POETRY. SPARE THE FLOWERS.

'Tis well, young girls, your rosy hours To pass in frolic gay; But, heedful, spata the tender flowers That blossom in your way. Oh, crush them not! but love them well, And list to what they say; A warning tale to you they tell,

Of sad and swift decay. For you like these fair fragile flowers, But blossom for a day : Like theirs are brief your sunny hours, Like them you pass away.

And though you idly put them by,

In life's fresh morning hours, A time shall be when you will sigh For these unheeded flowers. When sorrows come, and friends retire.

And early dreams depart, And hopes are fled, you'll then desire To press them to your heart. And they shall wake your dreams again, To bless your closing hours,

MISCELLANY.

When none of all you loved remain,

But these sweet sister flowers.

THE SECOND BEGINNING. The "best room" of a plain house was set off" with the least, the neatest, and the cheapest furniture, that one could desire to behold. Two young girls sat upon two low crickets, beside their aunt, who was giving them some lessons in the ungenteel, but no less useful employment of darning stockings. Mr. Morris, a man of meek and gentle spirit, came in and sat by the open window. He was scarcely thirty-five years of age, but looked full ten years older, he was so worn. He had some marks of intense anxiety upon his brow, and some lines made by feeble health and bedily fatigue. But his mind was full of strength and activity.

"Unele," said one of the girls, "don't be troubled on our account, for we have pretty much made up our minds that we shall not care to go to school this autumn. We can stay at home and help aunt, and perhaps we can earn something towards paying our tuition the next quarter."

"It is very kind of you girls to be so thoughtful," replied Mr. Morris, his face brightening up as if a welcome idea had come into his mind. "It is very kind of you, Lizzie. Though I have wronged you by spending and losing the little fortune your dear mother left, yet you are not impatient, but always ready to wait till I can 'make a turn' By the next session, I am determined that every dollar due my creditors shall be paid. Then, if I have a cent above the cost of our daily bread, it shall be apprepriated to your education.' "Thank you, uncle! thank you " both of the girls exclaimed at the same breath. At this point of the conversation, Mrs. Morris wiped away the tears that were stealing down her cheeks, for she, too, had the matter deeply at heart. "Husband," said she, "it will be such a joyful day for us when we can feel that we owe no man, and that the world doesn't look upon us as dishonest or desirous of possessing the property of others. Pon't buy the shawl you spoke of this morning, for my old one will do for the coming winter. You know we don't go to church to display our dress. Don't buy any cloth-the old garments can be patched up and made tidy and comfortable. Den't get any sugar or any ten, for those we can do without. Nothing will destroy a man's spirit of progress so much as the consciousness that his wife and family go with the rest of the world against him, whenever he makes a mistake or failure in life. And especially disheartening is it, when the "other self" is regardful only of self, and is bent upon display of furniture, and decorations of the body, without a thought of the manner in which that money is made. Spring time was never brighter than the following-never brought more quiet peace to one heart, than to that of Mr. Morris .-Never had industry and frugality been so fully recompensed as his. The most striking evidence of what his bard struggling resolution had accomplished within a few years, was that the hungry creditors, who had been appalled by his failure, were now every one

" Mr. Morris," said a fine looking elderly gentleman, as he pushed the shop door open, and wiped alternately his gold-bowed spectacles and his perspiring forehead. "Mr. Morris, I have dropped in to tell you how much happiness I wish you in your new position in life. May all the success one could desire, attend your second beginning. Ne man can fail who has so much determination to do right as you have manifested all through your late misfortunes and hardships. It is a strong man who will, notwithstanding the wrongs others practice upon him, and the inducements always laid out to attract one into bye and cross ways, still keep plodding on the straight and narrow read. Here, sir, is a token of my confidence in you -- the money you sent me this morning-take and use it. I will not receive it from you. of all his senses. After a while, the gossips and meddlers in the neighborhood, such as Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Diggleton, and Miss Mumphries, all wendered how Mr. Morris could be doing so brisk a business. How his wife could be performing so many deeds of charity. How those two nieces could always attend the first schools, and deck themselves in fine lawns and French slippers? What there could be so attractive about them, that the sens of the wealthy Squire Morgan should be toting them about, and making them rich presents? Indeed they were not unlike (these meddlers) a certain set of professional men, who put forth their best endeavers to make the most of a small case.

Rich and wise men eat and drank at his table. But he had no pride. Neither he nor his estimable wife spurned or forget those when they had known and loved in their days of poverty.

"This, Mr. Morris, is the happiest day I have seen for full half a century," said old Mr. Morgan, the same gentleman who wired his spectacles and brew on a former occasion in the shoemaker's shall shop. "This is a great day for us, sir-my two sens marrying your two nieces. Such a glorious sight not often arrests one's attention in the hurry and bustle of a short life."

of his spirits was entirely forgiven. What if Mr. Morris did have the misfortune to fail in business when he was a younger man, when he had but little experience. and when his fellow-men were sharper and more wicked than he, when most men thought the old adage of "doing by others as you matter was made known on 'Change, there were wry faces, remenstrances, swearing, &c ? glory to be reached only in the presence of the Most High. BE GENTLE.

A man with an irritable temper is more to be pitied than one bowed down to the earth by poverty. The latter evil can be ameliorated, while the former is a devil that makes havor with all the finer qualities of heart and mind, taking the helm from reason, and running the possessor perpetually against rocks and rough corners. A petulant man in a family of children, even of his own, is worse than a case of the small pox, from his influence on their young minds. The old adage, "as the old cock crows the young ones learns," is a grand truth: and we see it sure to be imitated faithfully by the little that followed was like that heard pulling a watchers for parental squalis, and a nest of hornets is made where peace and harmony alone should dwell. The fractions man should be consigned to valerian and penitence, and kept by force from spreading his contagion. What right has a man to poison the happiness any more than the food of his family? The text might be made to apply to all the relations of life where misery is cultivated, and growling made the order of days. There are communities and parties where the old saw about "dogs with sere heads," would give but a faint indication of their condition of mind. Wo need a society for the promotion of good nature more than for any other philanthropic purpose.

"THE DEAF MUTES + While in Staunton, Va, a few weeks ago. I had the pleasure of visiting the Virginia Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, located in that place. I should do my own feelings injustice if I failed to express the pleasure I experienced in the visit, and in becoming acquainted with the teachers and pupils. I was especially interested in the Deaf Mute department. The good order, cheerfulness and animation of the pupils, their thirst for knowledge and proficiency in the various studies pursued, and the zeal and patiens perseverance of the teachers, speak well for the management and discipline of the Insti-tution. One of the most pleasing and impressive scenes I ever witnessed, was the morning religious service in the chapel of the Institution. The pupils were nearly all seated in the ball when I entered. One of them invited me by signs to take a seat. I looked around upon the Silent Congregation. I never saw a more cheerful assemblage .-In the beautiful language of signs they conversed with each other of the loving kindness of the good God to them, his children: The Scripture lesson of the morning was written on the large black-board which hung over the platform, at the end of the reom. Soon their Principal, a man with one of those serene, benevolent looking countenances which win our love at the first glimpse of them, entered the chapel. All eyes were turned towards him as he ascended the platform, and the strict attention paid to him, and the repeated signs of assent and cordial sympathy with the sentiments expressed in the pantomimic discourse which he address; would have others do by you," was old-fash- ed to them, in explanation and illustration ioned and nonsenical? MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE. The New Orleans Picayune contains an account, in a letter from Nicaragua of the marriage of the Princess Adelide Bletilda Louisa Squashee, sister to the se-called Mos-

Every preparation being made for the celebration, the princess entered the palace hall unattended exeept by her pct goat. Her beautiful black hair greased, with possum fat, hung in profusion over her shoulders, and contrasted finely with her splendid dress, which was made of a coffee sack. On the middle finger of her right hand she word a rich and costly tire ring, made from a sardine box. The guests were all assembled, but the happy lover bad not yet arrived. ported by many voters.

Sufficient returns have been received, to warrant us in saying, that the "Amended Constitution" has been adopted by a majority of thousands; and as the election for members of the General Assembly under it, will take place on the 8th of December, it is time you were preparing for the contest. There is no doubt that our opponents will present a formidable opposition, and it therefore behooves you to exert yourselves in order to successfully maintain your ancient and cherished principles.

We cannot believe that Jefferson will desert the faith of your fathers -- on the contrary, we teel assured, that with a proper organization, your majority will be increased. We trust, then, that in your primary meetings, you will not fail to elect such delegates to the nominating convention, as will represent and reflect the wishes of the entire party. Do this, and the victory will surely be yours.

The daty of this Convention will be to select a candidate in the place of HENRY BERRY, E-q., who declined the nomination for the House of Delegates. The Convention to be held on Saturday the 8th of November, and the precinct meetings as follows :-Charlestown-On Friday, Nov. 7 3 o'clock, P. M.,

THE WORDS OF A PATRIOT.

John M. Borrs, Esq., the defeated Whig candidate in the Richmond district, has addressed a letter to his Whig f-iends, in which he undertakes to account for his defeat, and announces his retirement from the political field. He thinks his overthrow was accomplished principally by these who took exception to his course in the Convention, on the basis question-and because he attempted to act the part of a statesman, rather than that of a dem-

But his Whiggery is not at all shaken by his personal discomfiture, and he gives to his Whig personal friends a piece of advice which they certainly will not fail to follow. With the Whig party (he says) he always expects to act-with it, he has always acted. No treatment, however ungrateful, can affect his principles, or drive him from its support, as long as those principles are cherished by the party.

But the part of Mr. Bott's address which is of general interest, and which we quote with approbation, as a specimen of manly eloquence and genuine patriotism, is the following:

"Lastly. I wish to address a few words to my immediate friends, who are justly or at least naturally indignant at the result, many of whom are making! and threaten to vote for the Democratic ticket in the fast approaching election for officers of the State. lask, why should you do this? If you have been treated by some professing to be your friends, have you met with more aid and comfort from those of the opposite party? Your own party may not have discharged its duty; but what has the other party done to entitle it to your sympathies? If those Whigs who now glory in their "independence," have chosen to sacrifice their party, their principles, and an Administration that they bypocritically profess to support, how can you justify yourselves by imitating their example, and in an impulsive moment of resentment, and in a spirit of indignation at what you denounce as treachery in them, in turn sacrifice year party, your principles, and an Administration that you honestly desire to see sustained? Rather show them your superiority; shame them by your example; make them feel the unworthiness of their miscenduct by your own generous, manly, honest devotion to the principles you profess. Banish, then, from your minds, I entreat you as my friends, all purpose of abandoning your duty. Indulge, personally, what feeling you choose towards thos men that you think have betrayed you into the enemies' power, but do not visit their sins on the party itself; but go forth, in the strength of your power. and support the nominees of your party, both State and local. You are bound to do it by every obligation of patriotism and party fidelity. I have more cause to complain than you, because I have the personal as well as the political mortification of de-lea; to pear. Vet I shall do it, and do it with a hearty good will; and hope to show that I can work for others more successfully than I have for myself and I call upon you, as one man, to rally around me, and sustain me in this conflict as you have in those that have passed. " We who have never faltered, never separated, never deserted our flag or our principles, who have never failed to fight the good fight and battle for our country's cause, are capable of yielding all our personal feelings to a holy and devoted spirit of patri otism. You denounce these men as traitors! Why ? Because they have abandoned their party in the hour of need. How can you pursue a similar course without subjecting yourselves to a similar charge? In condemning them as unworthy are you not asserting your own superiority, and if you do no better than they have done do you not disprove your own claims to superior ty? No, my friends, we are not of that class of Whigs whose skin-deep patriotism consists in puling down those above us, that we may chance to occupy their places. Ours is a nobler passion, a more worthy and a more elevated feeling; it proceeds from an ardent leve of our conatry; a passionate devotion to its Constitution; a determination to perpetuate its institutions; an earnest desire to promote its presperity in all and every branch of its industry; to support the supremacy of its laws; to put down all resistance to law and order; to stifle rebellion; to frown upon disunion; to develop the resources of our State; to encourage the energies of our people; to secure happiness and equality to all. These are the high and noble purposes these are the great fundamental truths and the God-inspired principles-for the accomplishment of which we have connected curselves together as a political party. No low, craven and selfish spirit of personal ambition directs our coarse; and, with the blessing of God and your nd will, we will be found, on the second Monday in December, in the thickest of the fight, where the blows fall fastest and hardest, standing shoulder to shoulder, as we have always stood, welded together as one man, inspired by a sense of common injuries, common wrongs, common principles, common patriotism, and common duty, eliciting the warmest admiration of our friends abroad, and striking terror to our enemies at home.

"My friends, I entreat you to stand by me, now and hereafter, in doing our duty, our whole duty, and nothing but our duty, to our principles, our party, and our country. What I surrender is nothing but my personal claims to political advancement; beyond this I surrender nothing; and, in doing this, I place myself on a common platform with you, where I shall always be ready to co-operate with you, to share in your labor, to rejoice in your success, and moura over your defeats. A day of adversity seems to have dawned upon the Whig party ; let us like men more than ever reserve to do our duty to dispel the gloom; let us reanimate our dienda and return the blows of our adversaries two for one; and never cease our efforts until we have schieved a gioriens victory. Let our mode be the "Consecution," "Union," and "With-serry; and solution of knowing that we have acted as it became taen in act in the dischage of our daty to pur oun-

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL. THE OLD CREDITORS.

Our new representative in Congress, whose energy and vigilance even his opponents admit, may find in the old concerns of this Company something worthy of his especial consideration -- a work upon which he may enter with a hearty spirit, as being spactioned by every demand of justice and good

It will be recollected that about the year 1844, the work upon the Canal was suddenly brought to a stand for want of funds, and hundreds of worthy nothing could be done, and despair seemed to brood over the fortunes of the Company. There seemed to be scarcely a hope of resuscitation.

At last, several enterprising gentlemen, who had its very inception, aroused themselves and the iblic to a new effort, and the Legislature of Marynd was induced to come to the rescue. [Among those justly entitled to the meed of praise, our townsman, James L. Ranson, stands preminent. We well recollect his unflagging zeal, his confidence, and his energy, but these deserve more consideration than we can now give them. In season and cost of season, the Canal was his theme-and this, too, when clouds and darkness hovered thickly and chillingly over the Company.]

But our present purpose is a practical one, and we come to the point.

When the State of Maryland was again induced to lend her patronage, to the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, it was with the distinct understanding that all the resources of the Canal were to be pledged to the payment of bonds issued for its completion to the Coal Mines. The claim of the State was waived, and "preferred bonds" were to be issued to the new

The old debts of the old Contractors were acrdingly thrown back, because unless the Canal was to be carried to the Mines it would vield no revenue, and the work must eventually be abandoned as utterly worthless. The debts of the Com-

There can e no constitutional scruples against contributing to a work which is to benefit so large a portion of the community .--We have a President who would readily sign a bill contributing a million of dollars; and this even would relieve the many industrious men who toiled for years in the hope of realizing the fruits of their labors, but who at present have but little to cheer.

There never was a more propitious time for such a movement by Congress. It is one in which Mr. Faulkner can engage with a hearty good will, for he has always been a friend to the enterprise-and it is a field much more attractive than the thorny

THE SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

It will be seen that this convention meets in Martinsburg on Friday the 14th inst. We trust that, the Whigs generally will attend the primary meetings, and select good and true men to represent their interest and principles in the Convention that is to assemble in Charlestown on the 12th. We rash resolves never to vote a Whig ticket again, pointment of such only as will reflect the wishes of the majority. We have heretofore given our readers to understand who was our favorite, but we will cordially and enthusiastically support the We have every confidence that no one will be nominated who is not of the "right stripe" and a sound and faithful Whig. KOSSUTH.

The Hungarian Hero it appears from the latest European advices, is getting himself into trouble .-It will be remembered that the U.S. Frigate Mississippi, was ordered to Turkey, for the purpose of receiving and conveying him to this country.

Upon her arrival at Marseilles, Kossuth wished to land and proceed through France to England .-The French authorities fearing his influence upon popular movements, would not give permission .-He then asked leave to land at Marseilles, which was granted on condition that the American Consul would guarantee that there should be no demonstration of any kind by the people. Whereupon the Consul became responsible for Kossuth's good be-

The circumstance of this refusal and requirenent of the Consul's pledge aroused the temper of the Hungarian, and in a letter to the Consul who had been his firm friend from the beginning, he implained in no gentle terms of his conduct and that of Capt. Long, the Commander of the Frigate, than whom, there is not a more gentlemanly and bliging officer in the Navy. He states in this letter, his intention " to leave the ship at the first port at which she will stop" and rocced to the U. S. States by some private conveyance. The conduct of the Hungarian is the more reprehensible, when the fact is taken into consideration that Capt. Long and the officers of his vesel, have done every thing in their power to make the voyage of the exile as pleasant as possible. These occurrences will have the effect of dampening the warmth of Kossuth's reception in this country should be come-it being shrawdly sus: pected by some, that he will not pay us the honor of a visit to our shores. We learn from the Virginian, that Messrs L. A. Miller & E. S. Baker, have been nominated by the Democrats for the Legislature. These gentlemen will, no doubt, receive the support of the entire party, but we feel assured that the Whig nominees. Messrs Wall and Ward, will be triumphantly strongly calculate on an increase in favor of the Whigs of seventy-five votes.

FELLOW-CITIZENS OF BERKELEY AND JEFFERSON.

Your new Constitution, I doubt not, is aiready adopted by an overwhelming majority of the people. A candidate for a seat in the Convention and defeated by a majority of, I think, 17 votes, (under circumstances known to you all, and to which I need not now refer.) I trust you will not be surprised, but see, at once, that I have strong motives to present myself upon the first opportunity before you. In announcing myself as a candidate for your suffrages in this Senatorial District, I will say moreover, that I regard the next Legislature as one of the most important that will ever occur in the State. The principles and spirit of the new Constilution are now to be infused into our laws, and whether they are or not, will depend much upon the sentiments and sympathies of the men whom you may elect. The next Legislature may, indeed, be in many respects regarded as a continuation of the Convention; for a vast deal has been left by the convention to be done and carried out by legislation. There can be no doubt of the temper of this district in the cause of reform and liberal legislation; and every motive that animated and nerved you in the canvass for the Convention will remain and continue in full force in that now before you .-The question in regard to candidates, therefore, in this canvass, if you mean to profit by your victory in the Convention, and to reap its fruits, will relate rather to their principles than to party or party associations-I mean their principles as they were involved in the late contest of the people for their rightful power and for wholesome reforms. A cold reformer, an equivocal reformer, an eleventh-hour reformer and, above all, the reformer who hesitated and industrious men utterly ruined. For years, about the right of the people to representation according to their numbers, will, rely upon it, retain somewhat of his old leven in all matters of legislation in which he may be called to take a part. As far as regards myself upon all the great questions of the late canvass, I am sure I need to say little. peen steadfast friends of the great enterprise from | It is known, and well known to all, that no one preceded me in the declaration of my principles and views, or maintained them with more explicitness and zeal in every paper and upon every stump in the district. To specify, now, in detail, many of the important topics of legislation that will occupy the next legislature, would carry this address to a length that would be, perhaps, troublesome to you, (certainly to the printer) and, for that reason only I shall refrain from it. I know, besides, that in meeting you face to face, I shall have an opportunity for all this. It will be your right to question me upon all matters of interest to you, and I shall hold myself always ready to answer you in all can-

MR. Epiroa:-After a long absence I am seated for the purpose of penning you a few items from as this generally forms an important paragraph in newspaper correspondence-it has grown very cold since the rain of yesterday, and this morning we had the first ice of the season, and the wind is blowing a perfect hurricane. A great many improvements are in progress in this city. The laying of gas pipes has been carried on this summer with a It is to provide for the latter that we now invoke | commendable dispatch. The grading, improving the energies of Mr. Faulkner. The National cof- and paving of streets and avenues, has been pushed to little purpose, if he cannot see and understand fers are full, and the country is able to contribute | forward with an unusual degree of activity. The elegant, marble-fronted hotel of the Messrs Brown engaged on the splendid portico that adorns the main entrance. When the entire building is finished and furnished, it will be without exception, one of the finest hotels in the Union, if not in the world. Its chaste and elegant front of white marble, elicits | exciting question of slavery. On the part of the universal admiration, and adds much to the looks of Pennsylvania avenue. Few cities are better provided with well arranged, first-class hotels than Washington. Judging from the newspaper advertisements, about every fourth house must be a boarding

> The workmen are busily engaged on the wings of the Capital. By the way, since this work has been projected, the value of property has increased several per cent, as it seems to favor the opinion that the seat of government will remain here. The east wing of the Patent Office is very nearly finished, and adds much to the appearance of the building. It will be occupied by the department of the

The Washington Monument rises slowly and majestically to the skies, a fit emblem of this glori- for all the ambitious, designing and evil spirits in ous Republic of the west. It has now reached a height of one hundred and two feet. This will be the height of the Pantheon that surrounds the base. A great many visitors pay their respects to the monument daily. The grounds in the front and rear strong efforts to rally the party upon old party isof the President's Mansion, and around the Smithsonian Institute are being improved; also the several vacant lots on the avenue, are being enclosed with iron railings.

It is contemplated to build an immense building on the site of the present Centre Market, the first story of which will be occupied as a market, stores, &c.; and the second as a hall, &c. It is thought that the rent of the stores, stalls, &c., will pay for the building in the course of five years.

The break in the Canal above Edward's Ferry is extremely inopportune at this time, as there is quite a fleet of coal and other boats running. It will be repaired in a few days, it is thought.

The equestrian statue of Jackson will be finished and erected on its base, in Lafayette square, opposite the President's House on the 8th of January, the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans. This is of bronze and represents the General on horseback, the animal being in a rearing attitude. It is a problem whether it will support itself.

JUNIOR. Yours, &c., "NOT ALL GOLD THAT GLITTERS."

Mr. CAREY THOMPSON, of Harpers-Ferry, has sent, for publication, the following letter from Professor Jackson, of Boston, in regard to the quartz taken from the "Jefferson Silver Mine." Mr. T. visited Boston with specimens of the quartz for the the purpose of having them tested. The certificate speaks for itself, and the public can judge for them-

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, Boston, October 21st, 1851.

CAREY THOMPSON, Esq. : Dear Sir: I have examined the samples of pre ended silver ore which you brought me from Harpers-Ferry, Virginia, and find that the white stone s milk quartz er silex, and that it does not contain any silver or ore of that metal. In some of the pieces of quartz there is Iron Pyrites or Bi-Sulphuret of Iron which does not contain any silver. The piece of metal, which was pretended to have come from the milk quartz in the crucible, is melted coin, probably a 10 cent or 124 cent piece, for it is of the composition of usual standard of coin, and contains cooper and traces of gold as is common in the coin of silver in currency. I doubt not that some fraudulent trick has been played by some one during the pretended reduction of silver from the CHARLES T. JACKSON, Assauer to the State of Massachusetts.

L JCAL MATTERS. Marriages, accidents, police reports, deaths, &c. should be published. They constitute material items of information in a public journal. And to the elected. Our friends may be mistaken, but they | individuals who are connected in some way or other with these events, is it the province to report them. The Parson should report Marriages. - He has the marriage certificate, knews the full names of the parties, and is paid for officiating at the ceremony. The Physician should notice the deaths of the deceased, taking especial care to give him no virtues he did not possess. Police-men should furnish police reports benefiting themselves thereby as well as the public. Accidents and incidents, of interest, could be readily communicated, either verbally or in writing, by those who witness them. Improvements in Farming, extraordinary productions, indeed all experiments in Agriculture would be of interest to the reader, and should be reported by the farmer. The Physician performs a surgical operation, or has some extraordinary ease of disease which would interest the public. There are cases ferring thereby a benefit twice blessed-blessing him that gives and him that takes.

As to the use sought to be made of the occurences in the Legislature of 1832, it is easily met. I took occasion in the late Convention to review the transactions alluded to, and send you by this mailla copy of the speech I then made. I voted to insert the provision in the new Constitution which specifically prohibits emancipation .--I stated expressly, that in my opinion, even without such a clause, the Legislature would have no right o emancipate.

I am a slaveholder myself to a coasiderable amount, and live in the largest slaveholding county of the West. I am as fixed in my opposition to all and every scheme, State or Federal, calculated to effect the value or security of slave property, as any man in the Commonwealth. And yet this adiculous and talse apprehension is feigned by those who will vote for Col. From the Norfolk Herald. A LETTER FROM GOV. BROWN OF FLORIDA.

We have been obligingly favored with the folowing letter for publication. It is from the present Governor of Florida, whose wise and patriotic counsels overruled those of the Senators and repthe Federal city. To begin then with the weather, Union. The letter is addressed to Judge Davis, EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, Florida,

Tallahassee, Sept. 4th, 1851. My DEAR SAR: - In reply to your inquiries, will very briefly give you my views, in regard to the course which I conceive the South should pursue in respect to the nomination of candidates to the next Presidential election. A statesman will have read the signs of the time the position of the slaveholding States at the present crisis. A man of wisdom and sound philosophy, before he makes up the last issue upon which do only places him in the right position, but that it places his opponent clearly in the wrong. This I conceive a be the attitude of the Southern States. in accepting the Compromise measures of the last Congress, as a final adjustment of the delicate and South, that settlement will be adhered to in good faith, and from the North like good faith will be re-

With the friends of the Union at the North, who have so nobly sustained and maintained the Compromise measures, the Southern Whigs will cordi ally unite in the choice of a chief magistrate for the nation; but with the fanaties and "higher law" factions they will not affiliate; or very quietly submit to any further agitation of the Slavery question, in the National Councils. As little as I have seriously apprehended any imminent danger of a dissolution of our confederacy I believe the next Presidential election will be th test of its permanency, and that great wisdom and prudence will be required in the selection of the candidates, and in concentrating the Union, Conservative party of the nation. The failure in an ection by the people, should be avoided if possible goes to Congress, a theatre will be presented the land, to plot mischief and treason against the Union. The Northern Abolitionists, and the Southern Secessionists, will find it a field for the accomplishment of all their views, and for which they are now striving. The Democratic party are making the event of a defeat before the people, upon their strength in Congress; and this, wisdom would ad monish us to goard against; for notwithstanding their boasted abhorrence of freesoilism, they have shown in the whole history of their party, that when it becomes necessary to insure political success, they never have been very scrupulous about the

Under all the circumstances, I think a national Union Convention, disregarding old party lines, would be the course of wisdom; but it that cannot be effected, there ought to be a national Whig Convention, and all the Southern States should send delegates to it; but under instructions, to require the adoption of Resolutions by the Convention, that no candidate, for either the Presidency or Vcie Presidency should be put in nomination, who had not, or wor'd not make an explicit declaration of his approval, and support of the Compromise measures, and especially of the Fugitive Slave Law; and his disapproval of any repeal or modification of it. And without this explicit declaration by the Convention before proceeding to the nomination of | For the best fat cow to Robert W. Baylor; the candidates, to withdraw from any participation in the Convention. These are, hastily, my views. I am, yours, very truly, THOMAS BROWN.

The attendance of ladies was unusually darge, and imparted much interest and animation to the scene, giving, by their presence alone, great stonigth to the cause, and without which man can neither succeed or be satisfied.

The deries which devolve on us, in our official connection with the society, during and since the Show, has prevented us from rendering justice to many passons and things connected with the socieiv. and riso from preparing the proceedings in such m as we should wish. We shall, therefore, have to ask the indulgence of all, should any errors occur, of an articles be overlooked.

The diplay of Cattle was very large, consisting f every breed; and although not fed for the occaion, they were in a fine and thriving condition iving thevery farmer a fair opportunity of judging f the superiority of any particular breed, as adapted to hit own soil and location.

The Kaisi Cattle, presented by Lieut. Lynch, of the U. S. Navy, to the Governor of Virginia, was on the ground, as well as some half-breds, and elicited universal admiration. They, no doubt, will form a vigluable acquisition to our breed of Cattle, being well a lapted for the pail as well as the voke. The collection of Horses was very extensive, embracing every variety, and the teams exhibited, cannot e excelled in this or any other State. The exhibition of males was not so extensive, but they were magnificent specimens of their kind, and admitted by those well qualified to judge, to be unrivalled.— The number of Oxen was very limited, owing to the fact that very few farmers use them, but those few on the graind were good. There were two Jacks and two Jennets on the ground—one of the Jacks measuring nearly 16 hand—since taken the premium at the Maryland State fair. Of Sheep, the collection was unusually large and exceedingly fine, consisting of twenty-one pens all well filled, some which have never yet been excelled, as will be shown by the list of premiums distributed by the Maryland State Society in their former as well as late Exhibitions. This portion of Virginia stands unrivailed in the raising of fine sheep. HOUSEHOLD MANUFACTURES. In this department considerable irregularity existed which we hope will be obviated another year. The contributors, in direct violation of the rules of the society, commenced removing their productions early on the first day of the Fair, which very much disarranged the departments and caused some disappointment to those who visited the Fair on the second day. The committee was somewhat amiss in making known their decision, which is to be regretted, and we pledge ourselves that at the next exhibition a more systematic plan shall be adopted in this department. We have examined the articles exhibited as coming under our duties --1st. For the Teeswater breed of cattle-the Society had not fixed a scale of premiums, and our attention was called to a very low and small Bull, belonging to Mr. J. D. WINCHESTER AND POTOMAC RAIL ROAD. The annual meeting of the Stockholders in this work was held in this town on Saturday last, the 25th. The present President and Directors were, after the reading of the annual report and the other routine business, unanimously re-elected. The revenue of the Company for the year ending October 1st, 1850 was $98.486.07. being $1,623,51 more than that of the preceding year, and the largest ever received by the road. Out of this, the annuity of $5,000 to the State, and two dividends of six per cent each, amounting to $20,996, have been met. The second of these dividends will be payable on the 1st Nevember Thirty-seven thousand one hundred and eleven tons of freight have been carried over the read during the year. Of this 23,500 tons were transported from East to West, and 13,611 in the centrary direction. Of the important article of Flour the amount has been 102,494 barrels,- a decrease of 9,364 from the preceding year. This falling off is attributable to the extremely low prices for breadstuffs which have ruled during the year, and which have caused the retention. by our farmers of large portions of their crops. There has been a decrease also in plaster and iron, and an increase in coal and manganese. The aggregate tonnage movement, however, exhibits but a slight diminution; while the receipts from passen-

$26,487,17. The whole read is new relaid. The company own six engines in running order, forty large freight-cars, and four passengercars. No person has been injured by an accident during the year. The passengertrains have run at an average time of two hours and five minutes, with but one mailfailure. The whole loss and damage account has been but $39,28. The dividend of 12 per cent the President anticipates will be regularly kept up.

gers have advanced from $23,861,37 to

This is an extremely encouraging exhibit, and reflects the highest credit upon the activity and system of those who have had the responsibility of managing a work se valuable and important to the Valley.

It is our mulamenoly task to chronicle an occurence which brought an industrious sitizon to a violent death. On Friday evening last, about deak, a young man by the mame of Joseph P. Flemister went to the house of a neighbor, Mr. Nathanial Mullikin, for the understood purpose of inflicting personal chastisement upon an individual who boarded with him | Ill feeling had for some him: existed between It. and Mulliken himself: and the latter, anticipating the visit, leaded a mucket and placed it beside his door. A conflict between him and Flemister ensued immediately upon the latter's arrival; and Mullikin, being much the older and lighter of the two, was overpowered and thrown down While struggling with his antagonist above him, he called upon his son, a stripling of some seventeen, to fire upon Flemister .-He immediately did so, but owing to some sulden charge in the position of the parties, the charge took effect upon his father's thigh, only a few shot grazing the other's face .- William B. COUCHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS; WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

This remady is offered to the community with the confidence we feel in an article which seldom fails to realize the happiest effects that can be desired. So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alerming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind, is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs, which are incident to our climate. And not only in the formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hourseness, &c., and for Children it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained. No family should be without it, and these who have used it, never Complaint, &c. an I all diseases from impure blood.

Mr. Stockbridge, of the Fountain Hotel, Light street, Balt.

Dear Sir: Being in the point of leaving the city, I avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more to earry on my voyage. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratimale to the proprietors of said medicine. I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Rhitematic cure. Having called on me known as a sure Rhitematic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, useless in all my limbs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and i sreible recommendations I should still have been in bed.

It is really a pity this specific should not be approved of by medical men, and like all patent drugs it should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was always opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation, that induced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable Tincture.

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that Uncle Johns, they are at liberty to make use of my name in the sup-port of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Pie Apple, Tincture, as it has cured me in five weeks, of a Chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical duration. I have Early Hurvest, only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed Early Yellow B parts of my hands are fast returning to their former Red Astrachan. natural appearance.

I have been under the treatment of several physicians in Lendon and Paris, without any apparent benefit; also, while in New York, having tred the Thompsonian and Homopathic refuedles, after having been tormented with galvanic batteries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and external medicines, KRambo, all to no effect, I am, so far, cured by this Hampton's Reading Pippin,

Vegetable Tincture only. Therefore, my dear sir, ac-cept of the assirance of my gratitude, and believe me Fall Pippin. your well wisher. For sale by MORTIMER & MOWBRAY,

It affords me pleasure to state that Dr. Hampton has effected a most extraordinary cure of my slave boy Albert. The patient was three years of age, and had the scrofula, His father is scrofulous. The boy was a thoring mass of agrees from head to foot. The upper lids of the eyes were much swollen and turned inside out, exhibiting herrible mattering ulcers, and protruded over the eyeballs so as to produce blindness. It is strange, yet true, this child—that I felt resigned to see die as relief from suffering-has been restored to health under the treatment of Dr. Hampton.

> More Home Testimony. Wonderful and permanent cure of one of our most high'y respectable citizens. Baltimore, Jone 24th, 1851. Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray: Gentlemen.—A sense of gratitude, and a desire that those suffering under disease be induced to try HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINC-

Disease, Piles, Fistula, with all the other diseases arising from impure blood.

TURE, has influenced me in making the following state-On the 14th of November, 1836, I was attacked with what is called Inflammatory Rheumatism; my pains were so intense that, for three months, I could not rest night or day. I lost all desire for food, and became very weak. At this stage of my disease my physician had a consultation with one of the most eminest of the profession in Baltimore. They gave me a large amount of medicine, none of which had any good effect on me. my sufferings every day becoming more intense, my pains continuing night and day, ulcers forming on my right arm, right snee and left knee, from each of which splinters of bone came out. After years of suffering. my physician prone meed my disease deeply seated and incurable. My pairs at this juncture were so great that I had not one moment's relief from them, unless under the influence of an opiate. Many of my friends knowing my sufferings, and kindly sympathising with me, persuaded me to try the Thompsonian Sweats; also, the Homepathic medicines, which I did without effect. After this I also tried a large number of Panaceas and Liniaments, all represented as certain cure all's, but from which I derived no benefit, rather growing weaker every day, suffering, if possible, more after every new remedy I tried.

In the early part of August, 1842, you first introduced Dr. Hampton's Tincture to me. Well do I remember that morning; it was after a sleepless knight of great suffering. By your advice I commenced, as a last resort, to try Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and I am happy to say, before I had taken one bottle, my pains grewless, my appetite increased, Hope began to spring I continued taking the Tineture, and was soon en up. I continued taking the Tineture, and was soon en-abled to eat any kind of food, thereby gaining strength every hour. In the space of a few months my pains left me, the ulcers in my arms and legs were e healed, and I was enabled to lay aside my crutches and when August, 1843, came around, it found me without pain, and in the enjoyment of health, which, for years before, I was a stranger to. I am glad to say now, though nearly eight years have elapsed, that the cure in my case was made with the blessing of Providence and by the use of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. A large number of my relatives and friends can testify to the truthfulness of the above meagre statement of my sufferings, as well as my relief
