

of the West.—The New Orleans says—The value of the agricultural products which annually descend Mississippi, is estimated at severals of dollars. It appears from documents that the value of the annually transported on the Erie Canal is $1,614,000; but we presume, at comprehends the value of all transported each year.

year 1793, when an assessment with a view to the levying of a tax by the general government, west of the Alleghany mountains and territories of the Union, was valued at only twenty-five millions. The same district is estimated present day to contain property value of twelve hundred millions.

state of Indiana has 6000 men at railroads and canals. The internal improvements, already providing towards completion, have increased rapidly, in the States of Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, forty-eight millions when finished amount which we reflect on the expenditure of that part of the State, respectively, and amount.

were steam-boat Buffalo, on with steam-boat, and carry and H.—A boat of some nine left our harbor, but, during the course of the day, for the first time at least had passengers. In the space of a week, sufficient to make a sizeable village, been reared among us, and yet we do them. They come among us, a week, and depart, without ever diminishing our population.

the number of inhabitants is increased by the half.

By the half, is increased by one half the number of the lakes at such a time as this, when down the lake has prevented us for some days, and at the same time filling it with activity. The part of Boston and its interests are now in an enterprise so in fact, as regards to its future.—P. G. C. Oct. 22.

WEEKLY NEWSLETTER.

