In this connection, he adverted to the opinion of Mr. Attorney General E. B. Hall, who is a candidate for the Judgeship of the 10th Judicial Circuit, and to the "Executive Department," to "the Supervisors and Inspectors of Elections," in which, the former of those high functionaries sustains the constitutionality of the act of 25th of February and the latter promulges the very remarkable theory that "the Attorney General, under the law, is the legal interpreter and advisor for the people of the State; and until the interpre tion of a law by the Judiciary, that of the Attorney General is to be taken as a guide for the action of the officers executing it," and as he had determined the test oath to be constitutions al, hence, "that whenever a person offering to vote is challenged, for the cause contemplated by the law of February 25th, 1865, it is their (the Inspector's) duty to require of him the production of the affadavit therein prescribed, before permitting him to vote." The speaker thought that if the proper reflection had been vouchsafed the subject by his Excellency, be would have discovered that the very judicial authority to which he refers would have been found in the Supervisors and Inspectors of Elections themselves, and that the minstruction which his circular contains might, perchance be regarded as an unwarrantable and some what meddlesome interference with the duties

Winderster, Va., Oct. 11, 1865.

To His Excellency the President:

Dear Sir.—In forwarding this memorial it is proper to explain that it was not presented for signatures until late at night after the final advisors.

This was the explanation which Mr. Adams gave to Lord Palmerston, the Prime Minister of England, when that great, and I trust, not unfriendly statesman, said that he did not believe, that the Federal Union could be restored, because he knew that while any man can look. nment of the "Episcopal Council" of Vir- horse to the water, no man could make him

Manifestations of doubt, distrust crimination. Manifestations of doubt, distrust, crimination, contempt or defiance, in the loyal States, are equally injurious, and equally tend to delay the work of reconciliation. How then shall it be hastened? I reply, virtually in the language of the President—in the spirit of the Constitution and in harmony, not only with our politics, but with our religion—"We must trust each other."

[Applause.] Cap we not trust each other?—Once we were friends. We have since been enemanded. Once we were friends. We have since been enemies. We are friends again. [Renewed applicate.]

But, whether in friendship of in cumity, in peace or in war, we are and can be nothing else to each other than brethren. [Loud applicate.]

Happily a party of intelligent Englishmen were in my dwelling at the same time. I introduced the late rebels to the representatives of sympathizing England, and I said to the parties: "You lately each of you thought that the Southern men preferred British rule to citizanship in the United States." While the Englishmen indinow knew that even during the excitement of the war, the American citizen, whether North or South, really preferred his own countrymen [Lauchyet prove unfaithful to us?" For myself, I laid aside partisanship, if I had any in 1861, when the salvation of the country demanded that sacrifice. It is not, therefore, my purpose to descend to mere partisanship now. Andrew Johnson laid aside, I am sure, whatever of pertisanship he had, at the same time [Applence 1].

If there had been any doubt before as to what Congress enight or might not do in the matter, the decision of Connecticut settles it. There will be no attempt to force negro suffrag on the Southern States by Federal authority, or to exclude Representatives and Senator from States that have not granted this right to duty, and that Mr. McJilton, who was the their freedmen. It would be too absurd to surveyor and Permit Officer in Baltimore City, pretend that their State governments are not pretend that their State governments are not republican, in the sense of the Constitution, because colored citizens are excluded from the suffrage, when a New England State has just voted that negro suffrage is not republican. either in that or the party sense, and five-sixths of the free States agree with her. Nor would it be less preposterous to say to Southern men that we cannot trust them to do justice to the freed negroes unless they con protect themselves by the ballot, while we can trust ourselves to do justice to our own colored citizens without that protection. In fact, the decision of Connecticut postpones the whole question, as a national one, making it necessary to agree, the question for years to come, for it is one of the things that will be agitated until settled.

150 Acres of Land, and is situated a short distance east of Bunker Hill, and in Berkeley County, on the road from that place to Middleway. The land is of ex-cellent quality, and well adapted for the pro-

WHEAT, CORN AND GRASS, and although injured in its appearance and fencing by the war, may, from its location and other advantages, be recommended as a good investment.

Purchasers are invited to examine the Land and condition of the buildings, which will be cheerfully shown to them by J. W. Lamon and Robert Lamon, gentlemen interrested in the estate, and who reside near the premises.

TERMS OF SALE:—One third in cash, the residue in two equal annual payments bearing interest from the day of sale, a deed of trust to secure the deferred payments.

CHARLES J. FAULKNER, Adm'r, with the will annexed of Joel Ward, dec'd.

PUBLIC SALE BY virtue of a Deed of Trust, executed by Wm. Eby and wife, on the 15th day of May, 1832, and of record among the Land records of Jefferson county, the undersigned, only surviving Trustees in said Deed, and as such, duly authorized and empowered to act, will sell,

On the 25th day of November, 1865, in front of the Hotel kept by Miss Sarah A. Beall, in Charlestown, the.

House and Lot, conveyed by said Deed of Trust, situated on the northwest corner of Congress and Water streets, Charlestown, and at present occupied by Mrs. Sowders.

This is a very desirable property for a small family, having sufficient out-buildings, with a good garden spot, and quite convenient to water.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third in cash, onethird in nine months, and the residue in eighteen months, both bearing interest from the day of sale, the deferred payments to be secured by a lien on the property. Possession given April 1st, 1866. Sale to take place at 12 o'clock, M. DAVID HOWELL, HUMPHREY KEYES, Trustees.

the country, and I think I am warranted from my past experience in promising myself success. All the branches usually taught in high schools and academies will be embraced in my course, but it will be my endeavour to have my pupils acquire a thorough acquaintance with whatever they undertake to learn, rather than a superficial knowledge of many subjects.

I have been successful in securing the services of a gentleman as assistant for the next session who has had considerable experience in teaching, and who will, as I believe, conscientiously and efficiently discharge his whole duty.

Who are the Wise?

All the day and all the night.

They who have governed with a self control Each wild and baneful passion of the soul—
Curbed the strong impulse of all fierce desires, But kept alive affection's purer fires;
Those who have passed the labyrinth of life and Without one hour of weakness or of strife; repared each change of fortune to endure, amble the rich, and dignified the poor—tilled in the latent movements of the heart—carned in that lore which nature can impart; Teaching that sweet philosophy aloud Which sees the silver lining of the cloud; Looking for good in all beneath the skies—Those only can be numbered with the wise.

JOSH BILLINGS ON HORSES.—Pedigree is not important for a fast trotting hoss; if he kan trot fast never mind the pedigree. There iz great meny fast men even who ain't got a pedigree. There ain't much art in drivin a trottin' hoss ; jest hold them backward, and holier them ahead hard, that's awl. A hoss ul trot the fastest down hill, especialli if the brichen brakes. Kullur is no kriterion. I have ceen auful mean kullers, except green; I never ceen a mean one of this kuller. Hosses live to an honorable old age, and I often eeen them that appeared fully prepared for death. Heathen are allus kind tew hosses, it iz among Christian people that a hoss haz to trot three mile heats in a hot day for twenty-five thousand dollars of counterfeit munny.

ADVICE BY BILLINGS.—The wise and gifted Josh Billings tenders all whom it may concern the following advice: The land and the said of Court a gal for fun, for the luv yu bare her; for a wife or for the sile and perfection of the title; court her as though she wan't a fule and yu another; court her in the kitchen, over the wash-tub, and at the pianner; court her in this way, yung, man, and if yu don't git a wife, the fault won't be

THAT "THAT."-In thirty-one words, how many thats can be grammatically inserted ?-Answer, fourteen. He said that that that that man said, was not that that that one should say: but that that, that that man said, was that that that man should not say. That reminds us of the following says and saids: Mr. B. did vot say, or did you not say, what I said you said because C. said you said you never did say what I said you said. Now, if you did say that you did not say what I said you said, then what did you say?

A man noted for his calmness and a scolding wife, was one night stopped in the woods by pretended ghost. "I can't stop my friend." said he, "If you are a man, I must request you to get out of the way, and let me pass. If you are the devil, come along and take supper, for I married your sister."

Miss Buchanan once rallying a brave soldier on his courage, said, "Now Capt do you mean to tell me you can walk tip to a cannon's mouth without fear ?"

"Yes," was the prompt reply, "or a Buchanan's either." And he did it.

"There was a horrible affair," said a gentle-man in company, "the murder of Dean, and the sealing up of his remains in a box.!" "What Dean?" asked half doven voices at once, "Sar Dean," replied the wag.

A somewhat juvenile dandy said to a fair partner at a ball, "Don't you think my mou taches are becoming, Miss?" To which she replied, "Well, sir, they may be coming, but they have not yet arrived."

An Irish peasant being asked why he permit ted his pig to take up his quarters with his family, made answer: "Why not? Doesn't the place afford every convenience that a pig can require 2"

An editor in describing the doings of a mad dog, says: "He bit a cow in the tail, which has since died." This was very unfortunate for the tail; but we naturally feel some interest to know what became of the cow.

Coleridge was acknowledged to be a bad rider. One day, riding through a street, he was accosted by a would-be wit: "I say, do you know what happened to Balaam!" Came the answer sharp and quick: "The same as happened to me. An ass spoke to him!"

Men's native dispositions are most distinctly perceived whilst they are children and when they are dying, as the sun is best seen at his rising and his setting.
