themselves from the well merited blow of the law, to let it fall on women ; men who lave

the malice of the devil without the nerve of a sheep; every hor gable man ought to say; and I do say here that such creatures are cruel and cowardly scoundrels, who do not deserve to have either wives or daughters,

Mr. Clay warmly but deservedly re-baked the Northern agitators, in his comments, in the Senate, on Wednesday, on their abolition petitions. 'Sir," said, he "of all the bitterest enemies toward the unfortunate negro race, there are none to compare with these abolitionists, pretended friends of theirs; but who, like the Siamese twins, connect themselves with the negro, or, like the centaur of old, mount not the back of a horse,

but the back of the negro, to ride themselves into power, and in order to display a friendship they feel only for themselves, and not for the negro race. No, sir, there are not worse enemies in the country of the negro race than these ultra abolitionsts. To what sorts of extremity have they not driven the slave-holding States in defence of their own rights, and in guarding against those excesses

POETRY.

The spring of life is past, With its hadding hopes and fears. And the autumn time is coming With its weight of weary years-Our joyousuess is faling, Our hear a are dimmed with care,

While bliss was blooming near us In the heart's first burst of spring, While many hopes could cheer us, Life seemed a glorious thing! Like the feath apon the laver, These bopes have fled forever,

To the soft wind's gentle swell; And think we bear the music Our childhood knew so well: To gaze out on the even, And the boundless fields of air. And we will feel again our boyhood's wish

Old thoughts come througing fast The forms we loved so dearly, In the happy days now gone, The beautiful and the lovely, So fair to look upon. Those bright and gentle maidens Who seemed so formed for bliss,

For such a world as this; Whose soft, dark eyes seemed swimming In a sea of Fiquid light, And whose locks of gold were streaming O'er brows so sunny bright. Whose smiles were like the sunshine .

Like the changeful gleams of April, They followed every tear; All their loveliness has fled-Oh! many a heart is mourning, That they are with the dead. Like the brightest buds of summer

Yet, Oh! it is a lovely death, To fade from earth like them! And yet the thought is saddening, To music on such as they-And feel that all the beautiful Are passing fast away; That the fair ones whom we love,

Like the tendrils of the vine, Then perish on their shrine! And yet we can but think of these In the soft and gentle spring, When the trees are waving over us, And flowers are blossoming; For we know that winter's coming

A MYSTERIOUS CIRCUMSTANCE.-No explanation has yet been given, nor do we believe it ever can be given of the fact, sworn effort has been made to render the assortment of SHIRTS, COLLARS, LINEN AND COTTON male relative of Littlefield, that, on Friday afternoon of the murder, Littlefield was talking of the disappearance of Dr. Parkman! The witness swore positively to that fact, and her testimony was not shaken in the least by the cross examination.

A notice has already appeared in this paper of the invention, for the use of steam packets on Canals, made by Mr. J. Newton Harper of this place. Mr Harper is now having a steam engine and canal boat built, which, when completed, will fully test the principle of his invention. The model that we have seen, gives us great hopes that he will be entirely successful-and, if so, we trust he may meet with the ample reward which he merits. If he does succeed, we shall have a new era in the history of Canals, and of Internal Improvements generally. [Alexandria Giacele.

And youth's fresh dreams of gladness All perish darkly there.

Two men had entered into an agreement to rob one of their neighbors. Everything was planned. They were to enter the house at midnight, break open his chests and drawers, and carry off all the gold and silver they "He is rich, and we are poor," said they to each other, by the way of encouragement in the svil they were about to perform.—

"He will never miss a little gold; while its possession will make us happier. Besides, what right has one man to all of this world's goods?" Thus they talked together. One of these men had a wife and children, but the other had none in the world to care for but himself. The man who had children went home and joined his family, after agreeing upon a place of meeting with the other at the darkest hour of the coming night.

"Dear father," said one of the children, early age studied the profession of law under | climbing upon his knee, "I'm so glad you've The presence of the child troubled the man, and he tried to push him away; but his arms clung tighter about his neck, and he laid his face against his cheek, and said in a sweet and gentle voice-" I love you, father." Involuntarily the man drew the innocent and loying one to his bosom, and kissed him. There were two elder children in the man's dwelling, a boy and a girl. They were poor, and these children worked daily. to keep up the supply of bread made defi-cient, more through idleness in their father than from lack of employment. These children came in soon after their father's return, and give him their earnings for the day. "Ch, father!" said the boy, "such a dreadful thing has happened. Henry Lee's father was arrested to day for robbing .-They took him out of our shop, when Henry was there, and carried him off to prison. I was so sad when I saw Henry weeping .-And he hung his head for shame-for shame of his own father! Only think of that." The man did not reply to the words of his son, but he turned his face partly away to conceal its expression. " Ashamed of his father!" thought he .-"And will my children hang their heads,

Then he said -" will do the deed myself, and take the entire reward." And he did according to his word. When the other man went forth to his labor on the next day, he learned that his accomplice had been taken in the act of robbery, and was already in prison.

THE BLOOM OF AGE.

A good woman never grows old. Years may pass over her head, but if benevolence and virtue dwell in her heart, she is as cheerful as when the spring time of life first opened to her view. When we look upon a good woman, we never think of her age; she looks as charming as when the rose of youth first bloomed on her cheek That rose has not faded yet -it never will fade. In her family, she is the life and delight. In her neighborhood, she is the friend and the benefactor. In the church, the devontworshipper and the exemplary Christian. Oh, who does not respect and leve the woman who has passed her days in acts of kindness and mercy—who has been the friend of man and God-whose whole life has been a scene of kindness and love a devotion to truth and religion? We repeat, such a woman cannot grow old. She

MARRIED LOKE

In considering our public and social duties, we must be aware that merried life has its fall share. When men marry and settle down in life, the world generally looks on with approbation, and its audgratuations are warmly given. The reason is obvious:

"in marrying, a guarantee is given society for our good behavior."

But married life is not always as happy as it might be, and these who have at first re- der their very noses, while they are lamentand we think we cannot do our readers a try the experiment, and work at no come from this well-wisher to our race.

The wife should always follow. be supplied with money in proportion to her husband's means, that she may procure those things indispensable to the table, and for her personal comfort. Her reasonable wishes should be cheerfully complied with. Temper never should be shown at those slight irregularities in the domestic arrangements which will oceasionally occur in families, and are often caused by ervants. If the wife be a strong-minded and pruderit woman, she is her husband's best counseller, and should be consulted in every difficulty. Many a man has been saved from rain by this course, and many a one ruined by not adopting it. If the husband's circumstances are embarrassed, she should know it; as women, who are kept in ignorance of them, often expend money which they would not do, if they knew the truth.

" A wife should never be rebuked or chidden in company, for any listle mistakes in conversation, or any other cause. Some men do this constantly, and strike a keener dart at the feelings of a sensitive woman than they would by a sharp rebuke in private .-Anything like an exposure of ignorance in company, impairs her respect for herself and the good opinion entertained of her by "Wives should always receive their hus-

able to them as possible, and gratefully reciprocate their attentions. They should study to gratify their wishes with regard to food, its preparation, the management of the family in dress, manners and deportment. A wife should never rule or seek to rule her husband, for such conduct degrades both in the estimation of others. Cheerful compliance with his wishes-indeed, the anticipation of them, should be constantly studied. All altereations and arguments leading to ill-humor, must be avoided, whether before strangers or in private. Married life is too often embittered by idle disputes, without any real cause for them. Wives should not interfere in their husbands' business, unless their advice is particularly asked. They should never speak of their differences of opinion, nor of the failings and imperfections of their husbands, even to their most intimate friends. For in spite of all the pledges given of secrecy, these things will soon become known to a numerous circle .-This is a very common mis ke, and many an unsuspecting husband is the object of very improper remarks. Wives should, at every opportunity, cultivate their own minds, that they may be rational companions. In their expenditures they should remember the vicissitudes of life, and not incur expenses which may prove inconvenient or injurious. They should, in domestic life, think nothing a trifle which may interrupt its harmony, or give real uneasiness. If disposed to economize in their household affairs. they should never do it at the expense of the poor women who are in their employment, the seamstress or the laundress .in the wages they allow, only to be extravagant and wasteful in their own personal exmitted, sooner or later, retributive justice.

THE SECRET OF FEMALE INFLU-ENCE.

The power of the woman, in bending the stronger sex to their will, is, no doubt, greatly augmented when they have youth and beauty on their side; but even with the loss of the.e, it is not altogether extinguished; nor does it a together consist in words and actions-it often effects its purposes by means less visible, and impossible to be described. But these means must constantly have for their basis softness and good nature; they must ever be such as to throw a veil over the pride of our supposed superiority, and make us believe that we are exerting that sover eign power which we consider as our right, when in reality we are obeying it. The least appearance of the contrary alarms our pride; and she who discovers to us her intention to govern by her power, or by her haughty temper, produces an effect which the other sex said he with fervor. ### MEASURE FOR MEASURE.

A traveller once related, with all seriousness, to a company of persons, that he had passed through the five divisions of the earth and that, among other curiosities he had met one of which no writer had as yet made mention. This wonder was, according to his account, a huge cabbage, which had grown so high that fifty armed riders might have stationed themselves under a single leaf, and performed their manœuvres. Some one who heard him, deeming this exaggeration not worth any confutation, said, with much self command and coolness, that he, too, had been abroad as far as Japan, where, to his astonishment, he saw more than three hundred coppersmiths at work upon a single kettle, and within the same were five hundred men polishing it. "What could they do with such a monstrous kettle?" sked the traveller. "Cook the cabbage therein, of which you have just now told us."

ISABELLA GRAPES.

Every one who has remarked the great superiority of Cavor of this delightful American grape over the foreign one, will rejoice to hear that they can be preserved in such a manner as to retain their original flavor .--What a gratification, too, to the tenant of a sick chamber, who, in the dreary hours of sickness, can find so few things to gratify his palate. #### THE SPIRIT OF JEFFERSON AND THE ELECTION.

Our worthy neighbor has at last opened his mouth and alluded to the issue which is to be decided to-day. He has heretofore been so busy electioneering that he could not find time either to traduce the Whigs or to give them some substantial reasons why they should vote for him in preference to their own candidates. But just on the eve of battle, when he knew that any reply we might make to his strictures could not be read by tour durrent of our readers, he is able to devote two mortal columns to the canvass.

It says, in the outset, that in his intercourse with the people, he has conducted himself fairly and honogably, and that we have not treated him with the leniency or extended to him the courtesy due a brother Editor. We admit, with all our heart, (what we have never failed to do) that personally he is unexceptionable, and that as far as we know comingly when mingling with the sovereigns, and particularly when he thought proper to talk with that portion of them called Whigs. ### THE TERRITORIAL QUESTION.

Just at the moraent when the public in aid seems be quieted in reference to the troubjestime ques tion of slavery, the party croakers renew their abaare altacks upon the Administration for what is called the Monanterrention policy. The Union, the organ of the party which is always professing to be spublices, in an eminent degree; bitterly assaid Gen. The exclusional savishing censure upon the "Ad-

The very name which the County wears should have forbidden their taking such a step. Nothing in the history or character of Thomas Jefferson lends it an atom of support. I ne Senate proceeded to carry into effect the order of the day, which was to choose by ballot, the compromise committee of thirteen.
The Senate ballotted for Chairman with the following result:-For Mr. Clay, 28; Mr. Benton, 1, Mr. Mangum, 1; Mr. Bell, 1; blank 4. So Mr.

Clay was elected chairman. It appears that a number of Senators did not vote. The Senate then ballotted for twelve members of the Committee with the following result: The members chesen, having from 29 to 31 votes each, were Messra Webster, Dickinson, Cass, Bright, Phelps, Cooper, King, Mason, Downs, Manim, and Berrien.

Mr. Phelps asked to be excused on account of his health. He would not be able to state his views in he Senate upon the course he should take. The subject was then taken up. Mr. Benton then addressed the Senate at great which torbid that two measures separate and disfinct should be united in one hill. The House, in committee, then took up the California bill. Mr. Morehead and Mr. Peck, successively addressed the committee, when it rose and

HENRY CLAY.

The recent course of Henry Clay in the Senate is noble. We are at a loss for language to express our admiration of the gallant manner it which he bears himself towards the domestic enemies of the country. We could not suppress our admiration of his lofty and heroic demeanor even when we could not agree with his positions. We appreciate his chivalrie port none the less when we can subscribe to his views and respond to his sentiments, as well as do justice to his motives. We rejoice to behold his giant arm put forth once more with the vigor of his younger days, striking mighty blows for the Constitution, and brushing away such impertinent varlets as Hale and his allies, as "a lion scatters dew drops from his mane."

Age seems to have no effect apon the intellect and the spirit of Henry Clay. Time appears reluctant to convert into a ruin the with gentle hand at the portal and slowly impairs the outworks of the edifice, but stands hesitatingly upon the tireshhold, of the citadel, as if the enchantment of genius had laid a spell upon its powers, and it had forgotten its own work in admiration of its victim. ## MR. POLK AND THE WILMOT PRO-

The Situliern Convention proposition has failed at a meeting in Maury county, Tern, the home of the late President Polk. The Columbia Intelligencer gives the following testimony from Beverly Martin, one of the speakers, concerning Mr. Polk's opinion and public conduct:

" He alluded to the Wilmot Proviso-said that it originated with Jefferson, had been sanctioned by Madison, Monroe and Polkand he had voted for the Oregon bill with the provision in it, by the request of Mr. Polk .-Mr. Polk could not have signed the proviso in the () regen bill, unless he thought it constitutional."

Washington, April 21. DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN-ATTEMPTED Strome -The son of the Hon. Henry W. Hilliard, of Alabama, died in this city yesterday. He had but recently been selected by the President as a Cadet for the Military Academy. @ An individual named Reese, attempted to take his life this morning whilst laboring under a religious monomania. His life is considered in great danger.

The Yesterday was marked by a coincidence so sad and touching that we are induced to relate it to our readers.

On Mr. Calhoun's journey to Washington last December, he was, among others, accompanied by the Hon. Mr. Hilliard, his excellent wife, and interesting and most promising son, a youth of seventeen years. Yesterday that interesting youth accompanied by his bereaved and deeply afflicted parents, was borne back to the South a corpse, in the same conveyance which bore the corpse of his late distinguished fellow-traveller. They came together and together returned-but under circumstances how sad, and how different from what either then imagined! [National Intelligencer#23rd.

Congession of a Mundenen.--Two gentlemen, L. P. Howe and M. D. Hubbard, write to the Hartford Times from North White Creek, Washington county, N. Y., that there is a man in that region who admits that he is the murderer of the old gentleman White, who was recently murdered in Litchfield county, Ct. He is about nineteen years old, has considerable money with him, and drinks too much. He says that two other men were engaged with him, but he committed the act. A part of the money is in gold which corresponds with the money on White's person at the time of his death. He was intoxicated when he admitted the murder, but repeated the statement afterwards when sober. A warrant has been issued for him there, and an officer is in pursuit.

THE STATE CONVENTION .- Opposition in the West .- The Parkersburg Gazette states that a meeting has been held in Clarksburg, composed of citizens from fourteen different counties, uniting in disapprobation of the present convention bill. Several meetings have passed resolutions in favor of holding a Western convent on at Lewisburg in next July, (the Parkersburg Gazette suggests the fourth of July.) in the event of the conven-

CONTRIBUTION OF MICHIGAN TO THE WASHINGTON NATIONAL MONUMENT.

We learn from the Detroit Free Press that the Legislature at its session made an appropriation for the purpose of procuring a block of native copper, to be quarried out of the mines on Lake Superior, and sent as an appropriate offering to the Washington National Monument. There will probably be no offering more singular and beautiful than this contribution by any State in the Union. The offering will consist of a block of native copper, three feet long, by one and a half feet wide, and two feet deep, polished, and bearing this inscription: "From MICHIGAN : an emblem of her trust in the Union."

That if a Republic should acquire a majority, it should be pronounced as the chamber of the President of the Republic; and it Monarchy obtains a majority, it should be pronounced by the President of the Assembly. This remarkable proposition was received in silence by the majority, and by derisive sneers from the mountain. The proposition was not put to test, in consequence of not having been seconded, and the previous question immediately voted quanimously. No mistake can be more injurious than the supposition that neglect in this particular, can continue with impunity. The seeds of strength or weakness are laid in childhood; and the majority of the fine flowing ringlets or bald heads, of after years, are traceable to this early period. TO FAMILIES. GREAT reduction in the price of Bread may 11 be made by using Hammond's Bread Powder, which is most strongly recommended to Families; for not only is a considerable saving in time and money effected, in the making of this useful article of Foot but it is rendered by the use of this valuable Powder, perfectly, easy of digestion, so that invalids and delicate calldren may partake of it without suffering that inconvenience so oftentimes complained of. To persons suffering from indigestion, dysperia, des., it is invaluable. One trial alone is sufficient to establish its decided superiority over any other means of making Bread. A quantity of Bread may be made by it in one-third the time that is required when made in the usual way. It is lighter, and much more patritious, and a much larger manify is obtained from the same weight of Plour, then can be obtained by any other mode, and far more

OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND. THE ORIGINAL DISCOVERER OF THE Genulue Townsend Sarsaparilla.

Std Dr. Townsend is now about 70 years of age, and bas hern known as the AUTHOR and DISCOVERER of the seen known as the AUTHOR and DISCOVERER of the GENOUNE ORIGINAL. TOWNSEND SARSAPARIL. I. S. Beling poor, he was compelled to find its minufacture, by which means it has been kept out of market, and the sales cir materibes to those only who had proved its worth, and known to be the control of the control o s value. It had reached the ears of many, nevertheless as a see persons who had been healed of sore diseases, and saved noise death proclaimed its excellence and wenderful HEALING POWER.

Knowner, many pears ugo, that he had, by his skill, science and experience, devised an article which would be of incalcuable advantage to masked when the mesns would be furthe means are supplied; this not the length and breadth of the land, especially as it is found incapable of degeneration or descriptation.

I'alke young S. P. Townsend's, it improves with age, and never changes, but for the better; because it is prepared on scien tific prenaples by a second for man. The highest knowledge of Chemistry, had the latest discoveries of the art, have all been trough. The requisition in the manufacture of the Old Dra-Sarsapiralla. The Sarsapariila toot, it is well known to medical men contains many medicinal properties, and some properties which are inert or useless, and others, which if retained in Preparing it for use, produce formerstation and evid, which is in surfaces to the system. Some of the properties of Sarsaparilla are so measure. They retirely evaporate and hie lost in the preparation, if they are not occurred by a scientific process, known only to those experienced in its manufacture. Moreover these volable principles, which fiv off in vapor, or as an exhali tion, under heat, are the very essential medical proveries of the root, which give to it to the value. Any person can ball or stew the foot till they get a dark colored liquid, which is more from the coloring matter in the root than from any thing else; they can then strain this insipid or vapid liquid, sweeten with som molesses and then call it SAR SAPARILLA EXTRACT or SYRUP." But such is not the

GENUINE OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is so prepared, that all the mert powerties of the Sar asparilla root are first removed, every thing quarble of becoming send or of fermentation, is extracted and re-ceted; thus every particle of medical virtue is secured in a pure and concentrated rm; and thus it is rendered inexpable of losing any of its valu able and healing properties. Prepared in this way, it is made the most to werful agent in the Cure of immumerable diseases. Hence the easen why we hear commentations on every side its favor by men, women, and children. We find it doing wanders in the care of CONSTMPTION, DYSPEPSIA, and LIVER COM-PLAINT, and in RHEUMATISM, SCROPULA, PILES. PLAINT, and in RHEUMATISM, SCROPCLA, PHLES. COSTIVENESS, all CUTANEOUS ERUPTICNS, PIMPLES, BLOCTHES, and all affections arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

It possesses a marve deuts efficacy in all complaints arising from Indigestion, from Activity of the Stomack, from unequal circulacold fort and hands, cold chills and hat flashes over the body. It has not its equal in Colds and Goughs; and promotes easy extion and gentle personation, relaxing stricture of the lungs, throat and every other part.

But in nothing is its excellence more manifestly seen and ac is owledged than in all kinds and stages of FEMALE COMPLAINTS. It works wonders in cases of Fluor Albus of Whites. Falling of Words. Obstructed. Suppressed or Painful Menses Irregular my of the mensional periods, and the like; and is as effectual in curing all the forms of Kidney Discusses.

By remaining obstructions, and regulating the general system, it gives lone and strength to the whole body, and thus Nervous diseases and debility. nd thus prevents or releves a great variety of other imiladies, a Spinal irritation, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Suconing, has Spinist Frits Councissons, Str. 113 Dance, Showing, Epileptic Fits, Councissons, Str. 11 cleanses the blood excites the liver to healthy action, tanes the stonach, and gives good digestion relieves the bowels of the proper and constituence, addard inflammation, purifies the skin, equalises the circulation of the mood, producing gentle warmth equally all over the body, and the baseasilde perspiration; relaxes all strictures and distinctions, and

Townsend's inferior article? This young man's fintile is not to be COMPARED WITH THE OLD DR'S, because of one GRAND FAST, that the one is INCAPABLE of DETERIORATION, and while the other DOES; souring, fermicative, and blaning the bottles containing it into fragments; the sour, acid flouid exploding, and damaging other goods? Must not this horrible compound he poisonous to the system?—What! put acid into a system already discussed with acid! What causes Dyspensia but acid! Do we not all know that when food nours in our stomacm; too we not all know that when food sours in our stom-achs, what mischlefs it produces? distincted, hearthurs, palpi-tation of the heart, liver comulaint, distribute, dysentery, colic, and corruption of the blood? White Swellings, Fever Sures, and all incerations is ternal and external 1. It is nothing under heaven, out an acsubstance, which sours, and thus spoils all the fluids of the body, more or less. What causes lineumatism but a gour or and fluid, which insinustes itself between the joints and else where irritating and inflaming the delicate fissues upon which it acts? So of nervous diseases, of impurity of the blood, of deranged circulations, and nearly all the allouents which afflict Now is it not normble to make and sell, and infinitely were SOURING, FERMENTING. ACID "COMPOUND" OF S. P. TOWNSEND. and yet he would fein have it understood that Old Dr. Jacob Townsend's Genuine Original Sursuparille, is an initation of his inferior preparation!! Heaven toraid that we should deal in an article which would bear the most distant resemblance to S. P. Townsend's article? and which should bring down upon the Old br. such a mountain load of complaints and reiminations from Agents who have sold, and purchasers who have used S. P. Townsend's FERMENTING COMPOUND.

We wish it understood, because it is the absolute truth, that S. P. Townsend's article and Old Dr. Jacob Townsend's Sarsaparilla are heaven-wide apart, and infinitely dissimilar; that they are unlike in every particular, having not one single thing As S. P. Townsend is no doctor, and nover was, is no chemist no pharmaceutist—knows no more of medicine or dis-ease than any other common, unscientific, un professional man, what guarantee can the public have that they are receiving a genuine scientific medicine, containing all the virtues of the articles used in preparing it and which are incapable of changes which might render them the AGENTS of Disease instead of health. But what else should be expected from one who knows not ing comparatively of medicine or disease! It requires a person of some experience to cook and serve up even a common decent men! How much more important is it that the persons who man ufacture medicine, designed for

WEAK STOMACHS AND ENFEFBLED SYSTEMS, should know well the medical properties of plants, the best manner of securing and concentrating their healing virtues, also an extensive knowledge of the various diseases which affect the human system, and how to shap remedies to there diseases! It is to arrest frands upon the unfortunate, to pour balm into wounded humanity, to kindle hope in the despairing boson, to restore health and bloom, and vigor into the crushed and brooken, and to bruish infirmity that OLD DR, JACOB TOWNSEND has SOUGHT and POUND the opportunity and means to bring

DR. S. P. Townsenn-Dear Sir: I am constrained to give you a statement of the benefit I derived from using your Sarsaparilla, believing, by so doing, I shall render a benefit to those who are suffering as I have beet. I was reduced for many months by the Dyspepsia, so much that it was with much difficulty for me to walk or keep about. I had also a tetter, which covered the most part of my head—which was extremely troublesome and sore; it got to be almost a scab. I used quite a number of remedies for both the complaints, but received little or no benefit, until I took your Sarsaparilla, which, through the kindness of Providence, has restored me to more than my usual health, as I am now enjoying better than I have for a number of years. Mothodist Clergyman. The fellowing was sent to our Agent in Rahway, by the Res. J. Ö. TUNISON, of the Methodist Episcopal Church—one of the most learned and respected in the connection—and is another evidence of the wonderfot effects of Dr. S. P. Townsend's Sarsapariila oz he system.

Franco-Having for some time past, as you Franco Pranson—Having for some time past as you are aware, experienced great general debility of my system, attended with constant and alarming irritation of my throat and lungs, I was, at your instance, and in consequence of having read Ceptain McLean's decided teatimony in its behalf, induced to try Dr. S. P. Townsend's far-famed Sarsaparilla. I tried it, I confess, more in the hope than in the confidence of its proving efficacious; but I am bound in caudor now to acknowledge, that I had not tried it long before I began to experience its salutary effects; and I may now say, with Captain McLean, "that I would not be without it but any previous remedy I have tried, and if good than any pravious remedy I have tried, and if this statement is deemed by you of any importance, you have my full consent to make it public.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17, 1848. Messas Sands: Having suffered many years with a disease of my throat, afferding the laryax, during which time I was treated by the most distinguished physicians in Europe and the United States, without receiving any permanent benefit, but all the time my general health and strength declining, and the disease making fearth; progress; caustic applications were used, and whatever else was thought most efficient for producing a cure; but I am confident the deplorable situation I was in, the lary ngitis being accompanied with phthisic and great difficulty in breathing, would soon have turninated my life, had I not obtained relief through the sacdium of your invalu ble Sarsaparilla,-I must say, gentlemen, when I commenced using the Satsaparilla lad d not place much confidence in its virtues; and this will not surprise you, when you are in-formed I had tried more than fifty different remedies during the just four years, without any success; but after taking your Sarsaparilla a few weeks, I was o-bliged at last to yield to evidence. This matvelous specific has not only relieved, but cured me; and I therefore think it my duty, gentlemen, for the benefit of i-fering humanity, to give you this attestation of my cure. Yours very truly, D. PARENT, Consulate of France in the United States. The above statement and signature were acknowledged in our presence by Mt D Parent as true. For the Consul General of France. New York, February 17, 1818.

The following testimony from Rev. John Grigg, late Rector of the Church of the Crucilition in this city, commends itself to the attention of the afflicted. Numerous certificates of cutes of various dicases effected by this mediclase are almost daily received: MESSES SANDS :- A member of my family has taken cour valuable Sarshparilla for a severe scrotulous affection, &c. with the most beneacial effect resulting from its use. It gives me very great pleasure to record my testimony in behalf of its virtue and efficacy, hoping that others may be induced to make a trial of New York, May 10, 1848. JOHN GRIGG, LIVER COMPLAINT. The following is an extract from a letter received from Rev William Galusha: BERKSHIRE, Vermont, October 22, 1848. MESSES SANDS :- I have been affricted with a severe pain is my side, occasioned by a diseased liver, for the been greatly relieved, so much so that I have been able to attend to my business, and preach occasionally, for the last eighteen mouths. I wholly discarded all other medicine, and thoroughly tried the Sarsaparilla, which I can recommend in truth and sincerity to all those who are in any way afflicted with any species of scrofulous complaints. There have been some remarkable cures effected by its use in this vicinity. Mrs I Shaw by the use of six bbules, was restored to better haith than she had before enjoyed for ten years; and Mr W Stevens, who had been severely affilieted with erysinelas, was entirely cured by the use of a few bottles.

Yours truly, VM GALUSHA. SCROFULOUS AFFECTION OF THE EYES. MESSES SANDS-Gentlemen-My little daughter when one year old, was attacked with a scrofulous humor on her face, which soon after extended into her eyes, causing almost total blindness in one of them, and disfiguring her whole face. I employed two phy sicians to attend her, who exh asted their utmost skill to give her relief but it all proved uscless, and finally one of them remarked to me that he had known of some striking cures effected by Sands' Sarsaparilla, and advised me to try it. I obtained one bottle, which she commenced using, and before it was all used up it had effected amentire cure. It is now over four years since she was cured, and there has been no reappearance of the discase, and we are anti-fied that it is a newfeet on It gives me great pleasure to add that I can recommend it to every sufferer from any similar complaint.
