THURSDAY MORNING.

FEBRUARY 10, 1850.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.

For Congress,

ALEXANDER R. BOTELER, ESQ.

For this CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

We are authorized to announce WILLIAM H. ROBERTSON, of Albermarle, as a candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals for the 3d Judicial Section.

JANUARY 20, 1850.

WE are authorized to announce GIDEON J. BROWN, of Augusta, as a candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals for the 3d Judicial Section.

JANUARY 27, 1850.

TO OUR PATRONS IN BERKELEY.

We expect to visit Martinsburg on Monday next, when we shall calculate with certainty upon the payment of dues for subscription and advertising, &c. If there is no deposit made by our agents, we will pay the amount of claims. GALLAHER & CO.

FORWARDED—PUBLISHED!

The "Free Press" gives the cue to all the Democratic malcontents in this District by telling them, "If you are fit to eat of Mr. Faulkner's hand-dish, eat his nomination." This is a frank admission that Mr. Faulkner is united in triumph is certain—Spurit.

We admit no such thing—and if the writer of the above extract had followed us on the subject he would have understood us, instead of attempting to mislead.

It is perfectly well known that Mr. F. has torn out his welcome with a large portion of the Democratic party—that much opposition to him exists throughout the District—but that many of his own party who desire his defeat wish the Whigs and Americans to hold off, and permit an Independent of their party to oppose him. To this the Whigs have no such idea—and those who embraced Mr. F. and rewarded him for his renegades, must either oppose him in Convention, or, if nominated, give their suffrages to the opposition. This course the party took, when they defeated the Hon. HENRY BROOKNER. They refused to vote for him or else stayed from the polls. Let this be done, should Mr. F. be nominated, and he is a doomed man. But they must not expect the Whigs to yield every thing. We have our man, and we trust the good sense of the Opposition will induce them to hold to their principles.

The Spirit also says—

"As we have said before, as do not know whether Mr. Faulkner deserves a nomination, our efforts are only designed to fight and expose the policy of our adversaries, as it occasionally manifests itself in the out-spoken editorials of our neighbor."

"We do not know whether Mr. Faulkner deserves a nomination." Now, is not this rich? If Mr. F. did not desire a nomination why did he have his post in Washington to go to Luray, in Page county, to recruit to them "friends and enemies to the people of Page?" To play upon their ignorance by telling them that he had saved by his great vigilance "five or six millions of dollars" to the dear people! It is well known by his party that he does want to be renominated—and it is our wish that he may be.

As we have before remarked, we wish the Democrats a surfeit of him for his renegades. Those who have been all their lives Democrats, who have chosen to reward renegades, should not complain of their compact. We therefore go—if we are to have a Democratic candidate, although the States say we have not got a Democratic party—for Mr. Faulkner. Hurrah for Faulkner!

BURGLARS ABOUT.

On Thursday night last, the Store of Mr. G. W. Lusk at Harper's Ferry, was entered, and a drawer containing change amounting to some 15 or 18 dollars, robbed of its contents. Whether anything else was taken is not known. The entrance was made by prising out a panel of the door.

It was rumored that a gentleman's journal at Harper's Ferry had been knocked down a few evenings previous and robbed of $12.

SINGING SCHOOL.

The "Jefferson Guards," having fully complied with the provisions of the law are in full expectation of their new arms and equipments. They purpose observing the approaching 4th and with a full turnout of Guards, we anticipate something of the spirit of bugle days.

BURNING OF MILLERS AND MARY COLLEGE.

PETERSBURG, VA. Feb. 8th.—Intelligence has reached this city that that venerable institution of learning, William and Mary College, at Williamsburg in this State, was entirely destroyed by fire about three o'clock this morning. Everything including the valuable library, rooms, &c. is destroyed, involving a loss of $100,000.

DEPTHS.

A letter from a friend in Texas, formerly of this County, will be given place next week.

UNION PRAYER MEETING.

The Union Prayer Meeting will be held to-night, at 7 o'clock, in the Presbyterian Church.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY.

We have endeavored to preserve the Harmony of our Democratic friends and opponents in this Congressional District, but our efforts have been futile. We therefore "gin" it up, and give our readers a specimen of what some of the Democratic editors say of the "gentleman." A Mr. H. Mann, a follower or time-server of Mr. Faulkner says of the editor of the Richmond Argus, that "nothing is admitted into its columns that does not subserve the interests of a family clique, that we have interested in a "senseless persecution" of Mr. Faulkner, &c."

These charges are pronounced false by the editor, who says—

"We stand disconnected with all alliances, we act under the influence of no person, no mode, and we hold ourselves responsible to no one, save the people—whose interests, and whose material and political, we labor to defend and advance."

This is true, and we hold no responsibility to promote his advancement and therefore accuse his faults, it is true, we have assisted in his becoming a publican, but we are not to consider them incapable of self-government!"

Mr. Popoli also says, in reply to a writer, "Mechanics"—

"Does Mechanics wish to make his claim permanent, and to the exclusion of all others, equally deserving?"—Rotation in office "does not" "deserve" "Mechanics" because it encourages moral and mental degradation. It is just and impartial. It is one of the distinguishing features in our system of government. Let me assure you, that in 1850 this is an increase of three and may be considered a happy opening of the new year.

POETICAL.

On the deathbed,
John J. McCurdy.
The cold teeth shudders are shivering,
About the narrow bed;
Where lies the dear departed one,
Walter sleeps the last sleep.

Burke does not the mind,
At they high above his head;
Nothing can break the peace there,
Not disturb the quiet dead.

Tis said that one so young,
Should in his early bloom,
Be marked by death's earliest hand,
A victim to the tempest.

But though his form is resting now
Beneath the cold deep sod,
Angels have borne his spirit up,
To the arms of his master—God.

But he is happy now;
His suffering are at rest,
Serenely he lies where pain and death,
Are known and felt no more.

Yes, in that heavenly home,
He dwells supremely blest;
No pain nor sorrow will be there,
Twas said of them who died before us.

Fond parents do not weep,
That the loved one has been taken;
He's only left for a better world,
You'll meet again in Heaven.

Mourn not, but give your sorrows,
To your Heavenly Father still;

And through your tears look up and say,
"He died all things well."

ADA.

VARIETY.

FASHIONABLE SOCIETY.

Somebody truly says: that society is a nuisance in a "fashionable" sense. It is nothing more nor less than a stiff series of absurd and cold formalities. It is no pleasure, any more than the Rock of Gibraltar has. The password of it is "Money"—if you've got it, or make the world think you have. "Go in" or "Out" is your bower—never mind about your character—and "go in". Learn the set speeches of polite gossip—in good taste, pretend to great respect for a sectarian creed, and keep up a fashionable outside, and you shall safely pass with the genteel élite. Society is fearfully and wonderfully made!

MUTE ELOQUENCE.

There is no people in the world with whom eloquence is so universal a gift as the Irish. When Leitch Ritchie was traveling in Ireland, he passed a man who had a painful spectacle of pallor, squalor and raggedness. His heartsmote him, and he turned back. "If you are in want, why don't you beg?" "Sure, it's bettering I am, yet honor." "You didn't say 'word'." Of course not, you horrid soul; see how the skin is skinnin' through the holes in me trowsers! and the bones cryin' out through me skin! Look at me unbroken cheeks, and the famine that's starin' in me eyes! Man alive! isn't it beginnin' I am with a hundred tongues?"

Mr. Sambo, suppose dar is six chickens in the coop, and the man sells three, how many is there left?

What time of the day was it?

What had dat to do wid it?

A good deal; if was after dark, dark would be nout lef, dat is if you happened dat way.

Look here, nigger, stop them personalties or I'll shove a nigger at dat coffee colored head of yours.

Mr. A rich old farmer at Crowle, near Banbury, England, speaking to a neighbor about his son, said his nephew said:

"Why I should a made Tom a lawyer, I think, but he took such a good hand to hold a plow, that I thought it was a pity to spoil so good a ploughboy."

If you wish to make yourself a favorite with your neighbors, buy a dog and tip him up in the cellar all night. —They won't sleep for thinking of you.

If your wife is cross stay and provoke her—but see that the poker is on your side of the stove.

Mr. A hard, close-fisted old lady, who had refused to give, after hearing a charity sermon, had her pock-picked eye was leaving the church. On making the discovery, she said, "If God could not find the way into my pocket, it seems that the Devil could!"

A lady was once declaring that she could not understand how gentlemen could smoke. "It certainly shortens their lives," said she. "I don't know that," replied a gentleman. "There is my father who smokes every blessed day and he is now seventy years old." "Well," was the reply, "he had never smoked he might have been eighty."

A gentleman who takes a business view of most things, when recently asked respecting a person of quite a peevish temperament replied:

"Oh, he is one of those men who have soaring after the infinite, but diving after the unfathomable, but who never pay cash."

In Kentucky a plowman became ensnared of a milk maid on a neighboring farm. His address were rejected, and the disappointed swain, full of melancholy and revenge procured a rope, went to the barn, and—tied all the cows together!

"John, said Mr. —— the other day to his son—John you are lazy, what on earth do you expect to do for a living?"

"Why father I have been thinking how I would be a Revolutionary soldier!"

"Well, Pat, Jimmy didn't quite kill you with a brickbat did he?"

"Nest, I wish he had."

"What for?"

"So I could have seen him hung, the villain!"

On hearing a clergyman remark that "the world was full of change" Mrs. Partington said that she could hardly bring herself to believe it, so little had it found its way into her pocket.

Mrs. Partington, speaking of the rapid manner in which wicked deeds are perpetrated, says it only takes two seconds to put it into her pocket.

In Sweden a man who is seen four times drunk is deprived of his vote at elections. In some of our large cities this rule is reversed.
