A very important Communication TO ALL PERSONS IN ALL PLACES,

AT ALL TIMES, AND Under all Circumstances.

F you are sick, get cured; if well, employ measures to continue so. Every individual indulges in habits, which must, to a greater or lesser extent. disarrange the admirable and intricate combinations which form the system, and consequently EVERY INDI-VIDUAL should possess some mild, yet efficacious, simple and accredited agent for preserving all the functions of the body in good order.

Dr. Sweetser's Panacea will achieve this result, and should be in every family, and in the hands of every person, who by business, pro-fession or general course of life, is predisposed to the very many little ailments that render life a curse, instead of a blessing, and finally result, in their aggregated condition, in the cause of Death, For Eruptions of the Skin, Scurvy, Scorbutic Affections, Tumors, Scrofula or King's Evil, White Swellings, Erysipelas, Ulcers, Cancers, Running Sores, Scabs Sweetser's Panacea, will effect a cure. For Indigestion, Rejection of Food, Nausea, Vomitings, Nervous Affections, Bilious complaints, Head ache, Paleness or Female Irregularities, Dr. Sweetser's Panacea will soon effect a cure; but if obstinate, or attended with griping, flying pains, the dose should be increased, and the cure will soon be effected. Let not the patients frighten themselves with the idea that they are too weak to take much medicine; but bear in mind that this mildly operating medicine puts not weakness into the frame, but most certainly draws weakness out, leaves strength in its place, and by giving composed sleep at night, and an appet te to relish any food, re-animates the whole frame with vigorous action, clearing the mind and improving the sight.

In cases of Jaundice, Asthma, Liver Complaints, Tic

Doloreux, Rheumatism or Rheumatic Gout, Dr. Sweetsers's Panacea cannot be too highly extolled; it searches out the very root of the disease, and by removing it from the Blood makes a cure certain and permanent.

For diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, Strictures, Gravel, Stone, Piles, Fistula, Urinary Obstructions and Extreme Costiveness, Dr. Sweetser's Panacea is the best remedy ever tried; it removes all those acrimonious humors from the blood, which give rise to the above diseases, and by keeping the blood in a pure condition For Dropsy, Falling of the Bowels, Impurities of the ercurial Taint, Weakness of the Spine, Flow of Blood to the Head, Giddiness, Singing or Buzzing Noise in the Head and Ears, Dr. Sweetser's Panacea will give certain relief; in all severe and chronic cases the patient cannot be too often reminded that LARGER DOSES and PERSEVERANCE will effect a cure, In chills and Fevers, Bilious Fever, Affections of the Eyes and Ears, Spongy and Bleeding Gums, Bronchitis and recent Coughs and Colds, Dr. Sweetser's Panace will be found perfectly sure and certain in its effects. DR. SWEETSER'S PANACEA,

Being composed only of vegetable matter, or medi-cal herbs, and warranted, on oath, as containing not one particle of mercurial, mineral, or chemical substan ces, is found to be perfectly harmless to the most tender age or the weakest frame, under any stage of human suffering; the most pleasant and benign in its operation that was ever offered to the world; and at the same time the most certain in searching out the root of any crimplaint, however deep, and of performing a cure.

POETRY.

THE STAR OF LOVE. BY GEO. P. MORRIS.

The star of love new shines above, Cool zephyrs crisp the sea; Among the leaves the wind-harp weaves Its serenade for thee. The star, the breeze, the wave, the trees, Their minstrelsy unite,

But all ore drear till thou appear To decorate the night. The light of noon stream from the moon, Though with a milder ray, O'er hill and grove, like woman's love,

> It cheers us on our way. Thus all that's bright, the moon, the night, The heavens, the earth, the sea, Exert their powers to bless the hours We dedicate to thee.

The old lady had returned from a tea party given by Mrs. Jones; where a young man, not a member of the Order, but who affected to be one, and well acquainted with all the "mysteries of the Order," and every thing apportaining to it, had quietly fallen in with the whimsical objections the dear old creature had wisely made against the Sons of Temperance, and to fix them in their opinions, and superstitious conjectures, had amused himself by favoring them with a pretended dedescription of the ceremonies of initiation. powerful enough to induce Jack to his supper on a particular occasion, don't you." "What do you mean?" cried the old lady. This raised the ire of the old lady, and coax her to unfold her tale. "Well," said Johnny, "I'm all attention."

"In the first place," began the old lady, "the feller that's to be took in, has got to go with a passel of fellers in a dark room, and when they git him there, they lock him up in a big iron chest, with a hole in one end for him to breathe through. And there he's kept three hour's, then he's snaked cout of that and rubbed all over with soft soap, and down a big holler pipe till he hollers like a loon. Then he's taken out and tied up in a sack, and a passel of them heathenish fellers carry him into the room where they hold their meetin's. Then the lights is all put cout, and when the room's as dark as Egypt, he's taken cout of the sack, and put in a coffin. The lid is screwed down, and he's lugged round the room nigh about half an "How does he breathe, mother?" "Yew needn't make so strange 'bout them holes bored in the top on't; abeout half an hour, as I was sayin', and then the coffin is sot up on an cend, and a dead march is sung, and he's axed in an awful solemn voice, that sounds jest for all the world like a ghost, ef he's willin' to proceed. Ef he says he is, then the lid is onscrew'd, and he finds himself standin' with six sharp pynted swords held close tew his breast and neck, by fellers dressed like evil spirits. Oh! massy on us! its enuff to make a body's blood run cold tew think on't. And he's told if he ever tells a word abeout the secrets of the Order, he'll be made away with jest as sartin' as the death." "Do you believe they would murder him if he should tell, mother?" "To beshure I do: I know they would."

"How did Tom Smith escape to tell you "Poor creetur!" exclaimed the good old lady. ed condition he'll be put in a coffin and buried alive in less than no time." "Wall, the miserable critter is then let cout of the coffin and walked abcout the room on his hands and knees, and ordered to thank them heathenish fellers for pinchin', kickin', and punchin' him, pullin' his hair. ringin' his nose and treadin' on his corns .-You needn't laff. It's all true as the Gospel an' you know it. It's shameful to treat human natur that way, an' not to be laffed at

"No use for you tew try tew deceive me, I know the hull on't from top to bottom." "Well then, what is the grip, mother?" "Why, one on e'm grabs him by the neck and he grahs 'tother, and then they give each other an all chokin' squeeze. Then they whisper the secret word in his left ear."

"What's the word, mother?". "Bellymashazsar, to be shure; you know as well as I do. You needn't to last again. 'Twont do. Then they give him the sign- it? Give us the answer!"

"This way," promptly replied the old lady.
"By shutting your left eye, and takin' the eend of your nose in your right hand." "Well, then he's marched up and down the room dressed in a red gown and lookin' for all the world like a witch, and after he's taken an oath, awful enuff to make one's hair stand on an eend every which way, he's told to take a seat among the rest of 'em, and welcomed as a Son of Temperance."

"There you see the hull on't and I'll tell every body. I won't do nothin' else, for I think-as I allers said, it is a heathenish, barbarous mummery, that makes heathens and infidels of christian men, and shud orter be put deown to smash. How d'ye feel now, Johnny, you begin to find the old woman's 'bout right, don't you?" triumphantly exclaimed the old lady, as she took an enormous pinch of snuff, drew her spectacles over her eyes and turned to her son-in-law. Johnny was in a convulsion of laughter, but contrived to gasp his conviction that the Order was all blown to pieces. Mrs. Credulous believes this day, that all this mad wag Smith told her was true to a letter. Nor is she alone in this strange bein an eestacy of ill concealed delight. Nine persons sailed from Balse down the Rhine. A Jew, who wished to go to Schalampi, was allowed to come on board, and If that tie be sundered, all broken, he floats journey with them, upon condition that he away, a worthless atom in the universe, its would conduct himself with propriety, and give the captain eighteen kreutzers for his

Now, it is true something jingled in the Jew's pocket when he struck his hand against it: but the only money there was therein velopment of the secrets of the Order, and a | was a twelve kreutzer piece, for the other was a brass button. Notwithstanding this, he accepted the offer with gratitude; for he of the circle of all his happiness, and away, triumphant exclamation above quoted, was | thought to himself-"something may be earn- | far, far away from the purpose of his creaed, even upon the water." There is many a tion. During the first part of the voyage the passengers were very talkative and merry, and the Jew, with his wallet under his arm, for mirth and mockery, as, alas, is often the case with those of his nation. But as the vessel Oh! Johnny," said she, "you wouldn't ax sailed onward, and passed Thuringer and lessly down the river, until one cried-

"Come, Jew; do you know any pastime that will amuse us? Your fathers must have contrived many a one during their journey in the wilderness."

"Now is the time," thought the Jew, "to shear my sheep !" and he proposed that they should sit around in a circle, and propound she declared she would tell it now "jest cout | various curious questions to each other, and of spite." She was dying all the while to he, with their permission, would sit with them. Those who could not answer the make her revelation, but heped Johnny would question should pay the one who propounded them, a twelve kreutzer piece, and those who answered them pertinently, should receive a twelve kreutzer piece. This proposal pleased the company; and hoping to divert themselves with the Jew's wit or stupidity, each one asked, at random, whatever chanced to enter his head. Thus, for example, the first asked-"How many soft boiled eggs could the giant Goliah eat upon an empty stomach?" All said it was impossible to answer that question, and each paid his twelve kreutzers. But the Jew said-"One: for he who has eaten one egg, cannot eat a second upon an empty stomach;" and the others paid him twelve kreatzers. The second thought-"Wait, Jew! I will think I shall win my piece. Why did the Apostle Paul write the second epistle to the Corinthians?" The Jew said-"Because he was not in Corinth-otherwise he would have spoken to them." So he won another twelve kreutzer

When the third saw that the Jew was so well versed in the Bible, he tried him in a different way-"Who prolongs his work to as great a length as possible, and still completes it in time ?"

"The ropemaker, if he is industrious," said the Jew. In the meanwhile they drew near to a village, and one said to the other-"That is

MR. WEBSTER ON RELIGION.

In a recent discourse on the life and character

the late Hon. Jeremiah Mason, Mr. Webster gave the following views on the subject of religion: But, sir, political eminence and professional fame fade away and die with all things earthly. Nothing of character is really permanent, but virtue and personal worth. They remain. Whatever of excellence is wrought into the soul itself, belongs to both worlds. Real goodness does not attach itself merely to this life, it points to another world. Political or professional fame cannot list forever, but a conscience void of offence before God and man, is an inheritance for eternity. Religion, therefore, is a necessary, and indispensable element in any great human character. There is no living without it .-Religion is the tie that connects man with his Creator, and holds him to his throne .proper attractions all gode, its destiny thwarted, and its whole future nothing but darkness, desolation and death. A man with no sense of religious duty, is he whom the Scriptures describe-in such terse but terrific manner-as "living without God in the world." Such a man is out of his proper being, out of the circle of all his duties, out

A mind like Mr. Mason's, active, thoughtful, penetrating and sedate, could not but meditate deeply on the condition of man below, and feel its responsibilities. He could not look on this wondrous frame-"The universal frame thus wondrous fair"without feeling that it was created and upheld by an intelligence to which all other intelligences must be responsible. I am bound met with an individuar many plife som or condition in life, who always spoke and always thought with such awful reverence of the power and presence of God. No irreverence, no lightness, even no too familiar allusion to God and his attributes, ever escaped his lips. The very notion of a Supreme Being was, with him made up of awe and solemnity. It filled the whole of his great mind with the strongest emotions. A man, like him, with all his proper sentiments and proper sensibilities alive in him, must, in this state of existence, have something to believe and something to hope for; or else as life is advancing to its close and parting, all is heart-sinking and oppression. Depend upon it-whatever else may be the mind of an old man-old age is only really happy, when, on feeling the enjoyments of this world pass away, it begins to lay a stronger hold on those of another. A PRINCELY ESTABLISHMENT.

A fleet of twento return and play a favorite air on the piano. While ascending the steps, her mouth was suddenly filled with blood, which she spat' into the basin in her chamber. She then descended to the room where her mother was sitting, holding the basin in her hands and still ejecting blood. She was laid down; and never from that moment spoke! Previous to the occurrence she was apparently in good health. She was to have been married to a gentleman of Philadelphia last Tuesday evening. Arrayed in her wedding clothes, her body was deposited in the vault under St. Matthew's Church. Last Sabbath, the pastor, the Rev. James B. Donelan, alluded to the affecting circumstances, and how the brightest hopes are often momentarily in-terred with the possesser of them in the tomb! While he spoke, the congregation was moved to sobs and tears, and the scene is described as peculiarly affecting.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.-We have heard of suspending small bars or rods of iron in the air by galvanic power, but Prof.
Page, in his lecture on Thursday evening, exhibited his trip-hammer, in which he raised up and suspended an immense bar of iron, weighing fifty pounds, which produced a jar-ring of the whole room as it fell. Heavy blows were made in rapid succession, but the motions of the bar were so easily controlled that it was let down slowly or rapidly at pleasure -- Nat. Int.

SHENANDOAH PAPER MANUFAC-TURING COMPANY.

As we stated two weeks since, the prospects of this Company seem eminently encouraging .-We have examined their plans and drawings for buildings and Machinery, and believe them adapted for one of the best mills in this country .-They comprise a stone Factory building three stories in height, 80 feet by 108, to contain 26 rag engines, carrying each 200 lbs., and a machine room 80 by 108 feet with 3 Foudrineer and 3 Eglander 62 inch machines, capable of making over 10,000 lbs. of paper a day, or 3,000,000 lbs. per year. The lots for buildings and the water power are secured to the Company in fee simple Deeds, free of rent or any other charge, for the sum of $20,750, taken in stock in the Company. The buildings and Machinery will, according to the estimates, cost about $35,000. As we know paper to be a 'eading cash article, constant and regular in its consumption as the regular issues of the daily and weekly press; we believe the business can be safely conducted and carried on with a business capital of 10 or $12,000. Say an entire capital of $70,000, inclusive of lots, water power and buildings; or should $30,000 more be added to the capital $100,000, would seem a very low amount for a mill, machinery and business capital capable of making and disposing of $300,000 worth of paper annually .-When we look at the low price of rags in this vicinity, and the great facilities for obtaining them from the Western as well as our own State, and the high prices which are paid for the immense quantities of paper brought from New England and sold in Virginia and the city of Washington.

We are more than convinced that this must be a source of exceeding profit to the Stockholders. A finer agricultural valley is no where to be found than the extended valley of the Shenandoah, for supplying all the wants of Manufactures. More than 20,000 head of cattle, 100,000 hogs and 500,000 barrels of flour are driven or transported through this place annually. Coal will probably in all coming time be delivered hero at $3 per ton. Then the manufacturer will have the greatest facilities for transit East, South, or West, by Railroad or Canal; while the Ohio and the interior of our own State will soon be reached by similar means, and Manufacturers may here rely upon the most constant and perpetual water power in any quantity, at one-fifth the cost of water power in any favorable location in the Eastern or Middle States, the Shenandoah being one of the most constant streams in the United States. with abundant fall, and probably three times the volume of water of the Merrimac river at Lewell. Anxious as we are for the improvement of our town, now containing about 5,000 inhabit ints. the upper part of which is, we believe beginning to be called "Shenandoah City." We would recommend to those desiring most lucrative investments, to apply at once to H. Ellis, Esq., President of the above named Company at this place, for any further information. We learn that the sum subscribed and pledged, inclusive of lots and water power, already amount to about $50,000, and presume the works of the Company will be. There are several Cotton Factories erected and in operation, or preparing for operation, in this place and vicinity, and we fully recommend Manufacturers and Capitalists to examine the respective advantages of this location, confident that better are not to be found on this continent. DEATHBED CONFESSION. A man named Joseph Kelsey, died in this city on Friday night last, at an advanced age. He has resided here for more than twenty years, and for most part of the time has kept an inferior tavern, near the foot of Main street. He has been suspected several times of committing depredations upon his guests in the way of plunder, and once was charged with murder, and escaped panishment from want of testimony sufficient to produce conviction. However, when advised that his end was near at hand, he manifested a desire to have an acquaintance sent for, that he might confess his crimes before he died. The person sent for came, and the old man confessed .--From that person, who is highly respectable, we learn that the statement involved several robberies of guests at his house, and the murder for which he was arrested many years ago, and tried but not convicted.

LOOK OUT FOR A RAKING.

The Hon. HENRY BEDINGER has informed his friends that he will address them at the Court House in Charlestown, at March Court, (the 19th.) at which time we presume he will indicate the course he means to pursue in regard to the spring canvass, for a seat in Congress.

Mr. Bedinger has been apprised of the efforts and schemes, secretly made, in order to defeat him in the Congressional District Convention, and we may confidently calculate on hearing a complete expose of the insidious efforts of those who figured most prominently in the work of detraction.

The Whigs and Democrats of the District will be amply repaid by attending, as Mr. B. has not only the nerve, but the documents, to show how unfairly he has been dealt with. The wit and sarcasm of the speaker will doubtless be brought into powerful display, as more than one devoted head will fully acknowledge and attest, before the completion of the remarks of Mr. B.

The only question now agitated is, will those who have maligned the ex-representative, have the courage to "face the music" and stand up to the rack ? Or, will they excuse themselves by absence, on account of engagements in other quarters?

We certainly, have no desire to hear "a war of words," or any other kind of war, but it is due to the people of the county, to Mr. Bedinger, and to the authors themselves, to "look the danger in the face," and if they are convicted of unfairness or slander, to frankly "acknowledge the corn," and promise to be naughty no more! Come to the banquet, friends, a rich repast and choice viands are in store for you! VISIT TO THE TAYLOR IRON WORKS.

The former is estimated at 33 parts of east iron, while the latter rarely exceeds 30 parts in 100 of ore."-The Taylor Furnace has a very decided advantage over South Wales in the richness of ore, preducing 45 parts in 100 of ore-being a richness unsurpassed even in this section of country. The proximity of the ore to the Furnace is another important consideration-being within half a mile, as also the charcoal.

Three shafts have been sunk, the deepest of which is about sixty feet. There is also a long tunnel, together with a level, both of which run underground some hundreds of feet. There are also galleries driven at the bottom of each shaft, on the course of the vein, from whence they are now obtaining a sufficient supply of ore to keep the Furnace in full blast. But when the addit level is completed, the cost of procuring the ore will be very materially reduced. It is designed to have a railway connection from the level to the Furnace -about one-fourth of a mile-which will dispense FIRE!-The House occupied by Mr. Sam'L H. Light, in this county, was totally destroyed by fire, about midday on Wednesday the 14th ult. Mr. L. succeeded, we learn, in saving all his furniture, &c., except a chest of carpenter's tools, valued at about $150. It is not known how the fire originated, but it is supposed that a spark from the chimney must have fallen upon the roof. Berkeley Chronicle.

As an instance of the daring of some of the rogues that now infest our city we may mention the following circumstance .-A constable from Anne Arundel county, whilst in the vicinity of the depot had his pocket book taken, containing about $50 .-Feeling much regret at the loss, and making it known to those standing about, he in a short time had the book returned by an individual who represented that he had found it. Overjoyed at recovering his property, the constable, without examination, rewarded the finder by giving him $10. What was his surprise, however, on examining the book to find that the good money had been whose veins are warmed by the blood of Patrick | taken from it and worthless counterfeits and broken bank notes substituted.

filled, took a chair in the bar-room and slept

until about four. On awakening he discovered that his pocket book, containing about $1,300 in bank notes, was gone. Mr. Smith was on his way from Baltimore home, and owing to indisposition lay over one night at Smithfield, at which place he is confident he had his money. The pocket book must therefore have been taken some place between that town and Wheeling, or during the time he was sleeping in the bar-[Winchester Republican | room. - Wheeling Gazette, Feb. 27

On reaching the staging erected over the flight of stairs of the Portico of the Capitol, and standing in full view of the upturned eyes of at least twenty thousand people, representing every State and Territory of the Union, the President Elect pronounced the admirable Inaugural Address which graces another column of this paper. This address was delivered in a remarkably distinct voice, and many parts of it were enunciated with a full and clear emphasis, and enthusiastically responded to by the cheers of the surrounding spectators. As soon as the applause which marked the conclusion of the address had subsided, the Oath to execute the office of President of the United States, and to the best of bis ability to preserve, protecf, and defend the Constitution, was, with due solemnity, administered to PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES by Chief Justice Tanky. The PRESIDENT was then overwhelmed with congratulations, Chief Justice TANEY and Ex-President Polk taking the lead.

A MISTAKE .- Dr. Piper, of this city, who had a daughter lying ill in Philadelphia, received a telegraphic despatch a few days ago. stating that she was "no more." He hastened to that city expecting that his child was cold and inanimate, but was most agreeably surprised to find her alive with every prospect of a speedy recovery. His feelings may be supposed to have been at the moment somewhat similar to those experienced by the widow when the funeral train was met by Christ, and her son, at his command restored to life and health, or to those experienced by Mary and Martha at the grave of Lazarus, when at the word of him who was "very God and very man," their brother laid aside the cerements of the grave, and came forth as one awakening from a sweet and refreshing slumber.

The despatch should have read "no worse." but the operator rendered the last word "more," making it read "no more." Quite a material difference. - Delaware Republican.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS: Elected by the American People to the highest Office known to our laws, I appear here to take the outh prescribed by the Constitution; and, in compliance with a time-honored custom, to address those who are now assembled.

The confidence and respect shown by my Counrymen in calling me to be the Chief Magistrate of a Republic holding a high rank among the nations of the earth, have inspired me with feelings of the most protound gratitude; but when I reflect that the acceptance of the office which their partiality has bestowed imposes the discharge of the most arduous duties, and involves the weightiest obligations I am conscious that the position which I have been called to fill, though sufficient to satisfy the loftiest ambition, is surrounded by fearful responsibilities. Happily, however, in the performance of my new duties. I shall not be without able co-operation .-The Legislative and Judicial branches of the Goverament present prominent examples of distinguished civil attainments and matured experience; and it shall be my endeavor to call to my assistance in the Executive Departments individuals whose talents, integrity, and purity of character will furnish ample guaranties for the faithful and honorable performance of the trusts to be committed to their charge. With such aids, and an honest purpose to to whatever is right, I hope to execute diligently, npartially, and for the best interests of the country, he manifold duties devolved upon me. In the discharge of these duties, my guide will be the Constitution which I this day swear to "preserve, protect, and defend." For the interpretation of that ustrument I shall look to the decisions of the Judi ial Tribunals established by its authority, and to he practice of the Government under the earlier Presidents, who had so large a share in its formation. To the example of those illustrious Patriots I shall always defer with reverence; and especially to his example who was, by so many titles, "The Father of his Country."

To command the Army and Navy of the United States: with the advise and consent of the Senate to make Treaties and to appoint Ambassadors and other Officers; to give to Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend such measures as he shall judge to be necessary; and to take care that the laws shall be faithfully executed; these are the most important functions entrusted to the President by the Constitution; and it may be expected that I shall briefly indicate the principle which will control me in their execution. Chosen by the body of the People under the assurance that my administration would be devoted to the we fare of the whole country, and not to the apport of any particular section or merely local interest. I this day renew the declarations I have heretofore made, and proclaim my fixed determination to maintain, to the extent of my ability, the Government in its original purity, and to adopt as the basis of my public policy those great republican doc-trines which constitute the strength of our national

In reference to the Army and Navy, lately employed with so much distinction on active service, are shall be taken to ensure the highest condition military and naval schools, sustained by the liberality of Congress, shall receive the special attention of As American freeman, we cannot but sympathize in all efforts to extend the blessings of civil and political liberty; but, at the same time, we are warned by the admonitions of History and the voice of our own beloved Washington to abstain from entanging alliances with foreign nations. In all disputes etween conflicting Governments, it is our interest not less than our duty to remain strictly neutral; while our geographical position, the genius of our institutions and our people, the advancing spirit of civilization, and, above all, the dictates of religion, direct us to the cultivation of peaceful and friendly relations with all other Powers. It is to be hoped that no international question can now arise which a Government, confident in its own strength and resolved to protect its own just rights, may not settle by wise negotiation; and it eminently becomes a Government like our own, founded on the morality and intelligence of its citizens, and upheld by their affections, to exhaust every resort of honorable diplomacy before appealing to arms. In the conduct of our foreign relations I shall conform to these views, as I believe them essential to the best interests and the true honor of the country.

The appointing power vested in the President imses delicate and onerous duties. So far as it is possible to be informed, I shall make honesty, capaity, and fidelity indespensable pre-requisites to the bestowal of office, and the absence of either of these

It shall be my study to recommend such constitu tional measures to Congress as may be necessary and proper to secure encouragement and protection to the great interests of Agriculture, Commerce, and Manufactures; to improve our rivers and harbors; o provide for the speedy extinguishment of the pubic debt; to enforce a strict accountability on the part of all officers of the Government, and the utmost economy in all public expenditures. But it is for the wisdom of Congress itself, in which all legislative powers are vested by the Constitution, to regulate these and other matters of domestic policy. shall look with confidence to the enlightened patriotism of that body to adopt such measures of conciliation as may harmonize conflicting interests, and tend to perpetuate that Union which should be the paramount object of our hopes and affections. In any action calculated to promote an object so near the heart of every one who truly loves his country, I will zealously unite with the co-ordinate branches of the Government. In conclusion, I congratulate you, my fellow-citi-

zeus, ur un the high state of prosperity to which the goodness of Divine Providence has conducted our common country. Let us invoke a continuance, of the same Protecting Care which has led us from small beginnings to the eminence we this day occupy, and let us seek to deserve that continuance by prudence and moderation in our councils; by well directed attempts to assuage the bitterness which too often marks unavoidable differences of opinion; by the promulgation and practice of just and liberal principles; and by an enlarged patriotism which hall acknowledge no limits but those of our own wide spread Republican.

VICE PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL.

The Vice President elect on taking his seat as President of the Senate, on Monday last, delivered the following address: SENATORS :- Never having been honored with a seat on this floor, and never having acted as the presiding officer of any legislative body, you will not doubt my sincerity when I assure you that I assume the responsible duties of this chair with a conscious want of experience, and a just apprehension that I shall often need your friendly suggestions, and more often your indulgent forbearance.

I should indeed feel oppressed and disheartened. did I not recollect that the Senate is composed of eminent statesmen, equally distinguished for their high intellectual endowments and their amenity of manners -whose persuasi e eloquence is so happily tempered with habitual courtesy as to relieve your presiding officer from all that would be painful in the discharge of his duty, and render his position as agreeable as it must be instructive. Thus encouraged and sustained, I enter upon the duties assigned me, firmly resolved to discharge them with impartiality and to the best of my ability; but I should do injustice to the grateful emo.ions of my own heart, if I did not, on this occasion, express my warmest thanks for the distinguished honor that has been conferred upon me, in being called by the gratulate you upon the scene now passing before us. I allude to it in no partisan aspect, but as an everrecurring event contemplated by the Constitution .-Compare the peaceful changes of Chief Magistrates of this Republic with the recent sanguinary revolutions in Europe. There, the voice of the people has only been heard amid the din of arms and the horrors of domestic conflicts; but here, in our favored land, under the guidance of our Constitution, the resistless will of the nation has, from time to time, been peacefully expressed by the free suffrages of the People, and all have bowed in obedient submission to their decree. The Administration which but vesterday wielded the destinies of this great nation. to-day quietly yields up its power, and, without a murmur, retires from the Capitol. I congratulate you, Senators, and I congratulate my country, upon these oft-recurring and cheering evidences of our capacity for self-government. TO THE PEOPLE OF CLARKE AND WARREN COUNTIES.

FOR THE SPIRIT OF JEFFERSON. Mr. E. W. Massey, the present able representative of Clarke and Warren in the House of Delegates, it is hoped will be re-nominated and returned again to the Legislature. Mr. Massey is a good member and attends closely to his business, and no man stands higher as a member than he does, in a word he is a gentleman and so esteemed by all who knows him. The writer thinks that the two counties cannot better themselves by selecting any other gentleman, and moreover it is not a good plan to be changing every year, for it takes one session to get acquainted with the rules of the House and the members of the Legislature, which is a very important matter in legislation. The people of Warren and Clarke cannot find a man that will attend more strictly to their interests and command more respect than Mr. Massey; therefore it is to be hoped that Mr. Massey will be re-nominated by the people of Warren, and there is no doubt his nomination will be sustained by the people of Clarke. A DEMOCRAT.

To the Stockholders of the Berryville and Charlestown Turnpike Company.

The time has come when every Stockholder in this Company should be looking to his interest in the location of said road and for other purposes; the writer proposes that the road should be located as near the centre of the money subscribed as the nature of the ground will admit of, or any where that a majority of the stock may be in fa-vor of. The Report has been sent on to the Board of Public Works for the purpose of having two State directors appointed as he understands, and if the stockholders stand still and do not interfere in the location of this road, the road, as I have understood, will be located west of Mr. David H. Allen's and west of Mr. William Turner's barn; which will be wrong and contrary to the interest of the Stockholders, as the writer thinks. It is requested that the Stockholders meet at Mr. Barney Ott's shop, on Saturday the 17th instant either ip person or by proxy for the special pur-pose of having a full expression as to the location of the road, and have it so stated in the proxies by all who give them. The writer selects Mr. Barney Ott's as the place of meeting because it is as near the centre between Berryville and Charlestown as is necessary and more convenient to the stockholders generally.

rejected. The bill incorporating the Winchester and Harpers-Ferry Telegraph Company, passed the House on Saturday. The bill concerning the Charlestown and Berry. ville Turnpike Company, the provisions of which we have not seen, but presume them to be an extension of time, passed by a vote of 44 to 29.

A bill was also passed, changing the name of the Striderian Manufacturing Company. The bill subscribing, on the past of the State to the stock of the Lynchburg and Tennessee Railroad. passed the House on Friday, by a tote of 76 to 54. On Thursday, Mr. Thomson presented a petition of citizens of Jefferson, asking for an appropriation for the construction of a Bridge over the Potomae River, at Shepherdstown. In the Senate, on Monday, the resolution for the appointment of a committee to receive Mr. Polk on Tuesday, was adopted, and the following committee appointed: Messrs. Averett Carlile and Tyler. In the House, a large number of private bills were read the third time and passed.

GENERAL SHIELDS.

Gen. Shields, the newly elected Senator from Illinois, took his seat in the Senate on Tuesday, and after some discussion relative to his eligibility, was sworn in. After which, Mr. Walker's resolution to refer the question of Gen. Shields' eligibility to the judiciary committee, was taken up, and modified, at the suggestion of Mr. Butler, so as to provide that the reference shall be to a select committee. and then, after some remarks from Mr. Hamlin, in favor of the reference to the judiciary committee as the proper one in such cases, the resolution as amended was adopted. On motion of Mr. Webster, it was resolved that the select committee shall consist of five members to be chosen when the select committees shall be chosen on Wednesday.

LAND FOR SALE.

OFFER sale, one undivided fourth part of that valuable Estate, known as the "PIEDMONT FARM," lying near Charlestown, Jefferson county, Va., and late the property of Dr. John Briscoe, de-

This land is eligibly situated, on the Winchester and Potomac Railroad, and the Smithfield and Harpers Ferry Turnpike, thus having the best advantages of access to market. The interest to be disposed of will be, when divided, a fee simple in $1 acres of this land, and a reversion in $7 acres, Dower Land. The purchaser, when the Dower right expires will be entitled to one-fourth part of the MANSION HOUSE, one of the largest and finest in the county, as also of the other houses and curtilage.

The S1 acres in fee, would suit any one desiring a small farm near the town, and can be laid off, (commissioners having been appointed by the Court for that purpose.) so as to give a supply of wood and water. The soil is of the best quality. The pur-chaser would hold a position as to the Dower part, that hereafter paight prove advantageous. Terms made known by application in person or by letter, to the subscriber, near Charlestown, Jefferson County, Va. JAMES L. RANSON. March 1, 1849. N. B. If the above property is not sold privately before, it will be offered to the highest bidder in front of the Court House door of Jefferson County, on the 19th day of March. (Court day.) J. L. R.

Freeman Ross, an omnibus driver, was requested to convey a fowling piece to the city. On taking charge of the gun, he inquired if at was loaded, at the same time snapping the lock, holding the gun in a direction to do no harm had it "gone off." He then placed the breech of the gun on the ground, his mouth covering the muzzle, and with his foot opened the hammer-cap covering the pan. As he blowed into the muzzle, his foot slipped, and the gun "went off!" His brains were "blown out," and his headless body was placed on a bench! All this was done, as we might say, in the twinkling of an eye.

EARLY MARRIAGE -A "lady" only ten years old was married at Panama, Jan. 12 .-Females mature in that meridian faster than in any other region. At 8 or 9, young ladies are of sufficient growth to carry on quite serious firtations.

There is a woman in Hull, who fancies she has a rat in her mouth. It has been suggested by some cute 'un, that if she can't swallow a trap, she had better hang a piece of cheese in her mouth, and when the varmint comes up to nibble at it, shut her jaws together, suddenly, and 'fix' him. PURIFICATION. It is a settled creed in all correct medical jurisrudence, that unless the blood is kept free from imtrities, the whole system must inevitably become iseased. When the blood becomes clogged, thick, and moves through the veins and arteries with a sluggish motion, we may rest assured that sickness. with its concomitant train of evils, is about to ensue. The utmost care and greatest precaution are therefore necessary, and the system should be closely watched. Those who generally provide themselves with mild and aperient physic, should give a preference to such as are of a strictly vegetable nature. Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills appear to be the universal favorite, as they are com posed entirely of Vegetables and co-operate so effectually—cleansing the system—purifying the blood and removing all undue biliary secretions.

Harpers-Ferry, May 11, 1818 v Another Miraculous Cure. READ the following letter, and then, if you are troubled with any disease of the lungs, go and get a bottle of DR. HASTINGS' COMPOUND SYRUP or NAPTHA. ST. JOHNSVILLE, New York, Feb. 5, 1848; Mr. Harrison: Sir—I will trouble your patience a few minutes by informing you of the great trianaph which your iver the Syrup has obtained in the case of my brother. He increased the dose as you directed, and the result was that he began to raise very freely, and it scented so badly that it was impossible to star in the room where he was, on the fifth day after the liin the room where he was, on the fifth day after the ficerase of the dose. In a day or so after, he began to get better, and at this present time is quite revived, has a good appetite, and don't cough a charter as much as he did previously. A severe cough and immense expectoration were the prominent symptoms of the disease. I think his case was a singular one: none of the physicians here had ever heard or seen anything of the kind hefore. I mention all these particulars, as I am firm in the belief that, had it not been for the Namba firm in the belief that, had it not been for the Naptha Syrup, he could have expected nothing but a speedy, grave, as there was an immense number of tubercles, formed on his lungs, which the medicine took immediate hold of, and in a few days he threw them up by the quantity, some of them were as large as a bean. It he improves as fast as he has done, I do not think the he will need any more than the six bottles I now send for. Enclosed are five dollars. Direct the box as before to Jonas Snell. Care of Charles Kingsland, Railroad. to Jonas Snell. Care of Charles Kingsland, Railroad Depot. Yours respectfully, JONAS SNELL.

After reading the above, who can doubt that Hastings' Naptha Syrup possesses all the virtue that is chaimed for it.
