by a fine of one thousand dollars and one month's imprisonment. If Congress assumes power to-enact such a law as this, it may well be asked what they can not do in the way of interfering in State elections. In simple truth we are already living under an oligarchy of unlimited power. The revolution is an accomplished fact.

Fearful Leap of an Insane Woman.

At Troy, N. Y., a few nights ago, a young woman was sent to a private hospital, where as the Troy Times relates, the following remarkable incident occurred :

"In a day or two species of mild insanit developed itself but by careful treatment and nursing this was materially mod fied. On Sunday night last the attack was renewed .-In the middle of the night she arose suddenly and made a rush for one of the windows in the ward, which was in the third story of the building, and attempted to jump out of it to the ground below, a distance of thirty-six feet. The attendant observed her just as she was making the fatal leap, and succeeded in catching her by the clothes and holding on to her until assistance arrived from the male department. One of the male attendants caught her by the hands and attempted to draw her back into the window: but his strength was unequal to the task, and the woman continued to sink lower and lower as the tension upon his arms grew greater and greater each moment. No one could render him the least assistance. When his strength was wholly exhausted he was compelled to let go of the girl and a heavy thud from the earth below echoed painfully through all hearts, as it was supposed she could not make the fall without being killed. The attendants rushed down to the girl, expecting to find her lifeless remains below; but fortunately in this they were mistaken, and with a little assistance the poor woman was enabled to walk back to her apartments. She was scarcely injured. When asked the next day why she attempted to jump out of the window, she said she thought she heard her mother calling her. She is now improving rapidly.

PROPOSED NATIONAL NAVY YARD AT NORFOLK, VIRGINIA .- At a meeting of the Norfolk Board of Trade on Monday, a report was made by a special committee, favorable to that city-

The report sets forth in brief the natural advantages of the city for the purposes-the climate, barbor, &c., which was unanimously adopted by the Board, and a committee consisting of five gentlemen-Colonel Wm. Lamb. Colonel John Hinton, Washington Reed Hon J. McMinn and S. A. Stevenson-were appointed to proceed to Washington and lay the subject before Congress before a site selected for the transfer of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The Navy Yard at Portsmouth (the Gosport Yard) is large and has every facility for repairing and building vessels, but it needs considerable repairs to make it as complete as it was previous to the war. The fresh water from the Great Dismal Swamp will be excellent for iron-clads, and the facilities are such, that all our fleet can be accommodated there at one time.

Cracker Bakery on Dugan's wharf was completely demolished, much of the property be ing blown into the water in front of the build ings. Bricks went flying in all directions and the houses on the other side of the dock were well peppered. The cause of the disaster was insufficiency of water in the boiler, the latter being in charge of the fireman at the time.

> IMPORTANT DISCOVERY OF GOLD-Rob bery and Shooting .- On Saturday, April 9th, while Doctors Murphy and Kolloch, of Philadelphia, were working the Goodwin Mine, belonging to the Lewis Brothers, of Spotsylvania, they came suddenly upon a rich vein of solid gold, and in a few minutes took out several hundred dollars. On leaving the property for the night, they left a guard of hree men with loaded guns, to protect the gold that was still in sight, their names being John Stubbs, William Dillard, and Robert Secray. About 9 o'cleck, Sunday morning. they discovered two of the workmen secretly going into the nine, named Alexander Brooks. and Thad. Harfield; they w re ordered out by the guard, who appeared suddenly upon them. finding them collecting some of the gold, and not going soon enough, one of the guards were fired upon three times, the men, fortunately for themselves, escaped without injury. We hope this will be a lesson to them. . A warrant for their apprehension has been issued.

A PHENOMENON IN MAINE .- A correspondent of the Lewiston (3le.) Journal says a singular phenomenon occurred last week, in the field of John Gould, Jr., in Lisbon. A loud noise was heard in the vicinity and on the same day the shock of an earthquake was experienced at Richmond. People rushed out of doors and around to discover the cause of the noise, but nothing unusual could be seen. Since then, it had been found that a large mass of earth had been lifted from its place in Mr. Gould's field by some unknown power. The earth removed is nearly in the form of a parellelogram on the surface. It is as regular, and the corners as well deficed, as though cut by a saw, and was thrown out apparently by some tremendous power exerted by all parts alike, and it was deposited "right side up" half its width from the place it formerly occupied. The ground on one side of the hole is puffed up about six inches, to the rising land, about a rod distant,

GG8 SPECIAL NOTICES Occupational Ailments. Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing clixir. Whoever Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing clixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted acces to this invisible, but powerful stimulant, needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stands first among the invegrating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor eurologyments, especially in crowded factories when employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted. The nature of the ingredients is no mystery. It consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured or rather surcharged with the flesh sists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, unc-tured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid ex-tracts of sanatous roots and barks and he bs. The pharmacopæia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the present in each. Not one of them combines incombine properties of a tonic, an alterative, and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters; nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The bal-fut-ffert which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breath-ing produces on the vital organization, ignotorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is super-added the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it be-comes delete, ious and depressing in the extreme. I renable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiat d atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alter-ative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in Hostetter's Bitters which as a strength-sustaining, lealth-protecting agent has no rival eith-er among officinal or advertised medicines. April 5, 1870.

LOCAL MISCELLANY,

AT THE COUNTY SEAT. Last week, duing the first two days of the Circuit Court, we had occasion to visit Sherherdstown, our present county seat, and whilst there saw and heard much of which we would like to write. did time and space allow.

The Circuit Court convened on Tuesday, Judge Chapline presiding, and was largely attended, a great deal of important business being before it. We were especially pleased to see within the bar the familiar faces of our old lawyers of ante-bellum days, who for nine long years had not met in a regular term of the Jefferson Circuit Court. It reminded us of days "lang syne." Judge Chapline, it gives us pleasure to state, earned the reputation of conducting the Court with impartiality and fairness.

The people of Shepherdstown are jubilant over the prospects of the early constructions of the Shenan doah Valley Railroad and the extensive paper mills of Messrs. Ashton, Whelen & Tyndale, and hope ere long to see the old town rise from its lethargy, and enter upon a new ere of improvement, with renewed life and vigor. We wish them God-speed.

The new Band, under the leadership of Prof. Criswell, practiced at the Court-House on Tuesday evening, and we trust that in a few weeks Shepherdstown will have a musical organization of which she may justly be proud. The Southern Methodist Church, recently erected, is a fine building, and the frescoe work, executed by Messrs. Shuemaker and Kimes, is considered equal to any in the Valley. We dropped in at the Register office onec or twice, and found friend Zittle as jovial as ever, patiently waiting for some of his delinquedt patrons to call and pay up their dues. During our sojourn we put up at the "Entler Hotel," presided over by that prince of landlords, J. P. A. Entler, and we can assure those having business at the county seat that if they call on bim, they will find his house all that they can desire. Whilst on our journey we were most agreeably surprised at the condition of the growing wheat crop-the fields on every hand presenting a most thriving appearance, and giving promise of a beautiful harvest.

PROPERTY IMPROVEMENTS .- The progressive spirit of the citizens of Charlestown, which has been evinced to such a considerable extent since the late war, is showing itself nnew with the orening of the spring seasor. Joseph Trappell, Esq., has broken ground for a fine residence on the Southern side of the town, on a commanding situation; the building of Mr. Hiram O'Bannon, on Lawrence street, heretofore mentioned, is being erected; Samuel Ridenour, E.q., is having the brick delivered for a store-house and dwelling, on the site of the old Flagg property, on Main of a road from some point on the Manassas street; and Mr. Samuel Myers will, in a few, road to Charlestown. We hope this may be days, have his residence near the Baptist Church completed. We also understand that Dr. Allen C. Hammond, the late purchaser of the Sappington Hotel, (who by the way Valley .- Winchester Sentinel. has taken up his residence in our midst) proposes to improve that property handsomely, by erecting a new port co, painting and papering the bailding throughout, &c. The neat fencing just erected in front of the residence of Maj. Jas. Law. Hooff, is a handsome structure, and adds greatly to the appearance

THE RAILROAD .- The Winchester Scutinel, in reply to an article from the Page Courier, says:-

"We are at a loss to comprehend the hostility of our friends in Page to a connection with the Cumberland Valley Railroad at this point. We say Cumberland Valley, because. although under a different organization, and known south of the Potomac by another name, get it is virtually but an extension of that road, and is indeed being built under the auspices of that company, its Chief Engineer, Major Watts, being in charge of its location and construction. This, of itself, should be enough to open the eyes of our friends to the fact that the Cumberland Valley road is look ing in no other direction and secking no other

THE ENGINEERS AT WORK -- A corps of Engineers of the Shenandoah Valley Railroad have been with us for several days, and are in busy fix preparing for the survey and location of this road. Mr. Burrett, assisted by Col. S. R. Johnson, who was upon the staff of Gen. R. F. Lee, will take charge of that part of the work, beginning at the Shenandouh river and running thence South towards Salem, in Roanoke. At the latter point, it is understood, a around the high bridge on the Southside location this way, via Lexington Rockbridge, till the two forces shall unite, while Mr. McElroy will finish up his work between the Potomac and Shenandoah river. This looks like doing business in earnest, and we may reasonably expect within a few weeks to see the carts, picks, shovels, &c., removing the earth from the hills and filling up the hollows over which the whippowills and owls DERSEMANING .- There are many ladies who would prefer to make their own and their children's dresses, but for the difficulty in cutting and fitting them properly—the ordinary charts being very high priced, and, at the same time, so complicated as to be available only to professional dressmakers, after ong practice. An eminent mediate of Paris has ecently issued "THE UNIVERSAL GUIDE IN DRESS-M AKING," which overcomes this difficulty entirely. t contains a superior mode of measuring, perfectly exuet, yet so easy that it can be applied by any one in itself worth more than the price of the whole work. Also a complete scale of patterns for all sizes, from the largest adult to the smallest child. Together with printed Rules and Explanations, by means of which any lady can make her own and her children's dresses in the best style. To dressmakers it is invaluable. And the low price at which it is offered (only ONE DOLLAR) places it within the reach of all.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Picking the Ears.

Hall's Journal of Health says : "Picking the Ears," is a most mischievous practice; in attempting to do this with hard substances, an unlucky motion has many a time pierced the drum ; bothing sharper or harder than the end of the little finger, wit the nail paired, ought ever to be introduced into the car, unless by a physician; persons are often seen endeavoring to remove the "waz" of the car with the head of a pin; this ought never to be done, first, because it not only endangers the rupture of the ear by being pushed too far in, but if not so far, it may grate against the drum, excite inflammation and pleer which will finally eat all the parts away, especially of a scrofulous constitution; second, hard substances have often slipped in, and caused the necessity of painful operations to fish or cut out; third, the wax is manufactured by nature to guard the entrance from dust, insects, and unmodified cold air, and when it has subserved its purposes it becomes dry, sealy, light, and in this condition is casily pushed outside, by new formations of wax within. Occasionally, wax may harden and may interfere with the hearing; but when this is the case, it is the part of wisdom to consult a physician and let him decide what is the remedy; if one cannot be had, the only safe plan is to let fall into the ear three or four drops of tepid water, night and morning; the saliva is better still, for it is softer and more penetrating, but glycerine is far prefer able to cither; it is one of the blandest fluids in nature and very rapidly penetrates the hardened wax, cools the parts and restores them to a healthful condition; if in a week, there is not a decided improvement in the hearing, medical advice ought to be h d'at once, as next to the eye, the car is the most delicate organ of the body.

"WOMAN'S RIGHTS."-A writer answers the question "What are Woman's Rights?"

The right to wake when others sleep; The right to watch, the right to weep; The right to comfort in distress,

The right to soothe, the right to bless; The right to clothe and feed the poor; The right to teach them to endure : The right to dry the orphan's tear; The right the widow's heart to cheer;

The right when other friends have flown And left the sufferer all alone, To kneel that dying couch beside, And meekly point to him who died; The right a happy home to make In any clime for Jesus' sake :

Rights such as these are all we crave .. Until our list-a peaceful grave.

SINGULAR COINCIDENCES .- It is a sin gular, but not less true remark in a late work. that Jefferson was born just eight years after his predecessor Adams; Madison eight years after Jefferson; Monroe eight venrs after Madison; and John Quincy Adams eight years after Monroe. Another curious feet to be observed is, that Adams was just sixty-six years old when he retired; Jeff rson wassixty-six; Madison was sixty-six; Monroe was sixty-six; and John Quincy Adams, had been sixty-six. Adams. Jefferson and Mouroe receiving a variety of all died on the 4th of July.

RECOVERY OF MONEY SPENT FOR DRINK. -A Michigan woman has recovered by law all the money ti at her husband had spent in . a liquor saloon for six years. The prohibitory liquor law of that State does not regard liquor 24 "property," and the woman recovered the money on the ground that it had been paid to the liquir vender without consideration,-After this verdiet gets to be well understood throughout the State very few men will be found courageous enough to undertake the retail liquor traffic within its limits.

FOOD FOR PIGS .- A Highland county correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, vouches for the following, as the best feed to make the biggest hog out of a pig in twelve months. Take two parts barley, two of corn, and one of oats. Grind them together; then cook and feed cold. This way of feeding is the cheapest way to make hogs keep fat from the time they are pigs. Take any pig of good improved breed, and it can be made, in this manner, to gain one pound per day until a year old.

- An experienced housewife sends the following recipe with the assurance that she has witnessed its beneficial effects in many instances of Scarlet Fever ;

Cook a quart of onions very soft, add a half tea-cup of soft soap, thicken with corn meal, apply as a poultice to the throat as warm as is pleasant to the patient. It relieves the inflamation in a very short time.

- A clergyman asked some children "Why do we say, in the Lord's prayer, 'Who art in Heaven, since God is everwhere." He saw n little drummer boy who looked as if he could give an answer, and turned to him for it: "Well, little soldier, what say you?" " Because it's headquarters."

- A little four-year old child told his fa her he was a fool On being reprimanded by his mother, and required to say he was sorry. he toddled up to the insulted parent and exclaimed, "Papa. I'm sorry you's a fool."

- A young lady from the rural districts went to Des Moines to see the elephant -In the street cars the conductor said to her. "Miss, your fare." "Well if I am, replied.

she. "I don't want any of your impertmence." - The story of a man who has a mose so large, that he couldn't blow it without the use of gunpowder, is said to be a hoax: - The new superintendent of New York streets is "Wash McLean." That's what the streets need .- Boston Post.

- A girl that has lost her last beau, may as well hang up her fiddle.

- The latest name for drunkenness is 'alcoholic sprightliness."

- To conquer fear, always do what you are afraid to do. - A beroic soul is scornful of being scorned. -We do not want precepts, so much as patterns.

- Be wisely worldly, but not worldly wise.
