POETRY.

"WHY DON'T YOU TAKE A PAPER, BEOWN!"

Why don't you take a paper, Brown? I'm sure it is a shame That we can t get the news from town Before it's old and tame. There's deacon Jones, across the way, Who gets one every week-And who can beat you all, they say,

When called upon to speak. The reason, sir, is plain, you know-For when he reads it through, His words like malk and honey flow, And all he says is new: So he is taken by the hand,

For what he can impart-While old and young around him stand And say-"The Doctor's smart! Oh, is it not a shame, I say,

To hug your purse so tight, When a mere his of yellow clay Would set the matter right? What good is gold-now can you tell-To any of your kind, Unless it keeps the body well And benefits the mind?

Why don't you take a paper, Brown? I'm sure it is a shame That we can't get the news from town Until it's old and tame ! Now let us quit this simple way,

And take a weathy start— And ere a year dur friends will say— "The Browns are getting smart." "I'll take," said Brown, "your sound advice-What paper $\forall \text{ you choose } ?"
"One," said his wife, " which gives us spice, And all the latest news!"
"Then as you wish," said Brown, "for one That gives the latest news, I'll go straightwey to Charlestown,

THE BURIAL OF LOVE.

BY WILLIAM GULLEN BRYANT. Two dark-eyed maids, at shut of day, Sat where a river rolled away, With calm sad brows and raven hair,

And one was pale, and both were fair, Bring flowers, they sang, bring flowers unblown Bring forest blooms of name unknown; Bring budding sprays from wood and wild, To strew the beer of Love, the Child. Close sofily, fondly while we weep,

His eyes, that deal may seem like sleep; And lay his hands in sign of rest, His waxen hands a coss his breast, And make his grave where violets hide, Where star-forers strew the rivulet's side, And blue-birds in the mists of spring Of cloudless skies and summer sing. Place near him, as ye lay him low, His idle shalls, his loosened bow The silken band that oft around His waggish eyes in mirth he wound. But we shall mourn him long, and miss

His ready smile, his ready kiss, The patter of his little feet, Sweet frowns and stammered phrases sweet. And graver locks serene and high, A light of heaver in that young eye All these will maunt us till the heart Shall ache-and ache-and tears shall start. The bow, the band shall fall to dust; . The shining prome waste with rust, But he, whom now from sight of man We hide in earth, shall live again. Shall break these clods a form of light, With noble mien and clearer sight,

With those who wait at God's right hand. MISCELLANY. THE LOVE SECRET.

And in the eternal glory stand

" Edward is to be in London next week." said Mrs. Ravensworth; "and I trust, Ellen county, Va, is duly authorized by the sub-eriber, to attend to preparing Bounty Land Decla-that you will meet him with the frankness he is entitled to receive."

Ellen Hamilton who stood behind the chair of her aunt, did not make any answer. "Edward's father." continued Mrs. Ravensworth, "was your father's own brother. A man of notiler spirit never moved on English soil; and I hear that Edward is a worthy son of a worthy sire."

"If he were as pure and perfect as an angel. aunt," reolied Ellen, "it would be all the same to no. I have never seen hi: , and cannot, therefore, meet him as one who has a right to claim my hand."

"Your father gave you away when you were a child, Ellen; and Edward comes now to claim you by virtue of this betrothal' "While I love the memory of my father, and honor him as a child should honor a parent," said Ellen, with much seriousness, "I do not admit his right to give me away in marriage while I was yet a child. And, moreover, I do not think the man who seeks to consummate such a marriage contract worthy of any maiden's love. Only the heart that yields a free consent is worth having and the man who would take any other is utterly unworthy of any woman's regard. By this rule I judge Edward to be unworthy no matter what his father may have been.' "Then you mean," said Mrs Ravensworth " deliberately to violate the solemn contract made by your father with the father of Ed-" I cannot receive Edward as anything but a stranger," replied Ellen. "It will not mend the error of my father for me to commit a still greater one."

"How commit a still greater one?" inquired Mrs. Ravensworth "Destroy the very foundation of a true marriage-freedom of choice and consent-There would be no freedom of choice or his part, and no privilege of consent on minio. -Happiness could not follow such a union; and to enter into it would be doing a great whong. "In a choice of evils we always take the least." Ellen's voice trembled. Mrs. Ravensworth did not reply for some moments. While she sat silent, the halfclosed door near which Ellen stood, and towards which her auut's back was turned, softly opened and a handsome youth, between whom and Ellen glauces of intelligence instantly passed, presented the startled maiden with a heautiful white rose, and then noiselessly retired. It was nearly a minute before Mrs. Ravensworth resumed the light employment in which she was engaged, and as she did so she said-" Many a foolish young girl gets her head turned with those gay gallants at our fashionable watering-places, and imag- face became pale, and her lips quivered. ines, that she has won a heart, when the obof a truly unselfish and noble impulse."

"Do you find it so very pleasant here?" said the aunt, a little ironically. "I have not complained of its being dull, aunt," replied Ellen : "but if you wish to return on Thursday, I will be ready to accompany you. Soon after this, Bllen Hamilton left her aunt's room, and went to one of the drawingrooms, of the hotel at which they were staying, where she sat near a bew-window that overlooked a beautiful promenade. She had been here only a few minutes, when she was joined by a handsome youth, to whom Ellen said-" How could you venture to the door of my aunt's parlor? I'm half afraid she detected your presence, for she said immediately afterwards, that we would return to ings take place between strangers."

"Edward Hamden is expected in a few days," replied Ellen, her voice slightly fal-Her companion looked at her scarchingly for a few moments, and then said, "You have never met him ?"

" Never !" "But when you do meet him, the repugnance you now feel may instantly vanish." A shadow passed over Ellen's face, and she answered in a voice that showed the remark-the tone of which conveyed more than the words themselves-to have been felt as a question of her constancy. "Can one whose heart is all unknown to me, one who must think of me with a feeling of dislike because of bonds and pledges, prove a nearer or a dearer friend than -? Ellen did not finish the sentence. But that was not needed. The glance of rebuking tenderness cast upon her companion, expressed all that her lips had failed to ut-"But you do not know me, Ellen," said the young man. "My heart says differently," was Ellen's lowly-spoken reply. Evelyn pressed the maiden's hand, and looked into her face with an earnest, loving expression. Mrs. Ravensworth, to whose care Ellen had been consigned, on the death of her father, had never been pleased with the unwise contract made by the parents of her niece and Edward Hamden. The latter had been for ten years in Paris and Italy, travelling and pursuing his studies. These being completed, in obedience to the will of a deceased parent, he was about returning to London to meet his future wife. No correspondence had taken place between the parties to this unnatural contract; and from the time of Edward's letter, when he announced to Mrs. Ravensworth his proposed visit, it was plain that his feelings were as

During the two or three days that Mrs Ravensworth and her niece remained at the watering-place, Ellen and young Evelyn met frequently; but, as far as possible at times when they supposed the particular attention of the aunt would not be drawn towards them in such a manner as to penetrate their love-secret. When, at length, they parted, it was with an understanding that they were to meet in London. On arriving there the thoughts of Ellen reverted more directly to the fact of Edward Hamden's approaching visit, and, in spite of all her efforts to remain undisturbed in her feelings, the near approach of this event agitated her. Mrs. Ravensworth frequently alluded to the subject, and earnestly pressed upon Ellen the consideration of her duty to her parent, as well as the consequences that must follow her disregard of the contract which had been made. But the more she talked on this subject, the more firm was Ellen in expressing her determination not to do violence to her feelings in a matter so vi-

The day at length came upon which Edward Hamden was to arrive. Ellen appeared, in the morning, with a disturbed air. It was plain to the closely observing eyes of her aunt, that she had not passed a night of refreshing sleep. "I trust, my dear niece," she said, after they had retired from the breakfast table, where but little food had been taken, "that you will not exhibit towards Edward, on meeting him, any of the pre-conceived and unjust antipathy you entertain. Let your feelings, at least, remain uncommitted for or against him."

Aunt Hannah, it is useless to talk to me in this way," Ellen replied, with more than her usual warmth. "The simple fact of an obligation to leve puts a gulph between us. My heart turns from him as from an enemy. I will meet him with politaness; but it must be cold and formal. To ask of me more, is to ask what I cannot give. I only wish that he possessed the munliness I should have had, if similarly situated. Were this so I should now be free by his act, not my own.

Seeing that all she urged but raade the feelings of Ellen oppose themselves more strongly to the young man, Mrs. Ravensworth ceased to speak upon the subject, and the former was left to brood with a deeply disturbed heart over the approaching interview with one who had come to claim a hand that she resolutely determined not to yield. About twelve o'clock Mrs. Ravensworth came into Ellen's room, and announced the arrival of Edward Hamden. The maiden's "If I could but be spared an interview ject of her vain regard never felt the threb | she murmured; "but that is more than I

Our parents betrothed us will be we were yet too young to give or withhold consent. Both, as we grew older, felt this pledge as a heart-sickening constraint. But we met as strangers and I saw that you were all my soul could desire. I sought your affection, and won it. No obligation but love now bind us."

The young upon then turned to Mrs. Ravensworth, and said-" You see, madam, that we are not strategers." Instead of looking surprised, Mrs. Ravensworth smiled calmly, and answered-" Noit would be singular if you were. Love-to-

FEMALE SOCIETY.

You know my opinion of female society. Without it we should degenerate into brutes. This observation applies with tenfold force to young men, and those who are in the prime of manheod. For, after a certain time of life, the literary man may make a shift (a poor one I grant) to do without the society of ladies. To a young man, nothing is so important as a spirit of devotion (next to his Creator) to some amiable woman, whose image may occupy his heart; guard it from pollution, which besets it on all sides. A man ought to choose his wife, as Mrs. Primrose did her wedding gown, for qualities that "wear well." One thing at least is true, that if matrimony has its cares, celebacy has no pleasure. A Newton, or a mere scholar may find employment in study; a man of literary taste can receive in books a powerful auxiliary; but a man must have a bosom friend, and children round him, to cherish and support the dreariness of old age .- John

" No, the city council allow me to charge

After the grave-digger left, Mr. Grip soiloquiced-"I don't care what the doctor says-lif I am to be shaved in that way, Ill not de at all !" And sure enough, he is again to be seen sitting at the door, looking for some poor unfortunate man with a constable after him - Spirit of the Times.

It is difficult to conceive anything more beautiful than the reply given by one in affection, when he asked how he bore it so well. "It lightens the stroke," said he, to draw near to him who handles the rod."

OF NEW YORK. BEVOLUTIONARY REMINISCENCES.

Finding that most of our old readen, as well as many of the present generation, have a relish for the recital of events connected with the Revolutionary struggle, we make further extracts from the Journals of the Continents! Congress.

The first meeting was at Philadelphia, Sept. 5, 1774. Miney of the first months were occurred in stating the grievances of the people of the Colonies. On the 14th October, Congress made a declaration of Rights and Resolves, the 4th of which was, that the Foundation of English Liberty and of all Pree Government, is, a Right in the People to participate in their Legislative Council.

On the 30th October, a Non-Intercourse Act was passed, under the sacred ties of Virtue, Honor, and Love of Country.

The second Resolve reads: "That we will neither import nor purchase any Slave imported after the 1stof December next; after which time we will wholly discontinue the Slave Trade, and will neither be concerned in it ourselves, nor will we hire our vessels, nor sell our commodities or manufactures to those who are concerned in it"

Congress sat with cloved doors, and the members were under the strictest obligations of secrecy. The battle of Lexington took place on the morning of the 19th of April 1775, and Congress sent a full detail of the tragedy, embraced in many depositions of witnesses, to the Hon. Benjamin Franklin at London, and desired him to have it printed and dispersed through every tows in England.

MONDAY, June 12, 1775: The Committee appointed to prepare a resolution for a Fast, brought in their report, which, being read, was agreed to. It is an eloquent production, (which we shall publish hereafter,) and concludes with the following sentence : "And that all America may soon behold a gracious interposition of Heaven for the redress of her many grievances, the restoration of her invaded rights, a reconciliation with the Parent State, on terms constitutional and honorable to both; and that her civil and religious privileges may be secured to the latest posterity."

On the 23d June, 1775, Congress resolved to issue n Continental Currency, in bills of from 1 to 20 dollars each, in the following form :

GEN. ARNOLD:

It will be recollected that Gen. Arnold's treachery was discovered through the capture of Maj. Abdre. It may not be so well known by the youth of our country that Arnold had previously distinguished himself signally in the American Army. Avarice and Applition seem to have been roling traits in his character, and these led to his downfall.

The first we know of him, he was Colonel at Crown Peant, N. Y., from which place he wrote to Cleagress, advising that body that he had certain intelligence that, on the 19th May, 1775, there were then 400 Regulars at St. Johns, making all possible pregarations to cross the Lake, and expected to be ined by snumber of Indians, with a design of reing Crown Point and Theonderings, and earnsalling for a reinforcement and supplies. Arnold during the year 1778. During the year 1779, complaints were urged against him by the supreme executive of Pennsylvania, and witnesses were examined. ALARM AT THE NATIONAL THEATRE.

The accounts from Washington agree that the alarm on Moneay night was frightful for a few moments. There had been some doubts always entertained as to the sufficiency and safety of the building, hastily repaired as it was for the entertainment of Jeany Lind, and therefore the cracking of a single plans was sufficient to create a panic. Just as the entertainment was about to commence, the crowd being dense, a portion of the seats and dooring gave way, and men and women were huddled together among the rubbish, which fell about six feet.

The first impression was, that the roof and walls had given way, and persons distant from the falling portion were aliaost as much alarmed as those in the midst of it. Hundreds made for the door, and the danger was that many would be crushed in the crowd. Others stood their ground, and waited their Mr. Ferguson had not only voted for but nominated fate patiently. Some days ago, half an hour or more was spent in the Senate of the United States, in an effort to force Mr. Yulee of Florida to cast his vote upon some pethion concerning the Fugitive Slave Law. THE CIRCUIT AND THE DISTRICT.

On Wednesday week, a will be seen from our le gislative columns, the works of electing a Judge for the 12th circuit, commenced on Monday, was completed. On the first ballot of that day, our popular and worthy representative in Congress, Hon. Richard Parker, was elected by a vote of precisely two to one over all others. He led the field from the start; showing it : disposition a large majority of the legislature had, without disparagement to the qualifications of his competitors, to do him honor for his just, moderate and firm course during the late trying scenes at Washington. In so doing, they but expressed the sentiments of nine tenths of his constituents, who recognize in men of his general views upon the compromise question, the surest and most practical defenders of Southern rights and of every genuine Southern principle. Apart from this point, Mr. Parker's selection appears, so far as our observation goes, to give more wide spread satisfaction among the people of the circuit than sometimes occurs. He has become, within a few years past, well known to them, and they recognize in his urbanity, decision, modesty, and clear-headedness, valuable qualifications for the bench. He has the respect and esteem of his brethren of the bar, and will assume the ermine under fair auspices. We presume, though not authorized to say, that Mr. P. will not feel it necessary to resign his seat of the vacancy, and electing a substitute. Moreover, should the delay be greatly shortened, questions may still arise, within two weeks or one, on which every Southern vote should be cast.

[Winchester Virginian. JUDGE OF THE 13TH DISTRICT.

"MATOAX," the Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg Democrat, gives the following sketch of the Legislative emeute gotten up by Mr. Ferguson, in the House of Delegates on Monday, while they were attempting to elect a judge: Matters were moving along very quietly, and, at the expiration of the second ballot, all supposed that an election would soon be made. But Mr. Ferguson of Logan and Boone, made a speech which acted like a fire brand, exciting considerable feeling and causing an animated and long debate. Mr. Ferguson did not understand why Mr. Tucker, who was the lowest candidate, and who had, under the rule, been dropped for two successive ballots, should be achered to with so much pertinency by his friends. He could not understand the reason. upless it were that which was whispered around the Hall, that Mr. Parker having voted for the Compromise measures in the last Congress, and Mr. Tucker being opposed to those measures, the friends of Ar. Tucker desired to defeat Mr. Parker on the ground of his advocacy of those measures! This took the whole House by surprise, and none more so than the friends of Mr. Tucker, who were indignant at the imputation, and who very readily gave vent to that indignation. Among them were Messrs. Flourney, Speed and R. I. Cocke. Several gentlemen who voted for Mr. Parker, among whom were Messrs. Massey, of Warren and Clarke, Crutchfield and Cox, stated that they had no idea of introducing such issues into this election, and as mation of a plan of Gen. Arnold for purchasing a evidence of it, they made known the fact that, while to support him, they were heartily and bitterly opposed to the compromise, although for the sake of Union and peace they were willing to "acquiesce" sion, however, had the effect of sending the House far out to sea, from which they have not yet returned. When they will again see land I cannot predict. Just as they were about to take the fifth ballot a motion was made and carried for adjourn-

We quote the above chiefly because it serves to exhibit, what every observer of our Legislature during its present session must be fully convinced of, that acquiescence in the Compromise measures of Congress is the fast position of all parties in Virginia, no matter how violent may have been their declarations. The Governor's Message proved that he was for acquiescence; the debates on Mr. Ason's election to the Senate proved that even he leaders of the Calhoun wing were for acquiesence; and now it seems that it is expedient to avow the doctrine of acquiescence in such a matter as the selec-

Yesterday, the same business came up, and the disposition of the House of Delegates to make Mr. Parker's advocacy of the Compromise bills a recommendation rather than an objection, was still more decidedly manifested. It being evident that the were determined to elect none but a Democrat, the name of Mr. Conrad was withdrawn, and the large vote by which Mr. Parker was elected may be received as conclusive evidence that his patriotic course in supporting the Compromise measures has given no umbrage to the Legislature or the People of his State. We regret sincerely that the advancement of our friend Mr. Tucker should have been impeded by his supposed heterodoxy on the grave question of the Union; for, as far as personal considerations are concerned, there is no gentleman whom we should better like to see promoted to stations of honour.

[Richmond Times. ELECTION OF JUDGE.

We subjoin a portion of the detate on Monday week upon, the election of Judge for this District. We regret the want of room in not being able to give the entire debate. But the following is a sample, and gives a development of causes and effects :-

Mr. Ferguson thought that an extraordinary game seemed to be playing. The curious spectacle was exhibited of a gentleman who had not the support of a single delegate from his circuit being dropped toder the rule of the House, and twice renominated by his friends. It was rumored that Mr. Tucker was supported, because he was opposed to the Compromise measures of the last Congress; and that his election would be sustained by some on that ground. He wished to know if there was any toundation for this report. It so, he would vote for any Whig sooner than Mr. Tucker. Mr. Barbour denied that the friends of Mr. Tucker were influenced by any such designs. It was true that he was opposed to that system of measures, but his election was not urged on that ground, but because of his qualifications for the office Mr. Ferguson rejoined. He had no wish to introduce this question and make it an issue. But when he saw the unusual coarse pursued by the friends of Mr. Tucker; and connected it with the rumor circulating in the Hall, it could but excite surprise in his mind. If that issue was attempted to be made the friends of the Compromise would meet it promptly. He repeated that he would vote for a Whig, under the circumstances, sooner than any one sustained upon such grounds Mr. Cocke had voted for Mr. Tucker, because he admired him, and thought him perfectly qualified for the office. If he had reason to suppose that he was unfriendly to the Union, he would not touch him with a ten foot pole. But he did not believe that he was. He considered the idea that the sunporters of Mr. Tucker were influenced by such considerations as had been suggested, to be utterly absurd, and cited as a proof of it his own vote, and that of the gentleman from Lanchburg, both of whom were friendly to the Compromise. He referred to the fact that during the late Senatorial election. Mr. James M. Mason, whose opinions on that sub-Mr. Ferguson interrupted. LETTERS OF ADVICE TO A YOUNG FRIEND.

It is with great pleasure we announce to our numerous readers that we have obtained copies of several letters addressed by this distinguished man to a friend on the subject of his early education .-We have never seen, in the writings of any one, more beauty of style, strength of thought, or sound admonition, than is to be found in these letters.

Although but a vouth when he died, he had been a Reporter in the higher Courts of Virginia, author of "Sketches of Virginia Statesmen," and, at the time of his death, was Professor of Law at the University. He was the broth r-in-law of the celebrated William Wirt, with whom he carried on the extensive corres sondence published in Kennedy's Life of that distinguished orator and statesman:

WINCHESTER, 4th May, 1816. -: Your letter of April 11th reaches me at a time that I was too much pressed by business to do the justice to it which it deserves. I am glad to hear you express a determination to improve your mind. Without education man is little better, if indeed, he be not worse, than the beasts of the field. And you may acquire more real knowledge, and form more valuable habits in one year at your present stage of life, than you can in three times that space to years hence. It will always give me pleasure to afford you any aid in the prosecution of your studies, which my loager experience may enable me. But you must believe and remember from the commencement, to the end of your ridiculous by its favours. Do all you can for your-

that whatever is to be done, must be achieved by your own laborious, and indefatigable exertions. Faber quisque fortune suci," is a boastful saying. because with all our exertions we are often thwarted. but with the best fortune in the world, unless we employ it well, we are only made so much the more self, and leave the rest to God. The first care of education should be to preserve health; for without it, all the learning and glory in the world are but mockeries. For this purpose, if von are as studions as I am glad to hear you say you are, you should live cliefly, tho' not entirel; upon vegetable diet, and use frequent, but moderate exercise, in riding, walking, jumping and all the sports of the school, except wresting, which is apt to break one's bones, and cariain moreover to end in quarrels. Next to health you should be most particular in forming your manners so as to be agreeable to every person with whom you associate. Respectful to the old, tender to the young, and neither familiar nor austere, but polite and good natured to all your equals. Be not too impatient to form opinions of any thing, and be always diffident and mild in your mode of expressing them .-You cannot be too careful of not taking up any prejudice to the character of another, and even if you feel, endeavor to conquer it; and never unless you are compelled from respect to your own character let him perceive it. Believe nothing merely because you have heard another express the same opinion, but consider the reasons upon which the opinion is founded. Be always willing to assist boys younger than yourself in their difficulties, for nothing is a better token of the goodness of one's heart than readiness to oblige.

In your conversation avoid a rapid inarticulate, or a slow and lazy utterance, speak distinctly, but not loud, and make yourself heard and understood, rather by the precision of your emphasis, and the perfection of your accentuation than by bawling .-Listen always to every thing which is spoken before you begin to reply. And never reply by merely dissenting but give the reason of the difference of your opinion. As to your duty to God Ishall leave other about politics or religion. Give the grounds for your own opinions, if you choose argue against his, but never quarrel because you cannot think alike.

As to reading, you should commit to memory the most beautiful passages of Ovid, such as the description of the Palace of the Sun in the beginning of the 2d Book; and the certimen between Ajax and Ulysses in the 13th. You should also make written translations, not only of the words but of the spirit, and transfuse, if you can, all the elegance and vigor of the original into your own language. I shall expect to see some of these translations when I visit - in the summer. You should also write ecompositions of your own upon subjects which require thinking and reasoning, and not merely put o many words together almost without any meaning. You should practice in Arithmetic not only with a pencil and slate, but by your head without any pencil so as to multiply; divide, &c.. with rapidity and accuracy. You should begin the elements of Geometry, and draw the figures well from the beginning. You must learn to write straight too. You may read with advantage, (but it must be done slowly, and deliberately, and not by hurrying on to shew how quick you are,) Rollin's ancient History. Avoid the silly practice which boys have of running over what they read without remembering it. It is waste of time, health, and eve sight - Remember that whatever you read should be so perfectly impressed upon the memory that you will rarely have occasion to look at it again. But I will give you fuller and more particular directions when I find you have profited by these. Give my love to your Papa and Mama and all our relations-and write to me from time to time as to any particular ifficulties you find. Be especially kind and attentive to your cousin -----, as he is your relation and absent from his father and mother. You should be as affectionate to each other as brothers; if you disagree, it is your fault, because you are the older. Yours affectionately.

no display of supposed knowledge and scientific terms, but whenever it was necessary to use those terms he gave a full and lucid explanation of them, and at the same time making it evident that there was more meaning in the purely scientific appellatives than in those commonly in use by men unlearned in the science. In the first place he spoke of the laws of nature, and their intimate and necessary connexion one with the other, the forcible attributes existing to their several and general continuance. He then treated elaborately of the composition of soils, and the necessary compounds essential to the production of certain grains, grasses, &c., going fully into the base, and acids which constitute all soils, and showing the necessity of all to exist in its proportionate quantum to remunerate the farmer

for his toil expended in the preparation of the soil for crops. The remarks on this portion of the lecture were beautifully illustrated by maps :

in the first place, showing the affinities of metals

and their compounds for the acids and alkali's and on a second map was represented the various substrata met with in the varieties of soil, from the purely sandy through all its gradations to the insoluble red clay-a variety, which, fortunately Doctor had gratified his audience for more than an hour, which seemed only a few moments, in this intellectual treat, he requested his audience to ask any questions on which their minds were not fully satisfied. Various and varied questions were then propounded by his delighted hearers, to all of which he gave answers, and not only answers, but the reasons why and wherefore, until all were satisfied, and retired to think on the subject fully with a view of having the mind gratified to its full extent on Monday, when the Doc-

DR. BAER'S LECTURE ON AGRICUL-TURAL CHEMISTRY. At a meeting of the Valley Agricultural Society on Friday, the 17th instant, after the society was called to order, the President introduced Dr. WM. BAER, of Carroll county, Md, who had been invited by the Society to visit this portion of Virginia as their guest. The Doctor thereupon delivered a lecture on Agricultural Chemistry, and its application to Agriculture, which was replete with scientific research. He commenced by illustrating the beautiful truths connected with the mary of its provisions: science of Chemistry, and the simplicity of its application to the knowledge of the soils, and showing how readily each and every farmer may make himself acquainted with this important subject. The beauty of the Doctor's lecture consisted, in part, of its being unlike most discourses from scientific men, from the fact that he desired

This body took possession of the Universalist Church on Friday, and held but brie sessions, principally engaged in debate on printing its proceedings. If the prolixity thus far, upon inferior topics, be any evidence of the cataract of words yet to come the people may pray to be relieved from reading

NEW POSTAGE BILL.

The House of Representatives have been mainly engaged for the last several weeks, in remoding the Postage Bill. The contest has been waged with considerable warmth by the contestng parties, but the result in the House, as there seems to be little doubt entertained will be the case in the Senate, has been a complete triumph or the advocates of cheap postage. On Friday, he bill as appended, reducing the rates to three ents for letters not weighing over half ounce, or all distances, passed the House by a vote of 130 for, to 75 against. The following is a sum-

Section first provides that after the 20th June. 1851, the postage on a letter sent through the mail, and not weighing more than half an ounce, shall be three cents; and the same for every additional half ounce or fraction of a half ounce; that no post-office or mail route shall be discontinued; and that the compensation of no postmaster shall be diminished in consequence of the Section the second fixes the postage on newspapers, magazines and other periodicals and printed books, at one cent for every newspaper, &c., weighing two ounces, and an additional cent for every additional ounce, and that books weighing not over thirty ounces be deemed mailable matter. It further provides, that newspapers circulated within the State or Territory where printed, shall pay half such postage, and when mailed within the county, or within thirty miles of the place where printed, shall circulate free of postage, when sent to subscribers direct; and further that when the postage on magazines and other periodicals shall have been pre-paid,

Section the seventh authorizes the Postmaster General to establish post routes and offices of deposite and delivery, and the appointment of carriers in cities and large towns, who shall deliver etters at a charge not exceeding two cents each; provided the compensation allowed shall not exceed the receipts.

WORLD'S FAIR.

The following account of the dimensions of the building in which the exhibition of the World's Fair will be held, is taken from the engraving of it, in the Patent Office at Washington. We believe

The dimensions of the Plan 1848 ft. long by 408 wide, exclusive of Machine Room, 936 th by 48 ft wide. The height of the principal centre roof is 66 ft., and of transept roof 108 ft. The space occupied on the Plan is 752,832 superficial feet; and the space provided on the Galleries is 102,528ft. The total quantity of exhibition surface is about 21 acres. The total cubic content of building is 33,000,000 feet. The contract amount for use, waste, and maintenance is £79,800, ($354,666) or little more 9-16 of a penny per cubic foot. The total value if permapently retained, is £150,000, ($666,666,) or rather less than 11d per cubic foot. The quantity of glass required will be about 900,000 superficial feet, weighing upwards of 400 tons; 3,300 cast iron columns, varying from 14 ft 6 in. to 20 ft. long; 2224 cast iron girders, 1123 intermediate bearers for supporting the floors; 34 miles of gutters; and 202 miles of sash bars. The length of the Table for exhibition will be nearly 8 miles, including the Galleries.

Judging from the engraving, it will be a magnificent structure. It was designed by Joseph Paxton, Esq., of Chatsworth.

joint order of the day, proceeded by joint tote with the Senate, to the election of a Judge or the 13th Indicial Circuit.

Mr. Massey, of C. and W., nominated Rich'd. Parker, Esq., for the office. Mr. Wall nominated Robert Y Conrad, Esq , and trusted it would be the pleasure of the Legislature to bestow the office upon that gentleman. He deprecated the introduction of party politics into this election.

Mr. Synnon nominated Richard E. Byrd, Esq., of Frederick. Mr. Willis rose, not for the nurpose of seconding either of the nominations made, but briefly to assign his reasons for the course he had pursued a day or two since, in relation to this election, and, which he should pursue now. COUNTERFEIT VIRGINIA MONEY.

Henry Dearing and George Wise have been arrested at St. Louis for carrying on the busines of counterfeiting. The Reveille says:

"They had in their possession counterfeit 85 bills on the Merchants' and Mechanics' Bank of Wheeling to the amount of $95, and $60 in good money. The bills have blue backs, one marked A. and made payable to A. Bone. The paper is course, and the engraving is, in the main, well executed, tho' somewhat rough. They have the appearance of being new."

There are a number of these counterfeits in circulation in Baltimore, and our readers should be on their guard:

HON. RICHARD PARKER.

" X." The Washington correspondent of the Bal-more Sun. says-The election of the Hon. Richard Parker, as dge of the Supreme Court of Virginia, is viewed as a great triumph of the law and order party in the Old Dominion, and a most severe and religiously deserved rebuke of the nullifiers. Mr. Parker was elected after a fight, after his position had been clearly understood, and not by a species of chioscuto which concealed his true position as other distingaished men occasionally succeed in commanding

ne suffrages of their countrymen. There was no

horas paras in the matter; hence the victory of Mr.

Parker is so gratifying, honorable and characteristic of the highly intelligent body which elected him." Who, remarks the Alexandria Gazette, can fail to notice the calm, consistent and faithful course of the President and his Cabinet, in their administration of the affairs of the government? So "clear in their great office," are they, that we really see or hear very little, if any objection, even from the political opponents of the President, to his public conduct. We seem hardly ever to have had a better President, or an able Cabinet. It is a Whig administration, whose ends and aims are Proposition of MR. HUNTER for County Courts and County Organization.

The County Courts, as a system, and upon the footing of constitutional courts, to be preserved, but subject to the following modifications, to wit: The Justices of the Peace to be elected by the peo ple, and to serve for the term of two years. Each county to be divided into convenient precincts, as nearly equal in territory and population as practi-cable, not less than ten or more than thirty in each county; one Justice to be elected for each precinct, who shall reside in the same.

For the election of Constables, in like manner by the people, two or more of these precincts to be uni-ted, so as to give a convenient number in each county; one Constable to be elected for each united precinct, to remain in office for the same term as that prescribed for Justices of the Peace; and to act an such over the whole of the county.

An Overseer of the Poor and Surveyor of Roads for each precinct, to be elected by the people, to remain in office for the same term as prescribed for Justices of the Peace. The election of the foregoing officers to be held at the same time, and within the respective precincts. For each county to be elected by the people, a Clerk of the County Court, a Surveyor of the county, a Commissioner of the Revenue, a State's Attorney, and an Escheator, to remain in office respectively as follows, to wit: The Clerk for five years: the Surveyer for five years; the Commissioner of the Revenue for two years: State's Attorney for two years, and the Escheator for five years. Each of the foregoing officers to be re-eligible. A Sheriff in like manner to be elected by the pecple, to remain in office for two years, and to be ineligible for the term next succeeding that for which he acted as such. Sheriffs appointed to fill a vacancy, not to come under this restriction. A pecuniary assessment in aid of the county levy to be laid biennially by the County Court upon the office of Sheriff. Vacancies occurring in any of the foregoing offices to be filled by the County Court, the appointees to continue in office until the next succeeding regular period of election, and the whole number of Justices to be summoned for the purpose of making such appointments. Justices of the Peace to be compensated as may be prescribed by law, otherwise than by receiving fees for services. The salaries and fees of the other said officers to be fixed by law. The jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace acting singly, both civil and criminal, to be prescribed by law; but in civil matters not to exceed, as to the value of the thing in controversy, the sum of $30,-

The office of Coroner to be abolished, and the Justices of the Peace in each precinct to act as Coroners, in respect to persons coming to their death by violence; and in case of absence or inability to act any other Justice to act. VIRGINIA AND THE UNION. A series of resolutions was introduced in the House of Delegates, on Saturday, by Mr. Bolling of Buckingham, embracing several very important propositions touching the position of the State with respect to her federal relations. A motion to postpone these resolutions indefinitely was first rejected by two votes, and afterwards carried by one. The result is explained, chiefly by the fact that the resolutions took the house somewhat by surprise .-We apprehend there will be no difficulty in obtaining an unequivocal expression of the determination of the State to abide by the Compromise adopted by Congress, and to insist upon the faithful observance of all its parts.- Richmond Times.

Contradictory statements having been made in regard to the case of the fugitive slave recently returned to our city, it has been thought proper to reconcile these statements as well as may be. The tedious delay and heavy expence attending the case were rather accidental. Had it been practicable to have carried the fugitive on the day of his arrest before Judge Betts or Judge Judson, or before some experienced Commissioner, the case Would most probably have been disposed of in a few hours; certainly, during the first or second day. The expenses borne by the committee exceeded $500, while the costs incurred by the claimant amounted to about 300, which sum would also, perhaps, have been paid by the committee, had it been deemed proper by the claimant to have made it known. There was also manifested, much personal kindness towards the agent, by several members of this committee, together with other citizens of New York, which he will long remember with the liveliest gratitude. And, in conclusion, he desires to say, that he undertook this agency from no wish to test the act of Congress nor the sincerity of the professed Northern Union men; nor from any personal interest whatever, but wholly from a sense of high and very peculiar obligations to Dr. Smith; and that now in reviewing calmly the whole proceeding in the case he can find no word of complaint against the conduct or bearing towards himself of any respectable man with whom he came in contact while: WM. WINDOW-SASH FASTENERS.

THE undersigned have obtained Letters Patent I for a most valuable Air-Tiont Sash Fasten-ER, by which you are enabled to raise the windoweash to any required height and hold it fast, without cutting holes in the frame, and at the same time to let down the upper Sash so as to let the heaten air escape at the top and admit the cool air at the bottom, and also make the Sash perfectly air-tight and keep it from rattling. Who is it that has not had his rest broken by the clattering of the window-sash in a stormy night, to say nothing of the amount of air admitted thereby ? This Fastener has great advantages over any other sash stopper, giving you complete control of the sash; and will accompdate itself to any state of the weather, wet or dry-the back of the sash being grooved, and a strip inserted which is forced out against the frame, thus accommodating itself to the frame, and behind this strip is an eccentric or can fixed on a lever which passes through the sash, and raising or depressing the lever fastens or loosens the sash and enables you to lock it fast at any point. Such is the estimate put on this discovery that we have applied them to several hundred windows, notwithstanding but a few weeks have elapsed since we get the fixtures and even before we obtained the patent, and many more ave been engaged as soon as we can procul-We would now say to the public that we have made arrangements for our castings with Mr.

FOR SALE. THE undersigned offers for sale his valuable I Farm, situated in the fertile county of Jefferson, about five miles from the flourishing towns of Charlestown, Harpers-Ferry and Shepherdstown, and containing about Five Handred and Fifty Acres. It is as productive as any land in the Valley .-There are about forty acres of rich meadow, and the balance of the cleared land, except the part in Wheat, is well set in grass-a fair proportion is in wood, for fencing and fuel. The finest Cumberland Coal, can atways be procured at prices which make it cheaper than wood.

The Elk Branch, a stream of sufficient volume to propel several Mills, flows through the centre of the Farm, and the Baltimore and Obio Rail Road follows its course. There are Store-Houses, a De pot, and Dwellings-apart from the Mansionwhich rent for mere than $600. The improvements are comfortable, embracing the Mansion and the usual Out-Houses, and a never failing branch of water passes through the Stable yard. The springs, convenient to any of the Buildings, are numerous. Whether viewed in reference to quality of soil, beauty of scenery, refined society, or facilities to market, it may with truth be said to be one of the most desirable Farms in the Valley of Virginia .-It could be conveniently divided into two or even three Tracts. The time of travel from Baltimore, is only about five hours. All communications addressed to the sub-

My object in writing this note is to say that I have never said or done any thing to induce any one to think that I had the slightest claim whatever, to the land in question. All the claim I ever had. I sold to my father some years since, and I think he paid me a full and fair price for it, and the Deed is of record in the Clerk's Office of the County Court of Jefferson. I have have now no claim of any sort, kind or description to the said land, either in law or equity. JOHN W. D. DUFFIELD.

Agency at Washington.

THE undersigned, having located at Washington City, offers his services to the public as an Agent and Prosecutor of the various claims against the several departments of the General Govern-

Pensions, Bounty Lands, Commutation, Half Pay, &c., for Revolutionary Services. Arrearages of Pay, &c under the Way of 1812, the several Indian Wars, and the Mexican War. As it now seems to be altogether probable that the present Congress will pass an act granting lands, &c., to the officers and soldiers of the militia and volunteers in the war of 1812, it will be well for all persons who served in that capacity, who are now living, and the representatives of deceased persons, to be prepared with an authentic statement of their services, and proof of identity-stating the corps in which they served, the officer or officers under whom, the regiment, and period of service.

The evidence of identity, &c., should be attested by a justice of the peace, certified to be such by the clerk of the Court, with a county or corporation seal annexed: together with a power of attorney to act for the claimant. In order to afford all proper facilities to claimants the undersigned will furnish blanks properly prepared for filling up and signature. The subscriber thus addresses his numerous friends throughout Virginia and elsewhere, assuring them of promptitude and unremitting efforts. Letters, to ensure attention, must in all cases be post paid. The fees will be reasonable. Address JOHN S. GALLAHER, Junior. Washington City, May 17, 1850.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION. The Bounty Land Bill Passed.

War of 1812, &c. THE Bill granting BOUNTY LAND to the Soldiers (whether regulars, volunteers or militia) engaged in the War of 1812, '13 and '14, and in the Florida or Seminole War of 1836, '37. 38, &c., and Gen. Wayne's Indian War, or any War since 1790, having finally passed Congress, the un-designed being in possession of all the forms, and understanding fully all the requirements of the various offices of the Government, will attend promptly to procuring the same for claimants. In case of the death of the Soldier, the Widow or Minor Children will be entitled. Those Soldiers who engaged to serve twelve months, or during the war, and actually served nine months, will receive one hundred and sixty acres; and those who engaged to six months, and actually served four months, will receive eighty acres; and those who engaged to serve for any, or an indefinite period, and actually served one month, will receive forty acres. As the claimant or warrantee, is not allowed the privilege of selling or assigning away his certificate or warract, but instead, is compelled to locate, or have his Land located; and as considerable delay and risk in procuring good and advantageously located Land, will be the consequence, the subscriber in order to obviate this difficulty, has made arrangements with competent and responsible gentlemen in the West, to select and locate Lands specially, thereby securing prime farming and marketable Land; after which, the Patent for the same, or the Land, can be sold if desired, at full value; thus saving $50 to $100 on the claim, besides guarding against Land Speculators, and many unforeseen and inevitable difficulties that will otherwise occur. Forms and Instructions furnished-the Warrant or Certificate obtained-the same located, and the Patent or Land sold at full price; the Fee for the whole services will be quite moderate.

All business attended to promptly. A share of patronage is solicited. Address. post-paid, JOHN S. GALLAHER, Junior. Washington, D. C., Oct. 11, 1850.

Also, Caronic Constitutional Disorders will be removed by this Preparation. In this preparation are strongly concentrated all the Medicinal properties of Sarsaparilla, combined with the most effectual aids, the most salutary productions, the most potent simples of the vegetable kingdom; and it has been so fully tested, not only by patients them-selves, but also by Physicians, that it has received their arequalified recommendations and the approbation of the ublic ; and has astablished on its own merits a reputation for VALUE and Efficacy far superior to the various compounds bearing the name of Sarsaparilla. Diseases have been cuted such as are not furnished in the refor the millions still soffering and struggling with disease. It purifies, cleanses, and strengthens the foun-

itself to all similarly afflicted : Southport, Conn., Jan F1, 1818. Messrs. Sands : Gentlemen-Sympathy for the afflicted induces rae to inform you of the remarkable cure effected by your Satsaparilla in the case of my wife.— She was severely afflicted with the scrofula on different parts of the body; the glands of the fleck were greatly enlarged and her limbs much swollen. After saffering over a year and fading no relief from the remedies used, the discase attacked one leg, and below the knee supporated. Her physician advised it should be laid open, which was done, but without any permanent benefit. Is this situation we heard of, and were induced to use Sand's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle produced a decided and favorable effect, relieving her more than any prescription she had ever taken, and be-fore she had used six bottles, to the asienishment and delight of her friends, she found her health quite re-stored. It is now over a year since the cure was effected, and her health remains good, showing the dis-ease was thoroughly eradicated from the system. Our neighbors are all knowing to these facts, and think very highly of Sand's Sarsaparilla. Yours with respect, JULIUS PIKE. Extract from a letter received from Mr. N. W. Herris, a gentleman well known in Louisa county, Va .: "Gentlemen-I have cured a negro boy of mine with your Sarsaparida, who was attacked with Scrofula, and of a scrofulous fainly. Yours truly, Fredericks Hall, Va., July 17, 1848." SAND'S SARSAPARILLA. - It seems almost unnecessary to direct attention to an article so well known, and so deservedly popular, as this preparation, but patients often who wish to use the extract of Satsaparilla are induced to try worthless compounds bearing the name, but containing little or none of the virtue of this valuable osot; and we think we cannot confer a greater benefit on our feaders than in directing their attention to the advertisement of the Messrs. Sands in another column. The hottle has recently been enlarged to hold a quart, and those, who wish a really good article will find concentrated in this all the medicinal value of the The experience of thousands has proved its etficacy in curing the various diseases for which it is recommended; and at the present time more than any other, perhaps, is this medicine useful, in preparing the system for a change of season.
