

BERRYVILLE, Clarke County, Virginia.

"This subscriber has taken the liberty to make a convenient time to give attention to their Coach Factory."

CHARLESTOWN, Jefferson County, Virginia,

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 17, 1860.

NO. 20.

BY GALLAHER & CO.

THE WESTERN CLOTH PROSPECTOR.

JOHN C., UNDERWOOD.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

APRIL 25, 1860.

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1860.

—TREASURER.—

—CLOTHING.—

VIRGINIA FREE PRESS AND FARMERS' REPOSITORY.

Great National Convention
OF THE
CONSTITUTIONAL UNION PARTY.
PURPOSES.
The Maintenance of the Constitution and the Laws.

NOMINATION OF
Hon. JOHN DELL of Tennessee,
For President.
Hon. EDWARD EVERETT of Mass.,
For Vice President.

Pursuant to the call of the National Executive Committee, the National Convention of the Constitutional Union Party assembled in the Presbyterian Church, at the corner of North and Fayette streets. Most of the delegates had arrived during the previous day, and at the hour appointed for the meeting nearly all were present. Several hours prior to the opening of the doors the streets about the building were thronged with persons. Besides the regular delegates, there were large numbers of persons from all parts of the Union, so that it was necessary, in view of the contracted size of the building, to admit the admission to the floor of the convention to admit no one other than those supplied with cards of admission by the several committees.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock Hon. J. C. Crittenden took his seat on the floor of the convention, and was received with applause from the galleries, and the ladies, who occupied the west gallery, waved their handkerchiefs, thus evincing their gratification at seeing one who has for so many years occupied a prominent position in the political affairs of the country.

At ten minutes past twelve o'clock Hon. John J. Crittenden took his seat in the chair, temporarily, which was followed by applause. Rev. James D. McCabe then offered prayer.

Mr. Crittenden then rose and said it had been made his duty, as chairman of the executive committee, to call the convention to order, and will do it with brevity as far as possible. In obedience to the action of the nominating committee, Hon. Washington Hunt, of New York, as temporary chairman, was seated.

Hon. Thomas Swann, of Maryland nominated Wm. W. Sweetser, of Missouri, as temporary secretary.

Mr. Hunt conducted to the chair, by Hon. B. D. Noyes and R. E. Stevens. Mr. Hunt spoke to the convention, and referred to the time when the fathers of the country assembled to perpetuate the Union and freedom of the nation. He hoped the proceedings of the convention would initiate their example and retain that which had made us a great people. They were assembled, he trusted, in the spirit to show that they were one people bound together by a common hope.—

They were prompted by no partisan passions. They should know no platform but the country, no party but the Union. It had long been apparent that there is no party in the country, except it be the Constitutional Union party, to give the country from the dangers to which it is exposed. The Democratic party had run around on the squatter sovereignty, and there was no probability that it would hang again together by the cohesive power which bound it so long. He spoke of the introduction of slavery into a territory where the mercury remains several degrees below zero, and where no slaveholder would go. They need to forget the honor, the mission of this convention is one of peace. Sullen and important considerations depended upon the deliberations and action of the body.

He believed they had the power to furnish a banner which would bring to its support the patriotism of the country, and that all would feel that they belong to one people. That they would go forward regardless of man, and trusting that the overruling Providence of God would crown their efforts.

Gen. Leslie Conner, of Kentucky, moved that a committee of four from each State be appointed to present the names of permanent officers of the convention, which was adopted. The following committee was then appointed, each delegation selecting their member of the committee:

Alabama, N. W. Shelly; Arkansas, C. C. Danley; Connecticut, Hon. John A. Rockwell; Delaware, Wm. Temple; Georgia, J. S. Fauntleroy; Indiana, John J. Haydon; Illinois, Gen. John Milson; Kentucky, John W. Fennell; Maine, C. B. Jackson; Massachusetts, L. V. Bell; Minnesota, T. J. Barber; Maryland, Hon. Thomas Swann; Mississippi, John K. Yerger; Missouri, Sid Smith; New York, B. D. Noyes; New Jersey, J. W. Allen; North Carolina, Hon. H. Hodges; Ohio, Allen Trimble; Pennsylvania, Col. Jas. Paxton; Tennessee, A. J. Donelson; Vermont, John Weller; Virginia, Wm. L. Goggin.

California, Florida, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, and Wisconsin were not represented.

The chair announced that he had received a telegraphic dispatch from Grafton, Va., stating that fifteen delegates from five States were detained at that point by an accident on the railroad, but would arrive to-morrow.

Mr. Swain suggested that the committee on permanent organization be also the committee on credentials, so that they might report the nominations for permanent officers and credentials at the same time.

Mr. Drayton, of Arkansas, said he did not think a report on credentials necessary, if there are no contested seats. They had come here to save the Union, and he did not suppose any persons would ring in under false pretenses.

J. S. Little, of Pa., thought that if the chairman of each delegation would furnish the secretary with a list of the delegates, that would be sufficient. The suggestion was adopted.

Motions were made to take a recess till one hour in the afternoon, so as to give the committee time to report.

A motion was made to take a recess till 2 o'clock, also was made to take a recess till 4 o'clock, and adjourned to 4 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The convention reassembled at four o'clock, when the election of permanent organization through Hon. A. J. Donelson of Tenn., presented the following nominations:

President—Hon. Washington Hunt, of New York.

Vice-President—Hon. S. K. Harlan, Mo.; Marshall P. Wilder, Mass.; R. K. M. Ormsby, Vt.; Austin Baldwin, Conn.; Frederick A. Talmadge, N. Y.; Peter S. Clark, N. J.; Joseph R. Ingersoll, Pa.; Dennis Claude, Md.; Alexander H. H. Stewart, Ya.; W. B. Hallam, N. C.; James Calhoun, Ga.; J. A. Dow, Ala.; Richard W. Thompson, Ind.; David A. Sayne, Ky.; Edward P. Metcalf, Miss.; K. Q. Underwood, Arkansas; Gustavus A. Henry, Tenn.; J. Scott Harrison, Ohio; and Joseph C. Conney, Delaware.

Secretary—C. Sidney Long, Md.; J. E. Payne, N. J.; Ezra Clark, Conn.; —Snow, Ill.; L. S. Tolson, Mass.; John W. Syme, N. C.; Samuel Davis, Ky.; John P. Earley, Ind.; Adolphus Mueller, Mo.; Dickinson Bell, Miss.; John E. Calender, Tenn.; and Edward Whipple, Pa.

Mr. Hunt, in taking the chair as permanent president, said this unexpected manifestation of kindness and confidence filled his heart with emotion he was unable to express. The honor was one he most deeply prized, and should remember with profound gratitude during his life. He regretted that the honor had not fallen on one more able to bear it.— He would, however, discharge the duties belonging to the place he was called upon to fill to the best of his ability, and would ask the co-operation of all the gentlemen present in discharging the duties of the position. He trusted that in the course of their proceedings they would be able to impress the country with the conviction that it was not yet too late for partition to come together and defend the spirit of union and harmony which they might come together like the pillars of the revolution.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such. There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

In 1831 Mr. Bell was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives in opposition to James K. Polk. Mr. Bell declared for Judge Wayne as the successor of Van Buren in 1835, and Wayne carried Tennessee's large majority. In 1841, accepted a seat in the Cabinet of Gen. Houston as Secretary of War, but resigned when Mr. Tyler succeeded Houston. In 1847 he was elected to the Senate, and, though he served only a few months, he was a true statesman. His law as a profession, was admitted to the bar at age eighteen. Some idea of the brilliant promise of his youth may be formed from the fact that he was elected a State Senator in 1817, when only twenty years old! In 1826 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives over Faxon. Green, after a most exciting and memorable contest, and was successfully re-elected in Jackson's two subsequent terms, during which period his name was prominently identified with the most important measures, and his reputation established as one of the most powerful debaters of the country.

He had come here as the representatives of free independent States, which have united their destinies together. They represented States widely different in climate—two classes of States, as they are sometimes termed, differing in their local and social institutions. There were those who would organize strife into a system, and make discord a foundation for the country. God forbid that they should give way to such a spirit.

There was a large class of people represented here to-day, who wish to put away dissension, and establish peace and amity between the different members of our country. He was one of those who would bring back the country to the consideration of those subjects which concern the whole country. Let them who can, live in concord, to any such.

Mr. Hunt, in taking the chair as permanent president, said this unexpected manifestation of kindness and confidence filled his heart with emotion he was unable to express. The honor was one he most deeply prized, and should remember with profound gratitude during his life. He regretted that the honor had not fallen on one more able to bear it.— He would, however, discharge the duties belonging to the place he was called upon to fill to the best of his ability, and would ask the co-operation of all the gentlemen present in discharging the duties of the position. He trusted that in the course of their proceedings they would be able to impress the country with the conviction that it was not yet too late for partition to come together and defend the spirit of union and harmony which they might come together like the pillars of the revolution.

The nomination was received with shouts of applause.

Gentlemen from different parts of the Union addressed the Convention in eloquent speeches, which were received with enthusiasm.

After the appointment of a National Committee, the Convention proceeded to vote, which resulted in the following:

Bell 681
Houston 57
Graham 22
Crittenden 28
Everett 25
Ritter 13
McLean 21
Bath 94
Sharky 7
Goggins 3

While the above ballot was being taken, the name of each of the gentlemen voted for was called with loud applause by both the Convention and spectators—most especially was this the case when

VIRGINIA FREE PRESS AND FARMERS' REPOSITORY.

What shall be done with the fragments? We mean of the disembodied Democ's party. They have ceased longer to exist—and their Nationality is gone forever!—Please be with them. What shall be done with some who felt disposed to jump over the bar? Let them report.

MARRIED.

By the Rev. Wm. W. Kriger, on the Sabbath, the 2d instant, in the Union Methodist Church opposite Harrison Ferry. JOHN W. FARLING, BRAH. THOMPSON, all of Frederick county, Va.

By the same, on the 5th day of April, 1860, on the bridge, JOHN W. DILLON to MARY E. GIDDY, both of Jefferson county, Va.

Marriage at the M. E. Parsonage, Harper's Ferry, Rev. George G. Brooks, M. E. T. M. FRITH, to Miss HARRIET ANN CREAMER, of Jefferson county, Va.

Bride, Mrs. JAMES WILLIAM R. DODD, and Miss SUSAN W., second daughter of Dr. Robert C. Randolph, of New Market, Clarke county, Va.

In Macon, Georgia, on the 1st inst., by the Rev. Mr. Horace J. TIMBLERAKE, of Washington, James C. CASTLE, of Macon.

On Thursday evening, May 3d, by Rev. Dr. P. ROBERT B. THOMSON and Miss LIZZIE A. MOORE, all of Jefferson county, Va.

In Wheeling, on the 25th ult., by the Rev. Dr. JULIA C. PAULL, of Harrisonburg, and Miss JULIA C. PAULL.

On Thursday, the 2d inst., at the residence of the bridegroom, by the Rev. Mr. Gilmore, Philip E. VANSICKEL and Miss SARAH P. DAVIS, all of London.

On the third of April, near Berry's Ferry by Rev. Mr. Jesse Parker, JAS. W. LLOYD, and Miss CATHERINE E. RUTTAN, both of Clarke county.

DIED.

On the 7th instant after illness of over three months CHARLES ANTHONY BELCH, son of Mr. and Mrs. BELCH, of Harrison Ferry, was about 30 years of age. He was a member of the M. P. Church, and a most promising young man, beloved by all who knew him.

Army Guards, the bereaved wife, the widow, the friends, the neighbors, the sympathy of the community.

On Wednesday night, May 1st, after a brief illness, died CHARLES W. HUBBELL, of Clarke county, on the 25th of April, aged 30 years.

Suddenly on Tuesday evening, the 10th inst., near Charlottesville, Jefferson County, Va., Mrs. IUPHIMA MANNING of Washington, formerly of London County, Va.

At the residence of John H. Taylor, near Berry's Ferry, on the morning of the 1st inst., FRANCIS B. TAYLOR, of Frederick city, Md., in the 31st year of his age.

In Leesburg, on Tuesday, the 8th instant, Mr. ROBERT W. GOVER, in the 70th year of his life.

In Hedgesville, Berkeley county, on the 3d instant, Mr. JAMES W. COOPER, in his 30th year, 1st death and 50th birth.

After a brief series of six days, on Thursday the 10th inst., Mrs. SALLIE BELT ZW, wife of Daniel J. Bell, aged 36 years, 5 months and 20 days, died at Harrison Ferry, with many friends who esteemed her highly. It is unnecessary to remind those who knew her, of her modesty and piety, and the quiet, unostentatious character of her life.

No one could be more kind to the needy, more compassionate to the distressed, than Daniel J. Bell, whose wife, Mrs. Bell, was found in her compassion who excelled all others, and was ever disposed to cheer, to console and to advise, even to make any sacrifice, however small, for the welfare of a friend, or a mother in her care, and was often a model of watchful, judicious, instructing them, kindly precept and example.

Her death has been a heavy blow to her husband, a heavy blow to all the friends she saw herself in the valley of the shadow death.

Why does my heart beat with bitterness? Against the throb of my heart? I shall be happy there, my children, in the bosom of the Father.

He is in the perfect life. Of angels, holy love.

Before the gates of death, I weep; I weep for the dear near, I weep for the sleep.

My child! I hear sweet heavenly sounds—it is my portion to die.

Dear family, fare well!

A Person T. and F.

Special Notices.

A CARD TO THE SUFFERING.

The Rev. William Craven, while in the service of the Hospital in Japan, has written a treatise on Consumption, which all other men had failed to do by a receipt obtained from a learned physician in Japan, and which has been copied and read great numbers who have suffered from Consumption, Bronchitis, Nose Throat, Cough and Cold, Rheumatism, and various depositions caused by Disease.

Details of benefiting others, will send this article, which I have brought home, to all those who are in charge.

REV. WM. CORBREY,
32nd Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

May 17, '60.—DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat, Cough, Cold, &c. It is composed of the bark of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

DR. WISLA'S PATENT OIL OF WILD CHERRY.

Dr. Wisla's Patent Oil of Wild Cherry, three parts of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward the same to the store near, —

