POETRY.

WHAT IS A YEAR! What is a fear? 'Tis but a wave' On lile's dark rolling stream, Which is so quickly gone that we Account it but a dream. 'T is but single earnest throb Of Tim's old fron heart. As tireless now and strong as when

It first with life did start. What is agear? 'T is but a turn Of Time's old brazen wheel, Or but a pigg upon the book Which death must shortly seal. T is but a step upon the road Which se must travel o'er,

A few more seps and we shall walk

Life's weary road no more. What is a year? 'Tis but a breath From Tae's old nostrils blown, Tis like the bubble on the wave, Or dew upon the lawn,

As transient as the mists of morn

Beneath the summer sun. What is a year? 'Tis but a type Of life's oft changing scene, Youth's happy morn comes gaily on With hills and valleys green. Next, Summer's prime succeeds the Spring,

Then comes old Winter, death, and all Must find their level here. I HAVE NO ONE TO LOVE ME NOW.

BY FINLEY JOHNSON. I have no one to love me now, All hearts are growing cold Tempestuous waves are rushing on, Across my weary soul,

Then Autumn with a tear,

No heart with pity beats; Alone, "my God," alone I stray Along the empty streets. I have no one to love me now, Life's storms upon me beat,

No hand in kindness is outstretched,

And thorns unnumber'd and untold, Rise up beneath my feet. No longer can I stem the tide, The heaving billows brave; Then come, O, death, I welcome thee, And pine but for the grave.

MISCELLANY.

SMALL DEBTS: OR WHAT FIVE DOLLARS PAID.

Mr. Herriot was sitting in his office one day, when a lad entered, and handed him a Depositions and the acknowledgement of Deeds, ets. Augers, Files, &c., which we will sell very low small slip of paper. It was a bill for five dollars, due to his shoemaker, a poor man who lived in the next square. 'No sir.' 'Wasn't Mr. Herriot in ?' 'Yes sir; but he said it wasn't convenient, to-day.

Oh, dear! I'm sorry!' came from the shoemaker, in a depressed voice. A woman was sitting in Grant's shop when the boy came in; she had now risen, the swords of the enemy, and stand undauntand was leaning on the counter; a look of ed at the cannon's mouth? It was Hope disappointment was in ber face.

left the shop. A few minutes after her departure, Herriot came in, and after some words of apology, paid the bill. 'Run and get this bill changed into silver for me," said the shoemaker, to his boy, the moment his customer had departed. 'Now,' said he, as soon as the silver was placed in his hands, 'take two dollars to Mrs. Lee, and three to Mr. Weaver, across the street. 'Tell Mr. Weaver that I am obliged to him for having loaned it to me this morning, and sorry that I hadn't as much in the house when he sent for it an hour ago.'

'I wish I had it, Mrs. Elden. But, I assure you that I have not,' said Mr. Weaver the tailor, 'I paid out the last dollars just before you came in. But call in to-morrow, and you shall have the money to a certainty.' But what am I to do to-day? I havn't a cent to bless myself with, and I owe so much at the grocer's where I deal, that he won't trust me for anything more.' The tailor looked troubled, and the woman maker's boy entered.

· Here are the three dollars Mr. Grant borrowed of you this morning,' said the lad .-He says he's sorry he hadn't the money when you sent for it awhile ago.' How the faces of the tailor and needle woman brightened instantly, as if a gleam of sunshine had penetrated the room. 'Here is just the money I owe you,' said the former, in a cheerful voice, and he handed the woman the three dollars he had received. A moment after and he was alone, but with the glad face of the poor woman, whose need he had been able to supply, distinct before him.

Of the three dollars received by the needlewoman, two went to the grocer, on account of her debt to him, half a dellar was paid to an old and needy colored woman, the tailor's to get her due, and thus be able to provide an evening and a morning's meal dollar was paid to the baker when he called apple dumplings."

towards evening to leave the accustomed | THE PREACHER AND THE ROBBERS. loaf. Thus, the poor needlewoman had been able to discharge four debts, at the same time re establish her credit with the grocer and baker, from whom came the largest portion of the food consumed in her little family. And now let us follow Mrs. Lee. On her arrival at home, empty handed, from her visit to the shoemsker, who owed her two dollars for work, she found a young girl, in whose pale face were mean marks of suffering and care, awaiting her return.

The girl's countenance brightened as she came in; but there was no answering brightness in the countenance of Mrs. Lee, who immediately said-'I'm very sorry, Harriet, but Mr. Grant put me off until to-morrow. He said he hadn't a dollar in the house.' The girl's disappointment was very great, for the smile she had forced into life, instantly faded, and was succeeded by a look of deep distress. for the sudden change in the girl's manner had affected her. 'O, yes, ma'am, very badly. I left Mary wrapped up in my thick shawl, and a blanket wound all around her feet to keep them warm; but she was coughing dreadfully from the cold air of the room.'

'Hava't you a fire ?' asked Mrs. Lee in a quick, surprised tone. We have no coal. It was to buy coal that I wanted the money.' Mrs. Lee struck her hands together, and an expression of pain was about passing her lips, when the door of the room opened, and the shoemakers boy came in.

'Here are two dollars. Mr. Grant sent them. 'God bless Mr. Grant!' The exclamation from Mrs. Lee was involuntary. On the part of Harriet, to whom one dollar was due, a gush of silent tears marked the effect this timely supply of money produced. She received her portion, and without trusting her voice with words, hurried away to supply the pressing want at home. A few doors from the residence of Mrs. Le lived a man who, some few months before had become involved in trouble with an evil disposed person, and been forced to defend himself by means of the law. He had employed Mr. Herriot to do what was requisite in the case, for which service the charge was five dollars. The bill had been rendered a few days before, and the man, who was poor, felt very anxious to pay it .-He had the money all made up to within a dollar. That dollar Mrs. Lee owed him, and she had promised to give it to him during this day. For hours he had waited, expecting her to come in: but now had nearly given her up. There was another little bill of three dollars which had been sent in to him, and he had just concluded to go and pay that, when Mrs. Lee called with the balance of the money, one dollar, which she had received from the shoemaker, Grant. Half an hour later, and the pocket book client had called and paid his bill. The five dollars had come back to him. Yew persons will deny that Hope is not busy seenes of fashion to his own lonely 'I almost wished had sent him the five closet, with books for his companions, and dollars,' said Mr. Alerriot, at length, baif his occupation, study—he shuts his door against the votaries of dissipation, and turns a deaf car to the enchanting calls of pleasure. What is that which arms his spirits against the many obstacles which on every side present themselves; which prevents him from being pricked with the thorns on which he so often treads in his the countenance of the soldier, as he prepares to meet the coming enemy? Why does the glow of delight rise in his cheeks, and the smile of pleasure play around his lips? It is hope that thus animates him, and tells him that honor and glory await him. Why did Washington, (the splendor of whose name shall ever honor the historical page of America,) stretch forth his hand to save a falling nation, expose himself to that whispered to his willing ear, that he delivered the reins of his affairs into the temple of glory.

A FOX'S REVENCE.

The Rev. I. Murray, in his work on Creation, tells the following story: "An old and respectable man of the County of Montgomery, used frequently to relate an aneedote of a circumstance which he saw. In his youth he resided on the banks of the Hudson River. One day he went to a bay on the river, in order, to shoot ducks or wild geese. When he came to the river he saw six geese beyond shot .-He determined to wait for them to approach the shore. While sitting there, he saw a fox come down to the shore and observe the geese. At length he turned and went into the woods, and came out with a very large bunch of moss in his mouth. He then entered the water very silently, sank himself, and then keeping the moss above the water, himself concealed, he floated among the geose. Suddenly one of them was drawn on the shore, with the goose on his back — wives, the value of whom, according to the He ascended the bank and found a hole experience of their bereft partners, must made by the tearing up of a tree. This bole he cleared, placed in the goose, and covered it with great care, strewing leaves ever it. The fox then left, and while he was gone, the hunter unburied the goose, closed the hole, and resolved to await the In about half an-hour the fox returned with another in company. They went direally to the place where the goose had been buried, and threw out the earth. The goose could not be found. They stood regarding each other for some time, when suddenly the second fox attacked the other most furiously, as if offended by the trick of his friend. During the battle he shot them both." A country editor, describing a dence who had earned it by scrubbing, and who was waiting for Mrs. Weaver's return from at a village ball, said: The gorgeous strings at a village ball, said: The gorgeous strings was waiting for Mrs. Weaver's return from at a village ball, said: of glass beads glistened on the heaving bosoms of the village belles, like polished rufor herself and children. A Methodist preacher many years ago was journeying to a village where he was to dispense the word of life, according to the usual routine of his duty, and was stopped on his way by three robbers. One of them seized his bridle reins, another presented a pistol and demanded his money; the third | ner was a mere looker on.

The grave and devout man looked each and all of them in the face, and with great gravity and seriousness said, 'Friends, did you pray to God before you left home? did you ask God to bless you in your undertaking to-day?

The question startled them for a moment. Recovering themselves they said, 'We have no time to answer such questions, we want your money.'

'I am a poor preacher of the gospel,' was the reply; but what little money I have shall be given to you.' A few shillings was all he had to give.

'Have you not a watch ?' 'Well then give it to us.' In taking the watch from his pocket, his saddle-bags were displayed.

'We must have them.' The preacher dismounted. The saddlebags were taken pessession of, and no further demand made. Instantly the preacher began to unbutton his great coat, and to exercise? In short, labor which promotes threw it off his shoulders, at the same time asking, 'Will you have my great coat ?' 'No,' was the reply; 'you are a generous

THE HARBOR AND THE BAY. The ice still continues firm in the river and bay, and no attempt has been made to break a channel since Tuesday last --Throughout Saturday and yesterday the river was thronged with skaters and others attracted by the nevelty. On Saturday one individual skated as far as Annapolis, and yesterday several persons went as far as the White Rocks. WHITNEY'S RAIL EOAD PROJECT.

Mr. Asa Whitney has been pressing with great energy in England his scheme for a Rail Road from Lake Michigan to the Pacific. At first, he met with but little encouragement, but he has persevered until several able scientific men have yielded their | cherished delusion common among mankind. It is objections, and now think well of his project.

The Loadon Moraine Chamicle seems to think It not improbable that the work may be constructed on the British side of the border; and adds, that "there is no question of hatienal vigates in the matter, Provided that the line be made, it is of little consequence whether it be constructed within the American or British border, or by American or British scalers. What we want is the Railway, and the hearty co-operation of both nations in making it. This is emphatically one of those works which are for the whole world, and for all time." The Chronicle further remarks that Mr. Whitney can tell his countrymen there is in this country [England] no feeling of hostile rivalry towards them. PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN BALTIMORE.

The 23d annual report of the Board of School Commissioners discloses some gratifying results. During the last year the means of instruction have been considerably increased. The importance of Normal Schools, in producing well-trained Teach. ers, is dwelt upon with emphasis. Various improvements are suggested in the school buildings. The reduction in the cost of these schools is etrikingly illustrated by comparison. "The cost of each pupil per annum (averaged for the High, Grammar and Primary Schools) in Baltimore is at present $6 05; in Philadelphia the average cost per pupil is $7 70. $7 11; in New York, $6 86; and in Boston, $10 94

The number of pupils who received instruction in the Baltimore Schools the past year was 12,387of which, 2,938 were free pupils.

The amount of money required, for the current year, for all purposes, will be about $94,000. The amount received since 1825 is stated at $429 752 18. This is the true way to build up a State. Baltimore is not only keeping up emulation in internal improvements for commerce and trade, but for the intellect and the heart. She is a noble city. PARTY MALEVOLENCE.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY, Jan. 26. In the House or Delegates, Mr. Price of Green brief stated that it had been ascertained that a mistake had been made in counting the votes for Governor and Lieu enant Governor by the joint committee which performed that duty. The error was caused by an insidvertance, which he (Mr. P.) explained to the House, and made a difference in Mr. Summers' favor of 2000 votes. He offered a resolation directing the said joint committee to make a new addirect of the vote and report the result to this House." The resolution was adopted and communicated to the Senate. Subsequently, a message was received from the Senate, announcing its concurrence in the resolution. In the Sanate, on motion of Mr. Isbell, a reso ution was adopted directing the Auditor of Public Accounts to furnish the Senate with a statement showing the amount of capitation taxes imposed, and the revenue annualty received under the act of 1850, providing for the removal of free persons of color; also shewing the number of free persons of color in each county, &c., in the commonwealth. THE CASE OF JOSEPH C. MILLER.

ANOTHER POST MORTEM ENAMINATION.-It is stated in the Chester county (Pa.) papers that the body of Mr. Joseph C. Miller, who came to his end so mysteriously while on his way home from Baltimore, (where he had given evidence against Mc-Creary for kidnapping a colored girl,) has been again examined by Drs. Dickey, Thompson, and knew him, ad, in the hearts of many, liveli-Hutchinson, of Oxford, and on analyzing the bowels a large quantity of arsenic was found there- kened by the contemplation of his " fate sein. They, therefore, came to the conclusion that vere." To some the mention of his name he died of poison, and was hung after death. The West Chester Register says:

"They opened the stomach, lungs, head, &c .--There was but a table spoonful of mucus and serum in the stomach; the intestines and bladder were empty, and all highly inflamed, giving evidence of excessive vomiting and purging. Mr. Miller eat a hearty supper the night he was missing, and as he labored under considerable excitement his food could not have been digested. The contents of the bowels, when tested by the examining physicians, were found to contain considerable quantities of arsenic. There was no blood collected about the head, as there would have been had he been hung while living; the windpipe was not closed, nor the cartilages out of place; the blood vessels of the neck did not exhibit signs of having been compressed, nor did the brain bear indications of death from

"It was the unanimous opinion of the physicians that Miller did not hang himself, unless he-done it after he was dead. The bruises on the wrists contained blood, giving unmistakeable evidence of his having been tightly handcuffed. If there were any who before doubted foul play, all hesitation must now be at an end. Miller has been mordered By whom? Some suppose by the minious of Me Creary, others by the mercenaries of the erew who declared in Philadelphia that they would hang the first abolitionist they caught in Maryland. Be it whom it may, some measures should be immediate y taken to ascertain the perpetraturs, and bring them to justice. It is said that McCreary defies he cuthodies of rennsylvania, and that he will it be gived up by the State of Maryland. We ast Governor Bigler will offer a reward for his arrest; but if he should not, that our citizens will take the matter in hand, and tender such a reward for his capture that will inspire some activity." We publish the above as a matter of news, but have no disposition to re-open the public mind to any doubts in the case. Admitting the fact that arsenic has been found in the stomach of the deceased, it presents no new issue for inquiry. The inquest here was searching and thorough, and made so, particularly, by the official parties thereto that the amplest satisfaction which the nature of the case would allow, might be afforded to the citizens of Pennsylvania, present on the occasion. The investigation resulted in the complete conviction expressed by the verdict of "suicide." And the fact. that arsenic is exhibited upon analysis of the conthe probabilities in the case. To suppose that arsenic had been administered, and that the wretched man was then followed by his pitiless assassins on his homeward way, until nature was nearly or quite exhausted; and that he was then hung up as a matter of sport, or sheer wantonness, demands a stretch of credulity which very strong prejudices can alone arrive at. We think the testimony subsequently educed in the kidnapping case, respecting Miller's agency in the arrest of the girl, a sufficient solution, of the suicide. By Mr. Brent-of reporting a bill for the relief of The utter ruin of his reputation was staring him in the face. He had not properly estimated the counter, his pervous system turned him aside; and prompted him to seek relief in death. Such is the conclusion to which we are brought in the case .--At the same time, we confess, that it is not free from difficulty; and if any thing remains to be done, that can possibly contribute to the relief of the public mind, we are convinced that there will

GIVE ME THY BLESSING, MITHER.

- "Give me thy blessing, mither, For I must now away,
 To meet my pounde Agnes, mither,
- Upon her Leidal day. I've loved he; lang and weel, mither,
- And thou thy love has known; Then lay the hand upon me, mither,
- And bless thy kneeling son."
- "Ah! Wines, how my heart o'erflowe, When thus I hear thee speak; The tears are glistening on thy bair,
- And dropping on thy cheek. And oh! how memory calls up now The days of auld lange syne,
- When I a winsome bride first called Thy sainted father mine. "Ye look sae like him, WILLIE, dear,
- Ye look sae like him now; Ye hae the same dark tender cen, The same broad, noble brow.
- And sie a smile was on his face When he that morning came, To bring at a', as ye maan do,
- A lassie to his hame. "Pair child her heart is beating now,
- As it ne'er beat before : Puir child, I know her hazel cen Wi' tears are running o'er.
- She luves thee, WILLIE, but she feels To wed 's a solemn thing-
- I weel remember how I felt, When looking on the ring. " I weel remember, too, the hour
- When wi' a heavy sigh, I turned, a wife, sae young and sad, To bid them a' good-bye. The tears were gushing then, I know, For I luved my kindred weel,
- And though my ain was by my side, I could ni help but feel. "But then, how kind he took my hand And gently whispered—'Come, The same soft star shines o'er my cot
- That shires above thy home.' And, Willie, aften, since he's dead, I've watched that distant star,
- And thought I saw his gentle face Smile in it from afar. " We luved ilk ither weel, WILLIE. We laved ilk ither lang:
- Ah me! how happy was the heart That thrilled the even sang. We laved ilk ither, William, right, And may God grant is so
- That ye maun luve as we twa luved, In days lang, lang ago. " Oh, fondly cherish her, WILLIE, She is sae young and fair;
- She has not known a single cloud, Or felt a single care. Then, if a cauld world's storm should come
- Thy way to overcast-Oh! ever stand (thou art a man)
- Between her and the blast. + "When first I knew a mither's pride,
- "Twas when I gazed on thee; And when thy tither flowers died, Thy smile was left to me.
- And I can scarce believe it true. So late thy life began, The playful bairn I fondled then
- Before me stands a Man. "Then tell thy bonnie bride, WILLIE,
- She has my first born son; I tak' the darling from my arms, And gie' him to her own.
- Oh! she will cherish thee, WILLIE, For when I maun depart, She, only she, will then be left
- To fill thy lone ly heart. "I dinna fear to die, WILLIE,-
- I ever wished to gang; The soft green mound in you kirk-yard Has lanely been too lang.
- I would lay me there, WILLIE, And a' Death's terrors brave, Besides his heart so leal and true,
- It 'tis within the grave. "Then gang awa', my blessed bairn,
- And bring thy turtle dove. And dinna frown if a' should greet
- To part wi' her they love. But it a tear fills up her ee. Then whisper, as they part,
- 'There room for thee at mither's hearth. There's room in mither's heart.'
- "And may the Goo that reigns above, And sees ye a' the while,
- Look down upon your plighted troth, And bless you wi' a smile. And may at thou ne er forget, WILLIE," In a' thy future life,
- To serve the power that gave to thee Thy kind and guiltless wife.

DIGESTIVE FLUID OR, GASTRIC JUICE.

DREPARED from RENNET, or the fourth I STOMACH OF THE OX, after directions. of BARON LIEBIG, the great Physiological Chemist, J. S. HOUGHTON, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa. This is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Conplaint, Constipation and Debility. Curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric Juice. Half a teaspoontul of Persin, infused in water, vill digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Roast Beet about two hours, out of the stomach. PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice-the Solvent of the Agent for the Stomach and Intestines. It is exthe natural Gastrie Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect institute for it. By the aid of this preparation, the pains and evils Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed, just as they would be by a healthy Stomach. It is doing wonders for Dyspepties, enring cases of Debility Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Corsumption, supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based, is SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE. BARON LIEBIG in his celebrated work on Anmal Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastrie Juice, may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the sto mach of the Calf, in which various articles of food. as meat and eggs, will be softened, changed, and digested, just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach.

GREAT BRITISH QUARTERLIES AND BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

Important Reduction in the rates of Postage!! LEONARD SCOTT & CO., NO. 54 GOLD ST., NEW YORK, CONTINUE, to publish the following British Periodicals viz: The London Quarterly Review (Conservative), The Edinburgh Review (Whig), The North British Review (Free Church),

The Westminster Review (Liberal). Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory). These Reprints have now been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class and from numerous Eclectics and Magazines made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption. Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their liberary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackword, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Balwer and other literary potables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. It is really a pity this specific should not be approved of by medical men, and like all patent drugs it should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was always opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with rejuctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through the distance of the standard specific took this medicine with rejuctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation, that induced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable Tincture.

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty to make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as it has cured me in five weeks, of a Chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical duration. . I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed parts of my hands are fast returning to their former natural appearance. I have been under the treatment of several physicians

It affords me pleasure to state that Dr. Hampton has ffected a most extraordinary cure of my slave boy Albert. The patient was three years of age, and had the scrofula. His father is scrofulous. The boy was a moving mass of sores from head to foot. The upper lids of the eyes were much swellen and turned inside out, exhibiting horrible mattering ulcers, and protruhighly respectable citizens,

Baltimore, June 24th, 1851. Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray : Gentlemen-A sense of gratitude, and a desire that those suffering under disease be induced to try Hampton's VEGETABLE Tine-TURE, has influenced me in making the following state-On the 14th of November, 1836, I was attacked with what is called Inflammatory Rheumatism; my pains were so intense that, for three months, I could not rest night or day. I lost all desire for food, and became very weak. At this stage of my disease my physician and a consultation with one of the most emment of the profession in Bultimore. They gave me a large amount of medicine, none of which had any good effect on me. my sufferings every day becoming more intense, my pains continuing night and day, ulcers forming on my right arm, right knee and left knee, from each of which splinters of bone came out. After years of suffering, my physician pronounced my disease deeply scated and incurable. My pains at this juncture were rogreat that I had not one moment's relief from them, unless under the influence of an epiate. Many of my friends knowing my sufferings, and kindly sympathising with me, persuaded me to try the Thompsonian Sweats; also, the Homepathic medicines, which I did without effect.
After this I also tried a large number of Pinaceas and Liniaments, all represented as certain cure all's, but from which I derived no benefit, rather growing weaker every day, suffering, if possible, more after every new remedy I tried. new remedy I tried.

In the early part of August, 1842, you first introduced Dr. Hampton's Tincture to me. Well do I remember that morning; it was after a sleepless knight of great suffering. By your advice I commenced, as a last resort, to try Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and I am happy to say, before I had taken one bottle, my pains grewless, my appetite increased. Hope began to spring up. I continued taking the Tibeture, and was soon enabled to eat any kind of food, thereby gaining strength every hour. In the space of a few months my pains left me, the ulcers in my arms and legs were entirely healed, and I was chabled to lay aside my crutches; and when August, 1843, came around, it found me with-out pain, and in the enjoyment of health, which, for years before, I was a stranger to,

I am glad to say now, though nearly eight years have elapsed, that the cure in my case was made with the blessing of Providence and by the use of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. A large number of my relatives and friends can testify to the truthfulness of the above meagre statement of my sufferings, as well as my relief Wishing you every success in bringing this valuable medicine before the public, and he ping that the ailliet-ed may receive the same benefit I have from it, I re-main yours, JARRETT PLUMMER, 153 East Baltimore st. We have hundreds of other certificates from some of the best men in our country. We ask the public to call and get painphlets and see letters, and have references to numbers of our most respectable citizens who have used this wonderful Tincture. Its success in curing dis-ease is astonishing. Never were such prompt cures made before by other medicine. Never before was such genuine testimony given in favor of any other medi-cine as that offered, unsolicitee, in favor of Humpton's
