WHAT IS WOMAN!

What is woman? Man's sweet angel! Gentle, tender, calm, and kind-Ever loving, ever faithful, Is her soft and southing mind; A heanteous flower, born to blossom Giving gladness to the eye; Half designed for man's fond bosom,

Half a creature of the sky! What is woman? Ask her sorrow, Know how deeply she can feel, But when hope her heart would borrow, Mark what joy she can reveal;

O'er her cheek each pure emotion Of her soul is seen to fly, As fair clouds with chaste devotion Fleet o'er Luna's face on high. What is woman? All forbearing, Patient, prudent, seeming gay-

All unspoken, life away. Thus she is a flower's sweet blossom Giving gladness to the eye; Half designed for man's fond bosom, Half a creature of the sky!

Though sad inward, thoughts are wearing,

HOME AND FRIENDS. Oh, there's a power to make each hour As sweet as heaven designed it; Nor need we roam to bring it home, Though few there be who find it! We seek too high for things close by, And lose what nature found us;

For tife has here no charms so dear As Home and Friends around us! We oft destroy the present joy For future hopes-and praise them; Whilst flowers as sweet bloom at our feet, If we'd but stoop to raise them! For things afar still sweeter are,

When youth's bright spell hath bound us; But soon we're taught that earth has naught Like Home and Friends around us! The Friends that speed in time of need, When Hope's last reed is shaken,

To shew us still that, come what will, We are not quite forsaken: Though all were night-if but the light From Friendship's altar crowned us, "Twould prove the bliss of earth was this-Our Home and Friends around us!

YOUNG MAN, STOP!

mouth, and with an appetite for a mint julep, stop a moment. Are you not in a dangerous way? Will those places, or your habits, lead you to respectability or usefulness in society? Will you, by them, become more moral, more virtuous, or intelligent? If not, stop where you are, we beseech of you. You have nobleness of heart, perhaps, and a generous disposition. You may do good to those about you, if you will. Your example, if it be such as will lead to virtue, will draw others after you; or if it leads to vice or error, will also, and the more readily,

Then, young man, stop and think upon your course! Where is it tending! If to bad habits and low associations, stop instantly. Stand firm. Take not another step in the dangerous way, but turn back while you have the power, and seek the way of virtue, the ways of intelligence, and you may do quaintance.

THE GRAVE OF COL. AARON BURR.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 28, 1849.

But a few moments have elapsed since we were standing in the Princeton Cemetery. gazing on the grave of Col. Aaron Burr -The last resting place of this distinguished man impressed us with the truth that men | short every thing, is the order of the day .-impart their own character and their own | The prosy old fellows, who used to control immortality to spots of earth. There are | with slow and measured tread and set phrase, few places of no more geographical extent, and caution in thought, speech and action, which call up so many recollections, so many associations, so many reflections. We know that a sanctity, which nothing can destroy or justly profane, invests those places which have been charged with the ashes of the to hear of a long courtship—the time is gone | we find in the Boston Journal, may not be useless : great and good. But greatness and goodness have not always been united in those and sometimes less, is all that is required men whose names cannot know oblivion, and now. The great desire appears to be to whose influence can never cease to be felt - economise time, which is money. The deeds of the wicked are as imperishable as the deeds of the righteous. A mysterious influence, as strong as that which binds us to the sepulchres of the benefactors of mankind, often attracts us to the graves of the greatest enemies of civil society. The influence however is not the same in the two cases. It is only similar in strength. We remember with delight the seasons whose coming has filled the earth with plenty; and in pickle all their lives. These women althe principles whose development has built up happy communities. But we treasure in Now it cannot be supposed that husbands our memories, with scarce less interest, the will be tender and good, managed in this ravages of pestilence, the ruins of tornadoes, | way. But they are, on the contrary, quite and the terrors of revolutions. It is an in-terest of this latter kind which draws us to the grave of Burr, a place not soon to be forgotten. Men of far distant times will visit it, and moralize upon the fate of him who enchants it. It will be known and frequented when the mansoleums of good men have crumbled to dust and their places are known no more. We envy not the man who can unmoved gaze on the grave of Col. Burr. It is one of the most sad and desolate places that we have ever seen. There is no monumental pile or sculptured marble standing over it, to evince the respect or affliction of a single living soul. Not even a rough unhewn stone marks the head or foot of him who once held such sway over the minds and feelings of men. Wild grass and poisonous weeds form the sod that partly covers him. The rest of the surface of the grave is sterile clay yielding no verdant plant or shrub .--The stranger treads upon the spot and re-over the grave of Burr. How changed the scene when from this unmarked spot we turn to the sleeping place of the father of Burr. Over it there is no towering monument, but there is a massive tomb stone on which are chisseled the deeds of the ther for her nursling, ascends the prayer for mercy on his enemies. "Father, forgive them." Oh, it was worthy of its orgin, and them." Oh, it was worthy of its orgin, and them." stamps with the brightest seal of truth that is the tomb of Jonathan Edwards. "Secundus nemini mortalium" is written on it, and no one conversant with the life and differed? He reflects upon him as a volunteer in the American revolution, and a soldier in the celebrated expedition of Arnold to Quebec; as an aid to Gen. Putnam, and a conferee of the title of Lieuterant Colonel. He follows him to the study of the law, and admittance to the Albany bar in 1782; to the Senate in 1791, and to the second place in the high gift of the American people in 1801. He beholds him-the destroyer of Hamilton; the miserable litigant at the New York bar; the reveller in intolerable licentiousness; the intended establisher of an empire beyond to be the emperor, and the Crescent City the great capital. He sees him arraigned before the tribunal of his country, and acquitted for want of that overt proof, which his cwn far stretched cunning had enveloped in impenetrable clouds. And, finally, he 1836 he closed his miserable career, to the cemetery at Princeton, to be interred with the honors of war, and to moulder in a grave upon which the curses of injured virtue and the rewards of vicious ambition are

BURNING OF WASHINGTON.

The London Times gives the modern and present day version of the burning of Washington (in the year 1814) in connexion with the recent violences in Canada:

"Under ordinary circumstances, it is impossible to guard against a surprise. We remember another House of Assembly in North America, situated fifty miles inland, in the heart of twenty States and ten millions of men. One fine day a handful of men, about as large as the Montreal mob, sailed up a bay, landed, marched through some woods, fought a smart action, walked up to a city, passed a quiet night, and the next day burnt or blew up all the buildings good in your day and generation, and may of the capital; marched back as merrily as be esteemed by those who enjoy your act they came, got to their ships, and sailed further where they fared worse. It was all a Clerk, the Union pathetically and indignantly mere piece of mischief, unworthy the name asks, "How long will an outraged people of wir, doing nothing but exasperate the people and widen the breach, and proving nothal. The place consecrated on parental love ing but that it was impossible for us to hold by the innocence and sports of childhood, is a single inland position in the enemy's country for more than twenty-four hours."

MODERN LITERATURE.

Few men, now, think before they write. The consequence is, that a great portion of our modern literature is of the very flimsiest description-vivid, sometimes, and not without sparkles of genuine humor-but so ill lessness of the "Free Soilers," Messrs. A CORRECT IDEA OF LIBERTY.

Men are qualified for civil liberty in exact upon their own appetites; in proportion as | partment alone, and again ask for the protheir love of justice is above their rapacity; in proportion as they are more disposed to from one of the Locofoco presses. BLOODY IMAGES.

The Locofoco editors all over the country are in extreme agony about Proscription. and are laboring most assiduously to work their readers up to a similar state of horrible contemplation. The Baltimore Patriot thinks, from the patience with which the people "submitted" for twenty years, it will not be very easy to " raise their dander" now, upon such rhapsodical calls as the Union is making. If the latter paper could but refer us to a single instance of its condemnation of the "infamous system" while its own party was in power, we should have some faith in the sincerity of its abhorrence of the practice If (says the Patriot) the men and the party which the Union supports, ever get back into power, the system will be, we may be sure, renewed in all its original vigor. As a sort of stimulus for them to exert themselves to bring about that, for the country, most unfortunate result, perhaps the following memorial, which we find in the Boster Journal, may not be useless:

"If we go back to the first year of Gee. Jackson's of the incumbents of public offices were avowedly of

Attorneys; Forty-eight Collectors and principal Revenue officers; Nine Indian Agents and Navy Agents; Twenty-six Receivers & Registers of Land Offices; Twenty-one Consuls for foreign ports;

Four bundred and ninety-one Postmasters. Besides these direct removals from office by the Executive there was a host of removals of such persons as held office by secondary appointments, such as clerks, inspectors, &c. in the custom house, whom we have no means of numbering. In the custom house at Boston alone, out of fifty-eight persons employed in different espacities, forty were removed! In all, there were removed from office, of all grades of civil officers, within the first year of the Jackson Administration, more than two thousand men." .

But the Richmond Enquirer, edited by the sons of the veteran grumbler, is even more indignant than the Union. It draws a regular charcoal picture of guillotines, meat axes, and tomb-stones. After describing the ruth-

EDITING A PAPER.

NO. 23.

The majority of readers seem to think that nothing can be more easy or pleasant than to edit a paper; but of all the different employments by which men make their bread and butter, there is none, we believe, that so taxes the mind, temper and flesh, as that of editing a paper. There is none that requires a nicer tact, a sounder judgment, a nore constant application, a quicker wit, or a kinder heart. A churlish temper could never succeed as an editor; nor a narrow-minded man, nor an ignorant one, nor a hasty one, nor an unforgiving one. An edito: must of necessity turn himself inside out to the public; he cannot be a hypocrite any more than a man can be a hypocrite to his wife. He must expose him-self in all that he does, as much in selecting the thoughts of others, as in publishing his own, and the better way for him in the outset is to begin frankly, to save himself from after contradictions and mortifications --Whoever succeeds tolerably well as an editor, is something more than an ordinary man, let his cotemporaries say or think of him as they will - Holden's Magazine.

CURIOUS PARTICULARS IN RELATION TO MAR-RIAGE. - The intervention of a priest or rather ecclesiastical functionary was not deemed indispensable to a marriage, until the Council of Trent in 1409. The celebrated decree passed in that session, interdicted any marriage otherwise than in the presence of the priest and of at least two witnesses. But before the time of Pope Innocent III, 1118, there was no solemnization of marriage in the church, but the bridegroom came to the bride's house, and led her home to his own, which was all the ceremony then used. Bans were first directed to be published by Canon. Walterin in the year 1300.

Woman's Part .- "It is the part of a woman, like her own beautiful planet, to cheer the dawn and the darkness, to be both the morning and the evening star of a man's life. The light of her eye is the first to rise and the last to set upon manhood's day of trial and suffering."

IF Seventy years ago, Mrs. Washington knit stockings for the General; now there are not fifty la lies in this town who can play that part, and hundreds know not how the apple gets into the dumpling.

THE FARMER.

WORK FOR JUNE. BROADCAST CORN -- Now, as we are talkputting in an acre or so or corn, sown grows, east, to supply the deficiency of your pastures in August and September. MILLET.—If your resource for hay is limited, or if it should be the case that you raise no good hay grass, put in a few acres of millet, and you will be sure to supply a most excellent hay for your horses, and plenty of it, provided you manure and preour last month's work, to which we now respectfully refer you. CUTTING AND CURING CLOVER HAY .- Clover should be cut as soon as it comes into blossom; and after laying in the swarth until it wilts, it should be put into eocks, to complete the curing. In stacking it away, a peck of salt should be sprinkled over each ton of hay, as it is being formed into stack. If thus cured, and this precaution of salting be observed, the hay will be greener, more fragrant and less liable to lose its leaves on being subsequently handled, in being fed out to the stock, and withal, will be much more grateful to their palates. If the further former and straw with the clover hay, the latter, and be asibe the fragrance of the tritious, to the cattle as their not as nuself. This might occasion a little extrtrouble, but when one is securing a winter supply of provender for his stock, that consideration should not be permitted to weigh a grain in the balance; for, independent of

to the careful husbandman who may encounter this additional trouble, that higher and more ennobling sentiment, arising from the humanity of the thing, shouldpand will,

more than compensate him, as there is nothing

the pecuniary benefit which is sure to enuro ;

which brings a richer reward to the virtuous breast than the consciousness of its possessor having performed his whole duty. HARVESTING .- As harvesting will take place in a large area of country in which our paper circulates before its next appearance, we seize the opportunity to affer a few words of advice. Let the wheat be cut before it is dead ripe—cut it at that juncture of time when the stalk, for one or two inches just below the head, has turned yellow and becomes brittle. Provide ample force, so that you may get your crop down in good time. Provide a good supply of tools and implements, and see that they are kept in the best possible order. Provide good fare for your hands; treat them kindly, but be sure to superintend their labors yourself and see that they faithfully do their duty. After your crop is cut down, see that it is so eared for as to be placed in a condition to receive no injury from the effects of rain, and, when sufficiently dry for the purpose, that it he either housed or stacked as that the rain cannot harm it. The value of many a good crop of grain has been seriously lessened by the slovenly manner in which it was managed after it was cut down. The proprietor, however, may obviate such consequences by personally attending to his own interests, and exacting justice from his hands. No man should do any thing through an agent which he can do of himself; no eyes exert so wholesome an influence over the labor of an estate as those of the owner.

WINTER TURNIPS.-Have you selected your ground for your winter turnip pate;? If you have, plough it up at once, and if possible, subsoil it; that done, harrow and roll it, and let it lay until about the 20th of July; then haul on your manure; plough it in; harrow and cross harrow it. On or about the 25th of July, sow your turnip seed; spread over it, per acre, 20 bushels of ashes, and 10 bushels of lime; lightly harrow in the seed, and roll your ground. You may rest assured that by giving your turnip ground two ploughings and one subsoiling, you will greatly increase the crop; and upon this you may rely, that 20 bushels of bones, 10 bushels of ashes, and 1 bushel of plaster, will give you just as large a yield as would 20 double horse cart loads of stable or barn yard manure. If you have not manure on hand, go to work at once, and procure it - American Fagence.

THE NEW JUSTICES.

We give below the voting for new Justices, at the June Term. The necessity for an addition to the Bench was apparent from the fact that several of the old Justices are now totally unable to attend to business. Two of the Town Justices are absent, and one altogether too feeble for service. The propricty of having at least fine active magistrates in or Bear Charlestown, is demonstrated at every term of the Court, it being frequently difficult to get a Country Justices Norg .- Democrats in italic -- Whigs in Roman. Mesors, Eaty and Beckham went upon the Bench after the voting had commenced.

We understand, from one of the Justices on the Bench, whose word is never doubted by the bitterest political opponent, that the following is the true state of the case. It was determined to recommend twelve new Justices. From the Shepherdstown neighborhood, a list was handed in of gentlemen to whom none but a captious person, looking out for some other reason than fitness, could well object - a list of the Virginians alone, which shows the folnamely, John H. McEndree, John F. Hamtramck, and Wm. G. Butler. No other names were presented from that precinct. The name of Charles H. Lewis was handed in for the Southern portion of the Charlestown precinct.

A Justice on the Bench put down the names of Richard Timberlake and Adam S. Dandridge for the Smithfield precinct -another put in the names of J. F. Smith and H. G. Maslin.

For the Charlestown precinct, a member handed in the names of Wells J. Hawks, William S. Lock and Samuel Ridenour-another added the names of George B. Beall and James Wysong for the same precinct. For the Harpers-Ferry precinct, the names of William Giddings, Isaac Henkle, and Robert H. Hoffman, were given in-and also, the names of George Mauzy, John H. Strider and Robert Russell Our informant assures us that politics were not even hinted at; and that political feeling did not control, is evident from the fact that one of the Democrats left out Hawks and voted for Wysong, and a Whig voted for Hawks and not for Wysong. One of the Whigs voted for Beall and Wysong, the petition of 1848 from the Smithfield precinct could have been chosen. That petition, we learn. was handed to one of the Justices in June, a year ago. It was presented to the June Court of that year, and an order was asked to summon the Justices to make a nomination at July Court. The order was not made, and the petition was returned fore the Court, as many of the members assure us. but if it were, nobody will pretend to say that the two water power. Yet, we forget another ingredienttaken for the Smithfield precinct are not as compe-

They dewas not owing to his politics, but to his being in a serve not merely encouragement, but independence, erowd of nominees. Defeat in such a case often in all that constitutes such a commodity in this happens to gentlemen against whom there is not the slightest objection.

The article of "One of the Court," answers fully some points that we may have omitted.

Whether the nominations made shall be confirm--of any of them. Our only aim is to do justice will fall generally assigned to him.

THE NEW MAGISTRATES.

The answer of the Free Press on our strictures to the appointment of new Justices, by the County Court, abounds in assertion, but fails in proof. As to the Smithfield petition, that is answered conclurively by a correspondent from that part of the

The ballotings of the Court are par ded with a flourish of tru npets, and what does it prove? For Wing appointments, fifth-two more votes were cast, than for Democrats!-Spirit.

The reverse of the above is the truth. The Spi-Tit asserted last week that "at the Smithfield Precinct, largely Democratic, a petition was presented recommending the appointment of three Whigs and true Democrats," &c. We denied the "assertion," as we again do, and repeat that it is not a fact-the "assertion" of Plebeian." the Spirit's correspondent, to the contrary netwithstanding. No such petition, -we repeat, was before the Court at its last session.

Wes, "the ballotings of the Court are paraded," anot "with a flourish of trumpets," but with a view no vindicate (ruth against "assertion."

The pallotings will show that Whigs voted for Democrats, while Democrats voted for Whigs .-And had "political" considerations actuated the ·Court, Mr. Geo. B. Beall, Democrat, would have re--ceived the nomination, provided Messrs. Jacob Morgan and James Grantham, who are both known to be staupeh Democrats, had voted for him.

We advise the Justices, at their next Court, to pass an order, summoning all the Justices of the Courty to appear at August Court, and then recomgrend to the Governor of Virginia, our cotemporary of the Spirit, together with his "Plebeian" correspendent, who is extremely desirous of serving the public for nothing. These appointments would doubtless give great satisfaction to the community, much as they are not "cousins, brothers, nephews and sons in-law," -and we might add, micks, grandfathers and grandmammas, to any of the present Justices of Jefferson county. The County Court would then have at least two honest justices, who would seem "to make a man's political sentiments a disquestification for an office." And after the passing away of the present corrupt Justices, (according to the Spirit's ideas,) we should there have justice dispensed in its purity, according to the most approved standard of Locofoccism.

THE LEGISLATURE.

We find it hand to keep up with the details of proecesings the last week. All we know is, that the first branch of the Civil Code has been sent to the Senate, and that body has restored the provision giving the casting vote to the Sheriff in case of a de, an ithet also providing for a three day's election in curtain enses. The subject of the Inspection laws occupied much time, but they have not been materially aftered. . The dony and pay of Commissioners of the Revente haz also been defined; and on Mr. Worthington's aption the Commissioner for Jefferson is to receive a consensation of $250.

CONSISTENCY.

"Plebeian," the correspondent of the Spirit, is dreadfully disgruntied at the Court recommending gentlemen who happen perhaps, to be 42d consins to some member composing the Court of Jefferson; and he is scolding because a petition, presented ticdee months ago, making nominations, (and which was not before the last Court,) was not attended to-the said petition recommending two individuals who were brothers-in-law, and one of them a nephew of one of the present justices, while the other is among the number already recommended ench. If a man is to be disqualified, because he appens to be connected, remotely or otherwise, with sime respectable man already on the seat, we think it probable some of the best men in the County would be ruled out. Even if the Smithfield petition of '48 had been regarded, there would have been two brothers-in-law, in the new list, and a nephew should have had no tracing out of genealogies.

"PLEBEIAN" would not like other people to think as humbly of him, as he affects to do of himself. He would not be gratified if set down among the "vulgar." He is evidently one of the "Bloods." and his chagrin doubtless arises from the fact that the Court did not vote for one of his cousins or brothers-in-law, or perhaps for himself.

"PROSCRIPTION."

We are moved to compassion, says the Rocheste American, by human misery in all its forms, and have bowels for even the howlings of Locofocuism in distress. Our brethren of that ilk have had their noses in the Treasury crib so long that they feel any attempt to dislodge them as a grievous cruelty, if not a great injustice. True, they hold to "proscription" themselves and practice it vigorously, but it is an invention for which they claim exclusive letters patent. When a Whig administration commends to their lips the chalice of which they have so long compelled others to drink, their writhings are piteous indeed.

THE SPOILS.

The Locofoco prints have been putting forth false statements in regard to Whig proscription, and asserting that a majority of Whigs are still in office. We have heretorore asserted, and can repeat with confidence, that the proportion in the Departments at Washington on the 4th of March was 660 Democrats to 160 Whigs. The Richmond Whig gives

WADE'S DEPOT.

The people of Clarke county, and the Opequon neighborhood, are fortunate in having such an establishment as that of R. M. & J. G. Wade at their command. It is not simply as a Depot for Flour declaring in his usual frank manner that we will be shops are prepared for turning, and for almost every kind of mechanical labor.

THE RAIL ROAD.

Every thing thus far indicates a prosperous year's business for the Winchester and Potomac Rail Road Company. The enterprising President, who bore up unfalteringly under the gloomiest fortunes of the Company, believes the gross income of the Company, the present year, will not be short of $90,000 .-He expects not only to pay the State's annuity of $5,000, on the 1st August, but to be able to make a dividend of six per cent, to the stockholders. Another illustration, that the maxim, " Nil Desperandum " is one to be cherished. A few years since, every body was willing, except one or two sanguine men, to let the Road go down. Every body is now loud in its praise, as the very thing indispensable to

THE BRAG FIELD.

We are sorry to see that the late storms of wind and rain have beaten down the fine field of wheat near town, seeded by Mr. Uriah Rutherford, (which we noticed last week) on Mrs Ramson's farm. STORMS.

We had on Saturday evening a beavy rain, and on Sunday two very heavy showers, accompanied with violent wind, which did considerable damage to the Wheat crop by prostrating and tangling it .-Many trees were thrown down, and some demage done to fences. This will in some degree blight the prospects of the farmers in our neighborhood. Indeed, we fear that thousands of dollars have been lost Wherever the storm touched, the damage, in prostrated grain and the loss of time in gathering, will be equal to $2 per acre.

Not long since, a widow Lady came to our office and requested a paper to be sent to her address, re-marking that she had several sons, for whose benefit she became a subscriber. It may be very natural for printers to commend such a spirit, but, after all, there is more wisdom in the widow's reasoning than might at first appear, or than she might be able to elaborate. An advertisement, even, cannot be read in a newspaper, without suggesting a useful train of reflections. Take for example, one of the many commencing, "Strayed or stolen from the subscriber," &c. Here is either carelessness on the part of the owner of the property, or villiany on the part of one who wishes to own what does not belong to him-misfortune on one side, crime on the It might be a difficult task to vote for any man in other. Besides many wholesome thoughts from such the county who is not akin to some body on the a fact, increased vigilance and care are the natural consequences. The stable doors and pasture fences for a time at least, claim closer attention and a sharper look out. Take another example: "By virtue of a Deed of Trust executed to the subscriber by A B, I will proceed to sell a tract or parcel of land," &c., &c .-The young reader of the newspaper begins to inquire, What is a deed of Trust? Then, why did the poor man give one-then, he dwells upon the in law of one of the old batch. In that case, we misery of the unfortunate debtor, and thinks to himself, it is a bad thing to go in debt, and sticks a pin there. Presently an obituary notice arrests his attention. Some youth just blooming into life is stricken by disease and like the flower touched by the untimely frost withers and dies. Here is a sermon preached to him while he awaits his feeding horse. Such sermons, in the retirement of country life, under the shade of some tree in a corn-field, do good. But, then, newspapers instruct in a knowledge of human rights. The rising generation should know their rights by heart. It fosters the spirit of liberty. History affords no instance of any people, who achieved so much, with such small means, as the people of this country in our revolutionary struggle; and none ever knew their rights better. This it was which insured fortitude under privations and suffering, and at the same time, courage on the battle field. Teach your children to read-give them a Bible-go with them to Church-procure for them a newspaper-we do not say ours, but a newspaper, and our word for it, they will prove worthy sons of

> The conduct of the widow has furnished this theme-her example and our remarks, we trust, may not be altogether useless .- Staunton Spectator. An instance, somewhat similar, we can state in this county. A lady, near Harpers-Ferry, sent her son to our agent, requesting him to have the Free Press forwarded to her-at the same time stating that she would pay for it. These things are characteristic of the sex. There is scarcely a newspaper published which is not indebted to the females for the larger portion of its patronage. Whilst the men rely, in part, for eatching the news at taverns and stores, the females desire to have the paper in the family circle. Show us an intelligent wife or daughter, and we feel sure to find the newspaper in the family, no matter now ignorant the man may be:

Besides, we may confidently assert that there is not a great man in the Union, who will not, in his candid moments, acknowledge himself indebted, in a great degree, to the newspapers, for not only his notoriety, but for the substantial part of his information. We have never yet seen the man, great or small, who was not gratified to see his name in

OLD TIMES IN LOUDOUN.

Eighty-two years ago, viz: at June Court, 1767, (says the Loudoun Whig.) the following was entered upon the Minutes of Loudoun County Court: On Presentment for a Baseborn Child

"The said Jane, being legally summoned, was solemnly called and came into Court, and being asked how of the offence above to her imposed she would acquit herself, says that she is thereof guilty, and submits herself to the grace and mercy of the Court. It is therefore considered, that the said Jane, for her offence aforesaid, be fined fifty shillings, or five hundred pounds of tobacco, to the use of the Parish of Cameron But the said, Landfordered, that the sheriff take her to the public whipping post, and the said the sa and there give her, on the bare back, twenty-five lashes well laid on, and that she be then discharged. (Orders signed.) JAMES HAMILTON."

There would have been much more humanity in giving the father of the child a cool fifty-and if we could have our way now, we should give each of the Justices a hundred. But we suppose by this time they have been sufficiently scourged for their want of feeling towards a "frail one."

I ne ancient name of Leesburg may be learned frem the following extract from the Minutes of the same Court at a still more remote period, viz: November Term, 1757-92 years ago: "The petition of the inhabitants of Georgetown

The McConnelsville (O.) Herald says that a call vas taken from the cow of Mr. E. H, Torbert-the kin of which has been preserved and properly offed, giving its natural position. Every part of is fully grown, symmetrical and duly proportiond, showing the perfection of nature's work. It has ut one head and the usual appendages perfectly ormed, and two bodies. To these are attached ght legs and feet, two tails, and other marks of two ull grown calves. There were two spines connectin one socket at the back of the head. There was one windpipe and stomach, the latter having a filled either by his own children, or those of antwo intestinal canals, two livers and the other entrails complete for two calves. The fore legs are so placed that when the calf would be standing naturally upon the two outer ones, the other or inner ones would be in an erect position. MESSAS. EDITORS: I ask permission to occup a space in your columns with some remarks upon the "most remarkable" of the "doings" of the last County Court of Jefferson, "the appointment of a new oatch of magistrates," or, perhaps, more properly speaking, the appointment of a batch of new magistrates. I am known to you, gentlemen, and to the Spirit of Jefferson, as a liberal Whig, never proscribing for party's sake, but on the contrary, quently supporting by my vote those of a different political faith, for reasons which are good and suffcient with myself, and which I suffer neither Whig nor Democrat to question. The procedure of the Court on the last court-day was in obedience to law, done time after time since Virginia became a State, and in this instance, demanded by the people in order to have the public business attended to without the inconvenience and delay so much complained of for a long time pas-But the great vexation with the Spirit and its wis oracles is, that there were nine Whigs and three Democrats chosen and recommended for commission. Such is the fact; and as for the fact that there is a striking inequality in the comparative numbe of Whigs and Democrats in the magistracy, no one could desire a more equal division than I; yet tha there is a difference between a fact and the procedure by which it becomes a fact, is very certain .-This enlargement of the commission of the Peace was made fairly, justly, and without any politica influence or bias. No allusion was made by any gentleman on the bench to the political sentiment of any one of the individuals named for appointment the only question raised being as to location and the public convenience, except in a single instance, in which recent citizenship was presented by a Whig as an objection against a Whig. I can tell the Spi rit that all the Democrats nominated except one were nominated by Whigs; that Whigs voted fo the Democratic nominees, and that the Democrats on the bench, for reasons best known to themselves, and which no one has a right to inquire into, did not vote for all the Democrats nominated. If the Court, as a body of Whigs, were inclined and determined, as is charged to appoint solely on politica preference, why did they not appoint all Whigs which, having largely the majority, they could have one; and if party feeling guided the vote, why dithe Democrats vote for the Whigs at all? The Sp. rit does not speak the truth, in saying that a petition from Smithfield precinct, numerously signed, and recommending three Whigs and two Democra's, was presented. No such petition was exhibited the Court. The name of Mr. Opie was not suggest ed, as alleged, by any member of the Court. Democrat at Harpers-Ferry, alluded to by the Spi it, was voted for by several Whigs, and preferred by them, while with respect to the rejected Demo erat named for Charlestown, it will be seen that h was nominated by a Whig and voted for by severa Whigs, the only suggestion made with regard t him, being that which was also made with respecto a certain Whig, namely, that magistrates were vanted only in the town, just at the County seat whose services could be commanded at a moment totice, there having been for a long time a complaint that the commission was too small for th arge amount of business daily done at that point, The rejection, I do positively assert was not mad ipon political grounds, and if he had been voted for y att the Democrats, he would have been chosen .-Will the gentlemen, whose sensitive nerves hav been so severely shocked, examine the vote given and then say that the Court of Monday week, mad 'a man's political sentiments a disqualification to office." I think not. Two Democrats, who say proper in the exercise of a personal right to vote for Whigs in preference to Democrats, I have hear denounced as recreant to their party, unworthy th name of Democrat, Then, gentleman Democrats ted and voted for Democrats, as recreant to their party, unworthy the name of Whig. The write entertains a notion that some of these sensitive ones must have been disappointed aspirants and ex-pectants of the office, or perhaps they would not have been so easily disturbed. Any one of these gentlemen can have my place on the bench at an moment, with all the honor, and glory, and profit of ived from the post of attending to other people usiness, while you had better be attending to vo own, with the pleasing prospect of reaching the Sheriffalty after you have gone to the tomb. That the Spirit has been grossly misinformed, or has most wilfully falsified for party effect, may be readily seen from the role cast on Manual Democrat from Charlestown, got 8 out of 12 Whis votes, and I out of 3 Democratic votes cast-and the rejected Democrat at Harpers-Ferry, 1 Whi and 1 Democratic vote. ONE OF THE COURT. P. S. Plebeian attempts to explain away the false hood charged with respect to the petition from Smithfield by supposing the one or two out of five justices from that precinct served it as Gen. Jackson did a certain bill once on a time. Well, this may le so or may not. Let those who know, say. But Mr. Plebeian and the Spirit should ascertain facts more closely and certainly before they charge the mary with an act of one or two, and as being done on one particular day, which it comes out at last was a omething or other done some time or other, no body knows exactly when. I cannot make out the genealogy and connexion traced out in the vete cast by No. 2. Who is No. 2's connexion? No. 2 is not aware that he has any male connexion in the world except his own son 1 years old and a brother-in-law, who new batch."trate almost before No 2 ro. 2 can't find him-no-cousin? Whener trace the connexion so clearly constrated by Mr. Plebeian in other canver of the over, to come to the real truth other canner of the Court has the same right, personal and political to voice as may seem to him best on the bench, that he bears to the polls; and no one has a right to question, approve or distipprove his vote in the one case more than in the other.

His address was short, but forcible and interesting-being devoted mostly to an expose of a very interesting scheme lately put on foot by the Trustees of Washington College, for the purpose of cheapening and extending the advantages of education, as afforded by that Institution. The plan is quite simple in its operations, and if the requisite number can be obtained to enter into it, must greatly cheapen and increase the facilities of education in this section of

In some of the Northern States, says the Win chester Republican, the farmers have Clubs, which hold meetings monthly or oftener, to discuss the progress of Agricultural improvement. MONORS AT HARPERS-FERRY.

In pursuance of Orders from Washington city the U.S. Armory at Harpers-Ferry was closed on Thursday the 21st instant, in commemoration of the death of the late Chief Magiatrate of the United lates, James K. Polk.

Ensiness was suspended throughout the entire place; and the general quietness of the day, together the tolling of bells at intervals, the flag with a badge of crape suspended at half-mast, touchingly told that "a nation mourned a departed chief."

At five o'clock in the evening the citizens assemoled in the Arsenal Yard; the Brass Band opened the ccremonies by playing that beautiful air, by Mrs. Hemans, "Fading, still fading"-after which prave was offered by the Rev. T. H. W. Monroe.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson then read an appropriate ext from the bible, and delivered from it a most elo quene and graphic discourse; any attempt at details suscless-suffice it to say that he made his audience feel that they had great duties to perform, both to their lod and to their country. The Rev. T. H. W. Monroe then followed in a most able and eloquent address. The sun went down-and as the people dispersed, the band played that solemn old air, which speaks from the tomb, "O come and let us worship,"

Gazetie: We thank this Society only needs to be known,

It is with feelings of unfeigned sorrow that we this merning record the demise of James K. Polk, Ex-President of the United States. He breathed his last at 18 minutes before 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, (Friday, June 15,) at his residence in this city. His illness was somewhat protracted, and he fell a victim to chronic diarrhœa, a disease to which he had been subject for some years. Scarcely settled in the walk of private citizenship, he was called to go "the way of all the earth." The Nashville True Whig gives some account of the last hours of Mr. Polk, from which we make the following extract. "He retained his consciousness, up almost to the moment of dissolution. We saw him

In a visit to our excellent friend, David Hollingsworth, a few days since, our attention was called to an inscription on the Eastern. end of his dwelling. We found it marked with the date of 1754, and feel justified in saving that it is the oldest house now standing grandfather. It is not far from the Shawnee Springs, where the Indian tribe of that name were formerly located, and near the spot on which a white woman was scalped-a circumstance that occurred after the settlement of the Hollingsworth family on the farm. The house is of substantial stone, built in honest times, and will last for centuries vet to come. We understand Gen. Morgan often quartered in it in the Revolutionary time. Speaking of this farm, we may be permitted to mention that we were struck with the decided improvement which Mr. Hollingsworth has effected within a few years. His crop of wheat is a very promising one, and he has renovated some slate lands, of which his farm is partly composed, and they now yield a product equal to the best limestone. The effects of system, good order, and industry, are visible every where, and a townsman cannot fail to notice much to please the eye and gladden the heart .- Winchester Republican. On the day before, when nothing was, of course, known of the Governor's intention, some charitable soul sent into these men, in their cell, a dish, of strawberries, which, it is said, they refused to partake of, out of fear of the cholera? Philadelphie American.

It was erected by Mr. Hollingsworth's

Some of the newspapers are miging for the information of the people. Of ourse we are very much in favor of the proposition. It has long been our intention to call the notice of the Virginia public, to one method of advancing the public prosperity, which, in the slow, but sure progress of our manufictures, has heretofore been most unaccountably neglected We allude to the rearing of sheep in quantities sufficient to supply the wants of the various woollen factories already in operation, or preparing to start. We need not remind our readers of the facilities which Virginia every where Berkeley co., Va., to Miss Lydia Ann McCleury, presents, for the successful prosecution of this business. She has millions of acres of exhausted lands, now lying idle and yielding not a cent of revenue to the owner, which might be devoted to this purpose. In order to encourage such of our farmers as really feel a disposition to fall in with our suggestion, we present certain statements which we have every reason to regard as founded in fact, and which; afford great encouragement to the peculiar industry under consideration.

The Virginia Woollen Company consumes. annually, seven hundred thousand pounds of wool. Six sevenths of this, or six hundred theurand pounds are purchased in New ork, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The inber of persons employed is 206, who rein each, per month, a sum not under 00. The Company turns out 150,000 clankets and coatings, and 600,000 yards of flannels and clock linings by the year. Its rior in any market in the world, and its flannels, certainly, are equal to any manufactured any where. As a proof at once of sheir excellence, and of the capacity to manufacture here as cheaply as elsewhere, it may be proper to state, that these materials sustain a successful competition with Northern goods in their own-markets, and that they have even been sold to wholesale merchants there, and from them bought by our own merchants, the stamp being changed, who had previously refused to buy them at the mill, under the impression that they would do better at the North. The important fact is thus established, that we can manufacture goods of this description here as cheaply, if not more cheaply, than they can at the North, and the inference that manufactories will rapidly increase, cannot be resisted .-Indeed we are assured, that within another in quality. year, any man in Virginia who had 5,000,000 lbs. of wool for sale, could dispose of it here.

Is it not a shame that while we have so much land in Virginia so admirably adapted to raising sheep, a single Virginia Company should be compelled to resort to the Northern cities for the raw material? Nay! not to the Northern cities alone, but to foreign countries ! For, within the last eighteen | tice sa'es of 2000a3000 bushels prime red at 105c; months, this single Company has imported no white offering. No change in corn; sales of from the Barbary States, from Smyrna, and from South America, not less than 800,000 pounds of gool! And that too, when the lands which should supply the fleeces are yielding absolutely nothing to the owner!

The species of goods which have been manufactured in Virginia with most success, a e coarse woollens, blankets, &c. Now, we learn, that Virginia grown wool is incomparably the best for manufactures of this sort. The fleece is larger, the wool heavier, and in every respect better adapted to coarse

From the success of the present Company there is every reason to believe, that should the business of wool growing be seriously attempted by any considerable portion of our farmers, the manufactories would rapidly increase. In a very short time Virginia would be able to supply herself with all her carse and medium quality of wool goods, leavera large surplus to be sold elselabor to be found among us in the shape labor to be found among would afford suming its products, and by would afford er annually in debt. It has been subo fully deinenstrated in South Carolina, that slave labor is as well adapted as any other to manufactories .- Richmond Whig.

ANTIDOTE FOR POISON.—The London Literary Gazetta, speaking of the many deaths from accidental poisoning, adds; "I senture to affirm there is scarce even a cottage in this country that does not contain an invaluable, certain, and immediate remedy for such events; nothing more than a desert spoonful of made mustard, mixed in a tumbler of warsh water and drank immediately. It divided into lots of half an acre, or less, if desired acts as an instantaneous emetic, is always by purchasers. If not sold before the first day of Jefready, and may be used with safety in any case where one is required."

RAMMOAD COLLISION.-On Monday one of the most miraculous escapes of human life from stidden death was witnessed on the Baltimere and Ohjo railroad, about two miles from Mount Clare depot, and at the juncture of Locust Point terminus with the main stem. A large train of coal cars going along very swiftly, whilst turning the curve which connects those tracks, was met by the morning passenger train from Harpers Ferry, (which was a half hour beyond the usual time.) and the hind cars of each train were whirled against each other with the velocity of hightning. The locomotive of the burden cars was much injured, having her connecting rod, cranks, &c., torn away, whilst two of the passenger cars were twisted from their wheels, and more or less shattered yet miracilous to state, no one received any injury, save fery slight bruises. The damage sustained by cars will amount to $500.

PARN FOR THE POOR .- On the 13th inst. the County Court considered the petition of the Overseers of the Poor, in relation to disposing of the present Poor House, &c., and purchasing a farm upon which to support the poor of the County The Court gave, by a very decided majority, its assent and approbation to the scheme; thereby authorizing the Overseers to carry out their expressed views in the matter, as the law " in such cases made and provided "directs 2 9 4 Berkeley Chronicle.

Opp Pentows -The Odd Fellows of New Orleans have elicited warm praise by their active exertions for the sick and suffering in their afflicted city. They spare no efforts, and four no danger, in their work of self-depia and benevolence. Such conduct reflect eredit upon human miture. It is more glorious by far than the victories and laurals of the battle field.—Richmond Republican.

I HAVE NO FRIENDS TO REWARD, AND NO Exercis to Punish."—The above sentence, with quotation marks, is a favorite text of De nocratic papers. Whenever they see it, all the pipes and hydrants connected with the lashrymal fountain are opened, and the ribing waters tell how great the commotion of soul and sympathy with those who have lost what they never owned. We have sayn the expression "I have no friends to reward and no enemies to punish," so often aspribed to Gen. Taylor that we were almost induced to believe he had written it—te be certain, we examined his letters, but Aid not precessed in finding it there. For our own processation, and that of the people, we would thank any Democratic paper that will gave us the information in what letter of (len Taylor's, the expression is to be found. A loafer by the name of Cain, being sken before a magistrate, was asked if he was the man that slew his brother? "No, per honor," said he; "I is the chap vot got

Important, to Farmers. Gatlin's Patent Grain Drill.

THE subscriber is now manufacturing this most I valuable implement of husbandry. These machines have been most thoroughly tested in Ohio and Pennsylvania for planting Wheat, Rye, Corn, Oats, &c., and is so constructed as to drop any quantity per acre, and at any depth desired. It would almost be useless to relate the advantages of Drilling, over broadcast sowing. Experience has proven that at least 20 per cent more grain can be grown after the drill, with one-fourth less seed, than after the broadcast sowing. The subscriber annexes some of the reasons for Drilling Wheat, given by those who have thoroughly tested the system: 1st. The seed is deposited with greater regularity, and at a proper depth.

2d. When deposited, it is covered and kept from the birds, &c. 3d. It is not so liable to winter kill. The drill raises the ridges on each side of the row. These ridges crumble down by the action of the frost, and thus cover and nourish the young plants, and prevent them from being thrown out by freezing and thawing.

4th. The roots being deep, it is manifestly not so liable to injury by the drouth.

5th. It is not so liable to rust. And not so liable

6th. By the admission of the sun and air between the rows, a stronger and healthier plant is produced, and of course a heavier crop. 7th. By drilling, the farmer is enabled to have heavy crops on light land. Sth. It economises seed, and saves time, which is

The undersigned could publish columns of testimonials of those who have tried the drill seeding; but he is willing to submit the claims of the sys tem to Mr. George Eichelberger, of this county, whose field of Wheat, sown by the drill, will compare favorably with that of any other in the county, and from whom satisfactory information may be It would be well for those who may desire to procure the machines to make known their wishes as early as possible.

G. S. GARDNER.

Deguerrian Artist. POOMS at Capt. Jour Avis', two doors west of WM. F. Lock's Store, where he will remain but a few days, for the purpose of taking miniatures by the improved Daguerrian process. The attention of all persons interested in pro-curing DAGUERREOTYPE LIKENESSES, of themselves or friends, or copies from Portraits, Miniatures. Paintings or Statuary, is particularly invited to my specimens. My arrangements are such, that I take miniatures of children and adults instantly; and of deceased persons at their private residences. In style of execution and picturesque effect-in boldness of character and beauty of expression-in variety of size, and delicacy of lights and shadows --I shall aim at the highest perfection possible.

Instructions given, and Apparatus, Chemicals and Materials turnished. PLEASE TO READ!!

The superiority of my Likenesses is the result of my care in the arrangement throughout, particu-larly the light. I thus obtain a mild, delicate, pleasing eye, instead of a blotch of white, nearly or wholly covering the pupil; either giving it a wild, unnatural glaze, or destroying its lively appearance.

1 blend artistically, my lights and shadows; and, when I color, avoid the harsh, cut, pattern-like ou line, or semblance to a paper profile, or theorum. pictures of infants and children, being instantly taken, are invariably satisfactory, and generally very pleasing.

Miniatures taken in all kinds of weather. N. B .- Editors and others will speak of me as they think best, or feel that my efforts merit. I shall not attempt to make any one believe MINE the only work of the kind deserving credit; nor shall I ever collect, or publish a hombastic, humbugging card, bill or circular, containing a collection of my own written and paid for puffs, as "Opinions of the Charlestown, Jone 19, 1849.

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL.

A friend of mine was married to a scoldo me he came and all his troubles told. She's like a woman raving mad!" "Alas!" said i, "my friend, that's very bad."
"No, not so bad," said he; "for with her, true, I had both house and land, and money, too." That was well," said I.

" No, not so well," said he; " For I and her own brother Went to law with one another. I was cast, the suit was lost; And every penny went to pay the cost,"

"That was bad," said I, "No, not so bad," said he;
"For we agreed that he the house should keep, And give to the four score of Yorkshire sheep. All fat, and fair, and fine they were to be." "Well, then," said I, "sure that was well for thee. 'No not so well," said he;

"For when the sheep I got, They ev'ry one died with the rot."
"That was bad," said I. No, not so bad," said he; For I had thought to scrape the fat, And keep it in an oaken vat,

Then into tallow melt for winter store." "Why, then," said I, "that's better than before." "No, not so well," said be; For having got a clumsy let To scrape the fat, and make the tallow, Into the melting fat the fire catches, And, like brimstone matches, Burnt my house to ashes." "That may bad," said I.

"No, not so bad," said he; "For what is best, My scolering wife is gone among the rest!"

The wages of every noble work do lie in heaven, or nowhere," says Carlisle, in his quaint manner. There is holy truth in the sentiment.

To the heart of woman this suggestion is most comforting Our work cannot, in the nature of things gain that consequence in the history of the world which belongs to the doings of men; but in heaven the balance can be adjusted the two mites of the poor widow shown to have wrought more good, actually done, more for the advancement of true charity in the world, than all the "rich gifts" of ostentation, pride, and selfishness. HOBART'S WORLD-BEATER Cooking Stores,

AST at Harpers-Ferry from entire new patterns embracing every improvement of modern sci-ence, are warranted to be better adapted to Virginia use than any other Stove-the plates are nearly twice as thick as those of the Eastern Stoves, and are proportionately strong, consequently are not at all liable to injury either by heat or the carelessness of servants. These Stoves are provided with every convenience for boiling, washing, ironing, broiling and frying, and have a much larger oven for baking and roasting than any other stove. The arrangement of the furnace is such that although it admis long wood the consumption is very little, as the heat passes in flues around the stove and is nearly all absorbed, the least amount possible being allowed to escape into the pipe and pass off.

The price of these Stoves is less than any other in ortion to the quantity of iron contained in them. Stoves being made at Harpers-Ferry afford purchasers the facility of future repair near home, a ercu ii not satisfactory.

Persons wishing to try a stove will please address BILLINGS HOBERT. Charlestown, Va. Also, on hand and for sale as above, ROSS' IRON CORN MILL,
