There etides of Love

There is a local in early life.

There is a local in early life.

Which share purade met workely strife. And teets a contramed the princely debal in humble out, a happy home.

More gorgeous then the pome of kings. The core and the peart it brings.

And all the glory of the libbs.

In living diamonds—beaming eyes.

The rote's broom it yields to yiew.

And lends its fragrance with its hoe.

The gladdening smile, the ballmy kins. With looks of foodiers, thoughts of bliss Feelings that scarce know windly leaves.

And dreams of course and beaven, Life's full saxieties above:

Such, such is woman searly love.! There is a love of elder growth,

There is a love of elder growth,
Less dazzling than the love of youth.
Where sends looks and anxious care
Aspire, he hasband's toil to share;
Which seeks its solace and employ,
Providing for her children joy;
Which owns no happiness complete
Till they are healthy, clean, and nest;
Which strives to spare the humble story
And make that little something more;
Love, which, the frugal table spread;
A blessing breathes on daily bread;
Which, scorning finery and pride,
Exults in comforts self-denied,
And teaches man 'its vain to roam And teaches man 'tis vain to roam s calms, as that the heart could move

And this is women's noon-day love. There is a love in a later stage, When pain and sickness grow on age, When he, so active once, and gay, Perceives approach his closing day When failing strength and tottering lim And sunken cheek and eyes grow dim. And faltering voice and vision wan, Have to a spectre changed the man ; Then, love, by the fond wife possessed, Too vast, too grand, to be expressed, Delights assiduously to ply, And soothes with tender sympathy; Consoles the mourner for the past, And fondly soothes him to the last. This love, in hours the most forlorn, Though not so brilliant, more sublim This love, from heaven derived its birt Confesses no alloy of earth; It lifts the sufferer from his woe.

The Canada Wheat Bill, after a fruitless and not very formidable opposition from Lords Stanhope and Radnor, who were but feebly sustained by their Graces of Buckingham and Richmond, has passed the Lords.

In the House of Lords, when the question of Irish affairs was debated, the Duke Wellington delivered himself of a cheracteristic and important speech. In the course of his speech the Duke uttered these words "always memorable,"-"The that people, on the part of the Government, is a stern and firm resistance to every thing like a breach of the peace and of order, and to be prepared—as I hope we are---to enforce measures for the preservation of the peace in Ireland !"

The Irish Arms Bill occupied the attention of the Commons for several nights. August 7, 5 P. M. CATTLE.—The offerings of Beef Cattle at the Scales this morning amounted to 660 head, of which 510 were sold. The prices paid ranged from $1,75 to $2,624 per 100 lbs on the hoof which is equal to about $3,50 a $5 net, as in quality. About 150 head remain unsold. ILOUR -There has been a botter demand for Howard street Flour to-day, and holders are more firm than at the close of last week. We note sales of about 500 bbls, fresh ground, of at $4,624, and of about 300 bbls. at $4,75. Holders now generally ask the last named price. Sales of parcels not so recently manufactured were made on Saturday at $4,50, and we are advised of a sale of the same description this morning at that price. The receipt price is un-ry large to-day; there is a better feeling in the market, owing to the increased supply of water in the mill streams and some demand for neighboring market. We cannot, however, state a positive advance in price, and therefore quote as before, viz. good to prime reds 95 a. 98 cts. ordinary to good 80 a 95 cts. MESSRS. EDITORS:—

I sak a small space in your columns to solicit the atention of the Order of Free Mesons generally, to a contemplated Masonic visit to the Cave on the farm of Mr. William Clarke, "in which our worthy, illustrious and much lamented Brother, General George Wassington, held the first Missonic Lodge west of the Blue Ridge." A communication has been made to all the Lodges in District No. 14, and "the project access to be highly approved."

The occasion will no doubt do much to promote the interests of the Order, and therefore should be embraced with becoming attention and zeal: for we, knowing ourselves better than others can know us, alone can estimate the vast importance of maintaining and enlarging our association. This true, those who are not of us, may find much to reproach us with, but has not the Christian Religion been made the subject of reproach? There have and there will be found in time to come, those arrang us whom we are unwilling to recognise as worthy; but are there not found within the pale of the Christian? How then can we escape contamination and reproach? Our principles and objects are founded on the Eternal truths of the Christian Religion; our beacon lights are justice, charity, and love to God and make the count where of these in any degree it is but the
