Jusonsible Perspiration.

THE preceding figure is given to represent the INSENSIBLE PERSPIRATION. It is the great EVACUATION for the impurities of the bady. It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all points of the surface, which indicates that this perspiration flows uninterruptedly when we cannot be sustained without it ; It is thrown off from The proprietor flatters himself that his long his accommodations considerably more exten sive than heretofore, and greatly more comfort to cleanse it, as it always purifies itself by its own heat and action, and throws off al Mice offending hu mant or infected, is to open the pores and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own hest and vitality are sufficient, without one particle of medicine, except to open the pores upon the surface .-Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies. The Thompsonian for instance steams,
