POETRY.

SWEETHEARTS.

BY CHARLES M. DENIS.

'Tis sweet to hear the rain with patterng feet
Make music on the house-top, and at night,
How glad I am to think of you, 'tis sweet
To have your love, and to see you, sweet;

The while it is to be, or seem, sleep;

'Tis sweet to see and hear fair children play,
And dream of our own fairest in these days;

'Tis sweet to hear "farewell" when it is uttered
By one whose love trembles, for there he

Some pain that gives us pleasure—hearts have fluttered
With anguish till it grows to ecstasy;

'Tis sweet to have a heart to love, to feel,

'Tis sweet to have a heart to which they creep;

'Tis sweet to have a heart of love,

To scan a multitude of memories;

And find a face that turns away from ours;

'Tis sweet to have a heart that loves us;

Would that no heart were haunted by a pain—

Would that there were not periled dream;

That we could not exist when 'tis in vain!

VIRGINIA FREE PRESS AND FARMERS' REPOSITORY.

Virginia Free Press.
BY H. N. GALLAHER & CO.
THURSDAY MORNING.
JANUARY 17, 1856.

CONGRESS.

The business of the last week, and we expect of the present, may be summed up in a repetition of the old song, in regard to the filling of the vacancies. No election of a Speaker. Each candidate on Saturday went through his political矢程, and as well pleased his supporters, that they have determined to adhere "to the latter." The House, on Monday, stood : For Mr. Dix, Richardson, 63, Filder 23, Pennington, 5, supporting S. Negley to a choice 103. And then there was a suspense, the business going on as usual, until it was known that Andrew Jackson would be President, when he marched in, as the new speaker, and, taking the "Bump," Pennington, 104, and, of course, to the contrary of those who were for him. But for the necessity of appropriating bills, which could not be done now, the bill was defeated.

The Democrats are fattering themselves that they are making capital for the Presidential election out of their so-called "able and courageous stand." They have constituted themselves into a body of vaunting Pharisees, giving thanks that they are better than other people. They pretend to have a great minder of the idea of electing a "Black Republican" to the office, yet they are making the only cause called for to produce such a result. They want to drive the American Party into the ranks, and then raise a hand and cry whooping.

But the people understand the game. They know that a Speaker, to the present state of parties, can have very little influence upon the course of legislation. The anti-slavery men can achieve nothing in the House, and if they could, the Senate would checkmate them.

An able man "on the stump" need not be better material than the Democrats of the House of Representatives have furnished by their self-sacrifice and courage. They have surrendered their party only partly, that could act with them to oppose secession. The responsibility of delay is theirs, and they cannot shirk it off.

DISRUPTION OF THE UNION.

A prominent member from Maryland says that "will involve the disruption of the Union, unless states' rights is checked, and yet when the country is quieted a new agitation is started." A Northern member, a prominent candidate for Speaker, says "that in a certain contingency he is willing to let the Union slide." These sentiments should meet with an indignant rebuke from one end of the country to the other, but they seem to have lost all power to shock the public sensibilities.

THE VOTE POSTPONED.

The Winchester Republican says, "The county court of Frederick took a very wise step, on Monday evening, in postponing the vote upon the railroad subscriptions. It has also resolved, the respective sums named in the original order, that the commissioners of the several districts of the Baltimore & Ohio should view them, and the following day, to meet at Frederick, to consider what action they should take in the matter." This is a good move, but it has emboldened him to ask a similar acknowledgement of his fellow citizens, and his devotion upon the altar of his country; and that she confidently relies upon the patriotism and justice of Congress to vindicate her father's merits.

Mr. S. asked that the members might be laid on their oars, and when they had digested, they would be very safe, if they should embody their ideas and purposes of dissolution in a secret set, to form a compact, and then, when the time came, to let the world know that they were upon treason. In the meantime

THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democrats have hedged themselves in by disowning all other parties, and are boasting of their devotion to principle. Their object seems to be well understood. They are in the minority, and want to throw the responsibility of electing a Free Soil Speaker upon the American Party. The Savannah Republican thus characterizes their movement:

"The object of this whole procedure of the Democratic party in the South is to be mischievous. It is a scheme of treason to the Union, for their own aggrandizement. They do not desire to elect a sound Nebraska soldier, or they would have accepted the only sure mode of effecting it. The object is, clearly, to postpone the election of a speaker, and thereby make it odds at the South in the coming presidential election. To postpone the whole year can be nothing, and we are confident that it will allow such a consummation."

THE OLD SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, the veterans of 1812 turned out in considerable force at Washington on the 8th. Death diminished their ranks, some of the prominent men of the last year being missed from the ranks; but the old spirit was still alive, and many of the seniors were in buoyant and spirits of young vigor. An open organ has been following the talk does no harm."

HARRIS-PENNY APPROPRIATIONS.

The following sum has been recommended by the Secretary of War, for repairs and improvements of the National Arsenal at Harpers Ferry:

LEGISLATIVE.

In the House of Delegates, on Tuesday the 8th, Mr. Jenkins offered a resolution that a select committee of five members be appointed to report a bill to carry into effect the 37th section of the 4th article of the Constitution, relating to the admission of Missouri into the Union, and that the same be referred to the Committee on Territories.
