The countless stars! how gloriously, The countless stars! how gloriously,
How witchingly they shine!
And they bring strange thoughts and fancies
To this wondering heart of mine;
For I think is I look on them
With their pure and holy light,
Of the many, many different scenes
Disclosed to them to night.

First. my fancy leads me onward-First, my fancy leads me onward—
Where in caim and trusting rest,
A little babe is sleeping
On its gentle mother's breast;
And me thinks the stars are smiling
On the pasture bright and fair,
As so loadly and caressingly
She smooths his golden halr.

Next, I see a herecomposition.
O'er her cheek a blush is spread. As she listens to sweet words of love, And meekly bows her head; While the stars look down in gladness, Like soft, loving, human eyes— As all silently and peacefully They twinkle in the skies

Now my fancy bears me swihly, Far away from land to roam, Where a noble ship sails protdly O'er the ocean's sparkling foam; And the heart of many a warderer The quiet stars both blessel, For the vision they have breight him Of the home where he shall rest,

But ob, how much more glor cusly The blessed stars can shint, When they bring to say tracing heart, As they have brought to nine, Glad thoughts of Hom who made them-Of his mercy and his love When they raise the soul fron earthly scenes, To purer joys above!

So I thank you, gentle teaches. For the lesson you have taight, Of His watchful care and kindless-And I gladden in the thought That He who guides your morements With his strong and holy are, Will forever keep his children From all danger, sin and hirm

'You can take this case,' sail the foreman; bere is a stick-here is some copy; and if you would like a quiet and steady partner, you will find this gentlemae still enough in

In the afternoon I had more leisure to study the physiognomy of my neighbor. He was a young man, of about three or four and twenty, with handsome features, and a rather intellectual caste of countenance .-His face was quite pale, and the raven darkness of his hair, eyebrows and eyes, made me immediately come to the concluthe relaxation of blood oralized during his enjoy nent, he spent all his waking hours at the case. The latter supposition, time proved correct. As day after day passed, I became more acquainted with him; and I found him to be a singular character Beneath his stand he and constructed a kind of closet, which contained a spirit lamp, a mattrass with bedding, a few cooking utensils, and a small stock of the plainest kind of food. When the hours for meals arrived, he would light his lamp, and putting some food over it to cook, would work until the rest of the hands had left the effice, when he would sit down to his frugal repast. He worked incessantly duving work hours, hardly leaving the office, unless to purchase food, or upon some errand of that kind. Morning, noon and night, when I returned from my meals Thresher and Cleaner, Hossey and McCormick I invariably found him at the case, working Reaper and Mowers, Cooper's Lime Spreaders, away with all his might, as if some great issue depended upon the improvement of every moment. I suppose he slept upon the cot which he kept in his closet; but as he was always at work when I left at night and when I returned in the morning. I could not positively assert that he did so. I am not garrulus, especially when employ ed at the case, and as he would not first ad dress me, I would not speak to him-so. while the fun and jokes were passed around the other cases, we were silent as the grave. I was not long in discovering that there was some mystery connected with him, and that his intense application to labor was not prompted merely by a desire to make money; for if there is anything in phrenology, judging from the formation of his head, he is the only one whom I would have selected from a score for a spendthrift. Occasionly his cheek would flush, his eyes light up, and a happy smile would overspread his features, then the smile would go away, his eyes would fill with tears, while an expression of sadness-almost despair-would se tle upon his countenance. I have been tempted a thousand times to ask the cause but, as he appeared so cold and i-bined, I refrained from doing so, as it is pleasant proffering sympathy unasked Well, how do you like your neighbor,

I can earn enough to support them but my reason for coming here is this. One of my sisters who is now a beautiful girl of sixteen, and the pet of the family, has been blind from birth. We have no hope of hereacquiring the faculty of sight, and were content to abide by what we thought a dispensation of Providence. DIFFICULTIES AMONG THE MISONS.

A circular is published in the New York papers, emanating from the Holland Lodge of Masons, stating their determination to secede from the Grand Lodge of that State, and giving their reaspirit of Masoary, without specifying particularly in what respects, and state that in consequence encourage the true principles of Masonry, is sup-pelled to declare herself free and independent," and also invite the co-operation of other Louges. They further state that they know of ro other means to remove the stigma, which for many years has been attached to them, than to fall back upon the piatform upon which the Masons of England prior to the formation of a Grand Louge . Under the telegraph head on Satorday morning, (says the Haltimore Sun,) we published an accoun of a horrible murder at Sterling, near Oswego, N. Y. A man, his wife and son were killed by another son. KILLING AN ELEPHART.

The fact has been sublished that on the 27th ult,, Geo. West, heeper of the elephant Romeo, attached to Baily & Co.'s circus, was stilled by the animal ler his charge, near Camden, S. C. The keeper was endeavoring to make him cross a bridge, when he knocked the horse upon which he was riding oil the bridge, ripping him open and killing him. West, however, escaped, but persisted in at-tempting to control the elephant though be was so much enraged. He saized him by one of his tusks to turn him, as washis custom, and probably struck him, when he became enraged, and struck with his tusks a blow which broke Mr. West's back and instantly killed him. He then threw him and caught hirr in his tusks and kept at it until he was complete ly mangled-the arms, legs, thighs and bones generly being broken, the intestines torn out and scalp pealed off. The does which usually aided in conolling him were set upon him, but his motions were so rapid that all was done before any interfer-

On Sur day afternoon and exening, aboutone hundred and filty balls were fired into him without effect .-His eyes were shot out as a matter of safety, as he showed a disposition for violence. His cons ant intercourse with the object of his regard, who lived in the house appears to have driven him to desperation. He first attempted to commit snieide by taking laudanum, but drank a boule of ink instead. His next thought appears to have been to kill the girl, probably intending to kill himself af-terwards. The butchery is of too horrible a character to suppose that it was perpetrated in cold blood-but be that as it may, the matter will be excitement in Wamelsdorf .- Berks and Sch. Jour.

For the Virginia Free Prest. Messas. Entrons:-I send you the following ex-County, to his father, in Smithfield, and dated ato, June 18th, 1855. The date is ider with that of the article furnished you in regard to the public lands, water the title of the Homestrad bill. I send it to you as evidence of the public sen-timent arising in this country, in regard to grants of immense territories and lividuals, and, whather made, originally, by Pope, potentate, or any other power. I hold it that no earthly power civil or ecclesias ical, has the right to grant to influence, whole regions of the earth, and to authorize them to with hold them from the use and occupation of men, or, when men bave found wild regions in the possession of digger Indians and the Grisly bear," and brought them into cultivation, to drive them from their homes. It pope or potentate cas grant to 'Don Ragtag or Bobtail' a territory as large as Virginia, then, they had the same right to grant to them this whole continent. Would such a grant, for one moment, have been respected? I think not. There is, then some limitation, founded in nature, to mese grants, and when that limitation is violated, the nat-ural rights of then are violated too, and it may be expected that they will rise and vindicate thera, as settlers in California are now preparing to do? What is the limitation of nature in regard to the apportionment and distribution of the earth among its inhabitants? My reply is, the wants and requirements of a man, or men! If a single man, should find himself cast upon a continent or go to t, that Continent is by no tocaus his; but be has a ight to cultivate what he can for his sustenan and that much of it is his. And so, too, if a natriarch and his family, and his man-servants, and his maid-servants, and his flocks, and his herds, should ome to lands in a state of nature—as in the case of Abraham and Lot-he has a right to what is necesary and reasonable for them all. But he in the individual's case and the patriarch's too-must remember that others, also, have the same rights, and, that beyond his reasonable worth he has no right to exclude others. I say this the retood, in reation to unescapied lands, wild and in a state of nature, and not in regard to lands occupied, in the besom of regularly constituted civit scriety, and subject to its ponventions. I am well aware that the self-appropriators of boundless tracts of this common and parcenary earth, will seek to protect themselves in their iniquitous claims, by ass milating them to property and the tenures of property in fixed and regular society, where it has been bought and sold. livided by inheritance, and passed from hand to hand in various ways. The distinction is plainly taken in the ex-Pitisburg; John Kelly, of Pitisburg, badly; Mr. tract I now send you from the California letter and ence. The distinction is plantly taken in the excommit it to the critical consideration of all who ay read it. It is as follows:

"There is, at this time a third party springing up here, (which is of no mean consideration e ther,) and which will probably hold the balance of power, and will, I think, after the Democratic Convention, (which meets on the 25th of this month,) co-operate ith the democrats. I allude to the settlers: men who were the pioneers of this State; and men who are the bone and sinew of this country; men who have speat their time, their money, and the sweat of their brow, in improving and adorning the wild and uncultivated soil, which, a few years since, was known only to the digger Indian and the grisly bear.

There is a foundation for property in nature, and, also, in the agreements upon the conventions of society, should, within the pale and limits of society, be respected: not so the pretended rights of Kings, and Popes, and potentates, by color of divine right, and as vicurs of heaven, nor of capital either, to stretch their long arms over oceans, and seas, and continents, and, to make their grants to Don Ragteg or Bolstail of what does not belong to them to great! Listen Once More, Friends! I'l must be known to you that the undersigned has for a period of yests psed his ulmost offer. in an obliging manner to minister to your happiness by adding to your board of plenty, even to hi own loss, in many instances, but he is urged again by his circumstances to appeal to your considera-tion. Duty to himself and his family, as well as no desire still more ably to fill his stails for your convenience and enjoyment, prompt him to say what he lee's no one can fairly disapprove. It is known that the undersigned is not a capitalist, yet he has to find somewhere and somehow cash to carry ou his business, having to pay cash for stock in most cases, or if the owner happen to be so liberal as to creait him, be in debt and tempin in debt to him, until no farther credit or confidence can be expected. If those who have owed for year after year would only pay part, I would be immensely re-lieved and enabled to do justice to those I owe.— My old business must be closed at any sacrifice.— As for the future, all I have said above will show that I am compelled to adopt the cash system, "the rule of one for the other." Cheer me, my real friends, onward with the smile of gold and silve for old scores as well as new favours, and dropping the gloomy frown, which is not natural to me, will joyonsly jog on my bloody way, for the pleasure of your palates, over this " Great Country, whose green vales are dotted with the "brawny bullock," and whose hills are whitened with the "snowy flecce."

Talked leve in her mellow light. Ben Fisher bad never a pipe of clay,

And never a draw drank he,
So he leved at home with his wife to stay,
And they chatted merrily;
Right merrily chatted they on the while,
Her babe slept on her breast,
While a cherub rogue with a rey sin le
On his father's knee found rest. Den teld her how fast his potatoes grew,

Den teld her how fast his potatoes grew,

And the corn in the lower field,

And the wheat on the hill was grown to seed,

And promised a glorious yield;

A glorious yield in the harvest time,

And his orchard was doing fair,

His sheep and his stack were in their prime, His farm all in good repair. Kate said her garden lorked beautiful,

Her fowls and her eaves were fat; That the butter that Tommy that morning churaed Woeld buy him a Sunday hat;
That Jenny for Pa a new shirt had made,
And that, too, by the rule.
That Neddy the garden could nicely spade,
And Anna was shead at school.

Ben slowly passed his toil-worn hand
Through his locks of grayish brown"I tell you, Kate, what I think," said he.
"We're the happiest folks in town."
"I know," said Kate, "that we all work hard,
Work and health go together, I've found;
For there's Mrs. Bell, doesn't work at all,
And she's sick the whole year round. "They're worth their thousands, so people say, But I ne'er saw them happy yet; 'Twould not be me that would take their gold,

And live in a constant fret. My humble home has a light within, Mrs. Bell's gold could not buy, Six healthy chi'dren, a merry heart, And a husband's love-lit eye."

And a handered a love-let year.

I fancied a tear was in Ben's eye,
The moon shone brighter and clearer,
I could not tell why the man should cry,
But he hitched up to Kate still nearer;
He leaned his head on her shoulder there,
And took her hand is his—
I guess (though I looked at the moon just then,)
That he left on her lips a kiss.

VARIETY.

TA pious old lady, who was too unwell to attend meeting, used to send her thickheaded husband to church, to find out what text the preacher selected as the foundation of his discourse. The poor dunce was rarely fortunate enough to remember the words of the text, or even the chapter and verse where they could be found; but one Sabbath he ran home in hot haste, and with a smirk of self-satisfaction on his face, informed his wife that he could repeat every word of the text as follows: 'An angel came down from Heaven and took a live coal from the altar.'

'Well, let us have the text,' remarked the good woman. 'Know every word,' replied the husband. 'I am anxious to hear it,' continued the

'They are nice words,' continued the hus-'I am glad your memory is improving, but don't keep me in suspense my dear.'

'Just get your big Bible, and I will say the words, for I know them by heart. Why I said them a hundred times on my way home.' 'Well, now let's hear them.' 'Ahem,' said the husband, clearing his throat; 'An ingen came down from New Haven and took a live colt by the tail and jerked him out of the balter.' A Scene at the Gate of Paradise .- A poor tailor, being released from a troublesome world and a scolding wife, appeared at min Ford, and said Daniel Sayder to William C. the gate of Paradise. Peter asked him if he Wo bad ever been in Purgatory. 'No,' said the tailor, 'but I have been to 'Oh !' said Peter, 'that is all the same.' The tailor had scarcely got in, before a fat, turtle-eating alderman came, puffing and

'Hallo! you fellow,' said he, 'open the 'Not so fast,' said Peter, 'have you ever been in Purgatory?' 'No.' said the alderman, 'but what is that to the purpose? You let in that poor, halfstarved tailor, and he has been in Purgatory no more than I.' But be has been married!' said Peter. 'Married?' exclaimed the alderman, 'why I have been married twice !' 'Then go back, again,' said Peter, 'Paradise is not the place for fools.' Ned, who is that girl I saw you walking with?'

'Miss Hogg.' 'Hogg, Hogg-well, she's to be pitied for having such a name.'

'So I think,' rejoined Ned. 'I pitied her so much that I offered her mine, and she is going to take it presently.' A TOAST BY A PRINTER .- At the Franklin Festival, recently held in Lowell, the following sentiment was proposed, and most heartily responded to by the company :

The Printer-the master of all Trades .--He beats the farmer with his fast 'Hoe,' the carpenter with his rale, and the mason in after due publication of this order, and do what is setting up tall collums; he surpasses the lawyer and doctor in attending to his case, and beats the parson in the management of the EXCELSION.

THE association for the Extribition of the Industry of all Nations awards to Europa S. SNYDER, of Charlestown, Jefferson County, Va., the highest premium Bronze Medal, with special approbation, for the combination he has effected, and the practical application he has given the same, in his Labor Saving Machine for Threshing, Separating, Gleaning and Bagging Grain .- Hen. Theodore Sedgwick, President of the Association, Hon. Henry Wager, Western New York, Chair-man, Watson Newbold, Esq., Columbus, N. J., Col. John W. Proctor, Danvers, Mass., Maj. Philip R. Freas, Germantown, Penn. ; Hon. Henry S. Babbit, Brooklyn, L.I., acting Secretary in Class

9, Jury C.
My Patent Premium Threshing, Separating Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machine, is for sale which received the first premiain at the Crystal Palace, New York, over all Threshing, Separating, Cleaning and Bagging Grain Machines on exhibition—thus proving conclusively that simpli-city in construction, cheapness in price, and dura-bility in my machine, is being fully appreciated and the old and new costly inferior complicated separating Machines, must yield their places to superior Labor Saving Machine. The celebrated Machine for Threshing, Separating, Cleaning twice, Screening and Pagging Grain by one sim-ple operation. The greatestiabor saving Machine in the world for separating all pure and impurities. This Machine throws the straw to itself the chaff to itself, the wheat in the bag, the screening to itself, and the smut and cheat to itself. Every thing has a place, and everything is in its place to suit the conveniences of the farmer. For simplicity, durability, cheapness and capacity, it has no equal in the world. As for what has been stated in the different papers concerning Mr. Zimmerman's Machine receiving the first premium at the Crystal Palace, New York, is talse, and not true. It is also stated that Mr. Zimmerman received a number of premiums at-and other fairs. That I know nothing about-perhaps he did; but it is very easy to win the race, as the boy said when he ran by himself. But my honorable friends, this was not the case at the World's Pair, New York. Mr. Zimmerman had a number of other boys to run with, besides himself, which made the race more difficult for him-so much so, that he, Mr. Zimmerman, was neither first nor second-so you may judge where be was. These are facts that cannot be denied. The unlersigned would inform the public that his farmers' labor saving Machine for Threshing, S parating, Cleaning, Screening and Bagging all kinds of Grain, is for saie. Farmers wishing to buy the best Machine in use, will address Joseph Glazk, Frederick City, Md., who is manufacturing them the best and most substantial manner and can rish any orders at a few days notice. Those wishing to purchase the Patent Right to manufact ture the Machines, will address me at Charlestown Jefferson County, Va. ELISHAS. SNYDER.

Put the clothes to be washed, (say from 6 to 8 shirts.) together with the requisite gauntity of warm water and soap, in the tub; then place the rubber on them and cause it to perform alternate semi-revolutions about the spindle. Time for working from 5 to 8 minutes. The weight of the rubber and the motion given to it causes the rips upon the rubber and the bottom of the tub to press, rub and agitate the clothes sufficiently to remove their impurities without injury to their taxture .-This machine, for simplicity of construction, facility of operation, and cheapness, is superior to all washing machines in use, and only requires a test to render its merits apparent. thanks to the Farmers and the public generally, for their liberal encouragement during the past season, and hope by strict attention to business to insure a continguace in the future. From the extraordinary dentities for our justly celebrated Patent Premium Thresher,

Cleaner and Bagger, we have prepared for the coming season the largest assortment of Threshers and Powers in the State, including our improved Tombling Shaft Geer Horse Power and Cleaner—the only Separator the farmer can with safety place in the hands of his servants. It has but one small strop about the whole machine, and we warrant it to thresh more grain and break and waste les than any other separator new in use with the same number of hands and horses, we also make them with straps, equalled by no strap machine in the country. Also, the very best sing ple Taresher and Shoker with Tombing Shalt of Strep Our Stock copsists of the following sizes, their prices at the Shop, viz: Largest size for 8 and 10 Horses, 36 inch Cylinder, Power for same. With Strop, and with Tembling Sheft and

For 6 and 8 horses, And for 4 and 6 horses, 75 00 These Vactories are all completed with wrenches, &c., and ready for operation when sent away from the Shop, and we well further say to the farmer that we have calculated our Powers for this season so that the horses if desired wil walk slower than to any other Machine now in use. We also make a very superior two horse WAGON to carry the Cleaner upon, which we will turnish to purchase s at a low price. We are also making a very superfer Wheat Brits, with Compost Mitachment, which we warrant not equalled by any other Seeder now in use for the simplicity and curability of its construction. This Muchine should be in the cossession of every farmer who uses Guano or any similar fertilizer, as it will save the half the Goano sown the common way and better insure a crop.
