THE ANGEL'S WING. BY SAMUEL LOVER

There is a German superstition, that when a to her care, either in the Millinery or Mantun- sudden silence takes place in company, an angel making libe, in the neatest and most fashiona- at that moment makes a circuit around them; ble manner, and at prices to suit the times .- | and the first person that breaks the silence is supposed to have been touched by the wing of 1-1 did not know any thing about it. the scraph. For the purpose of poetry, I thought two persons preferable to many, in illustrating this very beautiful superstition.

When by the evening's quiet light There sit two silent lovers, They say, while in such tranquil plight, An angel round them hovers : And further still old legends tell-The first who breaks the silent spell, To say a soft and pleasing thing, Bath felt the passing angel's wing. Thus, a mustug fainstrel strat'd

By the summer ocean, Gazing on a lovely maid, With a bard's devotion Yet his love he never spoke, Till now the silent spell he broke, The hidden fire to flome did spring, Fann'd by the passing angel's wing I have loved thee well and long With lave of heaven's own making ! This is not a poet's song. But a true heart's speaking :

I will love thee, still untired !

The words did from Truth's fountain spring, Unawakened by the angel's wing ! Silence o'er the maiden fell, Her hearty lovelier making; And by her blush, he knew full well The dawn of love was breaking. It came like sunshine o'er his heart! He felt that they should never part, He spoke-and oh !- the lovely thing
