SPRING.

MISS C. H. WATERMAN,
The sweet spring wind is passing by,
With fragrance on its wings,
To waken with a reprise's sigh
A thousand sleeping things.

The forest's young and tender bough,
Peeps gaily from the soil
To welcome to its blooming bed
The balmy breath of God.

The waters, with a welcome sound,
Sing hallelujah to the sun,
And echo with a strain all round
The wild bird's tuneful song.

And thro' the solemn wood and glen
It comes in music's song,
To bid the scattered leaves again
Bloom brightly where they fell.

The sweet spring wind is passing by,
In glorious summer bright;
It kindles joy in childhood's eye,
And sets forth its flight.

It brings unto the sicken'd heart,
Amid its winter dark,
The pure and blessed healing art,
The dove brought to the ark.

It brings a sunlight to the mind,
A blossom to the soul,
Who care hath striven long to bind
Its countless chains of toll.

The sweet spring wind is passing by
In all its rich perfume,
God's promise—"we shall never die,"
Speaks in its opening bloom.

ADDRESS.

Delivered at the first meeting of Wildley Lodge of Independent Order of Old Fellows, Charlestown, Virginia.

BY WILLIAM S. SMITH.—

Ladies, Gentlemen, and more particularly Brethren of Independent Order of Old Fellows:

It was confidently expected that you would be addressed on this occasion by the Rev. Mr. Evans of Baltimore, but circumstances transpired, after an acceptance of my services, which rendered it necessary for him to decline, and being thrown unexpectedly upon our own resources, at the solicitation of my Brethren, I have assumed his place with but a few hours notice to make the necessary arrangements. It is always a damer to a speaker to rise in his place and see the gloom of disappointment resting on the countenance of his audience — I hope therefore that my audience will reconcile themselves as much as possible to the present exigency, and in return, I promise to use my best endeavor to lessen the disappointment which is now so plodly evinced as far as my ability may extend. The apology I hope will be satisfactory to all.

I presume it is expected by this congregated assembly, forming a portion of the enlightened citizens of Jefferson county, that some development of the principles of this mysterious, though truly virtuous Institution, should be made manifest by the speaker on this interesting occasion; and my only regret is, that that duty has not fallen to a more competent person; one better acquainted with the hollowed precepts inculcated by our Society. But without further preliminary remarks, I shall cast myself upon your kind indulgence and proceed to the subject; and in doing so, I shall be governed by three distinct propositions, to which I would most respectfully invite your undivided attention, your unbiased judgment, and candid consideration, a few moments.

First then, I shall notice the general prosperity of our Order; Secondly, the origin of an unsustained prejudice secret I revolve at—it calls up the most endeavoring hope and delightful utility of secret associations. I wish to acknowledge the same hallowed moment.

Secondly, I shall notice the general conspirators stood to the Roman Empire.

Thirdly, the origin of the Great Jehovah. It exhibits to man the instructive lesson that the eye of his Maker views the most recesses of his heart, and by it he is admonished to regulate his conduct accordingly.

THE FREE PRESS.

CHARLES ST., NEW YORK.

TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1839.

CONGRESS.—The Hon. JOAD LAMBERT, a representative in Congress from the State of Alabama, died at his lodgings in Washington City, on Tuesday the 8th inst; in consequence, no public business was transacted in either House on Tuesday, and Wednesday. Mr. Lambert makes the fourth victim of Death since the commencement of this session. He was a Whig.

The Dusling Case, after three weeks' waste of time with it, has at last been disposed of by laying the whole subject of the table—never, it is hoped, to be taken up again. The Report, in connection with the Journal and Evidence, the House ordered to be printed. The journal and evidence will serve as an antidote to the poison which the majority's report was intended to instill into the public mind.

The Committee on Agriculture reported favorable bills for the creation of two more new States. One to enable the people of East Wisconsin to form a Constitution and State Government, and another to enable the people of such States in the Union, the other to enable the people of Florida to do the same thing.

It will be seen by a message from the President, in today's paper, that he has been obliged to task himself to acknowledge that the U. S. Treasury is empty and the Government bankrupt—and that he is imploring the aid of Congress to save the ship of State.

"Help me, Cassius, or I sink!" A note of alarm from the "hard-money" Administration. What a commentary upon the progress and the practice of the Experimenters! The U. S. Government, at peace with all nations except a handful of miserable half-starved Indians—no longer encumbered by a national debt—and yet bankrupt! Millions and millions of shiplasters already issued by this "hard-money" Administration, to relieve, and the cry is still for more! The Government is in imminent danger of being rendered unable to discharge, with good faith, its preexisting and various pecuniary obligations.

"If it shall not be allowed to go on issuing Treasury notes to an almost unlimited extent." "Serious embarrassments," says Mr. Van Buren, are "likely to arise from a continuance of the present state of things." He ought to have said, "from the present state of things," and will continue to arise, unless I shall be relieved from the obligation of following in the footsteps of my illustrious predecessor, and "carrying out the work which so gloriously began." But this would offend his earthly Maker, "the Greatest and Best;" and create more "serious embarrassments." Without Gen. Jackson's support, he well knows that not a single State would be heard in his favor at the next election. Let him fail to redeem his pledge to Gen. J. and bring upon his Administration the open condemnation of that influential man, and all hope of a re-election would that moment depart. His fate is sealed. Let him go either way—backwards or forwards—and "serious embarrassments" will continue to beset him at every step—either road will inevitably lead to ruin.

The Washington Correspondent of the Baltimore Chronicle says—"The House remained in session until half after one o'clock, Sunday morning last, discussing the Treasury Note Bill. Various amendments were offered, discussed, and rejected. Among them were propositions to authorize the issue of Treasury notes to the amount of two and three millions to meet present emergencies. At a late hour, after it had been stated that the Government immediately required the money to meet its engagements, Mr. Cambreleng was called upon to inform the House whether the Government could not continue its payments until Monday night without the passage of this Bill. He declined to give the assurance, and the House finally adjourned, without effecting anything."

A Review of the Battle Field.

Under the above head the Frederick Herald shows the result of the late battle for the Presidency, and points out the prospects for Mr. Van Buren at the next "out of town." When Mr. Van Buren succeeded the President, he had 100 electoral votes, and the New York papers reported 478 electoral votes, including as follows: Maine 10, New Hampshire 7, Connecticut 8, Rhode Island 4, New York 42, Pennsylvania 30, Virginia 22, N. Carolina 14, Alabama 4, Mississippi 2, Louisiana 3, Arkansas 2, Illinois 2, Massachusetts 4, Michigan 3—Total 170.

There were against him—Massachusetts 14, Vermont 7, New Jersey 8, Delaware 3, Maryland 10, South Carolina 11, Georgia 14, Kentucky 15, Tennessee 15, Ohio 17, and for whom 9—Total 129.

Since Mr. Van Buren's policy has become known, Maine 10, Connecticut 8, Rhode Island 4, New York 42, Virginia 22, and North Carolina 14—total 102 electoral votes—have changed sides, rendering his vote of 170 now 102.

Pennsylvania, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Missouri, it is confidently believed are also now in opposition to the Administration, and are only wanting an opportunity to show it.

New-Hampshire, Arkansas, and Michigan, giving 14 electoral votes, are the only States which can now with any kind of confidence be claimed for the Administration, and as "revolutions never go backwards," they too will no doubt be in opposition before the next Presidential election—leaving Mr. V. B. solitary and alone.

Mr. Calhoun may endeavor to reverse South Carolina as a place of retreat for the discredited troops, but it yet to be seen whether his efforts will prove successful in transferring this gallant State into the hands of its worst enemies.

SPECIE.—The New York papers state that specie continues to arrive in that city from foreign ports. On the 8th instant, two millions of dollars, purchased of Messrs' Prime, Ward, and King, for the use of the Pennsylvania and U. S. Bank, was forwarded to Philadelphia. The specie was part of recent imports. The U. S. Bank now pays out specie for all sums under one dollar.

SHANNONDALE SPRINGS.

Public attention is directed to the advertisement in today's paper, in relation to the Shannondale Springs. The truth of the statements made concerning this beautiful and valuable establishment, can be fully attested by all who have ever had the pleasure of a visit, or who have had an opportunity of fairly testing the beneficial effects of the waters. Many distinguished gentlemen who have visited these springs, before the recent works of art were added to the charms of nature, have borne testimony to their great merits and to the attractions around them; amongst the number, Professor H. of Maryland, a gentleman of talents and distinction, who, in a long letter upon the subject, says, in his affidavit to the appearance of the country around the springs— "I have seldom seen such scenery; so beautiful, so varied, so romantic. I have visited the medicinal fountains of Bath and Bristol, in England, and often those of Saratoga and Rensselaer, in New York, and can safely affirm, that the prospect around none of these celebrated waters, so far surpasses, and equals, the beauty of those in Shannondale Springs." Of the medicinal virtues of these waters, this gentleman also speaks in the highest terms.

THE INDIANS
ians of this country seem to suffer from the cruel injustice of men. The Cherokee are an injured, persecuted people, and have experienced bitter trials of this cruel and anti-Christian Government, up to the present. One more is about to be consummated, which will cause it to overflow, people themselves interfere to come to the rescue. On this month, the Cherokee will surrender their lands, and remove beyond the mountains.

This is in conformity with what was extorted from a few Indians, which has been done by the great majority of the Government to compel them to leave their homes, and with a worthy of Christians, and are determined to abide the

Administration to enforce their mandate, camps in Florida are ordered

in the Cherokee country, against the principle of TEXAS. — The New Orleans Bulletin learns from a gentleman late from Houston, Texas, that the resolutions offered in the Texas Congress for the withdrawal of the proposition of annexation to the United States, will certainly pass both branches of the Legislature. Gen. M. B. Lamar will run for the Presidency without opposition. There are five or six candidates for the Vice Presidency. A proposition has been introduced in Congress to make a National Bank. This called session of Congress will do nothing more, it is thought than present several objects for the consideration of the people. It is the general impression that a National Bank will be created at the next regular term of the national legislature.

The emigration to the country is immense, and daily on the increase. Hundreds and thousands are pouring in both by sea and land. This has caused provisions to be very scarce and high. Speculators would run riot in shipping large quantities of produce across the ocean.

The New York Courier says that a company is now forming at Liverpool with a capital of $200,000 to build steamboats to run between Liverpool and New York.

The Sirius, it is intended shall make two voyages to New York, when the British Queen, building by the British and American steam navigation companies, will be ready to take her place.
