CLING TO THY MOTHER.

Cling to thy mother, for she was the first To know thy being and to feel thy life; The hope of thee through many a pang she nursed, And when, 'midst anguish like the parting strife, The babe was in her arms, the agony Was all forgot for bliss of leving thee.

Be gentle to thy mother! long she bore Thine infant fretfulness and silly wouth; Nor radely scorn the faithful voice that o'er Thy cradle played, and taught thy lisping truth. Yes, she is old; yet on thy manly brow She looks, and claims thee as her child e'en now Uphold thy mother! class to her warm heart She carried, fed thee, lulled thee to thy rest; Then taught thy tottering limbs, their untried art, Exulting in the fledgling from her nest;

And, now her steps are feeble, be her stay, Whose strength was thine in thy most feeble day. Cherish thy mother! brief perchance the time May be that she will claim the care she gave; Passed are the hopes of youth, her harvest prime Of joy, on earth; her friends are in the grave, But for her children she could lay her head Gladly to rest among the precious dead.

Be tender with thy mother! words unkind, Or light neglect from thee, would give a pang To that fond bosom where thou art enshrined In love unutterable, more than fang Of venom'd serpent. Wound not her strong trust, As thou wouldst hope for peace when she is dust. Oh! mother mine! God grant I ne'er forget,

Whatever be my grief, or what my joy, The untreasured, the inextinguishable debt I owe thy love; but find my sweet employ Ever, through thy remaining days, to be To thee as faithful as thou wert to me.

MISCELLANI

It was a clear, bright sunshiny day on the 4th of February, 1852, when a young Southerner passing down Washington st. girl apparently about eighteen, well dressed -but not in the extreme of fashion-and of a peculiar beauty and loveliness that almost

Her white silk bonnet but half concealed the finest head of glossy jet black bair in the Peachers and Commissioners will have their | world, which played in many ringlets over a Her forehead was high, but white and smooth as Parasian marble; while her large dark eves beamed forth an intensity of feeling, which impressed those who saw her, with emotions of pity and almost reverence. Her manner was certainly somewhat wild and singular, nevertheless the Southerner, too well bred to turn haughtily away, paused to listen to the fair girl whose tones of earnest entreaty were evidently making sad havoe with the poor fellow's heart. The Southerner, himself a practising lawyer in Richmond. Va , had just arrived in Boston, where he had come to attend to cortain matters of business connected with his profession. He was quite familiar with the city, having some three years previous gradnated at the University near Boston. But familiar as he was with many of the peculi arities of cities, he felt indeed surprised at the idea of a young and beautiful stranger stopping him in the street, to ask him the singular question, 'Will you marry me, sir ?' Now Charles Knowlton-or, as they called him at home, Charles Knowlton. Esq .was young, and a bachelor; and like all other young bachelors, intended to marry some time or other But the idea of being forced into matrimony - without a moment's warn ing-and without knowing anything about the lady who was to be his bride-except that she was young and handsome-rather startled him from his propriety, and for a moment-it must be confessed-he stood gazing with astonishment upon the lovely Particular attention will be paid to Agricultural maiden whose bright eyes seemed to flash Chemistry-Preparation of Pure Chemicals-Man-brighter every moment, with redoubled bril-

I cannot indeed blame you, but I may yet find one whose mauliness of heart will lead him to compassionate my present situation. Once more, sir, and for the last time, permit me to ask you,

Will you marry me, sir?' And here, overcome by her feelings, the tears began to dim her beautiful eyes, while the lady turned to hide her falling tears, and

The young lawyer felt keenly the awkwarkness of his position-and politely tendering his arm to the lady for a stroll up the street, inwardly resolved to learn more about the matter, if possible, the lady's case seemed to be so novel and singular. One moment he fancied her insane; but the calm beautiful expression upon her countenance, now that she had adopted him as her protector, utterly forbade such a thought.

With all the gallantry, romance-and perhaps we may say impetuesity-peculiar to Southern characters, Charles immediately determined to put the best construction upon the matter, treating the case as one

A thousand ill-defined thoughts passed through the young lawyer's mind. Everything in this department being satisfactorily arranged, the handsome couple forthwith presented themselves before the near the South Church, was accosted by a Mayor who was not long in performing the ceremony that should bind 'two willing hearts in one, for weal or for woe, 'until death should them part' A few moments later, and the young

Now girls, said Aunt Hetty, put down your embroidery and worsted work, do something sensible, and stop building sircastles, and talking of lovers and honeymoons; it makes me sick, it's perfectly antimonial. Love is a farce-matrimony is a humbug; husbands are domestic Napoleons, Neroes, Alexanders, sighing for other hearts to conquer after they are sure of yours -The honeymoon is as short lived as a lucifer ms ch; after that you may wear your wedding dress at the wash tub, and your night cap to meeting, and your husband wouldn's kniw it. You may pick up your own pocket handkerchief, help yourself to a chair, and split your gown across the back reaching over the table to get a piece of butter, while he is laying in his breakfast as if it was the last meal he should eat in the world; when he gets through he will sid your digestion. (while you are sipping your first cup of coffee.) by inquiring what you'll have for dinner, whether the cold lamb was all ate yesterday; if the charcoal is all out, and what you gave for the last tea you bought. Then he gets up from the table, ights his eigar with the last evening's paper that you have not had a chance to read; gives two or three whiffs of smoke, . sure to give you a head-ache for the afternoon, and just as his coat tail is vanishing through the door, apologises for not doing "tat errand" for you yesterday-thinks is doubtful if he can to-day-"so pressed with msiness." Hear of him at 11 o'clock, taking ice cream with some ladies at Vinton's, while you are at home new lining his coat sleeves. Children by the ears all day, can't get out to take the air; feel as crazy as a fly n'a drum; husband comes home at night, neds a "how dy'e do, Fan," boxes Charley's ears, stands little Fanny in the corner, sits down in the easiest chair in the warmest corner, put his feet up over the grate, shutting out all the fire, while the baby's little pug nose grows blue with the cold; reads the newspaper all to himself, solaces his inner man with a hot cup of tea, and just as you are laboring under the hallucination that he will ask you to take a mouthful of fresh air with him, he puts on his dressing gown and slippers, and begins to reckon up family expenses! after which he lies down on the sofa, and you keep time with your needle, while he snores till 9 o'clock. Next morning ask him to leave you 'a litmoney. he looks at you as if to be sure that you are in your right mind, draws a sigh long enough and strong enough to inflate a pair of bellows, and asks you what do you want with it, and if half a dellar won't co" Gracious ki g! as if those little shoes, and stockings, and petticoats could be had for half a dollar! Oh you may scrimp, and save, and twist, and turn, and dig. and delve, and economise. AND DIE, and your husband will marry again, and take what you have saved to dress his second wife with, and she'll take your portrait for a fireboard; but what's the use of talking? Legislature of Wisconsin, as given in the Milwaukee Sentinel : " The bill introduced by Senator Albon, on behalf of some of his constituents, exempting a rifle or a shot gan from exe ution. and which passed the Senate after being anended so as to include a powder-flask and a shot-pouch, was taken up in the committee form it was killed this morning, to the great mighty hunter."

The three great levers that govern the movements of the world are, the Printing Press. Pulpits and women. Without them, the bottom would fall out, society would become chaos again. The press makes people patriotic, the pulpit religious, but woman answereth all things. There would be no going to church if there were no girls there; neither would there be any going to war, were the soldiers to meet with applause from the masculines. Without the sunshine shed by women, the resebud of affection would never bloom, nor the flowers of eloquence geminate. In short, she is the steam engine of delight, and the great motive power of love, valor and civilization. Metical Nonenclature - Knick Knacks tells a story of a celebrated physician who recently prescribed for one of his patients hat a safe and ralatable remedy, "syrup of birch thorn," and wrote his prescript on in the usual cabalistic characters, "Syr. THURSDAY MORNING. MARCH 17, 1852.

To the Voters of the Third District in Itrginia for electing a Commissioner of the Board of Public Works.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,) WASHINGTON, FERRUARY, 17, 1853, GENTLEMEN: Since declining again to run for Congress, I have mexpectedly received selicitations, from various parts of the third district, to become a candidate for the Board of Public Works. If you think I can be for the Board of Public Works. If you think I can be of service to you in this new position, you are at liberty to command whatever of ability I may possess to promote in that connexion the best interests of my native State.

Most respectfully,
your obedient servant,
JAS. M. B. BEALC.

BENATOR MASON ON WAR.

In discussing the Clayton and Belwer Treaty, on Monday, and the movements of Great British in reference to Honduras and the Bay Island. Senator Mason declared that England had gone as far as she could be allowed to go in her aggreseions upon Central America, an! that this continent, and the whole continent, must be made free from British aggression. He accepted the alternative of war rather than a policy which would jeopard national safety and honor.

Well, these are brave words, and might be very appropriate if we were prepared for the war which Mr. Mason and others seem to invite. But would It not be a little more statesmanlike to vote for fortifications and naval defences, before swelling so largely ? Mr. Bowie of Maryland declared that | ten steam-ships could blockade every port in the Union. The means of carrying on the Armories were cut down at the last session, and money was refused for even one new vessel of war!

It really seems as if some of our Congressmen were industriously laboring to invite an attack upon our helplessness. We can afford to use big salk towards Mexico, without a navy, but it is rabefore we are ready to meet her "on the mountain wave."

GOING IT STRONG

It is said that more than 200 nominations were sent into the Senate on Tuesday last, principally of offices at a distance. The various State delegations are pressing their friends with great pertinacity, but the places are not half numerous enough. Gloomy countenances are already prevalent and each men is recounting his toils and sacrifices in the Democratic cause. One carried the precinct of Little Pedlington, and another routed the Whig forces at Hardscrabble. One was the first to suggest Frank Pierce as the very man for the Presidency-another brought a whole State into line in the Baltimore Convention, and made the welkin ring with the harras. The Post Office, Treasury and Interior Departments are the only ones at Washington that afford patronage, and these are nearly half filled with Democratic clerks. Carses loud and deep are showered upon Marcy, Davis and Dobbin, for declaring they have no vacancies-and the other Secretaries are considered altogether too tardy in their movements for impatient men's tastes.

When we left Washington, the expectants were be-the death of our friend-WILLIAM LIBLE BAKER, Esq. An obituary, the tribute of another friend, appears in our columns-but we cannot retrain from the expression of our estimation of the person and character of the deceased.

Mr. BAKER was of no ordinary intelligence-and was of very correct and proper judgment. Endowed with a most retentive and accurate memory, and practising a laudable industry and attention, he was enabled to acquire and have for use great information, and his judgment enabled him to appropriate the materials which his attention and indutry bad collected. Our columns will bear testimomy to his labours, and particularly in the arricles purporting to come from one of the " Olden Tine," will our readers find evidence of the research and intelligence of our Friend. He was a good scholar, and therefore an accomplished writer; he was an honest man, and therefore a good citizen; he was amiable in his disposition and temper, and therefore a desired and estimable companion. If the sympathies felt and expressed in this comarrow would not have taken effect. But it could not be averted-and in now bidding adieu to our many who have the virtues which were possessed by WILLIAM LIBLE BAKER.

The remains of Mr. Baker were conveyed to Shepherdstown, and interred with Masonic and Odd Fellow ceremonies.

MONONGALIA COAL.

Our much esteemed old friend, SAMUEL CAMEload of superior lump coal brought from the mines of Col. Pierpost, of Fairmont Marion equaty. Va. Col. P. has a large field of this coal. It abounds in an extensive scale not only in Marion, but in Harrison, Taylor, and adjoining counties. This coal makes the most charming fires-it burns like pitched pine knots, making a room as brilliant as day light, casting a cheering glare.

Mr. Camenon, always having an eye to the com fort of his friends, brought with him nine tons of this coal, a distance of two hundred and thirty miles. It is certainly a superior article, and if the transportation and commission be not too high, will get into general use. It does not pulverize like the Cumberland Coal. We invite our friends to call in and take a look.

THE COTTON FACTORY.

Mr. I. STANBROUGH, recently of Harpers-Ferry, Va., has made arrangements with four of our citizens for the immediate erection of the Cotton Factory to which we have before alluded. Mr S. is practically acquainted with the business, and comes with the highest testimonials of character and competency. The gentlemen allu led to have advanced all the necessary capital, and the contracts for the building and machinery will be entered into at once.

[We elip the above from the Cumberland Miner's Journal. We are much pleased to learn of friend Stanbrough's prospect for doing well. He is deserving of the confidence of the gentlemen with | been discovered to have been William McKenney, forwhom he is to be associated, apart from his practieal business habits]

THE CALORIC SHIP.

The members of the Legislature of Virginia isited the Caloric hip in the Potomac off Acquia Creek last week. In the course of the visit Capt. Ericison, by meani or a model representing the engines of the ship, explained minutely and at great length the mechanical peculiarities of the new motor. Having finished the mechanical des-eription, he centinued: * One of the great advantages of this invention. and, in point of homanity, the greatest, is, that here can be no explosion under any circumstances. By its adoption we still hear of no more heartrending accidents, which now to frequently occur,— [Long-continued applicates] And, in a commercial point of view, its advantages canage be sufficiently estimated. This ship under your reet will carry coal enough to cire inna gate the globe. Five hundred and fit ans will be sufficient for this purpo e. You can go to Chana and back without United States to Australia, and thence to England, without coaling in Australia! [Applause] This vessel consumed four tons and a quarter only in twenty four hours during her late trip. This, gentlemer, is not theory -it is practice. [Applause] Anthacite is the best fuel furthis engine, because we only require a slow, radiating hear; and I predict that when this new in silve power shall have been introduced, England will come hither for her coal. British vessels will coal on this side, instead of on the other side of the Atlantic. [Renewed applause, and tong continued] Our mountains of anthracite coal are inexhaustible. The whole world may come bere for their fuel. Under our present steam system, we cannot carry coal enough to cross the Pacific without intermediate coal stations. Fast signmers cannot exist on their own carnings, so great is the expense of the present system. Not only have they to pay for the coal, but also for handing it, and altogether nearly sixty men are employed in one of these large steam | crows, that pluck up the young corn,) -still flourvessels in connection with the machinery. In a vessel upon this principle not more than twelve men certainly would be requisite. [Applause] A single fireman on duty at a time here suffices. whereas in the ocean steamer a heavy gang of men are necessary. I view this machine as of great importance, in connexion with the great in- | which he rode, examining the crops and the workternal improvements of your State, which you are now engaged in carrying out. You have only to ed; the springs, bursting from rocks, where he complete your railway communications, in connexion with the West, and continue the same to the entrance of Chasancake bay to Nortolk, where you have an executent harbor, to get a vent for your ther in the style of bravado to be defying England great agricultural produce, and send it to the count ics on the other side of the Atlantic. I say, complete your internal communications, and Virginia, with her immente mineral and agricultural resources, will become the great, if not the greatest, State of the Union. [Excessive applause, and

Steam lines, if con-tructed at once, would not oay, whereas aloric ships would yield immediate fits, although the trade is not so great as it will be. I must again call upon you to look at this new motive power in connexion with your internal improvements, and you will find that it has an important bearing upon them." [Applause]
Captain Ericsson now said that he would be very happy to reply to any questions in relation to this new motive power. Several interrogatories were then propounded by honorable members, and he answered them with exceeding clearness and istinctness. He said, among other things, that he maximum pressure is twelve pounds to the square ince, and that the tempela ure necessary to added to the air, in order to produce this pressure, is only three hundred and eighty-four degrees. The amount of heat lost by the process of transfer amounts to only one-eighth of the whole. The As long as toxes shall back and crows shall caw, saving could be carried still further; but it would the nations shall still be hearing of thee; and of not greatly enhance the value of the machine; as thy watchwords: "Sic some r tyrerenis:" Old Virginning to look decidedly blue. It was difficult to tell | the globe, and that is sufficient. [Long continued which were in the greatest stew-the ouls, or the ins. applause] As to speed, in constructing this ship. nine miles only was contemp ated, as that was sufficient to render the enterprise e mmercially profitable. A year ago he was ridiculed for undertaking With sorrow of the deepest emotion we announce to make a cylind r fourteen feet in diameter; and now there are nouses in New York ready to cast and bore eylinders twenty feet in diameter, at their own risk! Such are the improvements in the arts; we have here at one bound produced a cylinder of three times the area of those of Collins' steamers; while, f rmerly by adding an inch or two, we thought we did great things. [Laughter] With reference to locomotive eigines. Captain Ericsson said he could now build one fast enough for freightg purposes; but in one year hence he could construct one to run with the fastest. [Applause.]-Alluding to the caloric ship, he stated that she and carry three times as much freight as the fast Atlantic steamers, as she has an entire freight duck, on which no coal is carried; the coals in this vessel being stowed below the freight deck, in bunkers, alongside the engines. The cost, inclu-

ling the patent charges, i) the same as that of an ordinary ocean steamer; so that the employer will have the benefit of the advantages of the new metive power without additional pay. In relation to stationary engines, he said that hey would not be so cheap as high-p e-sure engines, but about the same as tho e of low pressure "G'en !-men," he said. 'I now want you to join me in d inking the health of a gentleman to whom the country is indibted, to whom the world is inmunity could have averted the mortal blow the debted, for having this new molive power tested on such a magnificent scale as net to render a second experim at necessary. I mean, Join B Kitching, of New York, a young merchant of surprising salamented friend we hope to find as his successors | greity, enterprise, and perseverence. It is now only sixteen months ago since I first submitted this subject to him; and let me here state, that only eleven months ago this vast fabric, with its machinery, existed only on paper, and hardly that, for I planned most of the parts as the work progressed. [Applause.] As I have stated, only sixteen months ago he undertook to procure the means to carry out this great enterprise, not withstanding the sneers and the predictions of failure in mercantile quarters. He viewed the success of this enterprise with non, Esq., of this town, has presented us with a cart | the most remarkable foresight. I could not therefore, permit this opportunity to pass without expressing my infinite gratitude to Mr. Kitching for having enabled me to carry into practice, in so et ficient a manner, this new motive power. His name will be handed down to posterity in connexion with the many advantages, both in point of humanity and commerce, which will result from the introduction of this power. I therefore ask you to that with three cheers." NEW POTATOES.

Mr. JOHN BURNS, of this county, has presented us with a mess of new Potatoes, being the growth of this winter. He buried his potatoes last fall, covering them with earth and folder. In this condition, vegetation took place producing a new crop, averaging in size a hen's egg.

For the Free Press. THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF JEFFER-BON.

Fellow-citizens, we have done purselves honor, y instituting here a system of public schools. It emains but to perfect that system to confirm and crown the honor-and we may rest assured, that the cause of Education, like that of Religion and Morality when once entered upon, does not go backward. We will never undo what we have done. That which we now require is an experienced and able supervisor over all the schools and their tracher; a good teacher in each school; and with a view to secure that object, and to introduce uniformity, for the purpose of improvement. Let us see what our present financial means are : The law allows the school commissioners to assess a tax not to exceed fifty per cent upon the state tax (exclusive of the livense tax;) and a tax of one dollar on each tithable between the ages of sixteen and sixty years; and a tuition lee, to be paid by parents, of half a dollar per quarter for each child sent to school.

The State tax for the county, exclusive of license x. was over $17,000. Fifty per cent on $17,000 is Tax on tithables, as above, say 2.000 Add for tuition 1.500

low deduct for salary of Superintendent $1000 to $1500 -- say Am't sllow'd 27 Com. $10 each, Treasurer, 100 1.870

Leaves for salaries of Teachers, repairs of school houses and enclosures, fuel, &c., of the twenty-seven chools; being an average of about $3.75 to each. This is not as much by, say, $50 to each, as would be desirable-and perhaps a trial of it might prove the expediency of an increase of the tuition fee from 50 to 75 cents or $1 per quarter for each scholar. Should the schools become of the best description, the proceeds of tuition would perhaps be so much enhanced by the increased number of sholars, as, with a little voluntary aid in each district, towards the supply of tuel and boar ! of teachers, to render the means row provided for by law adequate to our purpose. But, no doubt, in the course of time, an occasional donation or bequest will be made, by some of our wealthier citizens.

Statistics of the schools are at present needed, to show the number of scholars constantly, or periodically, in attendance, in each district; and the amount received for tuition. This tuition fee, howbe the best medicine for this class of diseases yet dis-covered; the Medical Faculty use it and thousands have ever, it seems to me, ought not to be equally distributed amongst all the teachers, but somewhat in proportion to the size of the schools. CURIOUS AFFAIR AT NORFOLK.

The Norfolk Argus gives an account of a man who came there a couple of months ago from Nor h Carolina, and who affected to possess considerable wealth and influence, and after renting a large store and warehouse, at $500 per year, for an extensive commission business, succeeded in disposing of a check, with the signature of Mr. Richand Harrison, of Edgecombe county, N. C., to Col. Jacob Sharp, of Heriford county, who advanced him $500 on it, and gave him his note for the balance, payable in 30 days. Subsequently it was ascertained the cheek was forged, and that the man (who, it is now alleged, stands indicted as an accessary to murder in Elgecombe) had made his stant. The damage, it is estimated, will amount to at least $250,000. The telegraph line between Columbus and Alexandria was completely demolished for several miles, but has again been put in working order. Every building in the city was damaged -Large numbers of warehouses and dwellings were blown down or unroofed. Atmost every chimney in the city was demolished. The bridge at Girard was blown down, and a wagon, with the driver an thorses, were precipitated into the river. No lives were lost. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the damage.

CIRCUIT COURTS. We are authorized to state that John Kenney, Judge of the 12th Judicial Circuit, and Richard Parker, Judge of the 12th Circuit, have exchanged Circuits for this Spring's sessions of their Courts; and that it is the wish of both of these Judges that all causes in which it would be improper for them to sit, either from having been counsel therein, or from any other cause, may be ready for trial at the ensuing terms of said Courts.

Died: On Friday evening, about 9 o'clock, WILLIAM LISLE BAKER, Esq., in the 35th year of his age.
He died as the lamp expires; and when the time for his dissolution came it was not with calanness, serenity and without complaint. His death had been anticipated for some days, but such was the compoure and temperament of the deceased that the moment of departure was scarcely observable. Mr Baker was the son of the late John Baker, Esc.,

of this county-a long time the atterney for the common wealth-and had the enviable distinction of being declar ed "the honest lawyer." His mother, the late Mr.

Ann Baker, of Charlottesville, was a lady of great intelligence and of the most approved piety.

The subject of this notice combined many of the virtues of his parents. He was bred to the Law, as a profession. In the learning of that profession he was well read. Endowed with a remarkable memory and a good intellect and great colloquial talents, he was much respected in his profession, and at all times was received by his friends as an agreeable and desired companion

He was honest-he was intelligent-he was kind-he was socialle a good citis-n-a kind and benevolent friend; and if he had errors and follies (fir vices he had none) the tear of sympathy now falling blots them out On Saturday morning last, after a protracted indisposi ion, M. hildren. Her death is sens bly felt in the community where she lived, as the large and sympathisms number of friends assembled to pay honor to her memory on the occasion of her funeral, testified.

She was sensible of her approaching death, and was neither terrified nor unprepared, but with the calmness of a true believer, and the jeyful confidence of one who had long walked with God, she fell asleep in Jesus-with assured hope of a resurrection to life etc.

FEMALE RESOLVES.

No! I will never see him more,
Since thus he likes to roam,
And when his cab stops at the door,
John, say—I am not home!
He smiled last night when Bettie smiled,
(They must have met before;)
If thus by her he is beguiled,
I'll never see him more!

I'll never see him more I'il sing no more the song he loved, Nor play the waltzes o'er, Nor wear the colors he approved,

I'll never please him more!
I'll conquer soon love's foolish flame,
As thousands have before,
Look strange whene'er I hear his name,
And ne'er pronounce it more! The plait of hair I must resign,

That next my heart I wore; He, too, must yield that tress of mine He stole when truth he swore! The miniature I used to trace, And feel romantic o'er, I'll tear from its morocco case,

This ring—his gift—I must return, (It makes my fingers sore;) Then there's his letters—those I'll barn, And trample on the floor! Mis sonnet, that my album graced, (My tears thus blot it o'er,) The leaves together thus I paste,

And ne'er behold it more! I'll waltz and flirt with Ensign G-, (Though voted oft a bore!)
In short, I'll show my heart is free, And sigh for him no more ! If we should meet, his eye shall shrink, My scornful glance before; That's his knock-here, John! I think I'll see him just-once more!

YESTERDAY AND TO-MORROW.

As the sun now glows on earth, Ages have beheld it glow; As the flowers now spring to birth, Sprang they thousand years ago; So each day must pass away— Bringing smiles or sending sorrow; As the world was yesterday, So 'twill be to morrow, love;

Wherefore should we own our pain, Since the pain like all things goeth? Where's the wisdom to complain, Since our feeling no one knoweth? Hearts may bloom, yet show no flowers; Eyes may mourn, yet hide their sorrow;

As the world went yesterday, So 'twill go to-morrow, love; So 'twill go to-morrow Life is like the wind that blows When the clouds of morn are breaking;

Life is like the stream that flows-Something leaving-something taking! Than recall the past—with sorrow;
As the world roll'd yesterday, So 'twill roll to-morrow, love; So 'twill roll to-morrow.

MEDICAL HOUSE, No. 16, SOUTH FREDERICK St. BALTIMORE, MD.

Established in order to afford the afflicted sound and sci-entific medical aid, and for the suppression of Quack-

DR. SMITH has for many years devoted his whole attention to the treatment of Private Complaints, in all their varied and complicated forms. His great success in those long standing and difficult cases, such as were formerly considered incurable, is sufficient to commend him to the public as worthy o the extensive patronage, he has received. Within the last eight years Dr. S. has treated more than 29,500 cases of Private Complaints, in their different forms and stages; a practice which no doubt exceeds that of all the other physicians now advertising in Baltimore, and not a single case is known where his directions strictly followed, and medicines taken at reasonable time, without effecting a radical and permanent cure; therefore persons afflicted with diseases of the above nature, " no matter how difficult or long standing the case may be," would do well to call on Dr. SMITH; at his office, No. 16 S. FREDERICK ST., and if not effectually relieved no remuneration will be required for his services, His medicines are free from Mercury and all mineral poisons; put up in a neat and compact torm, and may be taken in a public or a private house, or while travelling, without exposure or hindrance from business, and except in cases of violent inflam-mation, no change of diet is necessary. STRICTURES Dr. Smith has discovered a new method by which he can cure the worst form of stricthre in a very few days, and that without pain or inconvenience to the patient. Irritation of the urethra, of prostrate gland, or neck of the bladder, is sometimes mistaken for stricture by general practitioners YOUNG MEN and others afflicted with Seminal Debility, whether originating from a Certain Destructive Habit, or from any other cause, with the train of bodily and mental evils which follow, when neglected, should make an early application, thereby avoiding much trouble and suffering, as well as expense. By his improved method of treatment, Dr. S. can safely guarantee a speedy and perfect cure in all cases of this complaint.

FALL FASHIONS, 1859. MAYLOR, OPPOSITE BARNUM'S would invite especial attention to his Fall Fashions for the asuing season, which he will introduce on Wednesday, Sertember 1st, being confident that it will tion had reduced me too low to leave me anything like hope, when my physician brought me a bottle of your ever presented. In commencing the Fall campaign view of the vast accumulation of small accounts as accruing under the old system of Semi-Annual colections, as well as exigencies growing out of the change in our State Constitution, has induced him to come before his customers with a new front; in other words, he has determined to change his manner of doing business, and which, he flatters himself, will meet their hearty approval. A per centage, inseparable from the credit system, including losses and collection, will by this change be secured the customer; as instead of booking them for the small sum of $1 and $5, he will make an abatement of ten per cent. for eash payment; thus a Hat of superior quality, the material and manufacture alike being of the highest class, and which under the credit system cannot be sold for less than $5, will now nett $450; an article of second quality, which in all points cannot be surpassed (the humbug puffings of certain dealers to the contrary notwithstanding.) in this or any other city for the same price, viz: $4, will now nett $3 60; thus there will be a clear abatement of ten per cent., and the rule will be applied without deviation to every article in the trade. Beyond this, is impossible; to pretend more

To secure his customers a superior article, he has perfected arrangements by which he imports all his raw material, and has established on his premises a manufacturing department; the whole establishment being under the immediate supervision of his own eye, and directed by his experience, the skill and tact of superior foremanship regulates the details, and thus completes the whole arrangement, mance of every part of the contract.

Zollickoffer's Anti-Rheumatic Cordial.

For the Cure of Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatic Rheumatic Gout, Neuralgia, Scialica, Lumbago, &c., &c., &c. OF all diseases incident to the human family, there is none perhaps which occasions so much intense suffering and physical disability, and none that appears to elicit so little commiseration and sympathy as Rieumatism in its various modifications. Medical writers and the faculty in general have entertained different views as to the cause of this rainful malady, and hence the variety of compounds of one kind or other, which have been presented to the public as curatives. This is a preparation originating entirely with the subscriber and he can therefore recommend it as perfectly safe, as well as efficient, being wholly free from any deleterious substance whatever. As proof of its valuable efficacy, read the following certificates:

O'N consideration whereof the said Judge is of opinion, that the i pse of time which has intervened between the death of said Robert Rutherford and the institution of this suit, and the filing of the amended bill making the heirs and devisees of said Robert Rutherford parties thereto, is sufficiently accounted for, and that therefore the same should not exclude the plaintiff from recovering from said Rutherford's estate any balance which, upon a settlement of accounts between them, may be found to be due to him as the administrator debonis non of John Morrow, dec'd. And the said Judge is further of opinion that the exparte settlements made by John Morrow as executor of said Robert Rutherford in 1814 and in 1823 by his administrators, whi st they must be taken to be prima facia true, yet may be impeached by the said devisees and heirs of said Robert Rutherford for errors, if any, apparent on their face, or by surcharging or faisifying the same, and that they may be thus sur charged and talsified upon their filing a proper cross bill, specifying the omissions and error- in said exparte settlements, if any such exist therein. And the said Judge is further of opinion that proper accounts should be taken to ascertain the balance, if any, which is due from the estate of said Robert Rutherford, dec'd, to the plaintiff, as administrator de binishon of said John Morrow dec'd. It is therefore adjudged, ordered, and decreed, that this cause be referred to Samuel Stone, a commissioner of this court, who is ordered to ascertain the amount, if any, which is due from said Rutherford's estate to the plaintiff as administrator de bonus non of said John Morrow, dec'd, and to adjust and settle the account of the delendant William C. Worthington, on the estate of Robert Rutherford, ISAAC ROSE. dec'd, and to report in the premises; and the said commissioner is ordered to state and report any special matter which he may deem pertinent, or which either of the parties may require to be so stated. And the said Commissioner is directed to give notice of the time and place of taking the said account, by causing such notice to be published once a week for toor successive weeks in one of the newspapers published in Charlestown, Jefferson county, and such publication shall be equivalent to personal service of such notice upon the parties.
