But for Mr. Butler's exertions in his favor at the Baltimore Convention of 1844 he could not have become a candidate; and, if report say true, he has not hesitated to acknowledge his obligations in the warmest terms. OBITUARY. There are few who have passed through the dark valley of the shadow of death that will leave so great a void among her friends and acquaintances as the subject of this brief tribute. Mrs. ELIZA SNYDER, the beloved wife of Mr. John Snyder, who was a kind and affectionate mother, a dutiful daughter and trusting friend, d parted this life on the morning of the ital inst., in the 26 h year of her age, in the calm and joyful assurance of a blessed immortality, leaving a wide circle of bereaved relatives and friends to mourn their irreparable loss. Possessed of all the virtues which adorn human nature, and with s heart overflowing with the milk of human kindness, shewas emphatically the friend of the poor and suffering, and one in whom they could implicitly rely in time of need. She has nevertheless, departed from among us—gone down to the tomb in the spring time of life, and cut off in the midst of her usefulness; we are led to exclaim. Oh, God, how inscrutible are thy ways! you bow in humble submission to the divine will, and marmur not at the decrees of him who dot all things well.

Oh, weep not, friends, those bitter tears,
Weep not for her, she's happy now;
Released from earth, its grief and cures
No more can make her spirit bow; And angels greet, with smiling eyes, That new companion of the skies. A. K.,
