POETICAL.

WE MAY BE HAPPY YET.

Though darkness now is all around,
And the gloom seems such thy soul,
Let not the shadow pass thy eye,
The clouds may all pass by;
The clouds may all pass by, my love,
Our sun is brightness set,
And in life's calm declining days,
"We may be happy yet."
We may be happy yet, my love;
The sorrow that we know,
May be the last that we shall taste,
Of bitterness and woe;
Our future may, with joy, be bright,
While o'er our path shall lie,
A hollowing light, a peaceful ray, Thrown from the hand of Divine.
The storm can never last for ever,
Clouds melt and disappear,
A morn's own dapples the light,
And joy succeeds to fear.
Then why, my love, should we despond,
Our cheeks with tears we wet, Let's banish sorrows with the thought,
"We may be happy yet."
Come, wreath again thy face with smiles,
And let thy bright eyes shine,
And with loved words, spoken from the heart, Bursts gladness into mine.
Our life has not yet passed away,
Our sun has not yet set, Undying love lies in each heart,
"We may be happy yet."

EPITAPHE ON A CANDLE.

A wretched life hurried here,
Who died in a decline,
He never rose in rank, I fear, Though he was born to shine.
He was, was lost, but then indeed,
Grew thin at every grieve,
He died, the doctors all agreed,
Of a most burning fever.
If ever you said, "God bless you,"
He much more should,
On such occasion he would say,
"If I do I'm blaw."

In this his friend, he did agree,
Although you think 'tis joking,
When going out, "and that's it,"
Was very fond of smoking.
Since all religion he despised,
Let these few words suffice;
Before he was ever laid low,
They app'd him once or twice.

THE MORAL MIRE AND SINFUL KISS,

When Sarah Jane, the moral Miss Decides "I'll be a spinster if I have To fit a chisel to my nose through, I'll put a chisel to your face through,
The damsel, fairly undressed, Feels just as any Christian should—She'd rather suffer wrong than do it!

VARIETY.

"A wife looks prettier, if she did but know it, in her next morning dress of silks, than in an incongruous pile of fancy, which she dignifies with the title of full dress. Many an unmarried female first wins the heart of her future husband, in some simple, unpretending attire, if consulted about which she should pronounce too cheap except for ordinary wear, but which by its accidental suitability to her figure, face and carriage idealizes her youth wonderfully. If the sex would study taste in dress more, and care less for costliness, they would have no reason to regret it." A foolish and silly man is not worth marrying, and a sensible man will surely judge you advantageously in exact ratio to the plainness and simplicity of your dress.

"A married friend says he intends to join the abolitionists, because one of their preachers reads them." "Whereas, there 'll be no right more sacred, perfect and self-evident than the right of every human being to the undisputed possession and control of his own person," etc., etc.

"Hes-firms that he had not had "control of his own person" since the day of his "happy union" with Mrs. Smith, and he now "goes in" for the largest liberty

(Boston Post).

A YOUNG OPERATOR.—The daughter of the proprietor of a coal mine in Pennsylvania was inquisitive as to the nature of hell.
Upon which her father represented it to be a large globe of fire of most prodigious extent. "Papa said she, 'couldn't you get the devil to buy his soul of you?'"

"Friend Mallaby, said a Quaker, I am pleased that thou hast got such a fine organ in thy church!"

"But," said the clergyman, "I thought you were opposed to having an organ in church."

"So I am," replied Tommy; "but then M-sue will worship the Lord by machinery I would like thee to have a first-rate instrument."

"A Methodist and a Quaker having stopped at a public house, agreed to sleep in the same bed. The Methodist knelt down and prayed fervently, and confessed a long catalogue of sins. After he rose, the Quaker observed

"Really, friend, if thou art as bad as thou sayest thou art, I think I dare not sleep with thee."

"A great difference between us and one of our neighbors is that we don't tell half of what we know, while he doesn't know half of what he tells."

""Are you the mate?" said an Irishman in New Orleans, to the cook of a ship lying in port. "No," said he, "but I'm the man to boss the mate."

"There is a man at Windsor so habitually sleepy that his curiosity cannot be awakened."

"An act by which we make one friend and one enemy is a losing game, for revenge is a much stronger principle than gratitude."

"The best sort of an anti-renter is an industrious woman who keeps her husband's and children's clothes mended."

"A mind might ponder its thoughts for ages and not gain as much self-knowledge as the passion of love shall teach it in one day."

""How dreadful short the days are," said the woman, said when she let the breakfast dishes stand until she had read a novel."

"It may be very well for innocence to sleep in the bosom, but it had better be wise awake sometimes."

"What would our day be without its moving and crooking twirls? A fierce and burning eye without a lid."

"Whar church do you attend, Mrs.
Partington? Oh, any paroxysm church where the Gospel is dispensed with."

"John, did you ever bet on a horse race? "No, but I've seen my sister Bet on an old mare."

MEDICAL HOUSE.

No. 11 SOUTH FREDERICK ST., BALTIMORE MD.

Established in order to afford the afflicted round-and-ever-ready medical, and for the distribution of "Quack-ery."

DOCTOR SMITH, the only Remedy and experienced Physician and Surgeon, has for many years devoted his whole attention to the treatment of Private Complaints, in all their various and complicated forms. His practice is limited to the treatment of the most difficult cases, such as were formerly referred to him, sufficient to keep him to the public's service.
Within the last year, Dr. S. has treated over 2000 cases of Private Complaints, and no single case is known where his directions were strictly followed, and medicines taken as directed, and the patient recovered. His skill and permanent cure, therefore, particularly distinguishes the above nature, "matter how difficult or long it may take to effect." No. 11 South Frederick Street.

The affected should hear in what Dr. S. is the only regular physician, who has for many years given the best attention to the treatment of this class of diseases.

His medicines are made from simple and mineral parts, and are easily digested, and are taken in a public or private house, or while traveling, without exposure or hindrance from business, and, in case of violent inflammation, change of diet is not necessary.

We are satisfied upon every day to cure Chronic diseases, which were supposed to be incurable, and which were only then easily removed by Dr. S. by his skill and knowledge.

Grew thin at every grieve,

He died, the doctors all agreed,

Of a most burning fever.

If ever you said, "God bless you,"

He much more should,

On such occasion he would say,

"If I do I'm blaw."

In this his friend, he did agree,

Although you think 'tis joking,

When going out, "and that's it,"

Was very fond of smoking.

Since all religion he despised,

Let these few words suffice;

Before he was ever laid low,

CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES.

Young men? Beware of the persistent indulgence and abuse! Send inquiry you infer upon your health by general examples and the moral influence of the passions.

How many cases of constitutional disease, arising from the most trifling causes, and originating in the system? We are grieved to see the number of cases arising from that horrible and devastating vice of smoking.

It could be shown how attenuated the frame, pulmonary, the heart, degeneration of the nervous system, and other organs, are all indications of Consumption, which are often ascribed to certain causes, when in reality they are the consequence of a general debility, and a want of proper exercise.

Dr. SMITH, gives a full account of the best method of curing Constitutional Disease.

He never fails, but then intend,

Grew thin at every grieve,

He died, the doctors all agreed,

Of a most burning fever.

If ever you said, "God bless you,"

He much more should,

On such occasion he would say,
