The Coming Bailroad-One for Every County.

About six months ago we called attention to the remarkable success which had attended the working of a little railroad running from Port Madoc, in Wales, to the town of Festiniog. The distance between the two points is fourteen miles—the line of route being a rugged and mountainous, one with a succession of sharp curves and a continuous rise by gradients of, for the greater part, 1 in 85. This road was built cheaply, is worked at a singularly low cost, and yet is found quite as effective for local travel and traffic as roads of a wider gauge and infinitely more costly construction. The gauge of the Festiniog railroad is but two feet, or; to speak with extreme accuracy, daly one foot eleven and a half inches. "The notives used on the road weigh about ten tons, coaled and watered, and the tenders a little over a ton. The passenger carriages are, for the most part, seated longitudinally, the passengers sitting back to back. This arrangement of course brings the centre of gravity immediately over the rails, and renders the wide projection of the carriages over the line on each side of comparatively little consequence. The carriages are about six feet wide and six feet six inches high in the centre, and each is seated for fourteen passengers. Diminutive though these vehicles are, they afford as ample and comfortable accommodation as the enormous carriages upon ordinary lines, and are in strong contrast with them in the much higher proportion they afford of "pay-ing" to dead weight—the dead weight hauled on the Festiniog railway is, indeed, reduced to the utmost minimum. * * * * The carriage wheels are eighteen inches in diameter, and the floors of the vehicle only about seven inches above the roadway. The trains have a truly comical appearance, from the lowness of the floors and the invisibility of the wheels. They are much more like boxes upon short rollers than ordinary railway or other wheeled carriages." So much for the road and its carriages. It might, however, be supposed that such a road, so equipped, would not be capable of carrying on a heavy traffic, and that it must be looked upon rather as a curious toy than as adopted to really useful, practical, every day purpose.-Nothing can be further from the fact. It is a road which has been for some years past in active operation. It carries daily a considerable number of passengers to and from Port Madoc, and a large amount of heavy freight the latter consisting principally of valuable slate and building stone from the Festiniog quarries. The cheapness with which this road was built, the peculiar lightness of its equipment, and the handsome profits it has paid to its stockholders, - not less than fifty per centum annually-have led to the construction of similar roads in other parts of Wales. The attention of large numbers of capitalists and FRENCH CHINA, DINNER DESERT civil engineers has also been strongly attracted to the subject About three weeks ago a party of "distinguished professional gentle-ENGLISH STONE CHINA, DINNER DESERT men" left London for l'ort Madoc to be present at a series of experiments which were instituted for the purpose of testing the relative CHAMBER WARE, CUT AND PRESSED GLASS powers of the engines in use on the Festiniog road with new locomotive which had been built for the same road by a Mr. Fairlie. The competition was to be between the "Welsh Pony"-that being the name of the best locamotive at work on the road-and Mr. Fairlie's "Little Wonder." The latter is described as "a double bogie," being composed Our prices are as low as any House in the counof two engines on one frame, both exercising tractive power. The little ten-ton locomotive 'Welsh Pony" was put to work, and after various tests it was found, as the maximum of its power, to be capable of drawing easily thirty-one slate trucks weighing seventy-seven tons up a grade of one foot in eighty-five.-Looking Glass & Picture Frames. The "Little Wonder," weighing nineteen and a half tons, was next tried. It was yoked to Steel Line Engravings, Oil Paintings, Chroa train of 125 trucks, seven passenger carriages, and a boat carriage. The weight of MOST carefully selected from Foreign and Dothe train was 114 tons, 1,400 weight. Its M mestic designs. Large stock of Pier and Man-tel Glasses on hand. All kinds of Pictures Framed length was 380 yards. "It might have been feared," says a correspondent of the London Telegraph, "that such a diminutive affair as the 'Little Wonder' would have been beaten by such a load and such a road, but it was not." It glided with perfect smoothness round . the constantly recurring sharp curves of the first bridal trip by steam ever known in this mountain, overcame the gradients with perfet ease, and made the entire journey from Port Madoc to Festiniog (fourteen miles) within less than one hour. Among those who witnessed this remarkable feat were English offi-THIS Hotel is located in the business part of the city. As a local road, connecting with a main line, it can be built more cheaply than a common plank-road, and from the lightness of its rolling stock is subject to very little wear and tear. Such a road might be built by neighborhood cooperation anywhere. It be elevated and the finger soaked in icewater would cheapen the cost of transportation to a for ten or fifteen minutes, then immediately market; it would largely enhance the value annointed with glycerine, and the ring slipped of the lands through which it passed; and if off. If this fails, the finger should be very holders from the very outset a handsome profit on their investment. - Baltimore Gazette.

HARNESS BLACKING .- A correspondent of the Field gives the following receipt for harness blacking, which he has used for several years, and is perfectly convinced of its excelence: "Beeswax (shred fine) eight ounces, turpentine sufficient to cover it; let them stand till the wax is dissolved (three or four days;) ivory black four ounces, olive oil (I use neats foot oil) two ounces, Prussian blue two ounces. Rub the ivory black and Prussian blue well together to a fine powder in a mortar; then add the oil and gradually the other ingredients and thoroughly mix them. If it gets hard by keeping, soften with turpentine and have only one brush used-one end for blacking, the other for polishing.

Negro Election in Lewisburg. Lewisburg has had a magnificent municipal election. If was a glorious illustration of the power of a free people and a free government, with a free ballot.

Everybody in this State knows Old Joe Caldwell. He is known as a virulent and vioent slave owner, slave trader, and slave hunter during the early days of the war, and a most fanatical and relentless persecutor of decent white men since its close. Joseph is Governor Stephenson's pet register. The Governor last year succumbed to the pressure of public opinion and pretended to turn Joseph out of his place as President of the Board of Registration for Greenbuier. But removal was "not for Joe." By a private understanding between him Governor and himself one of these help acceptants which himself, one of those holy covenants which, operating unseen and unsuspected, bind kindred souls in common purposes and labors, Caldwell kept his position. He keeps it still. Keeping it, he was enabled to arrange the late Lewisburg election to his own satisfac-

Lewisburg, with twelve of fifteen hundred white inhabitants; had at the election last Fall but four white votes registered. Caldwell had cleared the lists of the balance, for the sufficient reason that they would not vote for him. To these four, Joseph added, for the late election, every lazy, ragged, drunken, stealing, black vagabond in the neighbor-hood, from whom he could extort the promise of a vote. When this election was held, he presided, took the votes of the vagabonds as they came in, permitted no white men to vote, carried the ballot box home, counted them to his satisfaction, and then proceeded to declare himself elected Mayor of the town. while his familiar knave Cox, and three negroes equally worthless and low, received the places of common councilmen. This places one of the best towns in the State, the peace and prosperity of one of the finest communities of the State, at the mercy of a consummate old reprobate, Joe Caldwell, and four other knaves, one white and three black, who. stand ready to second all his schemes of rascality and petty despotism,

No better comment on the Radical policy in West Virginia can be had than this same. Lewisburg farce. Is it not time to put an. end to such scandalous proceedings by the abolition of Radicalism.

[ Charleston Courier. Fulton's First Steamboat.

A correspondent of the Geneva Courier relates the following story of the Kate Morgan, the little steamer which for more than a generation has plied on Cayuga Lake, her owners obeying the behest of the first proprietor, to "run her till she busts":-Before the Chancellor Livingston stemmed the current of the Hudson, yet after the little Clermont had stirred the quieter waters of the Collect Pond, the whistle of the Kate Morgan awoke the echoes in Tanghanic Glen, and her paddle-wheels dashed the spray upon Cayuga bridge. There is a bit of romance attaching to her name and building.

Old General Morgan, of Revolutionary fame, had a noble estate on the eastern bank of the lake, not far from where the present Wells College now stands. Between his only daughter, a lovely girl of eighteen, and young Fulton had long existed a tender attachment, which, however, the poverty and obscurity of Robert led the General to severely frown upon. Fulton went to New York. He labored long venrs in perfecting his invention; his day of triumph came; and then he wrote to the stern father relating his success and asking for the daughter's hand.

"Nay," wrote back the incredulous old soldier, "I'll believe what I see with my own eyes. Come you back, scapegrace, to the lake; build and sail a steamboat past my own door, and then, and not till then, shall you have my daughter Kate."

Need I say that Fulton came joyfully back. that a steamer was built as rapidly as circumstances would permit, that she was launched, and in due time did sail triumphantly past the General's door! But let me add that, according to an express stipulation made by the sly Robert in case he succeeded - when the Kate Morgan sheered in towards the General's dock a small boat was seen pushing out containing the original Kate, her grim father, and a gentleman in clerical vestments. They were soon on board, and there, amid the waving of the flags, the ringing of bells, and the blowing of whistles, the proud inventor and his prouder bride were made one. A glorious. sweep up and down the lake - completed the

Before we leave this historical boat let us go below a moment. Here are the old fashioned engines, inscribed "Treman, Cartwright & Co." They were the first engine builders in the United States, and furnished both Fulton's and Fitch's boats. Cartwright was the father of the well known Peter Cartwright, the Western backwoods preacher. Glance now at the cabin. Its upholstering was furnished by A. T. Stewart, at that timean enterprising young tradesman, keeping a little seven by nine shop in Chambers street. Though the lustre of the goods has long since passed away, its durability remains to attest to the honesty and good judgment of the young

TO REMOVE A TIGHT RING .- Rings are often left on the fingers until they are half buried in a deep crease, and it is next to impossible to remove them. The arm should properly managed it would pay to the stock- tightly wrapped in fine strong, well-waxed sewing silk; the end of the silk should be slipped beneath it with a blunt bodkin, and then as the string is unwound, the ring will be forced down. Sometimes even this does not succeed, and the ring has to be filed off: or what is far better, thoroughly cleansed with ether, and rubbed with quicksiver for some minutes, when it will readily fall to pieces, and can be thus removed without pain. delay, or exertion.

COLDSLAW .- Mix together the yolk of an egg, a small portion of cream, a lump of butter, a little salt, and some vinegar. Boil all together, and pour it over the slaw.

DR. GOODMAN'S PATIENT.

Mr. Alfred Turner, the gifted orater and spiring lawyer of Wisdomfield, was a fortunate man. At college he carried off the student. Success attended him in his pro- countless millions of worlds that belonged to fession as well as in love matters. He had them, it seemed to him as if the wild dream wood and won the most charming young lady of the German poet was more than realized. in Wisdomfield, and his only child, a girl of God called man in dreams into the vestibule six, was a perfect prodigy!

She could speak French and English, could analyze flowers, bound every State in the Union and give their Capitals. She knewthe populations of the great Cities. She was studying Grammar and History. Such a wonderful child!

There was but one drawback to the fond parents' happiness, and that was, in spite of all their care and pains, the little girl grew more delicate each day, and seemed to be vanishing into a shadow!

The gossips of Wisdomfield said the child ould not live. "No; she has too much brains to live;" and they shook their heads sorrow-

Mr. Turner determined to consult Dr. Goodnan. This eccentric physician could cure any curable disease; indeed, so potent was the man's influence, that his name seemed to have power to frighten away disease! His patients declared that they felt better at the ery moment that Dr. Goodman was sent for. In answer to the fond parent's summons, Dr. Goodman called and found his little patient languidly reading. He seemed deepy impressed as he took the child's emaciated hand into his plump, brown palm. Mrs. Turner said, with a proud emphasis: "Doctor, our child is not like other chil-

"Humph!" exclaimed the physician. "She does not play with or care for children, but talks of things far beyond her years," continued the fond mother. "Humph !" ejaculated Dr. Goodman, as he brushed away a tear with his coatsleeve Mrs. Turner saw the action, and a wild error seized her heart. Was her child dying, that this strong man wept? The startled father seized Dr. Goodman's arm, and exclaimed wildly: "Tell me, is there no hope for my child?"

Dr. Goodman wiped his eyes, blew his nose, nd put on his glasses, as he said : "Hope! Yes, if you follow my advice." "We will do anything," exclaimed both arents in one breath. "Are you sure of that?" asked the eccenrie physician.

"Sure! would we not die for our dear little Belle ?" Dr. Goodman smiled, and seemed lost in thought, and thus soliliquized: "Yes, they are killing her. This little embryo woman will die just as my child did -just as thousands of other children die; or perhaps she may linger through life a helpess invalid. Will they listen to me? I will make the effort, but may get little thanks for my pains.".

The parents gazed at the physician with astonishment. Dr. Goodman turned to them, and said :

"You manifest a willingness to be guided by my advice. I know of no better way of explaining myself than by telling you a true story of a blighted life. This story is so fixed in my mind that I think of it every hour of my life. I will sketch it for you in the shape of a tableau.

"The curtain rises and discloses a pretty picture-a young father and mother and a dear little child. How happy they are! The father is teaching his wee girl to read. See how his eyes flash as the infantile lips lisp the ong words! Admiring friends exclaim :-'What a prodigy !"

"The curtain drops, only to rise again, on another picture. The little girl of four years is now sixteen. Beautiful, budding, bright sixteen? No; pale, weary, haggard sixteen! Her form is slender; her eyelids droop. She is talented. To-day is her graduation day: her examination was faultless; she is crowned with the laurel wreath! Father and mother are there, proudly looking on. They have been rewarded for their toil and pains. Yet they gaze anxiously on the form and face of their daughter and wish that she had somewhat more body.

"The curtain again falls, and then rises on the last scene. In a luxurious home, where wealth had contributed every adornment, lay the corpse of a woman.

"Only twenty-three years have passed over her head, yet the drawn, haggard face had grown old with suffering. Death set his seal on the brow of the laurel-crowned maiden. sumption? When Dr. Goodman arose to go, there were crime was forgotten. That is it was forgotten by man, but in the breast of the assassin dwelt tears on the mother's cheeks, and firm resolve a sleepless guest remembering all. He was not an old man, yet his brow was

Some one directed him to a magistrate's office, whither he went with the air of a man on his way to the scaffold. A deputy sheriff re-ceived him, and surprised by his manner, asked his business. The answer was:— "Arrest me ! I am charged with murder!"

Then he told the story of his guilt. Six years before, the murder of Mr. Peyton was of miles a minute, yet the light from the his crime. Mr. Alfred O'Bannon, we understand, has been appointed, by the Board of Registration, Registrar for Grant township: We de not know what line of policy Mr. O'B, means to pursue, and will therefore await further developments before making comment upon his course. The first Monday in August is the day appointed by law for opening the registration books, and in the meantime we urge Registrar who refuses to register a legal voter, otherwise qualified, and this is applicable to white citizens as well as black. GRANT AND THE NEXT PRESI-DENCY.

The recent articles relative to the President, says the Alexandria Gazette, which have appeared in several of the leading Radthe Sun, and the Times - and the mutterings from other quarters, evidently rather startle some of the Radical managers, and the devoted political friends of the administration. According to these articles, there is dissatisfaction and disappointment, and there is no hesitation in expressing this, by severe comments. We notice, therefore, that efforts have been commenced, to stop any further divisions, and to quiet the agitation excited by such strictures, by endeavoring to obtain at this time manifestations in favor of the nomination of Gen. Grant for the next Presidential term, and to make it appear that Radical opposition to him will be hopeless. Our present opinion is that the nomination of Gen. Grant as the Radical candidate will be, as his first nomination was, a matter of necessity, for his party. To make a charge, now, it is feared, would cause a "disruption"-however much it may be desired by some of the Radical politicians. To select another man, where there are so many aspirants, would be "dangerous." Whether this consideration will produce any effect upon the dissentients to whom we have referred, or how long they will continue their present censures and complaints, remains to be seen.

THE CENSUS IN CHARLESTOWN .- The assistant Marshall for this county, Mr. Towner Schley, commenced taking the census of Charlestown on yesterday, and we understand is progressing favorably. OUR RAILBOAD.

The ultimate success of the Shenandoali Valley Railroad, at the present time, appears to be entirely beyond doubt. The most cheer ing news comes in from every quarter, and notwithstanding the constant croaking of our cotemporaries on the line of the Martinsburg and Potomac Road, we are of the opinion that if they don't "hurry up the cakes," they will find themselves left in the lurch.

And we wish another great mistake corrected, and we want it distinctly understood that we speak authoritatively and by the card, when we say that the Cumberland Valley Railroad Company has not expressed any preference for the Martinsburg route, for their extension into Virginia; but, that on the contrary, they consider their connection with the Luray Valley by the Jefferson route decidedly the best.

So strong and decided is this preference that they have refused to give any assistance to the Martinsburg and Potomac Railroad

And further we "speak that whereof we know' when we say that both the Cumberland Valley Railroad Company and the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company will aid in promoting the success and construction of the Shenandoah Valley Railroad, Now "boys, do you hear this"—and we can assure you that in the next thirty days we will give you a new tical information. A correspondent of the Wheeling Register, iting from Charleston under date of the 1st instant, gives the following account of a caining affair in that place :-

Mr. G. W. Atkinson, editor of the Journal, as caned here last evening by a young man amed Philip Snyder. The circumstances attending the difficulty are these; On last aturday an article criticising the Republican onvention at Parkersburg, and signed "Obrver," appeared in one of the prints. According to agreement, Snyder called at Atkinson's ofice next morning and failed to find him .-He called several times during the day, with like result. About five o'clock, Thursday aftornoon, Snyder met Atkinson on Front street, nearly opposite the Courier office, walking with a friend. The former commenced conversation with Atkinson, reminding him of his promise, and asking the name of "Observer 2." Atkinson replied that he could not ossibly give it. Snyder then said he would have to hold Atkinson himself responsible .-Athinson responded that he would take the restonsibility. Snyder slapped or struck Atkir on in the face. Atkinson struck back with a club. As quick as lightning Snyder wrenched the club from his hands and began to beat him severely over the head and shoulders, making the blood fly. A friend or two of gled in the muss, demanding a fair fight. After the combatants were parted, a brother of Snyder came upon the scene highly excited. He was met by George Porter and another collision seemed imminent. Sides were taken rapedly, and a general row threatened. This prevented after some effort, and this morning matters look calmer. THE WAR IN EUROPE. - Intense Excitement.

France has at last declared war against Prus sia, and everything seems to indicate that hos-tilities will-commence at once. From the telegraphic summary of the Baltimore Gazette of Saturday, we extract the following:-

The news from Europe the early part of the day on yesterday continued to be of the most exciting character. An angry interview was reported to have taken place between the imperor and Ollivier; on account of the known disposition of the latter to peace, the former violently denouncing Ollivier's efforts in that direction. Distrust and auxiety prevailed at all the great Exchanges, and stocks fell heavily.

The movement of troops in France was incessant, and Eastern France was spoken of as being alive with soldiers. All the naval stations presented a scene of similar activity, and on a large scale. The Emperor of France held council with his Cabinet at St. Cloud on Wednesday to a It was reported that the French Minister, on peremptorily demanding his intentions from the King of Prussia, had been summarily dismissed. Military preparations were being actively made in Prussia. The Corps Legislatif formally declared war against Prussia yesterday afternoon. Holland remains neutral. The neutrality of Belgium is to be respected by both Powers, though that kingdom is arming, has put her bullion in a place of safety and decreed the issue of paper money. Crowds of students and others paraded the streets of Paris with shouts of "Vive war." Down with Prussia:" At the Prussian Embassy they shouted insultingly. Austria still rofessed neutrality.

The official journal announced that in conquence of the insult to the French Minister France accepts the war which Prussia offers." A telegram direct from Paris gives the stirring intelligence that the declaration of war had been approunced in the Corps Legislatif.

The strenuous efforts of the Great Powers of Europe for peace have proved, it will be seen, ineffectual.

It is said in London that Prussia manifested mplacability during the efforts of the European Powers to make peace. Business was at stand still in that city and there was much excitement everywhere.

A proclamation will be distributed throughout the German States as soon as the French troops shall have crossed the frontier, explaining to the people the intentions of the Em-

It is reported from Madrid that General Prim is to be superseded. It is announced that the Emperor will soon take command of his army in person.

Yesterday's Gazette gives the following additional condensed news :-

The London Times thinks that the real objects of the war on the part of Prussia, and in which she has the sympathies of mankind, are the recevery of Alsace and Lorraine. It also hints that in case of Prussia's losing strength England will probably intervene.

Breadstuffs in Liverpool are rapidly advancing, and much excitement prevailed in the The Emperor, accompanied by the Prince

Imperial, was to leave at once for the seat of war. He, it is reported, will command the army in person. The military students of St. Cyr had been ordered to join the army. Steamers had been despatched to bring home the troops from Algeria, Great manifestations continued to be made in the streets, on the boulvards and in the various pleasure gardens of Paris. The French troops have not been recalled from Rome, as was reported. It is concluded, from the style of the preparations, that a simultaneous attack, both by army and navy, will be made by France.

A loan of 500,000,000 of francs Treasury bonds was taken up in Paris in a few hours. A rumor reached Paris yesterday of a very serious battle having occurred. It could be traced to no reliable source.

Contradictory reports of an invasion of France by Prussian troops were circulating in Paris yesterday. Communication by the new bridges between the right and left banks of the Rhine had been Great enthusiasm is shown throughout Germany, and all the people of every party were testifying their readiness to contribute to the defence and support of the Fatherland by every variety of means. Columns of Prusian troops were moving in the direction of the Rhine and of the north coast.

Serious Railroad Accident.

Yesterday afternoon between 7 and 8 o'clock an excursion train containg 300 or 400 persons-officers, teachers, and children of the Union Station Sunday school, and a number of their friends-who had been spending the day at Ashland were returning to the city when the train was thrown from the track .-The following telegram gives the most reliable information we have been able to get : "Major E. train ran off the track at my place, eleven miles from Richmond and one mile from the Mountain road. Four cars are off the track. The engine and tender are a total wreck --One man killed, named Douglas McClellanlived at Duke's stable; one wounded, named John Clarke, who lives on Twenty-fifth street between O and P-both of his legs were crushed. About one hundred yards of the track are torn up.

"R. M. J. PAYNTER." From parties who walked in, arriving here at a late hour, we learn that the disaster was caused by a tree having been blown across the frack during a storm which occurred there about 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Those who were injured were on the rear platform of the first car, and had just been advised to go in by the officers of the train, but failed to obey, and met the sad result of their action. The train was going at the rate of twenty miles an hour when the accident occurred, and it seems to be a providential circumstance that more were not injured. The jar bruised a great many of the passengers, but none of them seriously. Immediately upon hearing of the accident a train was sent out to bring in the party, and Gaber's entire force of omnibusses and carriages and all the hotel omnibusses were ordered to the depot to convey them to their homes upon their arrival. The Impending war in North Carolin

We published yesterday Kirk's proclama-lon calling upon his old command to rally to the standard of their old commander, and tel-ing them "the blood of their murdered countrymen, inhumanly butchered for opinion's sake, cries from the ground for vengence."—
The following from the Raleigh Standard is the advertisement of Ed. S. Wallace and John Rosemond, recruiting officers for another regiment:

More Men for the First Regiment, N. C. Troops, Light Infantry.

Wanted, a few more men, between the ages of 18 and 45 years, of good character and temperate habits. The term of service is six months, unless sooner discharged. The soldier will be entitled to the same pay and allowance as regular troops of the United States -$16 per month—and an abundant supply of good clothing is allowed to every soldier, and good rations. Those wishing to go into service will find the undersigned, recruiting officers, in the State Capitol or on the streets of Raleigh. ED. S. WALLACE, JOHN ROSEMOND.

These things have the smell of blood about hem, and carry us back to the time when our and was red with gore. Soldiers have not of late been enlisted and furnished "with rations and an abundant supply of clothing," for mere holiday purposes, for recreation and amuse-ment. Governor Holden and his master, John Pool, mean business-mean work, and bloody work at that. They are fatally bent on mischief. We little thought so soon again to read recruiting officers' advertisements from so many quarters of the State. We little thought so soon to see the danger of another war so imminent. But if arms and ammunition and troops, and the avowed determination to use them, look ominous of the booming of cannon and the roll of musketry, the shrieks of dying men, the agonies of ravished women, the devastation of fertile fields and the burning of happy homes, then have the people of North Carolina just cause for serious reflection.

As we said yesterday, our hope of escape is from the intervention of the Federal soldiery. If they come not to our aid, then may we indeed prepare ourselves for the worst. The purpose of the Government in the present military movement is beyond mistake. We have been boastfully told by the organ of the Government that all the sinews of war are at hand and in abundant supply. What then shall we do? Shall we tamely submit to the will of these people, who thus seek by violence to deprive us of our rights, and if not, what course shall we pursue in order to maintain and defend these rights? It is plain that we This being the case, we will be at the mercy midons, unles we can call in to our help the strong arm of the Federal Government. Common sense would seem then to dictate that just as soon as Governor Holden's troops begin to | those who were and are attached to me, formove the people should hold public meetings and appoint their best citizens to go to Washington city to lay the case before President Grant and appeal to him as President of the United States, and not of a party, to send Federal troops down here to protect us from the danger that may threaten.

He cannot disregard such an appeal, furnishing, as it will, the best evidence our sincerity and honesty, and of the existence of that feeling which citizens should entertain for their Government. In this appeal, thus formally and publicly made, the Northern people, too, will see overwhelming proof of the falsity of the charges made against us, crowning evidence of the thorough, complete, practical reconstruction of the Southern peo-

Let us then, by all means, when the time comes, take this plain, common sense course. The very fact that we intend to do so will, if known, go far to avert the danger. President Grant cannot refuse to send Federal soldiers to North Carolina upon the demand of her people for protection without placing himself and his party in a false position—a position that cannot be maintained for a moment before the Northern people.

If we do not pursue this course, then it becomes us well to consider how we can avert the storm of war that is almost bursting over us. Without Federal interfence we must submit to the deprivation of every political right, or we must enter into a civil war to maintain them. We want no war. We plead for peace. We are tired of blood-shed and strife. The out look, however, now promises nothing but war.

CHEAP LUXUBIES FOR THE PEOPLE. We refer to the patent SEA MOSS FARINE, which is now, by virtue of its extraordiniary cheapness, taking the place of all the gelatinous articles of food manufactured from maize and grain. The raw material, of this nutritious and fattening agent is the free gift of nature : a marine moss growing in prodigious quantities on the Irish Coast, and known as Carrageen. Oneen Isabella's Abdication—Text of Her Proclamation to the Spanis

The full text of Queen Isabella's firewell to the Spanish people is published this morning. It is as follows:

Spaniards!—My long reign baseen many sad and troubled periods—sad above all for me, because the glory of certain facts and the progress realized while I ruled the destiny of our dear country cannot make me forget that, loving peace and the increase of the public good I ever saw my deepest and most cherished feelings, my noblest aspirations, and my most earnest wishes for the prosperity of Spain thwarted by acts independent of my will.—As a child thousands of heroes proclaimed my name, but the horrors of war surrounded my eradle. As a cirl I had no thought but to eradle. As a girl I had no thought but to second proposals which appeared good and calculated to secure your happiness, but the heated strife of parties allowed no time for the law and for the love of prudent reforms to take root. At an age when reason is fortified by experience, the ungovernable passions of men whom I would not oppose at the cost of your blood-more precious to me than my ownhave driven me to a foreign country far from the throne of my ancestors to this friendly, hosbitable and illustrious land, but which is not my own country, nor that of my children. Such, in brief, is the political history of thirtyfive years, in which I have exercised the supreme representative power of the people to my charge by God's law, by personal right, and by national right. Reflecting upon this period, I cannot accuse myself of contri with deliberate intention to the evils laid to my charge or to misfortunes which I was powerless to avert. A constitutional Queen. Thave sincerely respected the laws. A Spanish woman before all, and a loving mother, Spain's sons are all equally dear to me. The missor-tunes which I could not prevent were mitigated by me as far as possible. Nothing was more grateful to my heart than to pardon and reward, and I omitted nothing to prevent my subjects' tears from flowing in my cause.-With desires and feelings that have nevertheless been vain to spare me, in my country or away from it, the bitter trials afflicting my life, resigned to suffer them, and accepting the designs of Divine Providence, I believe I can yet freely and spontaneously perform this last of my acts, all of which, without exception, have sought to promote your prosperity and to secure your tranquillity. Twenty months have passed since I set foot upon foreign soil, apprehensive of ills which, in their blindness, tenacious supporters of illegitimate aspirations, who have been condemned by the laws of the kingdom, by the vote of many assemblies, by the right of victory, and by the declarations of the government of civilized Europe, do not hesitate to cannot take the field in organized opposition. endeavor to reproduce. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Health's Best Defence. "The weak eateth herbs," says St. Paul, so that eighteen hundred years ago the value of medicinal plants was appreciated. In the Old Testament bo tanical remedies are repeatedly recommended, but in no passage of sacred history is man recommend ed to swallow calomel, or blue pill, or any other mineral preparation The sick were directed to eat herbs to strengthen them, to purify them, to heal them, to restore them. In that day the art of making vegetable extracts was unknown. The herbal medicines were mere infusions. It was reserved for a later age to unite the sanitary essences of tonic, aperient and antibilious roots, barks, and plants. with an active stimulant, and thus secure their rapid diffusion through the debili-tated or disordered system. The crowning triumph of this effective mode of concentrating and apply-ing the virtues of medicinal vegetables was achieved in the production of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.— Never before had a perfectly pure alcoholic stimu-lant been combined with the expressed juices of the finest specifics of the vegetable kingdom. Never yet, though eighteen years have elapsed since its introduction, has this great restorative been equalled. It is taken at all seasons, in all climes, as the most potent safeguard against epidemics, as a pro-tection against all unhealthy exhalations that pro-duce debility or beget disease; as a remedy for induce debility or beget disease; as a remedy for in-termittent and other malarious fevers; as an appetizer; as a sovereign cure for dyspepsia; as a gen-eral tonic and invigorant; as a gentle painless aperient; as a blood depurent; as a nervine; as a cure for bitious affections; as a harmless anodyne; and as the BEST DEFENCE OF HEALTH under unfavor-

A WONDERFUL MICROSCOPE. Rev. Daniel Wise, D D., editor of the New York Sunday School Advocate, thus speaks of the cele-Sunday School Advocate, thus speake of the celebrated Craig Microscope:

"Its simplicity, cheapness and great magnifying power struck me with surprise. Then I was examining a fly's eye by its aid, and was struck with wonder at the skill and power of the Creator which is displayed in its structure. When I saw a statement in an advertisement that the Craig Microscope magnified one hundred diameters, and could be bought for $2.50, I thought it was one of the humbugs of the hour, for I had paid $20 for a microscope not long before. But now I find it to be a really valuable instrument, which I should like to see introduced into the families of our readers in place of the manifold useless toys which please for place of the manifold useless toys which please for an hour and is then destroyed. This microscope every boy and girl who wishes to know the won-ders which lie in little things, to save his money until he has $2.75, which will pay for the micro-scope and the postage when sent by mail."

As a holiday gift this microscope is unsurpassed, being ornamental, instructive, amusing and cheap, and never loses its interest. Agents and dealers supplied on liberal terms. Assumple will be mailed, post paid, to any address for $2.75, by E. H. Ross 313 Locust St., St Louis, Mo. Read the advertisement in another column. June 14, 1870—3m.

able circumstances, such assedentary pursuits, un-due bodily or mental exertion, hardship, privation and exposure.

The Trichina Spiralis or Pork Worm. Perhaps it is not generally known that the much talked of hicking spiralis, or pork worm, was first discovered in America by Dr. R. C. Kendall, of Philadelphia, Pa., with that American instrument known as the Craig Microscope, costing only $2.-75, after repeated failures to discover the worm with an imported microscope, costing $55, "of feebler power and less reliable." This fact Dr. Kendall stands ready to prove at any time. The "Craig" Microscope in neat box with full direction is mailed nywhere for $2.75, by E. H. Ross, 313 Locust St., Read the advertisement in this paper.

THE VALUE OF LIFE INSURANCE.-We have had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. T W. Matthews, of Baltimore, Md., Superintendent of Agencies for Gen. O. F. Bresee, Southern Department of the Mutual Insurance Company, of New York. 'We are the more glad to welcome Mr. Matthews, as his visit is attended with good news to the afflicted. He is the bearer of a check of $5,000 for Mrs. Jane L. Campbell, widow of our late lamented townsman, John H. Campbell,-Mr. C. had the forethought, about two years ago, to insure his life for the benefit of his wife and children, for the above amount, in the Mutual Company of New York. On his policy he has only paid about $500 in cash, and his cash dividends have reduced this sum to only a little over $300, in reality, paid out. Who will not now insure in this Company .-Mr. B. W. Cooke is the agent for Charlestown and surrounding country.

The following is the copy of a certificate from Mrs. Campbell, acknowledging the receipt of the above named check :-

This is to certify that I have received through the hands of Mr. B. W. Cook, agent for the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, a check for the sum of $5,000, promptly, at the expiration of 60 days. agreed upon in the Policy upon the Life of my late husband. JANE L. CAMPBELL.

OUR SCHOOLS .- There is nothing that speaks more for the intelligence and enterprise of the people of a community than the minner in which they support their institutions of learning, and foster the education of the youthful mind. Support your schools, give your children a liberal education, and we shall find our community improving with each successive year; discourage education, and we will soon degenerate into a state of semibarharism. In our paper of to-day will be found the advertisements of several male and female schools, all of which present inducements not surpassed by similar institutions anywhere. If you would encourage home enterprise, educate your children at home.

THE M. E. SABBATH SCHOOL PICNIC -We are requested by the Sabbath School of the M. E. Church, South, of this place, to announce that all the members of that Church in this vicinity, with their children, as well as any others who may wish to participate, are invited to join them in their picnic on Thursday, the 28th instant. The place of holding it has not yet been fully determined upon, but the probability is that it will be held either at "Cooke's Woods" or at Flowing Spring. The place will be announced next week.

CHEERING .- Such paragraphs as the following, from a California subscriber, are indeed cheering, and serve greatly to relieve the care of a printers life :-

"I enclose you Five Dollars. It is long coming. I prize your valuable paper far beyond my punctuality in paying for it."

The subscription of this gentleman had run out but a few days ago, and the five dollars sent pays him up to January 1st, 1872. If there are any others of our patrons who wish to pay their subscriptions, we will be happy to receipt their accounts...

OUR TURNPIKE .- The Board of Directors of the Kabletown and Bloomery Turnpike, on Thursday last, made a selection of the different routes proposed for entering Charlestown, and will enter on George street, striking Main street at the old jail. Several different points of entrance into the town have been advocated, each possessing its individual merit, but we do not know that a better selection could have been made than the one decided on by the Board. The work on the road is progressing favorably.

LEE MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION .- As will be seen by notice in our advertising columns. an opportunity is offered to such of our citizens as were not present at the organization, to become members of the above named Association. Every citizen of the county, male and female, young and old, should at once enroll their names in this laudable organization, and thus contribute their mite towards

JEFFERSON COUNTY BONDS AT PAR .-We are gratified to learn that the bonds issued by the county of Jefferson, for the construction of the Kabletown and Bloomery Turnpike, (receivable for county taxes,) are being sought for as an investment, at par.

ACCEPTABLE .- Mrs. Charles Barritt will accept our thanks for a fine mess of superior potatoes. By the way, we wonder what has become of our young friend down the country, who made such a generous proposal to us a few days ago.

Good wholesome Vinegar. Any one can make it: See advertisement of W. H. BISHOP in this paper.

To SUBSCRIBERS. - For the convenience of our subscribers in different sections of the county, we have left a number of accounts with the following gentlemen, who are duly authorized to collect and receipt for the same : ROBT. RION LUCAS-Harper's Ferry. JOEL W. ROBERTS-Middleway.

JACOB S. MELVIN-Duffields Depot. FRANK SIMPSON-Unionville.

We dislike to dun our patrons, but we are compelled to have money to properly conduc the business of this office, and earnestly re quest those who are indebted to us for subscription, job work and advertising to come forward and settle their accounts. We have to pay cash for paper, ink and material of all kinds, and have our employees to pay, and cannot, therefore, conduct our business on credit basis. Give us a liberal and substantion support, and we will do our best to give you DALGARN & HAINES. good paper.

Parties knowing themselves indebted Benjamin F. Beall, for subscription, job work or advertising, up to the 1st of January last, will also find their accounts at the same places, to which their immediate attention is requested, as this business should have been settled long ago.

GEO. W. HAINES, Trustee.

Camp-Meetings.

A Camp-Meeting for the Winchester Circuit, M. E. Church, will be held on the land of Samuel Gold, Esq., near Bunker Hill Berkeley county, W. Va., commencing Thursday, July 28th, 1870.

A Camp-Meeting under the auspices of the M. E. Church will be held in Judge Chapline's Grove, 1 mile from Shepherdstown, beginning August 4th, 1870.

A Camp-Meeting for Berryville Circuit will be held in the woods of Mr. James Smith near Wadesville, commencing on Thursday morning, August 11th.

A Camp-Meeting of the M. E. Church South will be held on the old camp ground near Bedington, commencing August 25th.

SUPERVISORS' COURT .- A meeting of the Board of Supervisors was held on Tuesday last, the 12th instant, From their proceedings we make the following extract :-

Ordered. That the order passed at a meeting of this Board, allowing Sheriffs and Constables to pass over the Smithfield, Chalestown and Harper's Ferry Turnpike free of charge, veyor of District No. 2, Grant township be credited with $55,20 for work done by him-The Board adjourned to meet on the 1st

Wednesday in August, 1870. TAKE THE PAPERS .- Every Democrat ought to take his county paper. If he admires Democratic principles, he surely can afford six cents a week to spread them. The cost of a paper is no excuse for not taking one. There is not a week passes but that ten times six cents are spent foolishly, which might have been much better invested in a newspaper. It buys more reading matter than twenty dollars will purchase in the shape of books. A man may read books all his life, but if he fails to read the papers, he may be called ignorant. Without a newspaper a man

[For the Spirit of Jefferson.] Letter from Leetown.

LEETOWN, July 12th, 1870. Mesers. Editors: - As I rarely eyer see in your paper—and communications from this portion of the county, and knowing that you must feel a deep interest in the progress of this enlightened community, I have after matured deliberation determined to tender you the services of my pen, and my transcen dent talent for gossip.

But I must premise, by saying, that as I am no farmer, either practical or theoretical, ou need not expect any long dissertations rom me on Agriculture, horticulture, flori-ulture or any other kind of culture except no-culture. For manis my study. Woman sed to be; but I have given her up in de some years ago, as being too "fearfully and wonderfully made" for my comprehension. Our village has presented quite an animated appearance since the harvest is over. Our "Fifteenth Amendment" bretheren have been taking holiday, and had things pretty much their own way. They have taken pos of our usually quiet little place, and hold their Bacchanalian orgies without let or hinderance. Of course the magnificent drinking saloon of our esteemed townsman, Mr. John W. Frith, the grand centre of attraction for these citizens of African descent. His harvest has just commenced. And his trade has been so heavy for a few days past that his physical system gave way under his almost superhuman exertions, and compelled him to call in the assistance of that staunch old patron of Any one who will compare the lively, and bustleing appearance of our village now, with what it was a few weeks ago, before the advent of Mr. Frith's brilliant enterprise, will be-forced to admit that we owe him a lasting debt of gratitude. But like all public spirited individuals, Mr. Frith has his enemies. The Good Templar order of this place, and a few old fogy citizens, petitioned the Board of Supervisors not to grant him license. But those "most potent rave and reverent signors," foreseeing what an inestimable advantage it would be to our community to have such an energetic man to him his license.

"Yes." said the Rev. John Pierpont, yo have a license and that is your plea; I adjust you to keep it; lock it among your choices ewels; guard it as the apple of your eye; an when you die and are laid in your coffin, sure that the precious document is placed b tween your cold and clammy fingers, so the when you are called upon to confront you victims before God, you may be ready to fi in your plea of justification, and boldly to la down your license on the bar of the Judge. Yes my friend keep it, you will then want you license signed by the Board of Supervisors. The Good Templars of this place had

Basket Pic-Nic in Balch's woods last Saturday. There were not as many persons present as was anticipated, owing to the short time they had to give notice. It was their intention in the first place to have it on the 16th, inst., but learning that there was to be a Barbacue at Shepherdstown on that day, they changed it to the 9th, inst. Several of the neighboring Temperance organizations were invited, but they did not get their invitations in time to make the necessary preparations, and consequently did not attend. Notwithstanding these disappointments the Bretheren had a really nice time, and made quite an imposing appearance in procession. number of our most respectable citizens gave countenance to their effort, either by coming themselves, or sending their families and basket of provision.

The Rev. Mr. Penick delieved a powerful address. That portion of it which touched upon the drinking church member, was as scathing the lightning that blasts the forrest oak. It must have a telling effect upon some I wot of; if not, then their cases are hopeless indeed. Capt. Deloney's Band from Sharpsburg was present, and added greatly to the interest of the occasion, and

"Music arose with its voluntuous swell-Soft eyes looked love to eyes which skake again, And all went merry as a marriage bell." This was the Genteel Comedy of the day. The Farce was acted later in the evening in front of Mr. Frith's saloon; where were congregated a number of the old regulars in high trim. Those veterans of a hundred fields; some of whom had fought King Alcohol from early youth to old age, and were now broken and scarred by many a wound received in the conflict; yet still with undaunted courage they are found in the ranks confronting the foe; and will be, until they fall before their invincible enemy, and go down to their graves,

I would not be suprised if our picturesque and healthy locality was not destined before long to become quite a resort for invalids from the cities during the Summer months. I must now bring this, my introductory essay to a close, for I know of nothing that I could write about that would interest you, unless I were to encroach upon the prerogatives our friend Templar of the Shepherdstown Register, and describe the length, diametre and circumference of a Snake I saw killed yesterday. CALIFORNIA GOLD COMING TO VIRGINIA The reputation of the Virginia giant of life insurance seems already to have reached and established itself firmly on the Pacific Coast. Though but recently established the general agency of the Piedmont & Arlington, in Calfornia, is beginning to work finely, and applications are coming to the Home office for insurance. The company is treating with distinguished Americans to open agencies in various parts of Europe, and the estimate in which the company is held by those who understand its merits is evidenced by the fact, that recently an educated and distinguished gentleman applied for the general agency of Russia, willing to trust the commissions on his work without the usual guarantee or salary paid is such cases. This company has met the requirements of all States it desired to enter, as to deposits or inspection of assets. in the courtry. Messrs. Forbes and Walton and was the first to make the deposit required have issued a number of policies in this place by the laws of California of $30,000 in Gold. Willing to stand every legitimate test, and anxious to have safe-guards thrown around the Insurance business in its own State, it has advocated and labored zealously to establish a strict and impartial insurance department, which we hope it will succeed in doing. An Awkward Mistake.

We have heard an anecdote which has probably not appeared in print before, and which has been told us as a piece of genuine history. It happened in a large city-never mind what city. There were two pretty sisters who had married, one an eminent lawyer, the other a distinguished literary man. Litcrary man dies, and leaves younger sister a

Some years roll away, and the widow lays aside her weeds. Now, then, it happens that a certain author and critic has occasion, on a broiling day in summer, to call on the eminent lawver, husband of the elder sister. He finds the lawyer pleading and sweltering in a crowded court, sees that the lawyer is suffering dreadfully from the heat, pities him, rejoices that he himself is not a lawyer, and goes for a cool saunter under the sheltering trees of a fashionable park and garden.

Among the ice eating, fanning crowd there he meets the younger of our two sisters, and for the moment he thinks he is speaking to the elder.

"Oh, Mr. -," answered the lady, "how dreadfully hot it is here!" "Yes, Madam," replies our luckless critic, "it is hot here; but I can assure you the heat of this place isn't a circumstance, when compared with the heat of the place where your poor dear husband is suffering to-day!" A horror-stricken expression comes over the face of the lady; she rises from her chair and flounces indignantly away. And "Me miserable," soliloquizes our wretched critic, "I have been mistaking the one sister for the other, and she thinks I meant to say that her husband is-not in Heaven!"

- An Irishman, being invited by a deacon to accompany him to church, complied with great alacrity. His pious friend scated Pat in his pew, and with pious visage and austere aspect. awaited the commencement of the services .-Pat looked about him, and observing none of the paraphernalia belonging to his peculiar mode of worship, whispered inquiringly of the "Faith, an' I'll do that same." Presently the elder commenced his prayer, which so excited the deacon that he shouted in the fervor of his heart, "Glory to God!" "Howld yer whisht," cried the indignant

The worthy preacher stopped, and looked around for the cause of his disturbance. Seeing no one, he began again. Suddenly the deacon cried out "Amen."

"Will ye be quiet, ye thafe of the world, and not be disturbing the people?" giving him a dig in the ribs.

The minister again stopped, and requested some one to remove the profane intruder. "Bedad, an' I will," suiting the action to the word, he collared the offending but innocent worshiper, and pitched him out of the vestibule. Returning with considerable pride, he addressed the minister: "There, plaze yer riverence, I've put the blackguard out, bad cess to him."

-Two Yankees, strolling in the woods without any arms in their possession, observed a bear climbing a tree with his paws clasped around the trunk. One of them ran forward and caught the bear's paws, one in each hand. He then called out to his comrade : "Jonathan, run home and bring me something to kill this varmit, and mind you don't stay, or I'm in a fix." Jonathan ran off, but staid a long time. During the interval, the bear made several attempts to bite the hand of him who held it.

At length Jonathan came back. "Hallo, what kept you so long?" "Well, I'll tell you. When I got home, breakfast was ready, so I staid to it."

"Well," said his comrade, "come and hold the critter till I kill it." Jonathan seized the bear's paws and held the animal.

"Well, have you hold of it?" "I guess I have." "Very well, then, hold fast. I'm off for

- Among the humorous occurrences at the late election in this city, was that related of an aged colored citizen, who "executed a freedman's will" at the East Scioto polls. After depositing his ballot, and being told to give way for the next, he looked anxiously in at the judges and inquired :

"Whah's my 'stificate? Whah's de re-The judges very naturally were nonplussed, and asked him what he meant, when the old vince the "ole weman" as best he could. [Chillicothe Register.

- An Irish boy trying hard to get a place denied that he was Irish. "I don't know what you mean by not being an Irishman," said the gentleman who was about to hire him : "but this I do know, that you were born in Ireland." "Och! your honor, if that's all, small blame to that. Suppose your old cat had kittens in the oven, would they be loaves of bread?" The boy got the place.

portion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchn, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopus, nor is it a Surup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist.
