CHARLES STODDARD:

Thursday Morning, April 16.

REPLY TO THE WHIGS: WHO'S TO THE POLLS?—We hope our friends will bear in mind that THURSDAY NEXT, the 23d instant, is the day of the General Election in Virginia, when the Voter of Jefferson will be called upon to select two delegates to represent their interests and votes in the next House of Delegates, and also to vote for a Senator to represent this District the next four years in the Senate of Virginia. The crisis demands that every Whig should come forward to record his vote at this election. Amongst the important duties of the next Legislature, will be the election of Senators to represent Virginia for the term of six years in the Senate of the United States. And considerations in connexion with the next President make it the duty of every friend of Harrison and Tyler to be at the polls this Spring—Should Virginia be found arrayed against the Administration now, the election of Harrison and Tyler must be conceded by all parties, and the cause of the country, as well as the harmony of society and the interests of the country, be availed. Without Virginia, Mr. Van Buren and his party could not induce a momentary hope of his re-election. But, we will not insult the intelligence of the Whigs of Jefferson, in attempting to remind them of the importance of this election. They need no prompting, at this period, in the history of parties, to do their duty.

They cannot have forgotten the abuses and outrages committed during the last two years, and the party that ever did their slaves that mortal wrong is the only hope for a redress of grievances. They are no strangers to the mischievous and destructive principles of the Administration. They know that, under the pretense of helping the currency, it has destroyed the best currency in the world. They know that, while it has been manifesting uncompromising hostility to the credit system, it avails itself of the first opportunity to replenish its exhausted coffers by that means. They know that, while adapting scandal as its watchword and guide, it has made the most profligate expenditures of public money—increased the public expenditures from thirteen to thirty-five million per annum—plundered the public treasury, and, by so doing, ruined the money of the people—destroyed the United States Bank, the mile spring of a sound and uniform currency—is now waging a war of extermination against the State Banks, and destroying the business of the country—Demanding specie payments from its debtors, while it is paying irredeemable paper to its creditors—coming into power with a surplus of 50,000,000 dollars, and now plunging alongside into a national debt—accruing Southern votes, warning against the distribution of the proceeds of the public lands, thereby depriving the States of large sums of money rightfully belonging to them—and forming an unholy coalition with nullifiers, to sustain an unconvertible metallic currency, to reduce the price of our produce, the wages of the laboring classes, and to gain Southern votes, shutting the doors of Congress upon the legally returned members of one of the Old Thirteen States of that Union, to secure a majority for party purposes in that body—all these things, the Whigs of Jefferson know, and a thousand other abuses and usurpations, all calling in a voice not to be unheeded for the application of the only remedy—their voice and their votes at the polls for the choice of rulers.

A NATIONAL DEBT OF $20,000,000.

Mr. Wrenshall, the other day in the Senate, stated that, the Government had spent within the last three years, say from the 1st of January, 1837, up to the 1st of January, 1840, $20,000,000 and more; beyond its receipts, for the same years. Therefore, a National debt has already reached over $30,000,000. Now supposing Mr. Van Buren should be re-elected; what will be the amount of the national debt at the end of his term of office, at the same ratio, he then having nearly five years in all to give, from the present time? It will be within a fraction of $33,333,333. That is provided a standing Army, of 200,000 men, should not be adopted by Congress, as recommended by Mr. Van Buren, in his last message, and the Secretary of War, in his report to the same. But on the event of its being a law, and there is a strong disposition by the President's party to gratify him,—it will be impossible for any state, with the amount of the national debt, at the end of his second term, if he should think fit to retire, even which would be very doubtful, to say the least. This important fact, as far above stated by Mr. Webster, as he also stated, it has been the earnest desire of the Secretary of the Treasury, to keep concealed from the knowledge of the people.—New York Republican.

IN ONE YEAR AFTER MR. VAN BUREN IS SWORN INTO OFFICE AS PRESIDENT GOLD AND SILVER WILL BE PROHIBITED.

The following letter from Hudson, N. Y., was addressed to the Advertiser of New York, with the progress of events:

Hudson, Tuesday, April 17.

I have only dim recollection of the last struggle, the Whigs have cleared their suffict ticket. The votes for Major have been canvassed, and we have elected him by 73 majorities. The first ward gave 50 majority; the second, 25.

Last year, the Van Burenites elected part of the Committee on Finance, Van Burenites, as follows in the Advertiser:

In speaking of the late charter elections in New York, the Commercial Journal says:—We have intelligence of the result of the charter election in Williamsburgh, New York and Brushwick this morning. In the former place, the Whigs elected their supervisor by 12, their town clerk by 11, and justice of the peace by 15 majority. In Brushwick the whole Whig ticket is elected by a majority of 20. These two places voted as one town last year and gave a Van Buren majority of 84. So it goes. Wherever an election is held we have a new evidence that the nomination of the Farmer of North Bend has given a new impetus to the onward progress of the big cause.

TENNESSEE.

The Advertiser of Corinth, Miss., Tennessee, on the 7th ult., for Sheriff, the Whig candidate was successful by three hundred majority. This county gave Polk, V. D., four hundred majority for Governor. In Tipton county, where the Van Burenites last year carried their sheriff and clerks by a majority of 200, the Whigs have elected the same officers by a majority of 203. The Louisville Journal in noticing the onward march of the good cause, asks: "What think you of the signs from Tennessee?" Meant, Van Burenites? Is it music to your liking? Is there no ear ache in its tones?"

NORTH CAROLINA.

The "signs" from North Carolina show that she will not be behind her sister States in the great work of REFORM! A letter from Iredell county in State says: "Five or six counties here, where I am acquainted, Van Buren will scarcely get twenty-five votes to the county."

Another from Randolph county, says: "General Harrison takes well in this section. In one or two months more, Van Buren will become popular."

Mr. McElveen, a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, has been expelled from his seat in body, by a vote of 60 to 16, for his late outcries upon Mr. Wiggin, a member from Northumberland county. The House resolved that "his dignity must be maintained at all hazards."

Good news from Connecticut!

The Senate consist of 31 members, and the Whigs have elected 18 or 19! And out of 24 representatives who comprise the lower branch of the Legislature, the Van Buren party elected only 4.

She has not disappointed their hopes, but has nobly taken her stand on the side of Harrison and Benton.

Here is another State which has deserted Mr. Van Buren. Connecticut gave her vote to him at the last Presidential election. The cause is now summed up.

INDIANA.

An election was held in Indianapolis, the capital of the State of Indiana, on the 23d, ultimo, between Whigs and Free Soil. The Indianapolis Journal says: "For the first time that the election turned exclusively on national politics. The way the laborers and lawyers, the mechanics and merchants, and brokers and bankers, routed the 'Confederate,' hard-headed, and hard-moneyed office holders, is a caution to Waterloo."

ALABAMA.

The news from Alabama is of the most interesting kind. The people are rising. They are tired of HUMBUGGERY and CURRENCY TINKERING, and intend rising in the majority of their might, and aid in hurling the Spoilers from their thrones. At a late election held in Mobile, the Mayor and City Councilmen, the Whig party succeeded by a triumphant majority. One year ago the Whig candidate for the Mayoralty in that city was defeated by a majority of 353 votes. Whig gained in one year, out of 1,000, and odd votes, 513 votes! This is going ahead rapidly.

Connexion has been lost—by his sister Whig Sister, as leading off, in the great struggle against misrule and corruption—such eyes have been turned to her, and the result awaited with intense interest. She has not disappointed their hopes, but has nobly taken her stand on the side of Harrison and Benton.

There will be preaching in the Episcopal Church in Charlestown, as usual, on Sunday next (Easter.) April 16, 1840.

A Quarterly Meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in Charlestown, commencing Saturday the 10th April.

THE MEETINGS of the Presbyterians for the last six weeks, have been suspended

CHURCH NOTICE.
The holders of Pew in the Episcopal Church, Charlestown, are hereby informed that the Pew Rent will become due at Easter, and that Mr. WM. N. CRAIGHILL, is authorized to receive as holder over one hundred thousand francs. The gentleman, wishing to enjoy the gratification of his present, and finding no one in the parson, encased himself in a window, behind the curtains. Presently a whole host of girls fluttered into the room, and began talking at once. "Oh, did you ever see such a beautiful creature! Louise is surely a great husband she will have!" "She ought to be happy, but do you know what she told me just now? why, that she had rather have the carbuncle without the gentleman who gave it to her!" "It can't be—he never said so!" "She certainly did—and there she is—you can ask her yourself." Louise, didn't you tell me you would rather have the carbuncle without Mr. —?" "Yes, I did say so—but that's between ourselves." "Much obliged to you, Mademoiselle," said Mr. — coming forward, "you shall have either!" So saying, he coolly put the splendid present under his arm, and walked off, leaving the ladies in an embarrassment "easier conceived than expressed."

The Journal de Smyrne gives the following story on the faith of a letter, from Adriatico, and says it has no doubt of its truth:—After a few days of solitude, he had confided his intentions, to his mother, who lived in another part of the village, and to whom he had confided his intention of causing an agreeable surprise to their mother.
The old woman made some difficulty in complying with his request on account of her poverty, but at length conceded. In the course of the evening, the young man drew out his purse, in which there were about 2,000 piastres in gold, the fruits of his economy. At the sight of the gold an infernal thought came over the mother, and, when her son was asleep, she cut off his head with a hatchet, and having taken the purse concealed the body.

Early on the following day, the sister of the victim called on her mother to inquire after the stranger who had passed the night under her roof, and surprised at not seeing or hearing of him, she told her mother that the stranger was her own son, and related the project which he had conceived for revealing himself to her. The horror-struck mother now confessed the crime of which she had been guilty, and her cries of remorse having brought the neighbors to the spot, she was taken into custody.

or abominable than another it is a man of leisure, who has nothing to do but lounge about and have his active acquaintances, and prevent them from attending to their usual business.
