Loudoun County Agricultural Institute and themical Academy.

ALDIE, LOUDOUN Co , Va . Ma. Gallaher-Dear Sir: The enterprising farmers and friends of improvement in Virginia will, doubtless, be gratified that I have associated with me Mr. James H. Gulick and Mr. Harman Bitzer, two practical and successful agriculturists for the purpose of establishing an Agricultural In-gate experificant gards will contain 500 Reles, which will be cultivated according to the true principle of science, and in which many interesting and important experiments will be made. And efforts will be made to obtain seeds from every part of the United States and from Foreign Countries. In addition to two commodions dwellings already on the estate, a new building has been designed 180 by 30 teet. One half of which will be erected the present year. The Laboratory will be furnished with an extensive collection of the largest, the States. The museum will contain Geological specimens, Minerals, Possils, Shell and also Models Draughts and Catalogues of Agricultural Ma-chines, Implements and Tools. And for the convenience of making and repairing apparatus a work-shop will be fitted up with Turning Lathe, Slide Rest and all necessary tools for working in wood, iron and brass. Full courses of Lectures will be delivered, which will be illustrated with several thousand useful and interesting experiments The instruction will be thorough and practical, embracing Mathematics, Mechanics, Chemistry and other branches of Science and Art, in their apica ion to Farming and Farm purposes. Particular attention will be pain to Agricultural Chemistry-Preparation of Pure Chemicals-Management of water courses-Principles of irrigation -Analysis of Soils-Construction of Parm Buildings-Estimates of Lumber-Planting, Bonding, Grafting Pruning and cultivation of Fruit Trees -And in fine every thing important to the practical farmer and men of business.

To complete the designs of this Institution will equire an outlay of 40 to 50 thousand dollars, and if it receives that patronage which is hoped for and expected, no expense with be spared to make it the hest institution of the kind in the World. It now the advocates of improvement are really in earnest they will take this enterprise by the hand and help it along, by giving a good list of students at the commencement. It is hoped that every county in the State will send at least one student the first sesson. And that the different Agricultural Societies will ascertain how many students can be sent from their respective districts and forward a list of the same by the 1st day of December next. The Institute will be opened for the reception of Students on the 1st of March, 1854 Terms, incluand other seasonable goods for Men's wear, which ding all expenses except Books and Stationery $200 per session of ten months.

POETRY.

THE UNKNOWN WORLD. There is a world we have not seen,

No ear hath caught its sounds of joy. There is a region loftier far, Than sages know or poet's sing-Brighter than summer's beauties are,

There is a world with blessings blest, Beyond what prophets e'er foretold; Nor might the tongue of angel guest A picture of that world unfold. It is all holy and serene!

Nor sorrow's tear within it flows. It is not fann'd by Spramer's gale. Tis not refreshed by vernal showers; It never needs the moonbeams pale,

Nor are there known the evening hours. No-no! that world is ever bright With azure radiance all its own! The streams of uncreated light

MARCH 10, 1853.

To the Voters of the Third District in Itr. ginis for electing a Commissioner of the Board of Public Works.

WASHINGTON, FEBRUARY, 17, 1853, GENTLEMEN: Since declining again to run for Congress, I have unexpectedly received solicitations, from various parts of the third district, to become a candidate for the Board of Public Works. If you think I can be at service to you in this new position, you are at liberty to command whatever of ability I may possess to promote in that connexion the best interests of my native State.

Most respectfully, your obedient servant, JAS. M. H. BEALE.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

On last Friday morning, between the hours of three and four, our community was aroused by the startling ery of fire. Upon reaching the street we found it filled with a dense volume of smoke, and for awhile a panic seemed to have paralized the energies of our Citizens. The Ofties of the Spirit of Jefferson was discovered to be on fire throughout its entire interior, and in a very few minutes after any persons reached the destructive scene was entirely beyond any human efforts. The large Grocery Store of H. L. Eny & Son situated in the same building was also destroyed, but by the zealous and daring efforts of some of our brave citizens, almost the whole of the valuable portion of his stock was carried out of the turning building and conveyed to a place of security .-The Dwelling of R. S. BLACKBURN was also on fire and the roof burned off, but owing to the alreast superhuman exertions of some young men, whose manly efforts upon that cecasion demand some substantial testimonial from their fellow-citizens, the building was saved with but slight loss, and the fire thus stayed.

The loss of Dr. Blackburn will be but little, and Mcssts. Eby & Son will also suffer a loss, which is some measure is covered by Insurance in responsible Companies, but the weight of the disaster falls with almost crushing force upon our neighbor and brother Editor of the "Spirit." His Office, Materials, Books, Bonds and Notes, in short, every paper of value he had in the world, was totally destroyed. Our sympathy he has, but that will avail little to restore to him the means by which he sustained himself and family, and we are sure some substantial evidence will speedily be given by this and every other community in which his valuable paper was wont to circulate, of their sympathy for his loss and as their appreciation of the man. He bears to obly under his misfor-tunes, and with a stout hear strong arm hopes soon again to have his sheet in the hands of his friends and

The following proviso is inserted in reference to the government of the Armory :

Provided, That, from and after the first day of July ext, the act of Congress approved August twenty third, eighteen hundred and forty two, be so modified that the President may, if in his opinion the public interest demand it, place over any of the armories a superintendent who does not belong to the armory; and in order to en-able him to decide to his satisfaction, is hereby author-ized to cause necessary and proper inquiries to be insti-tuted through the medium of a commission of civilians and military men, with the view of ascertaining which of the two systems is the most economical, and safe for the management of public armories, that formerly existing under the superintendence of civil officer. or that now existing under the superintendents of officers of the ordnance department :

This is the worst sort of defeat the Armorers could have met with. The Military influence will prove to be too strong for them, and the system will be fixed upon them beyond remedy.

The Erichon Calorie Ship, Milele artifed at Alexandria from New York, has been exciting a large share of the public attention. Functionaries of the government, and citizens in large numbers, have visited the vessel, and are loud in their admiration.

On motion of Mr. Hunter, the Senate adopted an amendment appropriating $150,030 to aid in bringing a plentiful supply of water into Washington. In supporting this amendment, Mr. Hale said Congress had given every thing to the city but good water, and he was for a plentiful supply of that. Charlestown, March 10, 1853. THE INAUGURAL OF PRESIDENT

We publish the address in this evening's paper, (says the Baltimore Patriot, of the 5th instant.) We need not commend it to the attention of our readers. They will, of course, all peruse it-for, as so little is known of President Pierce, there is a natural curiosity to hear what he has to say for himself. Well, he speaks for himself, and we have no reluctance in saying that he speaks pretty well. His address reads like that of a man who only wanted to know the right to do it, and if his administration of the government shall fulfil the "promise of its spring," as made in his inaugural address, he will deserve well of his country, and his administration will give honor to his name.

Thus much for the general spirit of the address. How will it be carried out? Time can only tell, for there are some thoughts in it, some suggestions, which look to both sides of the question, and leave it doubtful which the author will take. Thus, when he talks of which animated Washington, when he counselled against interferring with the internal alairs of other nations and forbade "entangling alliances" with any .-But when he speaks of the "acquisition of certain posessions," as "emineutly important for our protection," and it may be "essential for the preservation of the rights of commerce and the peace of the world," when he speaks thus, what does he mean? And so too with the suggestion that it is "utterly inadmissible" for us to allow any European nation to "interfere or colonize on this side of the ocean." When the time comes, and the events arise, that call on us to decide how we shall act in these matters, if Gen. Pierce is then in the Presidential chair, he will no doubt tell us what he will do -till then he means just what he says, and that is nothing till action explains it.

What is said of the Army and Navy, and of the right of the States and duty of all public officers to carry out, and citizens to obey, the law, every true heart

That portion of the address, which refers to the offi ees of the government, is undoubtedly the part which will be read with the most impressive interest. It authorizes hopes ou both sides-in the faithful public servant now in office, and is the expectants who long to take the place of those who are to be removed for "political hostility and partizan prejudice." What President Pierce here says, he calls to mind the story totd of a candidate for the Legislature in Baltimore county years ago. There was a law then under discussion, in which citizens of the county divided, and he was asked to define his position in it. He did so with frankness which President Pierce may have often occasion to imitate, by declaring, with an emphasis peculiar to himself, and that must be heard to be fully appreciated. that "as it regards that law, he was part for and part against it." So it would seem is President Pierce with turning out officers-he is part for turning, and part for not turning out. Who will be the sufferers by the first, and who so fortunate as to share in the last part, time will tell .-And until it speaks, expectation will be on tiptoe, and fear will neutralize hope. We have nothing to expect for ourselves, and nothing to fear-and so, when we say thet we shall be glad if his action in the matter, will show that he is only prompted by the "best interests of the country," and not to reward partizens, or punish political opponents,"as he tells us will be the only motive that shall control him in his selection for offices, we express the feeling that should move all good citizens. With these comments we submit the address to the perusal and judgement of our readers.

A SHOCKING CASE.

The New York Tribune gives a letter from Washington, in which this statement is embodied,-the scene being in Georgia: A young man of dissolute habits, who had the reputation of being a hard task master, visited one of his plantations -an Island an absence of some days his triends became alarmed and proceeded in search of him .-No tidings could at first be heard, the negrees all denying having seen their master. At length, on the promise of reward and pardon, one man confessed that his master had been murdered, and that he was buried in a certain spot. The body was found in a mangled condition, and five men, who, upon examination on the spot, were considered the criminals, were forthwith remeved to Darien, the nearest city having a jail.

ger out a thousand lives of single-plessedness, than It was at once decided that the gentleman in the immediate vicinity, should form themselves into a jury and decide promptly upon the guilt or innocence of the unfortunate negroes. The verdict was 'guilty' and sentence of death was passed by the tribunal. Pending these proceedings, the judge of the circuit proceeded to Darien, accompanied by one or two able lawyers, in the hope of putting a stop to such illegal preceedings; but, finding he had no influence. he returned, and the men were shortly afterwards hung by one of the leading men in the country.

A MEAN ROBBERY.

Some unprincipled scamp was mean enough to get into the basement of the Lutheran Church in this place on Monday or Tuesday night last, thro' one of the windows, for the purpose of committing a petty robbery. The object of the thief's criminal entrance to the Church was two little missionary boxes, in which the children attach ed to the Sabbath School of that Church were in the habit of depositing their cents. fips, and other small change given them by their parents and others. These boxes, of which there were two, containing $2 or $3. were carried off by the robber, broken open and the contents taken out. Who was mean enough to do an act of this kind we have no means of conjecturing; but this we will say for him, that he is most certainly and surely a candidate for the Penitentiary, and that he will get there without an accident. He possesses in his character all the essentials of a finished scoundrel.

We are authorized by the Superintendent of the Sabbath School to offer a reward of $5 for the detection of the unprincholed villain, who has been guilty of this petty act of robbing the house of God of the little pittances contributed for religious purposes by the children of the school. Inconsiderable in population and apparent resources, it was upheld by a broad and intelligent comprehension of rights, and an all pervading purse to maintain them, stronger than armaments. It came from the furnace of the revolution, temered to the necessities of the times. The thoughts of the men of that day were as practical as their sentiments were patriotic. They wasted no portion of their energies upon idle and delusive speculaions, but with a firm and fearless step advanced beyond the governmental landmarks which had herto circumscribed the limits of human freedom, and planted their standard where it has stood against the dangers which have threatened from agroad, and internal agitations which have at times fearfully menaced at home. They proved themselves equal to the solution of the great problem, to understand which their minds had been illuminated by the dawning lights of the revolution. Pre-eminently the power of our advocacy reposes in our example; but no example, be it remembered can be powerful for lasting good, whatever apparent advantages may be gained, which is not based upon the eternal principles of right and justice. Our fathers decided for themselves, both upon the hour to declare and the hour to strike. They were their own judges of the circumstances under which it became them to pledge to each other their lives, their fortunes and their sacred henor, for the acquisition of the pricel-ss inheritance transmitted to us. All must realize that upon every sea; and on every soil where our enterprise may rightfully each be regarded as tandamental. The rights security and repost of this confederacy reject the idea of interference or colonization on this side of the ocean by any foreign power beyond present jurisdiction, as atterly inadmissable.

The opportunities of observation furnished by my brief experience as a soldier, confirmed in my own mind the opinion entertained and acted upon by others, from the formation of the Government, that the maintenance of large standing armies i our country would be not only dangerous but un-necessary. They also illustrated the importance-I might well say the absolute necessity-of the milof responsibility, but with nothing like shrinking litary science and practical skill which has made vour army what it is, under the discipline and instruction of officers not more distinguished for

The army, as organized, must be the rucleus around which, in every time of need, the strength of your military power, (the sure balwark of your defence.) a national militia may be readily formed into a well disciplined and efficient organization. And the skill and self-devotion of the navy assure you that you may take the performance of the past as a pledge for the future, and may confidently expect that the flag which has waved its untarnished folds over every sea, will still float in unstiminish-

But these, like many other subjects, vill be anpropriately brought at a future time to the attention of the co-ordinate branches of the Government, and trustial confidence that they will acture to me the aid and support which I shall so much need, and which their experience and wisdom will read ily suggest. If this reasonable expectation be not realized, I frankly confess that one of your leading beroes is doomed to disappointment, and that my offorts in a very important particular must result in a humiliating failure. Officers can be properly regarded only in the light of aids for the accomplishment of these objects, and as occupancy can confer no prerogative, nor importunate desire for preferment any claim, the public interest imperatively demands that they be considered with sole reference to the duties tole perfermed. Good citizens may well claim the protection of good laws and the benign influence of good govern ment, but the claim for office is what the people of a republic should never recognize. It mest be felt that there is no national security but in the nation's humble, acknowledged dependent upon God and his overruling Providence.

We have been carried in safety through a perilous crisis. Wise counsels, like those which gave us the constitution, prevailed to uphold it. Let the period be remembered as an admonition, and not as an encourage-ment in any section of the Union to make experiments, where experiments are fraught with such fearful haz-

Let it be impressed upon all hearts, that beautiful as our fabric is, no earthly power or wisdom could ever re-unite its broken fragments. Standing as I do, almost within view of the green slopes of Monticello, and as it were within reach of the tomb of Washington, with all the cherished memories of the past, gathering around me like so many eloquent voices of exhoristion from heaven, I can express no better hope for my country fathers may enable their children to preserve the bles sings they have inherited.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

A friend at Mt. Solon informs us of an other attempt to commit highway robbery in the lower end of this county. Mr. John international intercourse must always present a W. Kerlin, a respectable citizen of that village, while returning home, on Monday night, from Port Republic, was attacked near Pleasant Grove Church, in the vicinity of Mt. Crawford, by two men, one of whom seized his bridle. The horse being very wild, plunged desperately and broke loose from the robber, and Mr. K applying his spurs affected his escape. A pistol was fired after him, but he came off unharmed. This is the third or fourth outrage of the kind that has occurred in the same neighborhood. Is it possible that there is a band of highway robbers in Augusta county?

We could not believe it, if the facts were not reported to us by individuals entitled to full credit. It is high time for our civil authorities to do something to protect travellers and ferrit out the desperadoes. No body is safe in traversing alone one of the most public roads in the State.

THE NIGHT TRAIN.

The night train of cars leaves this place now at eight o'clock in the crening. The only difference this makes in the former ar-rangement is, that travellers have one hour more in Winchester and one hour less in Harpers-Ferry, whilst their arrival in the eastern cities is not delayed. The morning train continues to start at nine .- Win. Ren

THE HERMITAGE.

BY THOMAS EUCHANAN READ, Within a wood, one summer's day, And in a hollow ancient trunk, I shut me from the world away, To live as lives a hermit monk.

My cell was a ghostly sycamore, The roots and limbs were dead with age, Deeay had carved the gothic door Which looked into my hermitage.

My library was large and full, Where, ever as a hermit plods, I read until my eyes are dull With tears; for all those tomes were God's.

The vine that at my doorway swung Had verses writ on every leaf, The very songs the bright bees sung In honey-seeking visits brief -

Not brief-though each stayed never long-So rapidly they came and went No pause was left in all their song, For while they borrowed still they lent. All day the woodland minstrels sang-

Small feet were in the leaves astir And often o'er my doorway rang The tap of a blue-winged visitor. Afar the stately river swayed

And poured itself in giant swells;
While here the brooklet danced and played,
And gayly rung its liquid bells. The springs gave me their crystal flood, And my contentment made it winc-And oft I found that kingly food

Grew on the world forgotten vine.

The moss, or weed, or running flower, Too humble in their hope to climb, Had in themselves the lovely power, To make me happier for the time And when the starry night came by, And stooping looked into my cell, Then all between the earth and sky

Was circled in a holier spell. A heighth and depth and breadth subline O'erspread the scene, and reached the stars, Until Eternity and Time Seemed drowning their dividing bars.

And voices which the day ne'er hears, And visions which the sun ne'er sees From earth and from the distant spheres, Came on the moonlight and the breeze. Thus day and night my spirit grew In love with that which round me shone,

Until my calm heart fully knew The joy it is to be alone. The time went by -till one fair dawn
I saw against the eastern fires

A visionary city drawn. With dusky lines of domes and spires. The wind in sad and fitful spells Blew o'er it from the gates of morn, Till I could clearly hear the bells That rung above a world forlorn. And well I listened to their voice, And deeply pondered what they said— Till I arose—there was no choice— I went while yet the east was red.

My wakened heart for utterance yearned— The clamorous wind had broke the spell-I needs must teach what I have learned Within my simple woodland cell.

We heard a very good anecdote, lately, of a French tailor in New York. He had a weman in his employ, an excellent hand, to whom he gave six dollars a week; but she wanted her wages raised, and called upon the Frenchman for that purpose, when the fellowing dialouge took place ;-'Sir, I want my wages raised.'

'Ab, Sally, you want more l'argent ?-What for you want more? You 'ave everything ver' comfortable.' Well, sir, the Dutchman over the way has offered me seven dellars." 'Ze Dutchman is one ombug. Sally! he no pay you. I tell you what I do. I no give you more mency, mais; if you will marry me, I will marry you. I no give for the mill. What on earth is the matter with the gal -tell what is it?' 'I don't like to tell-it was Bill Cross' knee, but he never kissed me but twice!' 'Airthquake and apple-scree! exclaimed the schoolmistress, and she fainted.

A little fellow just in trowsers was observed to be an attentive listener, while a chapter from the New Testament was read. A few minutes after his little sister cried and the mother perceived that the boy had spit in the sister's face. The mother represed the shild of his rudeness, when the little fellow stammered out, 'Ma, didn't they spit in Jesus' face?'

Here, you little rascal, walk up here and give an account of yourself-where have you been ?'

'After the girls, father !' 'Did you ever know me to do so when I was a boy ?'

'No, sir-but mether did.' A young wife remonstrated with her husband, a dissipated spendthrift, on his conduet. 'My love,' said he, 'I am only like the Predigal Son-I shall reform by and by. And I will be like the Predigal Son, too, she replied, 'for I will arise and go unto my father; and accordingly off she TTT E have just received a large and well selected

MEDICAL HOUSE, No. 16, SOUTH FREDERICK St. BALTIMORE, MD.

Extellished in order to afford the afficted sound and sci-entific medical aid, and for the suppression of Quack-R. SMITH has for many years devoted Whole attention to the treatment of Private Complaints, in all their varied and complicated forms. His great success in those long standing and difficult cases, such as were for nerly considered incurable, is sufficient to compand him to the public as worthy o the extensive parronage, he has received. Within the last eight years Dr. S. has treated more than 29,500 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages; a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all the other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, at the Lowest Paices which our purchases will afford, for Cash only. As this rule will operate not only to our own alvantage, but subserve the interall the other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, and not a single case is known where his directions strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; est of our customers, we hope to be able greatly to therefore persons ufflicted with diseases of the above nature, "no matter how difficult or long standing the case may be," would do well to call on Dr. SMITH; at his office, No. 16 S. FREDERICK ST., and if not ed to settle up immediatel;, as all our capital no less than our profits, are distributed among the effectually relieved no remuneration will be required for his services, Ilis medicines are free from Mercury and all mineral poisons; put up in a neat and compact form, and may be taken in a public or a private house, or while travelling, without exposure or hindrance from business, and except in cases of violent inflammation, no change of diet is necessary.

STRICTURES Dr. Smith has discovered a new matter than the street of nethod by which he can cure the worst form of stricthre in a very few days, and that without pain or inconvenience to the patient. Irritation of the urethra, of prostrate gland, or neck of the bladder, is sometimes mistaken for stricture by general practitioners or charlatans. YOUNG MEN and others afflicted with Seminal Debility, whether originating from a Certain Destructive Habit, or from any other cause, with the train of bodily and mental evils which follow, when neglected, should make an early application, thereby avoiding much trouble and suffering, as well as expense. By his improved method of treatment, Dr. S. can safely guarantee a speedy and perfect cure in all cases of this complaint. TO FEMALES.

All diseases peculiar to Females, (such as Suppressions, Irregularities, §c.) speedily and effectually removed. The efficiency of his remedies, for the cure of the above affections, have been well tested in an extensive practice for the last twelve years.

Dr. Smith's "PREVENTATIVES," for Married Ladies, whose health will not admit or who have no desire to increase their family, may be obtained as above. Price $5. PERSONS AT A DISTANCE may consult Dr. S by letter, post paid, describing case, and have medi-cine securely put up and forwarded to any part of the United States, always accompanied with full and explicit directions for use. Communications considered strictly confidential. Office arranged with separate apartments, so that patients never see any one but the loctor himself. Attendance daily, from 8 in the norving till 9 at night.

Persons nifficted with any of the above complaints will do well to avoid the various NOSTRUMS and SPECIFICS, advertised by Apothecaries and Druggists, as a certain cure for any and every disease. They are put up to sell but not to cure, and frequently o much more harm than good, therefore avoid them. A word to the wise is sufficient. Address DR. J. B. SMITH, No. 16, S. FALL FASHIONS, 1852. TAYLOR, OPPOSITE BARNUM's would invite especial attention to his Fall Fashions for the ensuing season, which he will introduce on Wednesday, Sertember 1st, being confident that it will be found the most graceful and truly superb HAT e would return thanks to his numerous friends and enstomers for their generous support, and begs to assure them that nothing shall be wanting on his part to merit a continuance of their tayors. In view of the vast accumulation of small accounts as accraing under the old system of Semi-Annual colections, as well as exigencies growing out of the hange in our State Constitution, has induced him to come before his customers with a new front; in other words, he has determined to change his manner of doing business, and which he flatters himself, will meet their hearty approval. A per centage, inseparable from the credit system, including losses and collection, will by this change be secured the customer; as instead of booking them for the small sum of $4 and $5, he will make an abatement of ten per cent. for cash payment; thus a Hat f superior quality, the material and manufacture like being of the highest class, and which under the credit system cannot be sold for less than $5, will now nett $4 50; an article of second quality, which in all points cannot be surpassed (the humbus puffings of certain dealers to the contrary notwithstanding,) in this or any other city for the same price, siz: $1, will now nett $3 60; thus there will be a lear abatement of ten per cent., and the rule will be applied without deviation to every article in the trade. - Beyond this, is impossible; to prelend more is absurd.

To secure his customers a superior article, he has perfected arrangements by which he imports all his raw material, and has established on his premises manufacturing department; the whole establishment being under the immediate supervision of his own eye, and directed by his experience, the skill and tact of superior foremanship regulates the details, and thus completes the whole arrangement, and insures to the customer the faithful perfor mance of every part of the contract. Zollickoffer's Anti-Rheumatic Cordial.

For the Cure of Inflammatury and Chronic Fheumation, Rheumatic Gout, Neuralgia, Scialica, Lumbago, &c., &c., &c. OF ail diseases incident to the ituman family, there is none perhaps which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commise ation and sympathy as Rice natism in its various modifica-tions. Medical writers and the faculty in general have entertained different views as to the cause of this painful malady, and hence the variety of com-pounds of one kind or other, which have been presented to the public as curatives. This is a preparation originating entirely with the subscriber and he can therefore recommend it as prefectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever. As proof of its valuable efficacy, read the following certificates; March 22ad, 1850. Respected Friend: About four years ago I was attacked with Inflavariatory Rheumaitsm to a degree that it involved my whole body with an amount of pain that. I was unable to walk, or even help myself. Having hear! of thy Anti-Rheematic Cordial, I procured a bottle of it, and before I had taken half of it. I was able to attend to my ordinary business, and have remained free from the disease ever since.

DANIEL McCARTHY,

92 Swanson st., below Almond, Phil.

Harpers-Ferry, Va., August 27, 1851.

Mr. Zellickofer—Dear Sir: It affords me great pleasure to add my testimony to the beneficial effect of Zollickoffer's Rheumatic Cordiali Having been afflicted with Rheumatic Gout, or as it was a rmed by some physicians, Inflammatory Rheumatism, termission, and the pain was greatly increased by ected assortments of Agricultural Machinery and | the prevalence of wet weather, so much so, as 'ole almost insupportable : furthermore I was frequently confined to my bed for three mon hs at a time -After having tried various obvsicions and remedies without number, I was induced through a friend to try your invaluable medicine, and I am happy to inform you, that after taking one bottle. I feel perfectly well of Rheumatism, and I also find that my general health has been much improved. Very truly yours, JOHN SELLERS.

Harpers-Ferry, Nov. 14, 1851. I take great pleasure in testifying to the excellent qualities of Mr. Zollickoffer's Anti-Rheumatic Cordial, in effecting what is claimed for it. I was prostrated with Rheumatism so as to be entirely unable to attend to my business, and inde d could scarcely walk or move. Soon after I commenced the use of the Cord al, I felt its beneficial effects upon my system, and now find that it has well nigh eradicated the disease. I walk with ease, the swelling and stiffness has gone out of my limbs, and I feel assured that I shall soon be free from the dominion of my enemy. JOHN J. ALLEN.
Being fundiar with the facts above stated I subscribe myself, C. W. BUTTON, P. M. Prepared only by Henry M. Zollickoffer orner of Pine and Sixth street. Philadelphia; and sold in bottles, $1 each, b, T. D. HAMMOND, Harpers-Ferry Va., upon application to whom, numerous certificates of its efficacy can be seen. February 17, 1853.
