Here is an admission, by Mr. Tyler's mouthpiece, that "organization has been perfected by other candidates, and greatly so by the influence of the patronage of this Administration"-or, in other words, that Mr. Tyler has "brought the patronage of the Government into conflict with the freedom of elections."

Mr. Tyler has cone on from one step of iniquity to another, until at last his "conscience," He now "glories in his shome," and claims credit fof doing that which would cover other men with shame and confusion of face.

The Globe very properly calls on the Madisonian to point out the "Democrat" whom the "Administration" has thus countenanced in the corrupt use of its "patronage."-Petersburg In telligencer.

The New York Evening Post Contractors, had already gone forward, with of Thursday, contains the capitulation or rather the unconditional surrender of the Albany Re-Rency to the South Carolina forces, as far as the time and place of holding the Convention areconcerned. This is no doubt done with the view that it shall be considered as a good work precedent, to be made available as a consideration for the harmonious yielding of the Southern Democracy to the Convention as a consequence.

HURRA FOR THE CLAY.

A health to the Farmer, who follows the plough, And earns independence by sweat of the brow ! He sings, as he turns the rich soil to the day. How happy's the farmer who lives by the Clay, How happy's the Clay, hurrah for the Clay, How happy's the farmer who lives by the Clay !

The Brickmaker places his forms in the sin, To harden them well when his moulding is done; Then fires them beldly, not fearing that they Will'crack in the kiln, for he trusts tohis Clay, Trusts to the Clay ! trusts to the Clay ! It stands every trial, the well truppered Clay.

CHORC4.

Hurrah for the Clay, hurrah for the Clay ! It stands every trial, the well tempered Clay

The Potter is careful in choosing his stuff, And works it to make it both plastic and tough ; And sings as he fashions his ware in the trav, "We'd all go to pot if it were not for Chay."

enozes. Heresh for the Glav! hurrah f., the Clay

We'd all go to put if it were not for Clay

When winter-winds howl round the Clay-plastered cot. And yea'son is smoking, and hominy but. The woodsman exults that the tempest's at bay. And langhs at the storm for he's shellered by Clay. Shelter'd by Clay, shaltered by Clay ! He laughs at the storm for he's sheltered by Clay.

CHORTS. Hurrah for the Clay ! hutrah for the Clay !

We'll laugh at the storm when we're sheltered by Clay.

The Cabin of State to its ruin runs fast, It lets in the snow-drift, the rain and the blast; Its furniture's rotten, its timbers decay, And nothing can save it but filling with Clay! Filling with Clay, filling with Clay, And nothing can save it but filling with Clay.

CHORUS. Hurrah for the Clay : hurrah for the Clay !

There's nothing can save it but filling with Clay The world over, boys, there is Clay that is good,

For building of cabins and raising of food; But for work such as cure let me tell you the best, Is Clay of Kentucky-the Clay of the West, Clay of the West, Clay of the West, There's nothing for ns like the Giay of the West

CHORUS.

Hurrah for the Clay ! hurrah for the Clay ! There's nothing for us like the Chay of the West.

Come join then, my hearties, each son of the land. And citizen, stranger, hand linked into hand. United and carnest, we'll carry the day. And rescue the land by top-dressing with Clay.

Hurrah for the Clay! horrah for the Clay!

Who never turned back on a foe or a friend.

Topping with Clay, topping with Clay, We'll rescue the land by top-dressing with Clay. CHORUS.

We'll rescue the land by top-dressing with Clay.

Nine cheers for great Harry, whose honor wont bend,

Who works for his country by night and by day, The country will thank him by working for Clay.
