GOOD OLD TIMES.

I do respect the times of old, The times of beans and pork, When our old elever honest dada.

Went whistling to their work.
When old cocked hats and breeches, Were the order of the day; And good thick bottom'd shoes were worn With buckles shining gay.

The times of old, the times of old, When our good mothers were : Good homespun stuffs, and kept their muffs And tippets evermore,

When good stout waists were all the rage,
And cheeks ne'er painted were,
And borrowed curls ne'er deck'd the girls,
With beauty debonaice!

The times of old, when our old dada,
Were fat and h. arty too,
With their hair combed so gracefully, And done up in a queue !
do respect those golden days,
When fashion was inclined.

To make her votaries wear their coats, With pocket holes behind. Alas! they've passed with time away,
Those baleyon days are o'er,
And now men dost on black frock coats,
With pocket holes before;

The women, too, have got the cue. Oh, for the lads like our old dads? Who lived in times of old !

Affairs at Washington,

The demonstration agains: Mr. Van Buren coes on with increasing force. The Indiana delegation in Congress-except the Whig portion, which has nothing to do, of course, with these squabbles--appear in their own asmes in the Globe, and declare their conviction that Mr. Van Buren will not do. Mr Saunders, of the House of Representatives, from North Carolina, polylishes a card declaring the same thing. The Mississippi members of the House appear also in a card, stating that they cannot support any one for the Presidency who is not for the immedigte annexation of Texas. This strikes at Mr. Van Baren, although he is not mentioned by

The Globe charges that a coalstion has been formed between Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Tyler. and says that the annexation of Texas was the pivot on which they had fixed their lever some time since to overturn the rival and competitor of both, Mr. Van Buren. The Globe says:

[Continued from the first page.] is to be preceded by the appropr ignly of which is in dispute between two ations, one of which we are to join in the struggle? This, sir, is a matter of the vewhich no American statesatan or citizen can be indifferent. We have a character among the nations of the earth to maintain. All our public functionaries, as as those who oppose it, however much they may differ as to its effects, will, I am sure, be equally solicitous for the performance of this first of duties. It has bitherto been our pride and our boast, that, whilst the last of power, with fraud and violence in its train, has led other and differently constituted governments to aggression and conquest, our movements in those respects have always been regulated by reason and justice. A disposition to detract from our pretensions in this respect, will, in the nature of things, be always prevalent elsewhere, and has, at this very moment, and from special causes. assumed, in some quarters, the most rabid character. Should not every one, then, who sincerely loves his countrywho venerates its time-honored and glorious institutions-who dwells with pride and delight on associations connected with our rise, progress, and present condition -on the steady step with which we have their custom. advanced to our present eminence, in despite of the hostility, and in contempt of the bitter revilings of the enemies of freedom in all parts of the globe, -consider, and that deeply, whether we would not, by the immediate annexation of Texas, would do us more real, lasting injury as could possibly repair?"

He expresses the opinion, that "the acquisition of so valuable a territory, by means which are of questionable propriety, would be a departure from those just principles upon which this gov-ernment has ever acted, and which have excited the admiration and secured the respect of the dispassionate and enlightened friends of freedem throughout the world." He scouts the idea of any European power seeking to colonize Texas, but to such event, deems that it would be the duty of his country to interfere. He is decidedly and emphatically opposed to the present scheme of annexation.

Jayne's Expectorant.

ASTONISHING & TRUE. A MONG the thousand medicines advertised at certain cures for pulmonary complaints, Jayan's Expectorant stands alone. Its path to the public confidence has been paved, not with puffs, but cures; and the vouchers for its efficacy include an array of names which, for character and respectability, one not be surpassed in this country. Dr. Jayne, being himself a Physician, does not profess to perform physical impossibilities; but he does assert, and he is borne out by well suthesticated facts, that in all diseases of the lungs and chest, which are susceptible of cure without miraculous interference, his expectorant will restore the patient to health. No other medicine will remove mueus or pus from the throat so thoroughly as this. It effectually leoses the coagulated masses from the membrane which lines the trachia, and at every cough the patient will bring up portions of the diseng-ged mater. In all complaints of the pulmonary organs, even where mature seems to be making no effort to throw off the disease, Jay ne's Expectarant imports vigor to the machinery of respiration, and enables them to diseacumber themselves of the obstructions which had impeded their free operation. It has restored hundreds to perfect health, after their physicians had given them up as incurable, with Consumption.

Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influence, Uroachitie, Whooping Cough, in a word, all diseases of a Pulmonary nature yield to this preparation, if properly administered.
